Charges Are Withdrawn By Johnston

Inquiry Conducted Into Statements Made To Ratepayers

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP).—Appearing at an investigation at parliament buildings to answer charges that he had declared there had been political interference in liquor law enforcement Bruce Johnston, clerk of North Monaghan township, withdrew his statements and added he could not remember making them.

The inquiry was conducted by Maj.-Gen. V. A. S. Williams, commissioner of Provincial Police, on the instructions of Attorney-General Conant under the Constables Act. L. R. MacTavish acted as counsel for the Attorney-General's department.

The inquiry was the result of an address made before a body of ratepayers in North Monaghan township, early this month, when Johnston is reported to have said that liquor enforcement was interfered with by political action.

Clippings Are Read

Mr. MacTavish read newspaper clippings quoting Mr. Johnston as saying that provincial police officers in North Monaghan township had been instructed to deal easily with liquor offenders; that government officials evidently were afraid of losing a few votes at election time if they bucked the liquor interests; that officials of Monaghan township had been powerless to deal with the racket flourishing there; and that he did not feel that the provincial policemen themselves were to blame.

Mr. MacTavish also read a letter from a Peterborough law firm representing Mr. Johnston and sent to the attorney-general which stated that no charges were directed against the attorney-general or the police, but that he was only making a further request for police assistance in stamping out the racket and that he did not want his address to be construed as an attack on the administration.

Mr. Johnston declared he had not been speaking in his official capacity as clerk and treasurer, but spoke only "in a general way."

"Did you or did you not make these statements credited to you, that Provincial Police officers had been instructed to deal leniently with liquor offenders?" Mr. MacTavish asked.

"I didn't make it in that light," said Mr. Johnston. "It may have been interpreted that way."

"Do you know of any instance in North Monaghan or elsewhere in which a Provincial officer has been instructed to deal leniently with liquor offenders?"

Something Behind Scenes

"Well, these offenses have been going on for years and it was my conclusion that if we couldn't get it cleaned up there must be something behind the scenes."

"But do you know of a single instance?" Mr. MacTavish persisted.

"No."

Mr. Johnston "could not remember" whether he had said Provincial Police were powerless to clean up the rackets of North Monaghan because of political interference. He stated political interference was "not in his mind at all. I can't remember if I used the expression." Witness admitted he did not know of

Six Are Injured Near Langstaff

(Examiner Correspondence.)

DOWNEYVILLE, Nov. 16. — Six persons from Downeyville were injured in a car accident at Langstaff on No. 7 Highway on Wednesday, when a driver crowded the car off the road and it rolled over in the ditch. All were given treatment in a Toronto hospital.

The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Murray and their two small sons, Mrs. Michael Garvey, mother of Mrs. Murray, and Mrs. Garvey's father, William O'Brien.

Mrs. Murray is said to be the most seriously injured of all, and indefinite reports indicate she is suffering from internal injuries and shock. All of the others received cuts and bruises, but will leave the hospital to-day.

Jews Hide Anew Fearing Fresh Wrath

By Melvin Whiteleather
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

BERLIN, Nov. 16—(AP).—Jews returned to hiding to-day until after the funeral of the Paris Embassy secretary, Ernst Von Rath, afraid that the worst of the anti-Jewish attack is yet to come.

Von Rath's assassination by a Jewish youth started the attack last Thursday. Many hid then to escape arrest, but until to-day they had begun gradually to reappear.

Now there is fear the funeral on Thursday may stir even more violent feeling among Nazis, who consider Von Rath a martyr, and in increasing despair the Jews have adopted secret codes for communication while they keep as much as possible in seclusion. (Von Rath's body is to reach Dusseldorf to-day. Chancellor Hitler is to meet the funeral train.)

Jewish newspapers are forbidden, so thousands do not know what is happening to their people through the country.

Afraid To Talk.

They hear of the misfortunes of friends only by round-about ways. They do not use telephones, unless they have agreed with friends upon code phrases.

One hysterical woman exemplified the strain under which nearly all the 600,000 German Jews have lived since the Thursday burning of synagogues and smashing of shop windows led to a $400,000,000 punitive bill against Jewish wealth and decrees to push Jews from social and economic life.

She said she could endure no longer. She had a passport which had expired and was without the "J" that now must be stamped on all passports held by Jews. With the passport and, she said, a bottle of poison she departed for the frontier —"if they notice the passport has expired and I can't get out, then I'll take the poison."

Some Jews now are being released from arrest—thousands were jailed over the weekend—if they have a visa to some foreign country and three other documents, a rail or steamship ticket or evidence one has been purchased, a statement all their taxes are paid, and a certificate

Ross Curry Injured Armour Road Hill

Ross Curry, 292 Woodbine Avenue, and an employee of the Western Clock Company, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital at noon following a peculiar accident.

Curry was proceeding north on Armour Road from work and when almost at the foot of the hill near Douro Street, a man ran across the road in front of the wheel. Curry could not avoid hitting him, and the impact threw the bicycle rider heavily to the road. The pedestrian, however, appeared unhurt and walked away. Curry was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist and treated for cuts. He will not be released until X-ray examination has been made.

Story Of Sobbing Daughter 10, Jails Father For 20 Years As A Wife-Killer

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—James Matter stood convicted today as a wife slayer after a trial exceptional for its speed and the identity of the state's principal witness—the defendant's 10-year-old daughter.

There were only eight hours of testimony. The defence took only 17 minutes. The jury voted for conviction last night on the first ballot, then spent 5 hours reaching a decision on the penalty. It was 20 years in prison.

The defendant did not testify.

His daughter, Martha Jean, a little flaxen-haired girl, testified she heard her parents quarrelling before the shooting, that she ran into the bedroom and found her mother dead and saw her father wiping off the rifle. The child sobbed as she gave the testimony which helped convict her father.

Cecil Frost Drops Out Of Race

'Friends Know Reasons' Requests Press To Ask No Questions

LINDSAY, Ont., Nov. 16—(CP).—Cecil G. Frost, president of the Ontario Conservative Association, announced today that because of "reasons which are well known to many of my friends" he will not be a candidate for the leadership of the Ontario Conservative party at the Dec. 9 convention.

Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew, Toronto barrister, soldier and politician, is the only candidate in the field for the leadership, to be relinquished by Hon. Earl Rowe, member of parliament for Dufferin-Simcoe. Leopold Macaulay, Conservative leader in the Ontario Legislature, frequently mentioned as a possible opponent to Col. Drew, recently announced his withdrawal from the race.

Mr. Frost released a statement on his position today with a request to newspapermen that "you do not ask me any more questions."

Will Stay As President

The statement:

"For some days under direct pressure from Conservatives generally throughout the province, I have given serious consideration to the proposal that I should enter the contest for the leadership of the Conservative party in Ontario. I have reached no final decision until now.

"Reasons which are well known to many of my friends prevent my contesting the convention. I will continue to serve the party as president of the Ontario association."

Wilfred Heighington, K.C., former member of the Ontario Legislature for Toronto-St. David, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the leadership. An indication of his intention was seen by some of his supporters when he said in an address in Toronto Monday night "I want to help drive from power those who have broken every principle of responsible government."

Leader of the party for more than two years, Mr. Rowe suffered personal defeat in the 1937 general election in Ontario. After his re-election in a by-election to the House of Commons seat he resigned to contest the Ontario election, he announced at the annual meeting of the Ontario association in Toronto last June he would resign the leadership.

Man Is Found Guilty Of Reckless Driving

Emmanuel Restivo, Fenelon Falls was fined $10 and costs amounting to $14.90 when found guilty of reckless driving by Magistrate A. E. Gee in city court today.

The charge was laid following a collision at the intersection of McDonnel and Aylmer streets on November 3, and investigated by Constable Percy Sexsmith.

According to the evidence Restivo was proceeding north on Aylmer street and failed to obey the stop sign before entering McDonnel street which is a through highway. His car struck another vehicle being driven east on McDonnel street by Rev. J. M. Young of Omemee. Mrs. Young, and J. H. McClelland, passenger in the second car and Albert Eason, driver of the Buckhorn stage were called to give evidence.

Sole Survivor

Omer Boucher, LEFT, was believed to be the sole survivor of a hunting party, consisting of three men and a woman, which met disaster on Lake Penage, 30 miles west of Sudbury. According to Boucher, who was found by searchers lying exhausted on the shore of the lake, their boat capsized within thirty or forty feet of the shore. Pilot Sauve, RIGHT, flew the nearly unconscious Boucher to the hospital in Sudbury.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—A system of continental defence, taking in Canada as well as the United States and South American republics, was projected today by President Roosevelt.

Terming need for solidarity among the nations of the western hemisphere more definite than at any time since the Latin-American republics were struggling for their independence more than a century ago, the President envisaged a plan of co-operation backed by a powerful United States air force.

The President told his press conference yesterday that he would ask Congress to increase the United States air forces sufficiently to cope with any foreign aggression against either of the American continents.

But the administration, he emphasized, does not contemplate that the United States should guard the new world alone. National defence, he added, has become a matter of continental defence, and mutual solidarity is needed.

The President's remarks are certain to be an important topic among delegates from the American republics at their regular meeting in Lima, Peru, beginning December 9. In fact, Latin-American diplomatic circles here consider mutual defence the principal business of the conference—at least behind the scenes.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada said at Ottawa that Mr. Roosevelt's statement was a further indication of the common interests of Canada and the United States. He recalled the President's speech last summer at Kingston, Ont., in which Mr. Roosevelt said the United States would not stand idly by if Canada were threatened by an aggressor.

Bigger Defence Outlay

At Buenos Aires, Dr. Jose Maria Cantilo, minister of foreign affairs said Argentina would be unwilling to consider a formal defensive block of American nations if it meant

2 Boy Gas Victims Just Kayoed By First Cigar

Easton, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)

A POLICEMAN speeding in answer to an alarm call found two boys prostrated on the ground near a suspension bridge. Their bodies were limp, their faces pale and twisted with agony. The policeman's fear they had been overcome by a deadly gas was dispelled when he discovered a lighted cigar butt nearby.

Hubbell Pleads Guilty To Abduction

OSHAWA, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP)—A second charge, that of abduction, was laid against Albert J. Hubbell, alias Dr. J. J. Hubbell, of Timmins, when he appeared in police court today. The charge involves a Port Perry nurse.

Hubbell was remanded a week on the abduction charge and on a previous charge of obtaining a new car from a local firm by false pretences. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

Employees of the motor firm told how he obtained the new car, which resulted in police of two countries conducting a search for him that lasted over a month.

Hubbell was brought back from Portland, Ore., last week. With him was Miss Elizabeth Symes, 22, of Port Perry, graduate nurse of Oshawa General Hospital, who left Oshawa with Hubbell under the impression she was going to Timmins to assist in the operation of a private hospital. Police alleged the girl was under the influence of dope for six weeks.

The new charge read was that Hubbell "on or about September 19 did against her will take away Elizabeth Symes, a woman, and detain her with intent to carnally know her."

Haliburton Hermit Softens Heart, Saves Lad Lost 2 Days On Hunt

NORLAND, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP)—John Ringland, lost for two days in the woods of northern Victoria County, said today he was "sure glad to get back to a good square meal."

The 19-year-old deer hunter was sought by a posse of 20 men when he became lost Sunday while hunting deer with his father and other hunters. Yesterday, tired but in good condition, he stumbled upon a power line and followed it until he came to a farm where he received aid.

Ringland left camp to inspect a deer his father shot in the bush. "I tried to find my way back, but seemed to be going in circles," he said.

"Fortunately, I had lots of winter clothing and I managed to find a fairly warm spot against a dead tree to sleep Sunday night.

Norland is 50 miles north of Lindsay.

Seated before a blazing fireplace in the office of Dr. W. Millyard, at Coboconk, the boy for whom 50 men combed the woods Sunday, Monday and part of Tuesday, told of knifing a beaver and broiling it over an open fire; of meeting a long-haired, bearded "hermit" who greeted him with a gun; of winning the "hermit's" confidence, and finally securing food and shelter and directions as to how to reach civilization.

Goes Out To Carry In Deer

It was about 9 a.m. Sunday that Jack left the Sheldon Lake hunting camp to bring in a deer shot the day before by his father. He missed the spot where the deer had been hung up, and shortly afterwards came to the conclusion that he must be lost.

He had a compass, a .22-calibre target pistol, a hatchet, a knife and a few matches. Well versed in woodlore, he was not unduly alarmed, especially as his terrier, "Tony," was along too.

But with Sunday night came a heavy, cold rain. Jack built a fire and huddled over it through the night.

Canada Given Order For Bombers

British 10-Year Deal Is Designed To Be Extended

By Guy Rhoades
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP Cable)—Sir Kingsley Wood, Secretary of Air, announced in the House of Commons today an agreement had been signed between the government and Canadian aircraft manufacturers for an initial United Kingdom order for large bombers.

The air minister said the Canadian aircraft firms concerned undertook to maintain during the next 10 years manufacturing capacity available for further potential orders of a similar character if required.

Sir Kingsley made the announcement in reply to a question by Lieut.-Commander Reginald Fletcher, Labor.

He added "Contractual arrangements have been made with the new Central Company, Canadian Associate Aircraft Limited, which is being brought into being expressly for the purpose of this scheme."

Sir Kingsley said the type of machine to be constructed would be the Hampden and that the agreement represented a considerable development of Canadian manufacturing capacity in preparation for large production of aircraft of a still more advanced type.

Six Feeder Firms.

The Minister said the associate company will control the whole scheme and provide two central establishments, at Montreal and Toronto.

These two establishments will in due course develop manufacturing facilities while also serving as central erecting establishments fed by components supplied by six associated aircraft companies.

These companies are the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, Fleet Aircraft, Canadian Vickers, Fairchild Aircraft, National Steel Car Corporation, and the Ottawa Car Manufacturing Company.

"The initial order will ensure immediate implementation of the plan and will enable increased potential progressively to be developed.

"It is the intention that further orders shall be placed as and when necessary to maintain the progressive development of manufacturing potential and the desired flow of production.

"In addition to arrangements for the group manufacture of large bombers, negotiations are now proceeding in London with two Canadian companies for the manufacture of fighter and general reconnaisance types at Fort William and Vancouver, respectively."

Following Sir Kingsley's statement Commander Fletcher asked "can he give the House some more particulars as regards the intial orders?"

The Minister replied: "Yes. The type of aircraft to be manufactured under the initial order is the Hampden, now under production in this country.

"The aircraft orders are due for delivery during 1940. Although it would not be in the public interest to disclose numbers, the orders represent a very considerable development in Canadian manufacturing capacity in preparation for a large production program which will call for aircraft of a still more advanced type and running parallel with the later stage sof the initia lorder."

Nels Linden, New Wheat King

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—(CP).—Nels Linden of Wetaskiwin, Alta., was named wheat king of the Royal Winter Fair here to-day, his sample of Reward variety winning over more than 130 exhibits.

The new Canadian wheat king, who succeeds James Sebastian of Wembley, Alta., 1937 winner, farms 1,000 acres near Wetaskiwin, producing prize grain for many years. Sebastian also won with Reward, the hard red spring variety adjudged best at many shows.

Linden was crowned barley king of the Chicago International Grain Show in 1933. Two years before he won the Alberta oats championship and in the same year was awarded the Robertson prize by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association for consistent efforts in pure seed production.

Hunter Lost In North

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 16—(CP)—Woodsmen today searched for Herbert McClintock of Streetsville, lost since Saturday when he strayed from a hunting party near Lake Matinenda, north of here.

Some members of the paty had hunted there for more than 30 years without getting lost, but McClintock wandered from their sight and failed to return to camp that night.

Streetsville is 15 miles from Toronto.

Bus Costs Are Refused To School Board

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, Nov. 16.—Their contention that bus transportation should not be included in the ordinary cost of educating continuation school students brought the Counties Council close to a law suit with the trustees of the Wooler school late Tuesday afternoon. If negotiations for a settlement fail, and the issue is referred to Judge L. V. O'Connor, it will be a test case that is likely to attract the attention of school authorities in all parts of the province.

Reeve R. R. Mallory of Percy township, chairman of the schools committee, and a ferret among figures in the tradition of McKeel of Campbellford and Boyce of Warkworth and Stinson of Millbrook, some of his predecessors, explained the Wooler case which has been brewing for six months or thereabouts.

Used Three Buses.

Two years ago the Wooler continuation school board planned to build up the school attendance by putting on three buses, combing the countryside for students. One of the buses went to within a mile of Frankford for a student who would otherwise naturally have gone to the Frankford continuation school. It is said that one of the Murray township ratepayers wrote to the Hon. Dr. Simpson, and, it is said, was told the school trustees did not have authority to engage buses and charge the transportation in the maintenance cost of county pupils.

County pupils are those who live in the county but outside the school section in which the continuation school is located.

$2,800 Debt Incurred.

Since January, 1937, the account against the counties, as Wooler has figured it, is approximately $2,800. John Callahan of Toronto, a native son of Wooler, and solicitor for the school board in this dispute, told the Mallory committee Tuesday afternoon. The cost for 1937 was $1,176.

A. Roy Willmott, Cobourg barrister, was called in by the committee between sessions and advised settlement with Wooler by making a special grant of $1,000 to Wooler on the understanding that they discontinue their bus service. Mr. Willmott said the council would not be sanctioning the principle in the continuation school case, would receive full and final release from any claims up to the present, and would be avoiding litigation.

Open Verdict

AILSA CRAIG, Ont., Nov. 16.—(CP).—A coroner's jury returned an open verdict yesterday in the death of Harold E. Paton, Ailsa Craig, killed nine days ago when the automobile he was driving crashed into a bridge. According to evidence, Paton was returning from a dance with two passengers. The car light burned out and Paton was driving with his head out of the side of the car in order to watch the road.

3-Way Trade Treaty Is Complete

King Signs For Canada 4 p.m. Thursday At The White House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (A.P.).—The United States State Department announced to-day the trade agreements with the United Kingdom and Canada would be signed at the White House to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King will sign for Canada and State Secretary Hull will sign for the United States.

The trade agreement with the United Kingdom was completed after six months of negotiation between a special delegation sent here from London and experts of the United States Commerce and State Departments. The agreement with the United Kingdom brings the total number of trade agreements concluded to 19.

The Canadian pact is an enlargement of the existing Canadian agreement which expires on December 31.

Details of both agreements, including the hundreds of items on which tariff concessions have been made, will be announced for publication on Friday morning.

The complete release numbers hundreds of pages, since the agreement with the United Kingdom is the most important yet completed. It has been regarded as the apex of Secretary Hull's program to stimulate world trade.

U. S. Best Customer.

The United Kingdom is the United States' best customer, having taken more than $500,000,000 in American exports in 1937.

The agreement with Great Britain includes also Northern Ireland and the world-scattered British Colonial Empire, including her possessions in Latin America.

The United Kingdom agreement will be accompanied by a note from Great Britain expressing that country's willingness to discuss with the United States any tariff reductions which might follow on other products exported by the United States.

The discussion will take place after Great Britain is released from some of the obligations she owes to the Dominions because of the Ottawa preferential agreements.

Guest of President

Mr. Mackenzie King will leave Ottawa this afternoon for Washington, arriving there early tomorrow afternoon. He will go direct to the Canadian legation. After the White House signing ceremony Mr. Mackenzie King will remain as an overnight guest of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Friday the prime minister will return to the Canadian legation and spend the night there. He is expected to be back in Ottawa Monday.

Details of the pacts will be eagerly awaited in Canada because of the persistent reports that to facilitate the Anglo-American pact the Dominion has been called upon to abandon some of the preferences in the United Kingdom market gained in the Ottawa agreements of 1932.

Contents of the agreements will be made public within a few hours after they are signed. The Anglo-American pact will be published simultaneously in London and Washington, and the Canada-United States agreement will be released in Washington and Ottawa.

Campbell Bares Bribe Plan

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP). — Melville Campbell, 37-year-old Toronto peanut king, confessed in county court today that he was one of the gunmen who held up the Mount Brydges branch of the Royal Bank on October 13.

After he had pleaded guilty to an armed robbery charge, Campbell went on the witness stand to testify against Harold J. Moore, 37, also charged with the $3,915 bank robbery.

Campbell startled the court when he charged that on the day after the hold-up he gave his brother, Howard Campbell, $350 which he claimed was to have been paid to a provincial police officer.

Toronto Street Car Clients Continue Riding As Union Accepts One-Man Cars

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—(CP)—Danger of a strike tieing up Toronto street cars faded today as 700 members of the Toronto Street Railwaymen's Union at a mass meeting decided to accept the terms of the Toronto Transportation Commission as far as one-man car operation in the city is concerned.

The men voted 2 to 1 in favor of accepting the Commission's guaranteed 36-hour work week for the majority of their members.

It was a compelte reversal of decision, as far as the union men were concerned. Last Friday they refused to comply with their executive's request that they accept the commission's terms and ordered them to seek a referendum vote of the people on the issue.

After the vote on the main issue had been taken, the mass meeting instructed their executive to confer immediately with the T.T.C. today if possible, and ask them to moderate the conditions of one-man car operation and to place into effect as soon as possible a pension scheme, which will benefit the men too old to take regular turns on the new one-man cars.

Winter Covers Roads With Ice

TORONTO, Nov. 16. — (CP).—Rural sections of Ontario lay blanketed in snow and highways were slippery with ice to-day as winter seemed to have come at last after one of the most moderate autumn seasons on record.

Masters of lake vessels hoped for one last break in the weather, that they might complete trips already begun. On the Upper Lakes, a blizzard still kept freighters in port while those boats caught in the storm struggled through mounting waves that transformed the decks into sheets of ice

The wind blew out of the northwest, set a seven-year velocity mark of 36 miles an hour at Port Arthur and bore with it blinding snow as it roared into the south-western and central parts of the province yesterday. Caught in the clouds of driven snow, motor vehicles collided or skidded into ditches on highways all through the district.

At least 20 vessels were believed to have taken temporary shelter where they could find it along the shores of Lake Superior and those arriving in port were many hours overdue. Along the Lower Lakes the storm was not so fierce but water traffic moved cautiously.

The wind began to blow itself out over Georgian Bay, but snowfalls were heaviest in that area. Nine feet deep in some places, it was only two feet deep in others and as the snow belt extended to the Niagara Peninsula the variations in snow depth were even more varied. Dunnville got seven inches of snow and Niagara Falls only three.

Most of the traffic accidents were around London, but yesterday's only fatality was in the Niagara district. Near Welland Bert Goober, 17, of Hamilton, was killed when his bread truck skidded into a ditch from the highway.

Widow Given $2,140 After Fatal Crash

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP)—Mrs. Ida Blanchard of Lombardy, seven miles south of Smith's Falls, Ont., was awarded $2,140 and her daughter Effie $200 by a jury in court here yesterday ruling against Frank McCallum and Lorne Williams of an Oshawa, Ont., motor truck transport company.

Mrs. Blanchard's husband Albert B. Blanchard was killed on the highway near Otter Lake in Leeds county Dec. 15, 1937 when the cutter in which he was riding was struck by a truck allegedly owned by McCallum and driven by Williams.

A Labor Question

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(CP-Havas).—Ellen Wilkinson, Labor, will ask Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons to-morrow whether the government used funds from its "hospitality fund" to pay for the reception tendered more than 50 German newspaper correspondents in a large London hotel yesterday.

Rich Labrador Iron Find Made

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 — (CP). — Heavy deposits of rich iron ore, perhaps running to a total potential tonnage of 1,000,000,000, have been discovered in Labrador, Dr. J. A. Retty, chief geologist for the Labrador Mining and Exploration Company, said yesterday. The two-year-old company holds a concession from the Newfoundland Government to explore and geologize about 20,000 square miles.

Dr. Retty said three iron deposits had been located. The chief body at Sawyer Lake was described by the geologist as of exceptionally high grade ore and estimated at 4,000,000 tons.

Another is at Attikamagen, of lower grade but described as having "tremendous" tonnage possibilities. The third, at Ruth Lake, northwest of the others, is high grade. The Ruth Lake showing were found in 1929.

A puzzled Indian who found a peculiar-looking stone brought about the Sawyer Lake discovery. He carried the stone to Dr. Retty, who recognized it for iron ore.

Sawyer Lake is 284 miles north of Seven Islands, Que., on the Gulf of St. Lawrence. It is 245 miles northwest of a settlment called Northwest River, on the Atlantic. Attikamagen is 35 miles northwest of Sawyer Lake.

Dr. Retty said the Sawyer Lake ore runs from 60 to 70 per cent. and that at Ruth Lake from 57 to 64 per cent, making them apparently of a higher grade than any known world deposits. Spanish ore runs to 57 per cent, which is the greatest previously known concentration. The Attikamagen area rates 40 to 50 per cent.

Labor Move Beaten

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP Cable).—The House of Commons last night defeated the Labor amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne by a vote of 341 to 151. The amendment regretted the absence in the speech from the throne of any reference "to the serious problem of unemployment represented by the nearly 2,000,000 men and women who cannot find work."

More than $10,000,000 will be spent by American producers in British film studios in the next twelve months.

Spectrum Rays Bag Criminals

By Howard Blakeslee
(Associated Press Science Editor.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(AP).—J Edgar Hoover, chief of the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation, told today how the spectrum, the electro-magnetic rays which include light, heat, radio, ultra-violet, x-rays, radium and cosmic rays, can catch criminals.

All except cosmic rays and radium are in daily use. Hoover hints that even cosmic rays will also be useful in detective kits.

A picket knife and cut telephone cord, he said, were sent to the bureau by an eastern police department. They were clues in a burglary. On the knife edge were slight, brown stains. There was not enough stain for chemical analysis.

The spectroscope — number one sleuth of pure science—which detects atoms, was used. It revealed the stains were copper and tin; that there was neither copper nor tin in the blade itself, and copper and tin were the main elements in the severed wire.

Result: Conviction of the suspect who had the pocket knife. He was sentenced to from five to 10 years.

Hoover revealed new crime tracing methods in a review of scientific instruments, published by the American Institute of Physics.

An extortionist he said painted a rock white to mark a pay-off spot. The spectroscope this time saved an innocent man who was suspected. He had white paint in his garage. The atom-seeing eye showed his paint had an itanium base. The extortionist had used zinc base white. The two paints did not come from the same can.

Telltale rings of colored light show whether dirt on a suspect's shoes came from earth at the site of the crime. This is done with a microscope and polarized light, the rays that vibrate all in the same plane.

Clippers are as telltale as pistols if found on a suspect who has used them to cut metal. For: Like the marks that a pistol barrel impresses on bullets, each clipper bites its own microscopic scratch pattern into metal.

Addresses and identification marks which are inked out show up again if photographed with mild heat, or infra-red rays. These are the rays that penetrate fog in photography. The inking becomes a haze through which the original lettering is discernible.

Bear Pays Nightly Visits To Bancroft

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BANCROFT, Nov. 16.—A bear has been seen several nights recently rambling through the northern end of the village, attention being drawn to it by the commotion it caused among dogs. One citizen could have shot at it but was afraid of shooting his neighbor's dog.

The funeral of the late George Bremner was held here yesterday. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

A vacant house on the property of John Anderson in Monteagle township was destroyed by fire of unknown origin on Sunday night.

Rev. Fr. Kennedy of Callender passed through here Monday on his return home after spending a few days in Toronto. He also visited Rev. T. J. Brady at Maynooth.

Rev. J. Whalen of Brudenell held services in the Roman Catholic church here on Sunday owing to the absence of Rev. L. J. Kennedy, P.P.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Fred Delyea, a son.

The war veterans held a show "Three Smart Girls" in the community hall on Armistice night, followed by a dance. A very large crowd attended.

Eastern England Paralyzed By Fog

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(AP).—One of the worst fogs in years covered the eastern part of England, the English channel and parts of France, Germany and the Netherlands today, seriously affecting shipping, aviation and general transportation.

In many places visibility was zero. Ships in the channel reported they were unable to see the water while airplanes from the continent were warned they could not land at Croydon airport and were forced to halt at Southampton.

Two persons were killed and several injured in autcmobile accidents.

Given Five Years

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Nov. 16—(CP).—James Carnerie, alias Robert James Young, 22, of Hamilton, was sentenced here today by Magistrate G. A. Wright to five years in Kingston Penitentiary, with 10 strokes of the strap, after he had been found guilty of armed robbery of George Walsh, clerk in a drug store here.

Carnerie was arrested in the transients' "jungle" here six days after the hold-up.

Nuffield Gift Saves Mine Village Becoming a Derelict

Abercrave, Wales, Nov. 16 (CP)

THIS Swansea valley mining village has been saved from becoming a derelict area.

Its 2,000 men, woman and children depend for their existence upon the working of two coal pits. Closing of the works and unemployment threatened Abercrave because of £50,000 ($250,000) was needed to enable deeper seams of coal to be worked.

Miners offered their savings. They began house-to-house collections. Miners' wives gave hard-earned shillings. A sum of £2,000 was raised. A Swansea coal exporting firm offered £10,000 to keep the pits going.

Then Viscount Nuffield heard of the miners' efforts. Quickly came announcement of a gift of £30,000 from the Nuffield trust, ensuring continued life and industry for Abercrave.

that night," he recalls.

All day Monday he tramped on scaling high rocks, seeking elevation where he might discern some familiar landmark, skirting lakes, fording streams and pushing his way through heavily-bushed swamps.

Monday night, on the wings of a 40-mile-an-hour gale, came a blizzard, one of the worst in years, veteran woodsmen say. Undaunted, the youth rigged a shelter of pine boughs and cedar beneath a huge hardwood tree and "holed-up" for the night.

On Tuesday morning, when the blizzard had finally blown itself out, Jack started again. But now his progress, already slowed by his weakened condition, was further impeded by heavy snow. At times he stepped into snow-filled holes up to his waist.

He Meets a Hermit.

Then came the "break" he had been sure was just around the next tree stump. He met the "hermit," Sam Bailey.

"His beard hung down to here," said Jack, pointing to his stomach. "His hair was two feet long. When I got to know him better, he told me he hadn't shaved or had his hair cut for ten years."

At first, the chance meeting with the "hermit" didn't look too promising. The bearded one was carrying a rifle, and made it quite clear he wanted nothing to do with strangers.

But the boy, by this time glad to see any human being, bearded, rifle-carrying or otherwise, talked both persuasively and successfully. Soon he was invited into the "hermit" shack, and because the bearded Olster was not feeling well—Jack thinks he is getting pneumonia—the youth prepared breakfast for both of them.

After a rest, young Ringland was ready to start on his way again, but beofre he left, Sam Bailey gave the directions as to how to get out to Head Lake, eight miles from Norland. Then, as a parting gesture, he produced his entire wealth—six cents—and insisted that the boy take it with him.

An hour or so later, Jack reached Head Lake, was given food and rest at the farm home of William Bailey and finally was brought to Dr. Millyard's office at Coboconk.

any incident in which political interference had been brought to bear on provincial officers.

Constable Called.

Constable David Silvester, for eight years at the Peterborough station of the Provincial Police, declared he never had received instructions to deal leniently with liquor offenders, or been approached by any political person.

He said he had more prosecutions out of North Monaghan Township than any other township in Peterborough County, action having been taken in every case in which a complaint had been made.

He was supported in this contention by Inspector S. Gaigner, in charge of district headquarters at Belleville, who stated he never had received any instructions to be lenient with liquor offenders. He branded as untrue any statement that police were powerless against rackets in the township.

Chief Inspector Frank Elliott, of the Liquor Control Board, said the Attorney-General last year had issued instructions that there was to be no intefference of any kind with law enforcement and the instructions had been adhered to.

Constable F R. Jarvis of the criminal investgation bureau, told of making an investigation in the township following Johnston's speech and found nothing to support the charge.

General Williams adjourned the inquiry until late today when he will bring in his findings.

Britain Seeks 2 Million In Radium May Buy It In Canada

WALSALL, England, Nov. 16. — (CP Cable.)—Walter Elliot, Minister of Health, to-day disclosed the government was negotiating for the purchase of £500,000 ($2,500,000) worth of radium—possibly Canadian radium.

Elaborating on the government's cancer plan announced in the House of Commons, Dr. Elliott said the Radium Trust, which would handle the purchase after the cancer bill has been passed by Parliament, presumed tenders would be asked in the open market.

The minister added: "There is certainly a possibility of Canadian radium being purchased—we previously have been supplied from that Dominion."

The new scheme aims at making available throughout England and Wales modern facilities for diagnosis and treatment of cancer, which annually takes 70,000 deaths in the two countries.

MORE ABOUT—

Pressed for details, Campbell said the police officer was "in Hammond's office," referring to the office of Inspector Hammond of the criminal investigation department of the Provincial Police, who has been in charge of the bank hold-up investigation.

Everett McKibbon, 44, of Windsor pleaded guilty to a charge of assisting Harold J. Moore of Windsor to escape, knowing that Moore was sought by the police in connection with the holdup.

Sentence has not yet been passed on either prisoner and it is expected that they will be remanded a few days for sentence.

The charge of armed robbery and thefty of $3,915.90, certain insurance papers and a Royal Bank seal from the Mount Brydges bang was also read to Harold J. Moore, who is 37 years of age.

He elected to reserve his plea and elected trial by judge and jury. The count then proceeded with his preliminary hearing which was still underway as the noon adjournment was made.

Eight Brought to Court

Eight prisoners held in connection with the bank holdup were brought from the jail to the county court for the trials today.

They are: Melville Campbell, Everett McKibbon and Harold Moore mentioned above and Raymond Quinton, 40, of Windsor charged with armed robbery; John D. Donaghue, 33, Windsor, held as a material witness; Kathleen Byrne, 22, of Windsor and Hull, Quebec, held as material witness; Florence Donaghue, 37, wife of John D. Donaghue, of Detroit and Mrs. Jean Crumb, 27, of Windsor, both facing charges under section 574 of the criminal code under which McKibbon was charged.

This was the first time Miss Byrne has appeared in court since her arrest when police raided the Windsor apartment of Campbell and found her living with him.

Quinton, Moore, McKibbon and Donaghue were brought over together, all on a chain and under police guard.

Campbell was brought over separately by provincial constable L. L. Shipley who lead him hand-cuffed on a short chain.

The three women were brought over following the four men but were not handcuffed.

Campbell was kept separate from the other prisoners in the court and Donaghue did not actually appear in court, but was held outside the courtroom.

Herring Running

MEAFORD, Ont., Nov. 16.—(CP).—The herring run is on at this Georgian Bay port and fishermen report the largest catches in years. Ten-year-old Doug Free can vouch for it. He hooked 80 fish after school the other day.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, November 16—(CP)—Cattle sold readily at strong prices on Toronto Livestock Market today. Calves and sheep were steady with lambs firm. No hog price was set by early afternoon. Cattle holdover from Tuesday was 200 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 970; calves, 220; hogs, 1,180; sheep and lambs, 830.

Small lots of weighty steers sold at $5 to $6.50. Butcher steers and heifers traded at $4 to $5.75. Good butcher cows were $3.50 to $3.85, with canners and cutters mostly $2.25 to $2.50.

A few bulls traded at $3.50 to $4.10. Fed calves ranged from $6 to $9. Good stockers made $5 to $5.25 with common downward to $4.

Choice veal calves were priced at $10 to $10.50, with common heavies downward to $5. Grassers brought $4.50.

Previous close on off-truck bacon hogs was $7.75 to $7.85.

Good ewe and wether lambs were $8, with a few choice between $8.15 and $8.35. Bucks and heavies were $6.75 to $7.25. Culls moved at $6 to $6.50. Some sheep ranged from $2 to $4.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16 (C.P.). — Weakness at Liverpool gave Winnipeg wheat futures an easier tone today and prices sagged for the first time in four sessions. Minor commission house selling developed early and values were ⅞ to ½ off at the close, November 59¾, December 59¼, May 62 to 62⅛, and July 62¾ to ⅞ cents.

Export business was estimated at 500,000 bushels although it was difficult to confirm in the pit. Offerings thinned as the session advanced and a little support came into the market attributed to export interest. Country marketings yesterday totalled 585,000 bushels against 294,000 bushels a year ago.

Liverpool reacted to lack of cash wheat demand and renewed offerings of cheaper wheat by exporters.

Hubbell was remanded for one week, for sentence on both charges. Miss Symes was not present, being ill at Port Perry.

On charges of obtaining the car by false pretences, J. Norval Wilson, general manager of the Motor Sales, told how Hubbell had represented himself as a physician from Timmins and purchased a new car on which he paid a $500 instalment by cheque, later found to be worthless. Spurious references by well-known persons in Northern Ontario were offered by Hubbell as a guarantee of good faith.

Two Types Of Anglers Come To Fish In Ontario Streams

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—Far-reaching proposals for improving the fish and game resources of eastern Ontario and western Quebec will be submitted to the provincial and Dominion governments at a meeting to be held here Nov. 21, James McCuaig, secretary of the Fish and Game Protective Association of Fontiac, Papineau, Gatineau and Hull counties in Quebec, announced yesterday.

D. J. Taylor, Ontario deputy minister of game and fisheries, and Charles Fremont, superintendent of the Quebec Fish and Game branch, will be present as well as representatives of the Dominion mines and resources department. Comprehensive schemes for game sanctuaries will be presented to these officials. Representatives of the Renfrew County Fish and Game Association will participate.

Taking stock of the tourist business in the Ottawa valley and the Gatineau hills, officials of game associations in both provinces have been impressed with the need of conservation if tourists who travel long distances to this supposed paradise for fishing and hunting are to go home satisfied with their catch or bag of game.

It is only by satisfying the customers will tourists come back year after year to the same lakes, game association officials say. They regard fishermen as a particularly desirable type of visitor because they usually stay a week or two and spend much for guides and accommodation.

Two Types of Angler

Anglers come in two types—the dyed-in-the-wool one who will travel almost any distance and undergo great inconvenience to have good fishing in the great open spaces. The other type is not energetic. He likes to motor to a convenient lake or river, enjoy a day or two fishing and return. The automobile and the improved roads have caused a great increase in the latter type.

The rush of spasmodic anglers to easily accessable lakes and rivers brings about an increasing problem of keeping the waterways near good highways stocked with fish. The situation in connection with duck hunting is much the same.

One plan which is being prepared for the Quebec government is to divide the fish and game districts in Pontiac, Papineau, Gatineau and Hull counties into blocks 20 miles square and in the most suitable point in each block, as near the centre as possible, provide a fish and game sanctuary of four square miles. In these sanctuaries no fishing would be allowed and the fish developing there would form a continual and natural source of supply to the streams leading out of the sanctuary and ensure good fishing in the other parts of the block.

The effect of hydro development on fish and game resources will also be considered at the Ottawa meeting. Many claim that the regulation of water levels for power development purposes without regard to the effect on fish life is working serious injury on the fish resources of the rivers and lakes so regulated.

The provincial governments will be asked to study this question.

The Dominion government will be asked to make a bird sanctuary of 2,500 acres at the north end of Calument Island on the Ottawa River where ducks and geese flying south could rest without being killed. Plans for sowing large quantities of wild rice, wild celery and pond weed seed will also be up for consideration.

FRASERVILLE

The Fraserville W.A. held their monthly meeting in the hall with ten ladies present. One of the bale quilts was finished, and clothes were brought for the bale to be sent to the West in the near future. Those present included Mesdames Wood, Kidd, Seabrook, Pue, Oulette, Lush, Moncrief, Horton and Moffatt.

Mr. and Mrs. H. North and Mrs. Frank Kidd and son Ronald of Detroit, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. B. Seabrook.

Mr. Clifford Wood of Verona spent the weekend with his parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moncrief and Keitha McIlroy were visitors last week at the home of Mr. Kenneth Syer, Cavan.

Miss Audrey Hennessey of Peterborough, was a Sunday visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Hennessey.

Quick Relief for DEEP RASPY COUGHS (DUE TO COLDS)

If that cold has caused throat or bronchial irritation, put a small lump of Vicks VapoRub on your tongue and let it melt. Feel VapoRub's medication bathe the irritated membranes as it slowly trickles down your throat—bringing comforting relief—where you want it—when you want it. Next, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Then breathe in the steaming medicated vapors for a few minutes. As these vapors work their way down through the irritated air-passages, they loosen the phlegm and ease the cough. The relief that VapoRub brings will delight you.

Ask For Addition

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Nov. 15.—(CP).—The H. J. Heinz Company has presented an agreement to Leamington town officials promising to build a $100,000 addition to their plant here within five years if the electors in January will vote the firm a fixed assessment of $800,000 for 10 years.

Civic officials will decide shortly whether the question will be placed before the electors.

Institute Meets In Handley Home

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Nov. 16—Mrs. Percy Handley was hostess for the November meeting of the Women's Institute held at her home, King street east, on Saturday at 8 p.m., sixteen members being present, and eight visitors.

The chair was taken by the president, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, and the secretary, Mrs. J. W. Hilton, reported two dollars given to the fund for crippled children, and $5.85 cleared from the booth at the school fair. Correspondence included an appeal from the Canadian Red Cross for help with the fire sufferers' fund for the north, circulars from the government referring to preventive measures for infantile paralysis, and the necessity of applying at once for the usual government grant of $3.00.

It was decided to send a delegate to the W. I. convention, held this week in Toronto from Wednesday to Friday, the first vice-president, Mrs. E. C. Richards, being appointed, with Mrs. D. Olan as alternate.

Th treasurer, Mrs. M. Ball, reported a balance on hand of $28.18, and it was decided to open an account of one dollar at the local bank for a new baby, born to an Institute mother, this being the usual custom. It was also decided to pack the usual Christmas Cheer baskets, donations to be received at the December meeting. Mrs. J. R. Eakins reported for the committee appointed to interview F. C. Scott, regarding any contribution the Institute might make toward the new building which he is equipping as a public rest room, and lavatories, and is donating to the village, filling a much-needed requirement. The matter of a radio was discussed, and other ass. tance, the Institute to do some definite thing to help when it is known when action will be best in the matter.

The first vice-president then took charge of the program, which included readings by Mrs. B. L. Richards, and Mrs. W. E. Ball, the demonstration on "Buymanship", by Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, being postponed until a later date owing to the lateness of the hour.

A pleasant surprise was provided for Mrs. W. Edmund Ball, a bride of recent weeks, when Mrs. Richards read an appreciative address, and Mrs. R. J. McKnight presented her with a crystal relish dish, set in silver. The recipient of the gift replied suitably, and the meeting was dismissed with the National Anthem.

Sailors Scale Masts As Ship Sinks

Three fishermen lost their lives in an effort to reach shore when the motor lugger SCH 102 sprung a leak during a gale in the North Sea and foundered off Scheveningen, Holland. Eleven other members of the crew clambered up the mast LEFT, for safety and were taken off the rapidly sinking craft by a lifeboat. The lifeboat, shown here approaching the domed craft, battled the storm for two hours before they were able to rescue the endangered sailors.

Love Of Books, Real Gift Of Fairies Lord Tweedsmuir Believes

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP)—Adult education will aid national unity in Canada "for education provides that common denominator which builds up a national spirit," Lord Tweedsmuir told the Canadian Association for Adult Education last night. The association's annual meeting continues today.

"The basis of adult education is the wide diffusion of good literature," he said. "Much can be done by special classes; much can be done by correspondence; but in the long run it is books which are the principal instruments. You have achieved your task when you have made the reading habit universal. Anyone who reads in the true spirit will in time find his feet in the world of literature and be able to digest what he acquires.

"If there is one good gift which the prairies can give a man at his cradle, it is the love of books. I have always been what is called a great reader and I can honestly say I have never been bored in my life.

"Whatever our private tastes and idiosyncracies there is some corner in the world's literature where they will be amply satisfied. It is the business of everyone who has the education of the people at heart to help them find it."

Lord Tweedsmuir said the world is full of new ideas which have unsettled and sickened the body politic. There was only one cure for the sickness and that was a wider education.

Dr. E. A. Corbett of McGill University, director of the association, reported a rapidly increasing interest in adult education. Pamphlets and talks had furthered the aims of the association. Research and experimental work in educational surveys and regional conferences had brought results.

The association in co-operation with the National Film Society was considering establishment of a film bureau for production and distribution of non-theatrical films presenting Canadian life.

Floodlight Raid

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 16—(CP)—While crowds passed the Brodey Draimin store last night, thieves stepped into the show window beneath the glare of floodlights, stole coats worth $1,000 and escaped. The men reached the valuable display by jimmying a small door at the rear of the window.

Does YOUR System Make Excess Acid?

Some people are what are known as acid-makers. They can't help it—and often they don't know it. The results of an excess of acid may seem just like ordinary stomach trouble — but they can't be put right by ordinary stomach remedies! Excess acid may be the reason why you wake up flat, sour, bleary-eyed, bilious — and the reason why fierce purgatives only leave you in the grip of a weakening habit and the same old symptoms.

But there's one thing that acid can't face. That's the neutralizing power of Vange Salts, the alkaline remedy with the natural mineral spa action. A teaspoonful in warm water surges through your system just like the medicinal spring water far away in England where Vange Salts come from. Excess acid is neutralized quickly, painlessly. Your blood is purified of poisons. Your sore stomach walls are soothed. And that mass of hard, poisonous waste matter lying in your intestines is softened gently, naturally, and passed out of your body. Then do you feel good! It's marvellous! But the most marvellous thing is that Vange Salts are only 60 cents a tin! At your druggist now—but if you're wise, on your bathroom shelf tonight! (Advt.)

Should Change The Bylaw

At the time a fatal accident occurred at the railway crossing on Water Street the Examiner stated there should be a revision of the civic bylaw which expressly forbids the blowing of a train whistle within the city limits. This paper still believes that should be done. The exact wording of the bylaw is very definite as it stands at present. This way:

"No person shall within the limits of the city of Peterborough blow or sound or cause to be blown or sounded the whistle of any locomotive engine when such locomotive engine is approaching any highway crossing at rail level within the limits of the city of Peterborough."

In the section immediately following it is provided that no train bell shall be sounded except when a locomotive is within 75 feet of a crossing. It is also provided that there shall be a fine of $50 imposed for such offence, and the usual provision is made that the fine if not otherwise paid may be collected by distress and sale of goods and chattels. It is very definite in its wording throughout.

The trouble with that by-law is that it places too great a responsibility on the municipality. It might even be construed as meaning that the onus for safety rests on the city rather than on the railway company, and that is not right. Responsibility for taking all necessary precautions to avoid accidents should be the property of the railway and not the adopted child of the city.

We suggest that an amendment should provide that unnecessary whistling and ringing of bells should be limited, but also that the men in charge of a locomotive should be empowered to use their powers of observation and give warning when they find that it is necessary to do so. We should eliminate that factor which puts the engineer in the position where he can say—and with reason—"if I blow the whistle here it will cost me $50." If he sees danger then he should blow the whistle and ring the bell and give all the warning he can to avoid an accident. A bylaw which forces the engineer into inaction when action should be taken is placing too great a responsibility on the city. The onus for safe operating practice should be left with the railway company, where it rightly belongs.

Not a Good Plan

From Long Branch comes information telling that the new assessment is about 40 per cent. higher than the old figure, but one of the council members brings the comforting statement that the 1939 mill rate will show a corresponding decrease.

That may be pleasant and if carried out exactly as stated would even give a reduction in the total taxes paid. If the thing is going to work that way then there would be no purpose served in increasing the assessment. The figures might just as well have been left as they were previously.

The history of such movements is that when the assessment is raised the rate of taxation does not of necessity stay down. The rule is that it gradually keeps up until the community again has a high assessment rate and a high tax rate.

It is better to leave assessments alone after they have been placed on an equitable basis and then watch the tax rate based on the same assessment. That is the way in which figures can tell the actual story because in the end the ratepayer is more interested in knowing the exact amount of money he pays in taxes from year to year than he is in having assessment changed.

Out Go The Rotarians

Mussolini considers Rotarians a dangerous lot of fellows, and Hitler thinks the same only he thought of it first. He closed the door on the Rotarians in Germany and now the same thing has been done in Italy. The Masonic order has been ruled out in that same country for some time.

Rotary clubs are much the same the world over. It is not a secret society, but one made of members who represent certain professions, vocations or lines of business effort. Apart from the character of the individual there is only one obstacle to membership, and that is classification. If a certain classification is represented in the membership then there cannot be another member from that source. It is known what Rotary clubs do; the meetings are not held in secret, and no person ever makes any money out of being a member. In fact it is liable to cost him something now and then.

Nor do Rotary members exist for their own benefit. They go out looking for crippled children so they may finance their treatment, and they help a good many boys to have a decent and a clean holiday now and then. They try as best they can to see the whole world as it passes in review.

For such reasons we consider it pretty much rubbish to find Mussolini telling his countrymen that they must not belong to Rotary clubs. Truth is we believe his folk would be better off with twice or three times as many clubs and a similar increase in membership. It might do him a heap of good to belong to one himself so the members could call him Benito and fine him for coming late for lunch.

A Significant Move

Instructions have been sent to Hugh R. Wilson ambassador from Washington to Berlin, to return to his home office "for report and consultation." The actual meaning of that move is not at the moment entirely clear because while there are implications of a recall in it, technically it is not a recall in the usual meaning of the word. Meantime American affairs in Berlin will be looked after by the members of the staff of the embassy.

That is placing the most conservative interpretation on the move. If Ambassador Wilson is detained at Washington indefinitely, then it is not improbable that Berlin might recall the German ambassador from Washington. The recalling of ambassadors is public admission that diplomatic relations have been disrupted if not entirely severed between the nations concerned.

There is only one issue in sight at the moment, and that is the manner in which Nazi Germany is treating the Jewish people, and the form of treatment prescribed makes it plain indeed that the treatment in the future will not show any improvement. It will be worse.

Germany's method has become so distasteful to other nations that it has already blocked any continuation of discussions regarding Anglo-German relationships. The British Premier is said to recognize that it is not any use to make protests to Germany unless there is some definite plan to submit for consideration whereby the Jews can be removed from that country. The method adopted by the Nazi government is to so tax and fine and rob the Jews that they will be reduced to a state of poverty not far removed from pauperism, and that of course is not going to assist in removing them to any other nation.

It would be well for United States to catch the idea which Premier Chamberlain has in mind. All manner and number of agencies in United States have been making protests; they have been signing hundreds and thousands of names to telegrams and letters to be forwarded to President Roosevelt. But a mere protest does not get far when one is dealing with Hitler. The big question is—what are they going to do about it? That is why it is significant that Washington has asked the ambassador in Berlin to return for "report and consultation." A move of that sort has more in it than all the vocal and written protests which could possibly be made. It indicates that officialdom is taking action, and it is a movement which is well understood in dealings between nations.

Liberals Voted C.C.F.?

As a result of three by-elections the Liberal members in the House of Commons increased their number by one, making the party standing now 180. Hon. Dr. Manion, Conservative leader, took the seat in London and it had been generally conceded he would do so. But there were thousands of people there who apparently were not much interested in what took place. The contest was a straight one between Dr. Manion and E. O. Hall, C.C.F. Dr. Manion polled 11,694 and Hall 8,440, for a total vote of 20,134. In the contest of 1935 the same riding with seven candidates in the field turned in a total vote of 28,904 So there were 8,770 more people voting in 1935 than in 1938.

The same C.C.F. candidate in 1935 received 3,041 votes, while this year he rolled up a total of 8,440, while Dr. Manion's vote was 783 greater than the Conservative total of 1935. The Liberals had no candidate in the field, that move having been taken as a result of the desire of the Liberal chieftain to give Dr. Manion an acclamation. In the previous contest there were some 10,000 votes distributed amongst several Liberal candidates. On the face of it the 1938 result indicates that while Liberals had no candidate in the field a number of them preferred to vote for the C.C.F. candidate. London people always have taken their politics seriously, and it would be hard enough to picture Liberals in great numbers in that city flocking to the polls to mark a ballot for a Conservative even if he was leader of the party.

A Right To Protest

When a community has been the scene of a strike it has to live with that reputation for quite some time. The city of Stratford experienced that after its furniture strike of some years ago when tanks and troops were sent there from London. Neither tanks nor troops were called into action but the impression abroad remained that it was a serious business.

A special lot of provincial men are being trained in Toronto now and it has been officially stated they are for the preservation of law and order wherever they may be required. Many of the references to this force go on with the explanation that the force was first recruited to deal with the strike in Oshawa in 1937. And although the special police were never called to Oshawa and never went into action there, the name of Oshawa is always pulled in as being the place which gave rise to the necessity for this extra organization. Perhaps it is natural that such method of explanation should be continued but actually the cities so affected have good enough cause to protest.

Titles Mean Little

Bearing a title is not a guarantee that the individual will never be in want. There have been reports of two cases in Ontario within recent days where those who have titles never appeared anxious to assert them. In Toronto there died a few days ago John Daniel, and he operated a small bake shop. It turned out he was a Welsh knight, Sir John Daniel, formerly a prominent citizen of Cardiff, director in all of some 15 companies, but he was ruined shortly after 1929. He came to Canada to start again in a new way, but never mentioned in any way that he was a titled gentleman.

Baron de l'Eveille, the eighth to carry the name, with his wife and two children, is at present living in Toronto, where they find it necessary to secure relief. The title was originally granted by Louis XIV. of France in 1699. In his day he has slept in palatial hotels and on park benches, and now he is figuring that he will go to New Ontario in the spring and take up land as best he can.

The Baron says he wishes he had never been born with a title waiting for him, as in this country he has found it to be a handicap. In which case the best course would be to drop it and say nothing more about it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Humility is something which we admire in other people.

One writer advises young men this way: Don't keep telling her you are unworthy of her. Let it come as a surprise.

A new American nickel has made its appearance but we refuse to endeavor to figure out how many of them it would take to pay off the national debt.

Frank Kilbreath, although only 21 years of age, has been appointed chief of police of Brigden and Moore Township. He has not had much experience, but he is 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 230.

Latest order in Berlin is not to destroy any more places of business belonging to Jews, and the reason given is that they will shortly be passing into other hands. Nice, isn't it?

A worker in Brantford was instantly killed when dismantling a huge fly wheel. As though to bring tragedy to a climax the report adds that he is the father of twelve children.

One of the most famous women in medical history "Typhoid Mary" is dead in exile. If there ever was a victim of circumstances it was this unfortunate person.

It is reported that our near neighbor Cecil G. Frost is wavering on the question of entering the race for Conservative leadership. He should remember that December is the proper season for Frosts.

There is a church in Walton, N.Y., where they pass the collection plate in reverse. That is they give you a dollar bill. The only catch is that the individual is expected to invest the dollar and bring it back together with the profits.

R. C. Carter and his wife ran for the same seat in the recent U.S. elections and both lost. Like as not in the table conversation the words, "Now if you had stayed out of this . . ." have already been worn flat at the corners.

CURED? NO

(By A. R. K.)

¶ My neighbor Dougal drives with speed, far faster than there's any need, he says that's how he feels; when I drive out a bit with him, he cuts the corners far too thin, and does it on two wheels.

¶ And Dougal tightened up his jaw, when I spoke of the broken law, he was inclined to scoff; such laws were foolish things to pass, and then he stepped upon the gas, at eighty he was off.

¶ Well Dougal raced along the road, came to a truck with heavy load, he hummed his words of hate; a railway crossing was ahead, but Dougal felt no fear or dread, there also was a freight.

¶ But Dougal knew what he would do, he stepped her up to ninety-two, a thrill like that was rich; the engine nipped off Dougal's wheel, his car danced in a drunken reel, and landed in the ditch.

¶ I dropped in when I passed today, to hear what Dougal had to say, he never said a word; they stitched a section on his ear, he was so bundled up and queer, no voices yet he'd heard.

¶ The nurse said that he mumbled some, about the driving that he'd done, about slow moving men; she said she thought that he had said, when he got up and out of bed—he'd try the thing again.

Britain Tired Of Being Abused

SIR JOHN SIMON, Chancellor of the Exchequer, took the occasion of a League of Nations Union meeting in England to make a polite but extremely effective reply to Britain's critics in the United States.

Those critics are fond of saying that Britain broke the usefulness of the League of Nations by permitting its failure to take a strong stand against Japan in the matter of Manchoukuo, against Italy in the matter of Ethiopia. They say Britain's "abandoned" Czechoslovakia and the cause of democracy in the recent crisis, and the quaint theory is advanced that because Britain did not go to war with Germany in September it must be assumed the Royal Navy no longer is behind Uncle Sam's Monroe Doctrine and so the American Navy must be strengthened to the point where it can carry its own obligations.

Sir John Simon pointed out a fact says the Ottawa Journal that is very obvious: that the first serious blow to the authority of the League of Nations was administered by the United States herself. When that country refused to join, although the League owed its very existence to the theories of Woodrow Wilson, a step was taken that led to undermining of the international body "as an instrument of universal peace."

And the Chancellor of the Exchequer paid attention to the report "so industriously circulated in some quarters" that in Manchurian episode Britain showed "undue favor" to Japan and so dealt the League "a mortal blow." It has been stated many times in American newspapers and by public men of the United States that if at that time Britain had been willing to join with Washington in a vigorous stand against Japanese aggression the present dangerous situation in the Orient never would have arisen. Sir John's answer is that the League's attitude in regard to Manchoukuo so annoyed Japan that she resigned her membership, refused any longer to associate herself with the other nations in their efforts to secure universal peace. And Britain, actively identified with the League's policy towards Japan, hardly could step outside to take another and a stronger position with the United States.

American publications in recent weeks have been full of articles and letters, lamenting the so-called failure of Britain to defend the freedom of small nations, as exemplified in the case of Czechoslovakia. The magazine Time has an answer from England, which we quote:

"Sirs:—As an Englishman I find it difficult to reconcile the bitterness of many of your readers (over Britain's renunciation of the Czechs) with their determination not to be involved in a European conflict. Am I to conclude that America is blaming us for adopting her own attitude? Perhaps I failed to hear the voice of Guardian Angel Columbia crying to Perfidious Albion during the crisis "Fight Hitler in the name of International Justice. I am on my way to help you!"

"Shall America be the jury—Britain the executioner? I would suggest to members of the jury that it is always more effective to help to prevent murder than to preside over the post-mortem.

FRANK CROWLING."

"Halstead, England."

That seems to meet the case.

WORK BOTH WAYS.

(Lethbridge Herald)

PREMIER ABERHART seems to be greatly exercised over the proposal of the City of Calgary sinking fund trustees to cut the bond interest on Calgary bonds owned by the Province of Alberta in half. He calls the plan "discrimination," and demands that Alberta be consulted in the matter.

But when the Aberhart Government more than two years ago, without consulting anyone in the matter, not even other Governments in Alberta, cut the rate of interest on $160,000,000 of Alberta bonds to 2½ per cent, the municipalities were simply told they had nothing at all to say about it. Why shouldn't the municipalities treat the Government of Alberta in the same way, and why should Mr. Aberhart condemn the municipalities for following his own precedent?

Lethbridge owns some $187,000 of Alberta bonds. We should be getting $10,100 a year interest on those bonds. But Mr. Aberhart is only paying $5,050 a year.

DETECTIVE WORK.

(Baltimore Sun)

FOR SOME REASON I have never been able to express, I find that whenever I begin to hear stories about the marvellous detective abilities of Mr. Hoover's G-men, I cross my fingers. I had them crossed when I started reading about the capture of the latest kidnapping gang in New York. But, as I read on, I gradually uncrossed them, for it seemed to me that the work done in this particular case was sensible, patient and intelligent.

The fact that the boy who was kidnapped and then released on payment of a ransom remembered that a radio in the kidnap car was playing "A Tisket, A Tasket" enabled the G-men to fix the time of the crime. The boy remembered, also, that during his incarceration he heard church bells, apparently coming from a given direction, and the click of billiard balls. That gave a rough idea of the hangout of the gang. By a long process of elimination, and after checking 200 church bells and 700 pool parlors, they found the place!

He had only to look under the pillow in her bed in stateroom 357, Deck B.

• When the Tables Were Turned

WHEN Hon. G. Howard Ferguson was the speaker at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club in St. Thomas, Hon. M. F. Hepburn was brought in for the purpose of introducing him. It is not the first time this took place, and a story of a previous meeting with a bit of rather good crossfire is related here:

Introducing Howard Ferguson to an Ontario audience is nothing new for Mitchell F. Hepburn. Some ten years ago, when the tables were reversed—when Mr. Ferguson was premier of this province, and Mr. Hepburn was wondering what made the wheels go 'round—there was a Canadian Legion convention banquet in St. Thomas. Mr. Ferguson came down from Queen's Park to announce —as a patriotic gesture—that the provincial highways in future would be known as the King's Highways Mr. Hepburn came up from his Yarmouth farm, with a glint of cussedness in his eye, and minus the regulation dinner jacket that all the head-table guests of the jolly occasion sported.

"I must apologize," said the pride of Elgin, as he embarked on his predesignated introduction of the then prime minister, "for lacking the conventional dress befitting this dinner. But it is not exactly my fault. This afternoon, I went down to (he named a certain haberdasher's) to get a dress suit, and much to my amazement I found that Mr. Ferguson had been there ahead of me and had rented the last in stock."

The ex-soldier audience hollered. "That's handing it out, Mitch," a bunch chorused. Mr. Ferguson just smiled, and beamed behind his glasses, and patted his forehead in that unmistakable gesture that, to the initiated, could mean but one thing—LOOK OUT! A few minutes later he was on his feet, returning thanks to young Mr. Hepburn for the glowing introduction he had received.

"But there is one impression," said he, "that must not get around this province—an impression which, Mr. Hepburn, unwittingly or not, is responsible for." Mr. Ferguson beamed more broadly, patted his brow again, then went on: "Mr. Hepburn is much mistaken about that dress suit. He must be mistaken. Because you all well realize that the clothes I wear are too big, too difficult for Mr. Hepburn to fill."

• They Signed Their Names To It

"TIMES OF CRISIS make many turn to God only to forget Him again when the immediate danger is past. This Armistice Day should teach us, as individuals and as a nation, what twenty years ago we failed to learn. Only so can we escape the final lesson of irretrievable catastrophe.

"The great issue that divides the world underlies the more obvious conflicts of party, class, nation and ideology. In the words of a leading article in "The Times" of April 14th: 'Good and evil spirits are working through mankind in every country and to this spiritual conflict all political and social disputes are subsidiary'. When the evil spirits conquer, then the collapse of private and public morals sets in; the spirit of discipline and of sacrifice dies; culture grows sterile; science is misused and patriotism is forgotten. The battle for peace must be fought in the heart of the individual, and thus throughout the community, if it is to be won in the world.

"Victory in this battle is the one thing needful for the world in which we live. It implies, first of all, a change of heart. Experience has proved that such a change can take place and that it comes to those who turn from judging others and their systems to a sense of their own faults and a determination to live under the guidance of God.

"The strength of a nation is shown by the courage to admit her own faults. The glory of a nation is to have a creative message for the world. For this we need not only inspired statesmanship but daily inspiration in every business, workshop and home. We must teach ourselves to apply practically to our conduct, the Christian standards of honesty, purity and love and to make fulfilment of the Will of God the touchstone of our public and private life. In this task all are privileged to give the service of their lives. Moral rearmament must be the foundation of national life as it must be of any world settlement.

The miracle of God's Living Spirit can break the power of pride, selfishness, lust, fear and hatred, for spiritual power is the greatest force in the world.

"There are, among all peoples today, hidden resources of heart, mind and spirit waiting to be called out by common obedience to the Supreme Plan. Only in the fulfilment of this Supreme Plan can the true interests of all classes, all races and all states be secured.

"Throughout her long history this Country has never failed, and has not failed now, to meet recurrent crises with the courage which each demanded. But spiritual crisis remains and calls for action. The Nation and the Empire must stand or fall by our response to that call. The choice is moral rearmament or national decay. That choice will decide whether ours is ultimately to go the way of other dead kingdoms and empires, or whether our Commonwealth, led by God, may become a leader of the world towards sanity and peace."

CUPID FLIES THE COOP.

(Winnipeg Tribune)

NOTHING ever gets past certain of the sociology professors in the United States. One of them has just declared that the wonderful facilities for travel in this modern age is a major factor in the increase of the American divorce rate.

It seems that as the married person travels around, according to the professor, he—or she—sees too many attractive persons of the opposite sex to allow him—or her—to remain contented with the life partner at home. Grandfather and grandmother, it is implied, stayed married whether happily or not because they saw little in the way of counter-attraction among the familiar people of Sauk Center.

This may sound like a libel on past generations; but it is not beyond belief there may be some relation between traffic and marriage mortality.

Anyway, if some of the sociology professors are to be believed, this shrinking world is certainly raising plenty of Cain.

NOISE AND MUSIC.

(Winnipeg Tribune)

THE DESPAIR of Ald. F. G. Thompson on the noise nuisance is understandable. Appointed to head a committee to study the problem, he was unable to raise a quorum. In fact, the committee turned out to be a one-man committee. Nobody would discuss noise with him except a few officials of the police and City Solicitor's departments, and they were doing it mainly out of courtesy. If the alderman had wished to discuss the ingredients of pumpkin pie they would have met him in exactly the same spirit.

This experience seems to suggest that a great many people have no serious objection to noise, if indeed they are not actually fond of it. So the one-man committee had to bring in a one-man report, which is a little masterpiece in its way: "One man's noise is another man's music."

AND JESUS departed from thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Galilee; and went up into a mountain, and sat down there. And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet: and he healed them: insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.—Matt xv, 29-31.

BROKEN BONES.

(Providence Journal)

BOTH THE CAREFREE motorist and the jay-walking pedestrian would have profited if they could have heard two Kentucky doctors describe to the clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons in New York some days ago the influence of automobile design on the treatment of fractured legs. The increase in motor vehicle power and speed, hence in force of impact upon any object getting in the way, has resulted in uncommonly severe and crushing injuries to bones, muscles, blood vessels and nerves. The difficulties of treatment and the time required for healing and restoration of function are greatly increased.

Return Of Helen Would Unite Entire Nation

By Dewitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer.)

BUCHAREST, Nov. 16 (AP)—Hope has taken root among the people of Rumania that 17-year-old Crown Prince Michael may prove to be a medium to re-unite King Carol and Princess Helen, who were divorced in 1928.

Partly the wish is father to the thought, since the general public earnestly desires to see the royal family once more together, with a queen on the throne. Still, the idea has reasonable ground in that the big thing in Michael's life now is to get his mother back home, for he loves both his parents dearly and the poor lad is having a rather tough time, with his heartstrings being pulled in two directions.

There is still another element which may help Michael's efforts. A reunion of the royal couple would be a good move politically.

People Want Queen Back.

Not only do the people as a whole want Princess Helen back, but the untutored peasant folk do not understand the divorce at all and are troubled by it. Under their simple code of life, man and wife stick together.

There seems little doubt at all that Carol's popularity would be greatly increased and that his people would be much happier, if he and his wife could patch up their differences. Whether Princess Helen could overlook the trouble which had caused the original break — Carol's relations with Magda Lupescu—is not clear.

Michael naturally spends most of his time with his father, since the heir to a throne must undergo the special and intensive training that precedes kingship.

Mrs. Peter Meiklejohn was the oldest lady present and won the birthday cake. Other prize winners were Mrs. J. Massey, Mrs. C. Massey, Mrs. C. McKelvie and Mrs. A. L. Riendeau.

Rochester, N.Y., Nov. 16 (A.P.).

A television research laboratory official predicted to-day early coverage of spot news events by sight and sound for broadcasts to the public.

Philco Farnsworth of the Farnsworth Television Company told delegates to the Institute of Radio Engineers and Radio Manufacturers' Association convention the events would be broadcast "as soon as we can gets our trucks to the scene."

His statement came as the Association received a report saying television receiving sets would be available to the general public next spring.

Farnsworth displayed to the conference a new transmitting vacuum tube which, he said, coupled with a camera lens of nine-inch focal length would send impulses through a portable transmitter to a central station for re-transmission.

Anti-Alcoholic Crusade Is Opened By Quebec Prelates

QUEBEC, Nov. 16.—An "anti-alcoholic crusade" in Quebec province was called for Sunday by its Roman Catholic archbishops and bishops in a pastoral letter read from the pulpit in more than 1,400 parish churches.

Appeals To Authorities and limit the issue of vending liprofessional and business men and all its social classes were urged to join authorities of the Roman Catholic ecclisastical province in stamping out "alcoholism," denounced as a waster of individual wealth and national prosperity.

To support the proposed crusade, legislative action to restrict advertising of beer and alcoholic liquor and limit the issuee of vending licenses in the province was suggested.

The letter suggested, too, the campaign would benefit "in a less direct but very effective manner" if the "material, social and spiritual lot" of the masses were bettered by civil undertaking.

"No one can ignore that for a goodly number of drinkers the reason of or at least the excuse of intemperance is usually labor under health-sapping circumstances and poor remuneration...," is said.

"It is therefore timely and urgent to better working conditions and guarantee to the workman a family wage, to suppress slums, to make use of leisure hours by multiplying the number of workingmen's gardens, and opening for our youth centres wherein they may take part in lectures, conferences and games."

Effects Of Alcohol

The effects of alcohol were seen as wreaking "havoc" at present in a more "lamentable and more distressing manner than ever before," and its use spreading among the young.

An "incomplete" estimate of Quebec province's expenditure for liquor in the past 15 years was given by the letter as $700,000,000. Increase in the sale of beer in Quebec in 1937 was estimated at $1,500,000 while the province, with only 28 per cent. of Canada's population, was credited with 51 per cent. of the Dominion's entire beer consumption.

Attention was drawn to "noisy and reprehensible" publicity given beer and alcoholic liquor during the past few years. That publicity was "contrary to truth, morality, public health an dsane political economy," church authorities held.

"True science and common sense in perfect accord with truth will always prove that all beverages containing alcohol are a danger to the physical, intellectual and moral life of the individual, to peace in the family and to the prosperity of the nation.

"Bed Of Tuberculosis"

In the temperance crusade, physicians were urged to tell "whether or not alcohol is a poison;" specialist in law and criminologists, to discuss "laws and sanctions which tend to foster temperance"; and sociologist, to show "by statistics how alcohol wastes the wealth of a people."

"May all those gifted by Providence with talent and influence understand the social duty incumbent upon them to collaborate with us in opening this campaign of temporal and spiritual regeneration," the letter suggested.

Oil Trouble Calls Alberta House

EDMONTON, Nov. 15—(CP).—A special session of the Alberta legislature, called mainly to deal with an amendment to the provincial gas and oil conservation act, begins today.

Opening ceremonies will be brief and after Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen reads the throne speech, the mover and seconder of the reply will speak. Debate is expected to be short.

Premier Aberhart said last night the government intended introducing seven bills and he hoped the session, seventh of the eighth legislature, would be completed Friday.

The amendment to the conservation act, calculated to avoid court attacks on conservation board orders, will be introduced tomorrow, the premier said.

Caucus of Social Credit members ended late last night after three sessions at which proposed legislation was outlined and the report of the Social Credit Board on the government's interim program was given.

Premier Aberhart said the members "as a whole" were favorable to the suggested bills.

Mackenzie King Declines To Comment On Appointment of Italian Ambassador

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King declined comment last night on a London report that when the Earl of Perth presents his credentials at Rome today as British Ambassador to the court of "the King of Italy and Emperor of Ethiopia," he will be automatically recognizing, on behalf of Canada, Italian conquest of the African domain.

"That is a large question and I would rather reserve any comment until another time," the Prime Minister said at a press conference following a Cabinet meeting.

While the credentials of the Earl of Perth did not mention Canada specifically it was interpreted in the London report that the Ambassador would be representing all parts of the Empire not already represented by a Minister in Rome.

There have been rumors in the past year that Canada would open a legation in Rome, but no provision was made at the last session although an appropriation was voted for legations at Brussels and The Hague for which a Minister acting in a dual capacity will be selected shortly.

In the absence of a Canadian Minister in a foreign capital the Dominion's interests are customarily in the hands of the British Ambassador. Whether or not such representation carries with it the significance suggested in the London report could not be confirmed or denied here.

Local Cricket Is Reviewed 30 Years Ago

In response to an appeal which recently appeared in the Examiner, Mr. George Coleman has handed over to Mr. F. M. Dela Fosse, the City Librarian, the score book of the Peterborough Cricket Club for the years 1907-1910. The book will be preserved in company with the records from 1860-1870 and from 1924 to the present time and it is hoped that other score books will come to light to complete the record 1859 to 1938.

Cricket thirty years ago does not seem to have been extensively played here and the chief reason was lack of opposition rather than lack of players. During the four years covered by this book only 13 matches were played in strong contrast to the 28 matches played by the two local clubs this season. Present opponents included in these odd fixtures are Grove School and T.C.S., Port Hope, and it is strange, in the light of present conditions, to find Millbrook, Warkworth and Campbellford the only outside opposition. Of the latter team Dr. Bonnycastle was the chief supporter. There were also games played against the C. G.E. and Brinton C.C. As time went on the game in these three places died out and the local club, for want of opposition, also gave up the ghost, not to be revived again until after the war.

Looking through these old records we find a few outstanding stars, pre-eminent among them C. H. Hill, brother-in-law of W. Miles Hamilton, father of E. A. Hamilton-Hill, who now plays Rugby in England for the famous London Harlequins, and who last year only just missed a place in England's International team; under Archie Hamilton, well known batsman and bowler of the Whitaker Club to-day, we find that playing against Warkworth in 1897 he scored 62 runs out of 13 and took 8 wickets for 17 runs, and against T.C.S. in the same year scored 28 out of 43 and took 7 wickets for 26; against Campbellford in 1909, 43 out of 103 and 40 out of 70. Other leading players were F. J. Roe, opening batsman, who shared the bowling honors with Hill, George Coleman, batsman and bowler, with two brothers, J. and W; four Elliotts, A., L., W. and R. D. Ferguson. Other players included D. Ferguson, A. Lovekin, C. Poussette, E. H. Wood, and among those still with us were F. M. Dela Fosse and Ald. W. Stocker. Altogether some 50 players took part in the four years under review. The matches were then, as now, played at Nicholls Oval.

The revival of the game after the war was initiated by some enthusiasts at the De Laval and C. G.E. and eventually the present club was definitely organized in 1924. Whitakers came into the picture in 1934 and both clubs are now going strong.

Carpetball Notes

Mark St. Men's Brotherhood begin a carpet bowling tournament to last until Christmas. Prizes of fowl will be given to members of the winning team. The proceeds will help provide a Christmas tree and presents for all the children of the Sunday school.

The Brotherhood are anxious that all the children will have a big evening's fun as their guests. Len Agnew, Reg. Dooley, Ed Austin and John Howland will provide the entertainment. Bob Mitchell, D'arcy Windsor and R. Castle will be in charge of the Christmas tree and gifts.

Bob Olin and Al McCoy Suspended By Montreal Boxing Commission

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP).—The Montreal Boxing Commission imposed indefinite suspensions yesterday on heavyweight boxers Bob Olin and Al McCoy, Promoter Jules Racicot and Olin's manager, Harold Scadron, because they allegedly signed two different sets of contracts for a fight here November 8.

Contracts filed with the commission before the fight showed Olin was to get 20 per cent. of the gate and McCoy 22½ per cent. But the commission said it had evidence each boxer was to receive a $1,000 guarantee under contracts not filed with the athletic body.

Commission President Dave Rochon declared the transaction had been unfair to the commission, and expressed belief the percentage contracts had been filed in order to avoid an additional cash deposit sufficient to cover the liabilities of the promotion.

Toronto-Ottawa Playoff Tops Grid Fare In Eastern Canada

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—Two months ago today 16 major football squads from Calgary to Montreal were in there battling on the road that leads to a Canadian title. Today but six remain, Calgary Bronks and Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the west and Sarnia Imperials, Montreal Nationals, Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders in the east.

Next Saturday sees the elimination of one of the western representatives and the following week-end two of the eastern squads reach the end of the trail. The O.R.F.U. and Interprovincial crowns have yet to find a resting place for 1938 and on Saturday the Imps and Nationals stage the first of a home and home series to settle the dispute over the former, while Rough Riders and Argos go through the same process to decide the Big Four championship.

Probably most of the interest of non-partisan fans is centred on the games in Ottawa and Toronto. For these teams the season's games have been merely practices, mere warm-ups for the serious work that begins Saturday. The Big Four this year would have been more appropriately named the Big Two, for it was completely dominated by the teams now fighting it out for the title.

Both teams disposed of Hamilton Tigers and Montreal Cubs with a minimum of effort and their games against each other were about as close as possible, Argos taking the first at home, 10-6 and the Riders reversing the order of things in the next tilt, 15-13.

Weight vs. Speed.

In the minds of most fans the battles coming upwill be a clash between the "tank corps" as represented by the Capital squad, and what might be termed the "light mobile unit" of Argonauts. The question will be, can Wadsworth, Sprague, Fraser and Griffin, the bone-crushing Ottawa line plungers, make more headway by their methods than Art West, Red Storey, Bob Isbister and the other Argo extension runners can by theirs?

That, in a broad sense, is the question. Actually, of course, it isn't that simple. Rough Riders don't keep throwing men at the line. If they decide to skirt the ends they have more than one party who can hold his own with Mr. West and Co. Andy Tommy and Tommy Daley, fleet backfielders, have improved as the season advanced and when it comes to making ground in the open field they should do better than all right. Shifty Art West has been regarded as the ace of the Argo runners, but in games towards the end of the season, Red Storey, once a line-plunger, came through with some great runs. The red-head uses one of those high knee actions that spells disaster for the tackler if he doesn't make the right connections.

Argonauts can hardly present the "beef trust" to throw at the line that their opponents will have, but they are far from weak in that department. Teddy Morris, while no ball of fire at the start of the season, has picked up some of his old-time speed and if he can only knife through the line for one of those long gains the fans are used to seeing it may be all that's necessary. And in an addition to the veteran Teddy, there'll be Doug McPherson, plunging half, and Bill and Frank Stukus hitting the Riders' line.

Champs Have Passing Edge

Whether the teams will gamble heavily with forward pass attacks is problematical, but should they take to the air, an edge rests with the defending champs. Rarely has the gridiron seen a backfield with such all-round proficiency in hurling passes. Johnny Munro, Bob Isbister, Doug McPherson, Red Storey, Bill and Annis Stukus . . . every member of the back division is liable to fade back and shoot the ball over the line.

For the same chores Coach Trimble will-call on Murray Griffin and Orville Burke. Griffin has been an outstanding star in every game this season and he and quarterback Burke will concede little in the aerial department to Argos' versatile throwers.

And how about the kicking, still probably the most important single item in the game? Last year, when Argonauts eliminated the same Rough Riders it was the powerful right foot of Bob Isbister that did the damage. Whether booting Bob will rise to the heights again remains to be seen, but on the season's but little if any, in a kicking way, form the Capital gang should suffer Isbister's performances this year have been of the in and out variety, while Ottawa have been favored with a return to form of Eddie Rocano, who has turned in games resembling those of his big year in 1936. He has been aided in his hoofing by Jack Leore, a promising youngster, while Lew Hayman's squad has received some great work from Johnny Munro, mainspring of the Queen's University attack that was good enough to cop the Intercollegiate title in '37. In fact Munro's hoofing has been, all round, better than that of Isbister, and it may be his punts instead of the latter's that turn the tide.

Field Goal Threats

Power punting doesn't tell the whole story either. Those three points that result from a field goal, or the single point after touchdown, may prove a deciding factor. For these duties the champions will call on Annis Stukus or Earl Selkirk, both very good at the art. But on their side the Rough Riders will have old "placement poison" himself, Tiny Herman, ponderous inside wing player, who just seems to draw back his foot and bang! . . . another three points or another convert! Herman is undoubtedly the best in the east at putting the ball between the uprights and the Argonaut line will have to be charging for all it's worth to break up the formation when Tiny swings into action.

Plunging, running, passing, kicking . . . those are the things that stand out in a game. The things the majority of the fans talk about. But they're not the whole game by a long shot, as the same fans will admit. Defensive and offensive play among the line, secondary defence tactics, effective snapping, trick plays and "the old fight," all must be taken into consideration, but any way you look at these two teams they come out about even or close to it. But in the main, most of the fans will be saying, "can Argos stop those smashing plunges?" . . . "will the Riders break up those deadly extensions, or be caught again by a long forward?"

The two-game series should provide two of the season's classics, and to use the old bromide that opposing coaches throw at each other, "the other team will know it's been through a battle!"

Rare Color Fish Is Caught Alive

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(CP)—After a 36-year hunt, the New York Aquarium has obtained a Holacanthus tricolor, considered the most beautifully colored marine fish extant.

Commonly known as a rock, it is one of the hardest fish in the world to catch alive. Aquarium officials have records of only three that have ever been captured. In 50 trips John Shea, aquarium collector, captured only one. He caught it in Bermuda. But it died in four days.

The aquarium specimen, one of two snared recently at Miami, is still only partly developed. At present it is a rich orange-tinted gold with a large spot of black on either side. As it develops, an edging of red will appear around the body and fins and its nose will turn a bright blue. The fish is usually shy and avoids baits with unusual sagacity. It lingers close to coral reefs and dives to safety in deep recesses at the sight of a net.

The rock beauty joins a number of other unusual specimens recently added to the aquarium's colored collection, including zebra fish from Singapore; cowfish from the Indian ocean which look like a cow from the front and trunk fish which have the lines and tinting of ripe olives.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

QUITE A SPREAD in years between two former Peterborough puck players, now performing on foreign ice. We refer to a couple of clippings we noted lately, one from the Baltimore News-Post concerning Ned Vitarelli and the other in the Galt Reporter mentioning Mickey Murray. About the time Ned was born, Murray was starring in O.H.A. for the Petes and playing senior ball here, too. Played for North Toronto one winter, too, when that club had Lionel Conacher on defence in front of Mickey. The latter was a lovely goalie in hockey and a classy third-sacker on the diamond. Another tie-up is seen when we recall that Coach Pick Hines of Baltimore Orioles—where Ned now plays hockey—was with Leaside in the old C.O.B.L. when Mickey was with that Toronto team. Vitarelli starred with the local senior "B" squad last season, but went this fall to the U.S. along with Bill Calladine.

* * * * * *

Mickey Still At It

LIKE A LOT OF OTHERS, we thought Mickey Murray had long since quit the pro puck game, but Bert Steel of Galt writes: "While talking of victories, Mickey Murray, playing in goal for the St. Paul club in the American Association, the other night turned in a perfect performance. It was the opening game of the loop and Mickey came through with a shutout. The feat was all the more noteworthy in view of the fact that Mickey was injured in the third period and the contest was delayed for 10 minutes when his elbow was dislocated during a pileup in front of the St. Paul net. He returned to finish the game against the Minneapolis team. The score was 1-0." So Murray and Biffer Ranger are oldtime veterans from here who give the lie to the expression "youth must be served."

A LOCAL GENT showed us a copy of the Glasgow Herald the other day. The Scots don't lack for variety in sports, it seems, as the sports section dealt with steeplechasing, soccer, boxing, rugby, bowling, running races, yacht racing, ice hockey, swimming, golf, curling, dog show, snooker and contract bridge! Puck match between Dundee Tigers and Glasgow Mohawks saw the latter drop an 8-2 decision. Not much detail on the game but the writer has a fair idea of hockey and of puck terms as used in Canada. No positions mentioned in the lineups. This is how the Tigers' lineup is published: Tigers—B. Lane; G. McNeil and B. Smith; D. Mitchell, Al Rogers and M. Cranstoun; substitutes—J. Lightfoot, F. Hill, J. Shannon and G. Baird. But no mention made of number of fans on deck.

WALTER REESOR, Lindsay's popular president of the Ontario Curling Association this winter, is addressing local curlers and others interested tonight at 8.45 here in the club rooms. Walter is no stranger on local ice and will get the glad hand from a lot of buddies and bonspiel rivals in the Charlotte St. emporium. Membership Committee of the club meets at eight this eve, and it won't be long till the knights of the besom and stane swing into action once more. The Peterborough Curling Club has passed the 60-year mark and has long been a credit to this community. It looks like all winter sports around here are about set for another session.

"PERCY BOND, newly elected Central Ontario A.A.U. of C. president," says the Niagara Falls' scribe, "appears to be bucking his head against a stone wall in his decision to regain the major branches of athletics which broke away from the former parent organization. With only track and field, boxing and wrestling in subordindate roles, the old organization has fallen on evil days, and nothing short of Divine endeavors will restore the one-time proud group to the position it held not so long ago. Such well-established games as hockey, baseball, basketball and lacrosse witnessed the folly of stringing along with an outfit that had outlived its usefulness and their sojourn under a new setup has been a great deal more successful. There is no advantage in returning to the old order and paying fees to an association that benefits only the games it now serves. We feel confident the new A.A.U. head will discover how futile his task is when he undertakes to entice the divorced groups back under his banner."

Grunt and Groan Guys

RASSLIN' FANS here will not be neglected at the Riverview A.C. mitt show Friday eve in the Brock. Rene Labelle, 190-pound former British Empire Games contestant, will wrestle Ren Gazelley, 185-pound gee who is called the Vancouver Wildcat. Both are in Toronto now under Promoter Charlie Kumpf, who has such mat villains as Red Garner, Bert Crothall and Terry Evans. And Kumpf assures the local promoters that this pair will dish up a dandy grapple bout for Peterborough fans. It will be two out of three falls with an hour time limit. Boxing bouts on the same card are: Nick Orlando vs. Auggie Ferguson of Toronto, Norm Hill vs. Buster Scott of Toronto, Dutch McIlmoyle vs. Frank Spencely, Pat Jordan vs. Bill Joiner, and Bobby Quirt vs. Buddy Redmond. Curtain-raiser is three rounds, and the others five-round tilts.

AT THE LAST BALL MEETING here, some criticism was directed at a few of the players for keeping late hours before games. Lefty McNally writes us this letter from Hudson, Mass.: "Dear Cec.—I wonder if you will put this in your sports column for me. Concerning that meeting of the ball club, I wish to state that there is not a word of truth in the most unsportsmanlike accusation made against one player and myself by members of the executive. If any further proof besides my word is needed to exonerate our names concerning the occasion discussed at the meeting, I'll glady produce it. To the baseball fans, I would like to mention that, even though a stranger in your midst, I did my utmost to help the team. Thanks for the space allotted to me in your column. Yours for better sportsmanship, Frank (Lefty) McNally."

Gordon Returns To Studies

Between ball seasons, Joe Gordon, sensational rookie second baseman with the world's champion New York Yankees, attends school to secure his bachelor of science degree. On his return this fall to the University of Oregon, he was greeted by Della Root, daughter of Charlie Root, veteran pitcher of Chicago Cubs, victims of the Yankee powerhouse in the fall "classic" this year. Joe will complete his studies before next year's spring training starts.

He is Johnny Crawford, Toronto boy and a star with St. Michael's College and West Toronto juniors, and Kirkland Lake seniors before turning pro. Crawford is no Shore by any stretch of the imagination, but he has turned in surprisingly good performances subbing for the Bruin ace.

MUSSING UP THE MAPLES

Hard hitting by Gordon Fallon, Harold Baptie, Jim Goodson and Ian Wood featured the league bowling at Duffus' on Monday night when about 150 participants were present. Rolling for the Post Office league, Fallon knocked off the night's high three of 789, his final game being 318.

Baptie, Goodson and Wood of the Westclox men's league all poured in consistent single games to count 755, 706 and 702. Miss A. Dixon of the Quaker Oats ladies' group had a 232 single which looked high for the night.

Other high scores included—From the Post office: Rowe 614, Jackson and Smith 600 each; from the Westclox, J. Stanton 680, S. Hayes 668, A. Turcotte 657, G. Gatfield 652, J. Beckerman 644, B. Brady 638, W. Sharpe 628, M. Starr 627, and J. Watson 615; from the DeLaval office A. Worsencroft 693, H. MacDonald 648, T. Pitchford 628, F. Vivash 607, and J. McWilliams 604. Miss V. Mc Harnell and Miss J. Hunt of the new Westclox ladies' single chalked up 221 and 208 singles.

Herron 631, W. McMahon 621, J. Field 620, V. Sedgewick 625, C. Grant 607, Miss A. DeCarlo 552 (227) and Miss Grant 512 (230).

In the Mercantile loop Joe Lynch hit 719, K. Lee 687, Mrs. W. Jeffries 493, Miss H. McFadden 478 (214), Miss Parker 469 (214) and Miss M. Wyllie 449. For the Bankers Gibbs rolled off 634 and Collery a 300 single game.

Take Mail Vote On Demand Ontario Board

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16 (CP)—Delegates to the biennial convention of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada turned homeward today with knowledge they have until Dec. 31 to decide whether the Ontario branch will remain affiliated.

Highlighting a torrid closing session, Mrs. Irene McInnis of Thorold, Ont., president of the Ontario branch, last night said that body was ready to leave the federation if its demands for voting power proportional to the number of athletes registered are not met.

Edith McKenzie of Winnipeg was named president by acclamation. She succeeds Ann Clark of Vancouver who withdrew her nomination. Miss McKenzie held the first vice-president's chair the last two years.

Noel MacDonald 23-year-old centre and captain of Edmonton Grads basketball quintet, was awarded the Velma Springstead Memorial Trophy as Canada's outstanding women athlete of 1938.

Mrs. James Dunn of Winnipeg, vice-president of the Dominion Women's Hockey Association, applied for and received affiliation of that body with the W.A.A.F.

In presenting Ontario's demands, Mrs. McInnis suggested three votes be allotted branches with 300 registered athletes, four votes for 500, five votes for 900 and six votes for 1,300. She said Ontario had some 1,400 athletes registered, three times the number affiliated with any other branch.

After three hours of heated controversy, delegates decided to discuss the motion with their respective branches with a mail vote not later than Dec. 31.

Does Your Breath Broadcast—"I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

Most people who wear plates or bridges suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing cannot prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing can stop "denture breath"—and that's Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists. Users say it's a blessing.

Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 40¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic

Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

RUPTURE

For over 56 YEARS Armstrong Patented Appliances have been giving results as outlined in following testimonials. Read them:

R. R. 2, Listowel, Ont.,
September 14th, 1938.

J. H. Armstrong, Esq.,
Specialist, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir:

Regarding the appliance you fitted on me in the Royal York Hotel, Listowel, April 8th, 1937.

I am very much pleased to be able to advise you that after wearing it for nearly one year I could get along without it. I had occasion to do some very heavy work and there was no sign of any rupture. I am again quite strong, and have gained considerably in weight.

Before going to you I spent a lot of money on trusses of different kinds, but they proved useless. The rupture, which had bothered me for years, got worse, and I decided to sell the farm and find easier work. Your appliance, however, was so comfortable to wear, day or night, and held the rupture so securely (I never saw it again after you fitted me) that, after the first few days I was hardly conscious I was wearing a support.

I am personally acquainted with several in this district who have also been cured by your appliance and who, like myself, cannot speak too highly of it. Your skill in adjusting this appliance and your thoughtful attention in the following months has meant much to myself and family. With the thought that possibly some ruptured person may benefit from my experience, you may use this letter as you so desire.

Yours Very truly,
(Sgd.) Robert E. Shiell.

Witness: M. F. Rupp, 285 Mornington St., Stratford.

R. R. No. 2, Atwood, Ont.,
September 15th, 1938.

J. H. Armstrong, Esq.,
Specialist, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir:

My reason for writing is to advise you that the appliance you fitted on me at my home on February 1st, 1938, has cured me of a very bothersome rupture of thirteen years' standing. I became ruptured when in my 51st year, and for thirteen years I suffered plenty. Knowing that you had cured many people in this locality, I naturally applied to you for help, and after wearing the appliance for six months I passed examination as being absolutely sound. Now in my 64th year, and enjoying life again.

My experience, as well as that of many of my neighbors and acquaintances, is that your appliance, unlike any support we could obtain, holds the rupture securely and comfortably at all times, and I do not hesitate to recommend it very strongly to anyone suffering from rupture. Moreover, the cost, considering results obtained, is trivial.

With best wishes for your continued success—I am,

Yours truly,
Albert S. Petrie.

Wings Drop 4th Straight to Rangers Leafs Tie Boston 1-1; Both In 2nd Place Deadlock

By Jack Calder
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Montreal became the city of jittery hockey players today as Detroit Red Wings headed there for a meeting with their fellow occupants of the National Hockey league cellar, the Canadiens, only other team without a victory.

In four starts each, the Wings and the Habitants have been beaten every time. Tomorrow night they collide in an atmosphere of nerves and worry, for big league jobs are at stake.

Just before Detroit lost its fourth straight game last night, a 2-0 defeat by the Rangers at New York, manager Jack Adams called up Sid Abel and Pete Kelley from the International-American league farm at Pittsburgh. The official word was they were replacing the injured Herbie Lewis and Charlie Conacher, but there was no question they would stick if they could show more than some of the regulars.

Canadiens decided to recall Bill Summerhill from New Haven after a conference between manager Cecil Hart and club president Ernest J. Savard, who has threatened a shake-up if the Frenchmen don't start flying soon.

The pack is pulling away from the trailers and something will have to be done. Last night's game was only Rangers' second of the season but they have won both, to tie New York Americans for fourth place. Toronto Maple Leafs played a 1-1 tie with the Bruins in Boston last night and the opponents remained in a second-place deadlock with five points each, already a sizable lead over Canadiens and Detroit.

Both Goals Ruled Out

Red Wings were scrapping at Madison Square Garden to hold their jobs but the best of their efforts were ruled no goals. Twice in the third period they beat goalie Davie Kerr and both times referee Clarence Campbell ruled the scorer was in the goal crease.

Rangers won on a second-period burst. With but three minutes of the chapter to play, Cecil Dillon scored with the aid of Clint Smith and Lynn Patrick. Then Neil Colville split the defence alone and skated in on Normie Smith to score.

At Boston many in the crowd of 13,000 called at intervals: "We want Shore." But Eddie Shore sat stolidly in the stands maintaining his holdout campaign. He may confer again today with league president Frank Calder on his demands for more money than the Bruins are willing to offer.

Old Eddie's young replacement, Johnny Crawford, made the play for Cooney Weiland's goal in the first period. Murph Chamberlain pounded through the Boston defence in the second to convert Pep Kelly's rebound on a play started by Nick Metz.

It was the easiest night yet for the penalty timekeepers. Only five minor sentences were served in the three periods and overtime at Boston and only two minors at New York.

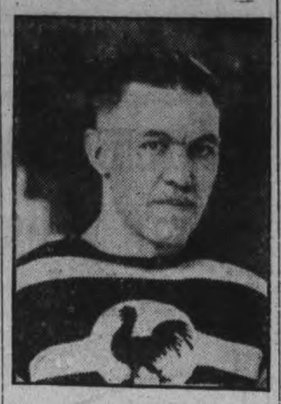
Still At It



MICKEY MURRAY

Word in a recent Galt newspaper account stated that Mickey Murray was playing goal this winter for St. Paul in the American Hockey Association. Few puck fans in Peterborough knew the former local goal-guardian was still active in the game.

Curling Prexy To Speak Here

Of interest to Peterborough curlers is information that Mr. Walter Reesor, president of the Ontario Curling Association, will meet and speak to local curlers at the Curling Club tonight (Wednesday) at 8.45 o'clock. Members of the local club and others interested in the game are invited to attend to welcome the popular new provincial president, who is no stranger in Peterborough curling circles.

Preceding the Ontario president's address, a meeting of the Membership committee will be held at eight o'clock to draft plans for the coming campaign. Prospects are bright for a big season in the Charlotte St. curling rink and plans are going right ahead. The local club has passed its 60-year mark and holds a prominent place in provincial curling competition.

Touring Cricketers Win Second Match

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 16 (C.P. Cable) —The touring Marylebone Cricket Club team to-day won the second match of its South African tour, defeating Western Province by eight wickets. A week ago the Englishmen whipped a team representing Western Province country districts by an innings and 342 runs.

In reply to the South African totals of 174 and 169 the touring cricketers made 276 and 69 for two wickets.

Six Germans were convicted in Berlin of currency smuggling for sending stamps worth $85,000 out of the country.

Sarnia Club Is Burned Up

(Sarnia Observer)

Ontario Rugby Football Union officials held a full-dress rehearsal in the Royal York Hotel Sunday afternoon and proved to everybody's satisfaction that President John DeGruchy, Secretary Harold Bailey and officials of the Balmy Beach Club of Toronto do not know such a salient thing as the residence requirements of their own Union.

Sarnia officials, who knew the rules, were nicked $50 for their audacity of going counterwise to a telephone order from the O.R.F.U. and playing Charles Henry Living against the luckless Peterborough Orfuns.

The original yelp from Balmy Beach that started the whole thing, the status of Henry Living, was rubbed out before the meeting ever started. The meeting called to deal with Living's residence requirements, dealt almost entirely with the action of the Sarnia Club in "defying" the O.R.F.U. when they played him Friday when they were ordered not to do so—by telephone.

Mr. Muirhead Says:

According to newspaper despatches out of Toronto today, E. Floyd Muirhead, president of the Balmy Beach Club, is reported to have said that "even were we granted a concession and allowed a sudden-death playoff with Sarnia—which we do not want—my team will play no more this year. We were beaten fairly and squarely by Sarnia twice."

The same Mr. Muirhead admitted at the Sunday meeting that the whole smelly thing was dug up by Balmy Beach and turned over to the O.R.F.U. Muirhead told Jackie Baker, manager of the Imperials, however, that he was out of the city and had not authorized the matter being turned over to the Ontario Union. Whether Mr. Muirhead authorized the expenditure for the operative of an American detective agency and his screwy report, signed with some mysterious initials, wasn't stated.

Blasts regarding the O. R. F. U. residence rules from Sarnia had the O.R.F.U. and Beachers behind the eight-ball before Sunday's meeting. It appears that some of the Toronto men had the idea that the O.R.U. "Import" clause should have been in the Ontario Union constitution. The wish was father to the thought and because Sarnia football officials were not so woolly between the ears as some of the others, the original protest was carefully sidetracked and Sarnia's "rebellion" in playing Living made the stringy smoke screen behind which the provincial authorities tried to hide their faces.

All the satisfaction Sarnia got out of the meeting was when the O.R. F.U. officials, after carefully wiping off the knife after pulling it out of Sarnia backs, patted them, smiled on them and suggested that in view of the fact that McGill and Western were playing off for the collegiate championship in Montreal next Saturday, it would be a splendid idea of the O.R.F.U. playoffs would open in Sarnia Saturday. It would, the officials pointed out, enable the Nationals to play their home game at Molson Stadium where 15,000 people could be accommodated with no opposition. Under the present setup the O.R.F.U. game will be played on the side of the Point Charles dump on the same day the collegians are holding forth in the McGill bowl back of the Mount Royal Hotel.

Nothing Doing

"It gives me," Manager Jackie Baker told them, "a great deal of pleasure to inform you that the playoff arrangements made last week will remain as they were. The first game is being played in Montreal next Saturday and the second game in Sarnia on November 26."

And that just cost the O.R.F.U. a couple of much needed thousands.

Two years ago, when Sarnia made application for a berth in the Big Four and was turned down local officials stated that they would never consider the matter again. If the Big Four came along one of these days with any kind of a proposition it would meet with a genial reception.

The Bummer Is Still Tops

Big Hugh (Bummer) Stirling, star backfielder of the Sarnia Imperials, again led Eastern Canada gridders in scoring this year. The perennial ace of the Imps amassed 42 points on touchdowns, converts, field goals and singles, to lead Annis Stukus of Argos (in second place) by 11 points. Hugh got 11 points against Peterborough Orfuns in the last game of the schedule, going over for a touchdown, booting five converts and kicking a single.

Stirling Best All-Round Player In Canadian Football Says Enemy Nat's Coach

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 — (CP). — The best all-round player in Canadian football to-day, in the words of Head Coach Hoddy Foster of Montreal Nationals, is Hugh (Bummer) Stirling, the one-man football team who practically single-handed carried Sarnia Imperials into the Ontario Union playoffs against the Nationals.

Coming from the enemy side, the declaration is quite a compliment, but the Bummer's record offers plenty of substantiation to Foster's contention. Even the East's scoring records, which show the Bummer tops among all players with 42 points, fail to reveal the full extent of his effectiveness.

A big man, the Sarnia backfielder is a good blocker, a pile-driving plunger, fast for his size, and a crushing tackler on secondary defence. With these qualities alone the Bummer would undoubtedly be a standout player in any league. But this doesn't even take into consideration his great kicking foot, which has brought recognition as one of the best booters in Canada. It merely is commonplace when the Bummer unleashes punts for 65 and 70 yards.

Ferraro Close Second.

Nationals and Imperials, who finished even at the end of the O.R.F.U. schedule, played to two draws in their regular league games. The first one ended 12-12, and the Bummer scored every Sarnia point. The second contest brought a 6-6 score and again Stirling accounted for the complete Imperial score.

"He's great, there's no doubt about that," Foster said in tribute to Stirling. "If ever football had a one-man team it is Stirling, who I think is the best footballer in Canada to-day. Johnny Ferraro (Nationals' backfield star) runs him a close second I think, but then Johnny can't kick and that gives Stirling the edge.

"Why, would you believe it, when we played Sarnia the first time they scored a single point on the kick-off by Stirling. And do you know who made the tackle on the play? It was Stirling. I don't know how he got down the field so fast, but there he was, and Sarnia had the point.

Adams Recalls Kelly, Abel

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(CP). — Manager Jack Adams yesterday called up Pete Kelly and Sid Abel, promising first-year pro, from the Pittsburgh farm club to bolster his injury-riddled Detroit Red Wings. Kelly and Abel arrived in New York and were in uniform last night when the Wings tackled New York Rangers.

Herbie Lewis, Doug Young and Chuck Conacher are now on the sidelines with injuries. Conacher, last to be hit by the jinx that gave him a badly wrenched shoulder in the last game, remained in Detroit for treatment.

"Big Chuck is working like a Trojan for us," Adams said, "and I'm confident he'll be back in harness by our next home game Nov. 24. 24. He rode 11 miles on a stationary bike in a gym yesterday and that is the sort of spirit that makes a club tick."

Of the "farm hands" called up by Adams, Kelly is well known as a professional. However, this is the first season Abel, 20-year-old centre from Melvinne, Sask., has appeared in the play-for-pay ranks. He was an amateur star at Saskatoon and Flin Flon, Man.

Adams signed him for Pittsburgh this season and he has made his speed and 160 pounds count, scoring four goals in his first five games.

Morrison Is Hurt In Oshawa Game

OSHAWA, Nov. 16.—Oshawa G-Men lost the services of Bill (Squeek) Morrison indefinitely when the husky defence man suffered severe head injuries as the seniors defeated Oshawa General, 6 to 3, here last night in an exciting exhibition tilt. Morrison, who was taken to the Oshawa General Hospital, was hurt when Drummond, chunky junior defence man, accidentally crashed into him early in the first period. Doc Dafoe, speedy right winger, suffered a painful finger injury in the same collision and was also taken to the hospital for treatment. Morrison suffered a severe gash at the base of his skull and possible concussion and will be lost to the seniors when they open their season in Niagara Falls by Friday night. Dafoe is, however, expected to be available by that time.

Hard Tack, Unwanted Racer-Sire Laughs As Son Sea Biscuit Sends Service Prices To $1,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(CP). — Hard Tack, little chestnut that went so long unwanted as a racer or sire, must be enjoying a quiet horse laugh these days as Seabiscuit, his fast-galloping son, wears the mythical purple of the United States' turf championship.

Breeders now pay $1,000 for Hard Tack's services. His stud book is full. But time was when his services went free and were ignored. In fact Hard Tack's siring of Seabiscuit was due to a combination of circumstances rather than any desire for a champion galloper.

Mrs. Henry C. Phipps and the late Ogden Mills bought a yearling at the 1926 Saratoga auction sales. The colt was by Man O' War from Tea Biscuit; she by the imported Rock Sand. Mrs. Phipps called him Hard Tack.

He was a fair two-year-old. At three he broke down and nobody wanted Hard Tack. He was placed at stud near Baltimore, his services free. Still nobody wanted him. So Hard Tack went to Kentucky. One breeder wouldn't have him on his farm. Another kept him for Mrs. Phipps, but not until she decided to send some of her own mares to Hard Tack's court was there any use for his services.

One of these mares was Swing On, by Whisk Broom II from Balance; she by Rabelaise which was sired by the Immortal St. Simon. Swing On foaled a little bay colt, lazy and not much to look at. Mrs. Phipps named it Seabiscuit.

"We really had to give him a touch of the whip to make him work decently," said Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, telling of Seabiscuit's early days. "When he was aroused he could run."

Seabiscuit won as many races as Fitz thought he should at that time but, like his pappy, nobody particularly wanted 'Biscuit and when Charles C. Howard, gathering a stable together, offered $8,000 for Hard Tack's colt, it seemed a fair price. So Seabiscuit changed hands and neither Mrs. Phipps nor Fitz knew they were selling for a song the horse that would beat War Admiral for the 1938 turf championship.

Startling Exploits In Crime Related In English Courts

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 15.—Amazing "gangster exploits" by boys who, in spite of their wrongdoing, earned praise for their good qualities, were related in two English courts recently.

Were Threatened

One was said to have set other boys aged five to seven to beg, under a threat of beating them if they refused, and to have paid them commission on their takings.

The other boy was one of three runaways who pitched a camp and lived by daily raids on stores and houses. They decreed that, to prevent strife between them, when one of them stole for himself he must steal also for the other two.

It was that decree, rigidly enforced, which led to their capture.

Recital of this "three musketeer" escapade was given at Dudley, Worcester, juvenile court, when an eleven-year-old boy who admitted a series of thefts was discharged with a caution.

"We think you are a very smart boy and that you will grow up to be a decent citizen," the chairman of the bench, J. Moss, told him.

This boy, and two others, who are to appear at a neighboring children's court, stole bicycles on which to run away from home, set up a camp on pit mounds with a stolen tent, stole camp furniture and bedding.

Loot Is Varied

They stole milk and bread from doorsteps, then raided Dudley stores, stealing tinned food, sweets, flash lamps, toys, cigarets and even pipes and tobacco.

One boy fancied bananas for breakfast. He got into a market stall to steal them.

He took a dozen and obeying the "one-for-all" decree of the camp, took a dozen for each of his mates.

As he was stuffing the last of the thirty-six bananas into his clothes, his arm knocked a tarpaulin which screened him from the street.

A police officer saw the movement investigated and caught the boy. An emergency call, through the police-box system, spread a net for the other two.

One of them was caught after a half-a-mile chase, but the other could not be found.

Just Like Movie

He was hiding behind a police-box listening to instructions being given for a further search for him.

He was eventually found and was chased round and round the box by a police officer until the officer fell down, breathless.

The boy could not stop running in time and tripped over the policeman, who held him.

The boy, aged thirteen, who was alleged to have organized the gang of boy beggars appeared in Grimsby Children's court as a child in need of care and protection.

Inspector Cook said the boy had been under his observation for five weeks. His parents were dead, and he lived with his stepfather.

The inspector discovered that the boy had set the other boys outside the public house, where they begged from children and women.

If they failed to hand over the money, he gave them a good hiding.

Trade in Women

The inspector said that women of a certain class spoke to the boy, and he concluded that the lad was acting as an intermediary between them and foreign seamen.

The boy expected commission from the women. If he did not get it he followed them and the seamen and shouted rude remarks.

The principal of the remand school where the boy had been under detention told the magistrate that the boy had a likeable manner and some good points. He was very anxious to go to sea.

The bench remanded the boy for twenty-one days so that a nautical training school could be found for him.

20th Armistice Day Observed In Madoc

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, Nov. 16.—On Friday, at 10.30 p.m. once again citizens, veterans and school children assembled at Madoc Armouries to observe the Armistice Day anniversary and to remember in silence those who gave up their all in the cause of country and empire.

This twentieth anniversary was fittingly remembered by the gathering of the veterans and the laying of memorial wreaths at the cenotaph at the Thompson Memorial Park.

The speaker for the day was Rev. Father Hyland.

Field Allen, acting as chairman, and with Miss Lamoine West at the piano, announced the opening hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past," and Rev. W. A. Hunter, St. Peter's Presbyterian Church led in prayer.

Miss Doris Broad recited "Grannie's Laddie," and the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung. The two minutes silence was observed with the congregation standing. The concluding prayers were led by Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne, and after the singing of the National Anthem, the procession was formed to proceed to the cenotaph.

Wreaths were carried by George West for Madoc village; Miss Doris Broad for the Province of Ontario; Field Allen for the Veterans; C. M. Wallbridge, Sr., for the Community Club; Mrs. T. Dafoe for the I.O.D.E.; Miss Margaret White for Madoc Women's Institute; Billy Nayler for St. John's Anglican Church; Fay Fleming for the United Church; Stanley Hawthorne for Presbyterian Church, and Joseph Nayler for Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. A. Corrigal has returned to her home in Madoc, after spending six weeks with her son in Dodsland, Sask. She was accompanied by her brother, Mr. F. Ashley of West Huntingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Seymour, after spending the summer months at Hawthornden, the old family residence here, have left to spend the winter in Florida.

The Girls' Sewing Club, sponsored by Madoc Women's Institute, began on Saturday afternoon; the new project, "Sleeping Garments," and much interest was shown. Mrs. H. Major is the leader with Mrs. J. H. Davies assisting, and both attended the Leadership classes in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Alcombrack have returned home after spending a few weeks with relatives and friends in Niagara Falls and Toronto.

Many of our local Nimrods are away spending the hunting season in the northern woods. Deer are reported plentiful and are easily seen in the open, as the warm fall has permitted open grazing for a much longer season than usual. Partridge are plentiful and many have been secured to help out the camp meals.

Anniversary services were held in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church on Sunday; the special speaker being Rev. J. Foote of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church at Port Hope. Rev. J. Foote ("Jack") is an old Madoc boy, having attended both public and high schools in Madoc, and church members, school friends and old friends and neighbors gathered to hear him preach in the church where he had attended Sunday school and church services throughout his boyhood days.

Early in the year the ladies of the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church each adopted a girl of the C.G.I.T., remembering them with cards on their birthday, Christmas and other special days. On Wednesday evening last these Mystery Mothers entertained the Canadian Girls in Training at a banquet. The guest speaker was Mrs. Gordon of Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Follis of Bancroft spent the week-end in Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Cummings and children, Margaret and Gordon of Madoc spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Fallis in Bancroft.

Members of the Masonic Lodge of Madoc were guests of the Masonic Lodge in Bancroft on Monday evening.

DOUBLE DROWNING

CHICOUTIMI, Quebec — News reached here today of a drowning tragedy that claimed the lives of Arthur and Leopold Tremblay of Stanislas. The brothers were returning from a hunting expedition north of Lake St. John when their canoe broke in the Mistassini River rapids. The canoe was found a few hundred feet down stream.

Meat Refrigerators Used In Tests To Break Ice Off Plane Wings

LONDON, Nov. 16 (C.P.).—Smithfield Meat Market refrigerators are being used for tests of a recently-developed paste designed to break up ice formation on aircraft wings so it will peel away under the air pressure imposed at flying speed.

Engineers have constructed a 60-mile-an-hour wind tunnel in the famous market, passing air through the refrigeration brine tanks into the tunnel and introducing atomized water particles to simulate mist.

The air speed they were able to develop in the tunnel was not as high as that of an airplane in flight and ice formed on the wings despite the red chemical paste. The engineers, however, were able to break it off by directing a jet of compressed air against the leading edge of the wing at a speed equal to flying speed.

The ice separated from the wings showed pitting on the under surface which had been in contact with the paste. The paste itself appeared durable, as it performed its task even after the experimental wing sections had been subjected to an imitation rain storm before being subjected to freezing temperatures.

Experiments in aircraft wing de-icing have been carried out for several years at the National Research Council Laboratories in Ottawa, where a large refrigerator was constructed to produce temperatures far below zero.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c

Teller's Shooting Saves Hold-up

CALGARY, Nov. 16 (C.P.).—Thomas A. Easton, young bank teller who admitted he was "a rotten shot" was credited to-day with shooting sufficiently well to halt a robbery at the Dominion Bank of Canada in downtown Calgary.

He fired two shots yesterday at James Kirley, 19-year-old clerk, charged with attempting to rob the bank. Both shots crashed into a wall, but so frightened the youth he dropped a gun he had seized from a desk. He was overpowered by members of the staff. Kirley was charged with assault and attempted armed robbery.

"I probably couldn't have hit him if I tried," Easton said. "I'm a rotten shot. My idea was just to scare him. I would not want to kill a man."

Easton, who came to Calgary from Vancouver, where his parents reside, may be rewarded for his bravery. The Canadian Bankers' Association has a standing reward offer for persons preventing bank robbery, and Easton likely will be recommended.

Life At Oxford Is Described By Tom Allen

The picture of a blase Oxford University student legging it down a street as hard as he could pelt, while a don in academic gown recited a long jumble of Latin to two impatient "toughs" wearing bowler hats, was conjured up by Tom Allen, M.A., young Oxford student, in a letter to an Examiner reporter, received to-day.

It is all part of the tradition that surrounds the old university and makes it a place far removed from the ordinary everyday world. Let Tom tell it:

"I noticed last night when walking down Boar's Lane, cars parked near college buildings, with little green lights under the headlights. These lights, I learned, are compulsory on students' cars. (We may operate one after our first year.) Proctors can thus recognize them.

Not Under Oxford Police.

"In general, we are not under the police of Oxford, but all proctors are responsible for us, and their jurisdiction extends for a radius of 20 miles around Oxford, which, of course, is inclusive since it is only by very special permission that we are allowed further away from the town. It is quite interesting to see a proctor—there are usually two or three, but all are alike. He is a don, strolls around in full academic dress followed by two 'bull-dogs'—heavy, prize-fighter types with bowler hats. The proctor usually makes a round of the hotels and pubs. Pubs are quite illegal for us—on the principle that we can drink as much as we like within the college walls and in more sanctosanct surroundings, away from the contaminating influence of townspeople!

Proctor Inspects Hotels.

"Certain hotels are authorized, but not for drinking. Into the hotel walks the proctor dogged by his two bullers. He has a sharp eye for spotting under-graduates—that is, those who have not been warned by a benevolent waiter. As he gazes at you, you raise your tea cup, to show you're not drinking. If, however, you are doing those things you should not be doing, he raises his cap an inch off his head, lowers it again: 'Are you a member of this university? Name and college, please.' It's part of the code not to falsify. If you are out after hours, or spotted trying to climb in, or tipsy in a pub—quite a serious offence — the point is to beat off by running like mad away from the bullers. The proctor has to have you caught before he can summons you. Those who are in the know—very few are—have a fair chance of escape because, legally, before the proctor may take your name and the bullers lay hands on you, the proctor should recite a very long Latin formula. He doesn't do this usually, but you can object to this omission and he then must do it; which provides a very good opening for dodging off."

If Tom Allen intended to make his reader squirm wit henvy, he more than succeeded when he ended his letter in the following manner: "Term ends December 3. I'll probably put in a week in London — 'Lady Ryder week'—so called by us Colonials. We are provided by Lady Ryder and her friends with invitations to dinner, lunches, dances, theatre tickets, teas, etc. After that I'll probably go on the Continent for a month, then come back a week early to Oxford to get some work done."

TWO CARS COLLIDE

CAMPBELLFORD. — Only slight damage was done when two cars collided on Bridge street Tuesday afternoon. E. C. Dolman of Peterborough was driving west and A. Free, who had been parked at the curb, turned out into the road and the two cars collided. Damage was estimated at ten dollars. Constable Hardy investigated but no charge was laid.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Convalescing After Sickness

After many severe illnesses such as influenza, scarlet and typhoid fever, pneumonia, etc., or an operation, the patient is usually left in an extremely weak, nervous and exhausted condition.

To all those convalescents who need a tonic to strengthen and build up their weakened system we would recommend Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills to assist them back to full enjoyment of robust health. They supply the elements so necessary to build up the shattered nervous system, and bring back bodily strength and vigor.

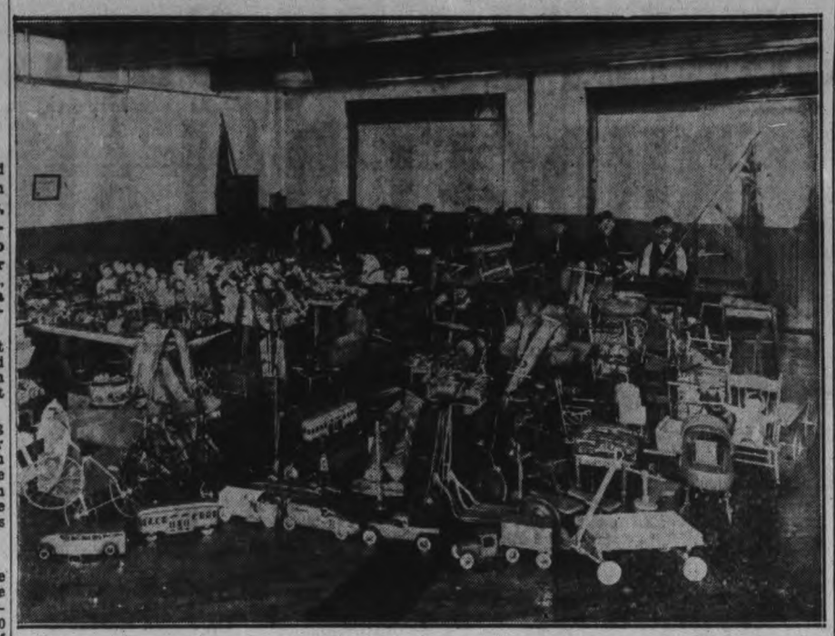
Firemen Urgently Request a Supply Of Old Toys



Is the Examiner going to be able to take a picture like this at Christmas this year? Are needy children going to receive two thousand and more toys this Christmas as they did last year and the year before? No, definitely no, is the answer of the fire fighters—unless Peterborough citizens awake to the urgent need of St. Nicholas' helpers for old toys to be mended. For scarcely a single toy has been sent to the department so far. Firemen have little more than a month left in which to repair more than two thousand toys. Figure it out for yourself, then rummage through your attic immediately for toys you don't need.

Annexation Of CanadaBy United States Is Predicted By Judge Of Detroit Court

WINDSOR, Nov. 16.—Canadians know less of the United States than people across the international boundary line know of this country, Judge John J. Maher, of Detroit, declared when he addressed a breakfast meeting of the Holy Name Society of St. Rose de Lima parish.

Like Canadians

"The people of the United States like the Canadians, but sometimes I think it's one-sided," he remarked.

The dapper Michigan jurist, of Recorder's Court in Detroit, smiled as he predicted eventual annexation of Canada by the United States, because of the many common interest of the peoples of the two countries. They have no grievances but those based on "foolish prejudices," he said.

"You in Canada don't know as much about the people on the other side as we do about you," he went on. "Why, I live over here in Canada part of the time, I've lived over here for eight summers."

The press and radio, as well as industrial life, have combined to make the people of Detroit and Windsor live in the same metropolitan area, he said.

"Fight Us Mentally"

"Yet when you cross the line to see a hockey or a football game, you begin to fight us mentally," he told his audience of about 150.

So many people are inclined to live in their own little world, Judge Maher suggested.

"There are only 10 million of you, so your system can't be 100 per cent. perfect," he smiled. "I never saw anyone yet who came from Canada to the United States who didn't stay. But when you're on a visit, you begin to fight us, not physically ,of course."

People of the United States and Canada are just "one big family," he went on. As far as real colonization is concerned, the United States is predominantly British, Judge Maher added.

"England is the greatest colonizer in the world," he said, adding, "though don't get the impression I'm pro-English."

Omemee Veterans Parade To Church

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, Nov. 16. — Omemee War Veterans accompanied by a number of comrades from Peterborough and Lindsay attended service in Christ Church Sunday evening. The rector, Rev. H. Johnson preached the sermon basing his remarks on "What Price Peace."

Two minutes' silence was observed after the second hymn, after which the National Anthem was sung. During the offertory Master Donald Griffin and Master Freddie Rowan sang a duet. At the conclusion of the service the veterans and their friends were served refreshments in the basement of the church.

The Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church met Thursday afternoon at the home of the Misses Currys with 16 members present. Articles were brought in for a bale which is being shipped to the Indian School. At the conclusion of the meeting the hostess served afternoon tea.

The regular meeting of the Y.P.U. of Trinity United Church was held in the basement Monday evening in charge of Miss Verna Gardiner. A poem "All Roads that lead to God are Good," was read by Miss Olive Graham. The leader led in prayer and the offering was taken by Miss Hazel Wilson. Miss Marion Deyell then read a poem "Whatever I do is Best."

The president, Edward Lowes then took charge. A motion was made that the Young People take charge and look after the thirteen young people who are taking part of the candle light service on December 4. A donation is to be given by the Young People in regard to the missionary fund. The Young People's rally is to be held Nov. 28 at Cambridge Street United Church in Lindsay. Miss Verna Gardiner gave an interesting study of the Book of Amos.

LINDSAY

Hunters Welcome Winter's Arrival

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Nov. 16 — King Winter has been firmly enthroned in the north country, much to the delight of the hunters. On Monday snow fell to the depth of three inches at Norland, while hunters who passed through town reported a fall of six inches in Redstone Lake district, Haliburton County.

Lindsay as well as the other parishes in this district will be well represented at the meeting in Peterborough on Thursday afternoon of the representatives of the different Holy Name Societies in the diocese. The object of the meeting is to organize a diocesan executive.

Roy Ferguson, Lindsay, may lose the use of two fingers as a result of an accident on Saturday. He was operating a band saw when his hand came in contact with the saw, severing the cords in two fingers. He was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital.

Herman Lyons of Beaverton is in Ross Hospital as a result of an injury sustained in that village on the week-end. He was assisting in moving a piano used in Remembrance Day services from the stage of the auditorium, when it dropped, crushing his leg between the sharp edge of the piano and the floor. He sustained a severe fracture.

A. J. H. Stevenson of Toronto, who lost his life in the hotel fire at Rouyn, Que., on the week-end, was a former resident of Lindsay, and had conducted a jewelry store here for some time.

A charge of criminal negligence preferred against L. Scholes of Toronto, following an automobile accident in which Vance Daynes of Lindsay was critically injured, came up for hearing at Raglan on the week-end. Considerable evidence was heard, and an adjournment followed until Wednesday. Daynes was hitchhiking from Lindsay to Toronto and succeeded in getting a ride with the accused. The car ran off the road and overturned.

Deadlock Ends Over Naming Of New Rector

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 16.—After a dispute of several months' duration over the appointment of a rector, the congregation of St. George's Anglican Church and Bishop Charles A. Seager, of the Diocese of Huron, have come to an agreement, it was announced today.

To Hold Meeting

All existing difficulties will be ironed out at a meeting between the bishop and a parochial committee of the church, which will be held this week.

While no announcement will be forthcoming until that time, it was intimated that the congregation will secure the young rector they have been insisting on.

The compromise was effected after months of dissension between the congregation and the bishop, which finally culminated last Sunday in the closing of the church for the evening service. Sunday both morning and evening services were conducted in the church by Rev. N. A. F. Bourne, a retired Toronto clergyman, who has been acting rector.

Cause Of Row

The dispute arose over the appointment of a rector to succeed the late Archdeacon G. B. Sage. While the congregation insisted on the appointment of a young man, Bishop Seager felt that the church should have a man with some experience to follow in the footsteps of Dr. Sage, who was also a professor at Huron College.

When the bishop did not accede to the congregation's demands, a week ago last Sunday the vestry board of the church ordered the janitor service, electric light, power and heat cut off in the church. The morning service was held in the church, but with no lights or heat. Mr. Bourne was forced to hold the evening service in the Sunday school rooms. It was the first time in the 60-year history of the church that an evening service was not held in the building.

SMITH BROS. COUGH DROPS

Alnwick Reeve Awaiting County Road

(By A Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, Nov. 16.—Doubts of Reeve L. E. Kelley of Hastings about future cost of maintaining the Trent village's paved streets were allayed at the meeting of the roads and bridges committee of the counties council Tuesday afternoon, but a spirit of buoyancy did not bring cheer and uplift to Reeve Wes Pacey of Alnwick, who rather ruefully told Reeve J. C. Cummiskey's committee that he had learned something since last June.

Without a mile of county road within its borders, Reeve Pacey had appealed in June for the assumption of the Alderville road. The council agreed, and two other roads in the united counties were similarly designated. So far, however, only one of them has been approved by the Ontario Department of Highways, and it was suggested by one of the members, dealing out vinegar, that Reeve Pacey had neglected the follow-up, that he didn't apply the right kind of pressure, in fact that he didn't go near the Department at all.

And in that light, Mr. Pacey acknowledged that he was "almost sitting on a bomb," taking forethought of municipal nominations next month, and of certain relentless opponents over in Alnwick who would like to put a match to the aforementioned bomb and blow Wes Pacey out of both the Alnwick and counties councils. So, things may be starting to brew for another battle over in the Roseneath neighborhood, but that's nothing new, Reeve Pacey says.

What he learned from recent experience has something to do with puting one's trust in what seemed to be an open and shut case; simply letting the counties' resolution go on to the Department as a matter of course, and eventually having the province do the work. But it hasn't turned out that way. The Highways Department hasn't moved a finger, the Indian Department has let the road obligation go with a whoop, and the only money spent on the Alderville road this year was laid out by Alnwick township, with whatever rebates there may be. That was what Wes Pacey was alluding to when he said he had learned something since June. And there the matter rests for the present, unless cheerful word comes through from the Department approving the action of the counties council.

Darlington Deputation

A deputation from Darlington Tuesday afternoon asked for assumption by the counties of two sections of township roads, four miles from Enniskillen to the Ontario county boundary and two miles from Tyrone to the Bowmanville-Casarea paved highway. The petition was recommended to the county road commission for a report which probably cannot be made until next June.

Reeve J. C. Cummiskey, Manvers, chairman, stated to Reeve H. Burrison, Hamilton, that the road from Harwood to Roseneath had been passed by the council but not yet approved by the Department of Highways. A letter from V. M. Eastwood, Peterborough, conveyed the information that the Department of Indian Affairs had no objection to the assumption of the Alderville reserve road. This year the Department discontinued maintenance, and that work and expense apparently devolved to Alnwick township. Reeve Pacey of Alnwick said he "never dreamed" it was necessary to wait upon the Department of Highways and take along the "right kind of representative."

"Let It Explode"

"I'm on thin ice," Mr. Pacey said. "I'm almost sitting on a bomb, but let it explode, I've sat on one before." He was referring to the possibilty of this subject coming up at his municipal nominations. "But I've learned something. If I had known it was necessary to interview the Deparment I would certainly have done so. This council agreed to assume the road, the only piece of county road in Alnwick. I felt we were entitled to it, and that the Department would approve it without any delay."

Reeve T. A. Reid, Clarke township, remarked that it seemed Alnwick would have to keep up the Alderville road until the Department took it over.

"Why not let it go back to the Indians," Deputy-reeve G. Shield, Cavan, jokingly suggested.

The Millbrook Links

Referring to the Commission's report recommending a change in the Millbrook bylaw restricting its county road links to the boundaries of the village, Reeve Cummiskey said it was merely to make that bylaw uniform with all the others.

Reeve W. E. Ball, Millbrook—"Why make the change if it makes no difference?"

Reeve Cummiskey—"Just because the Millbrook bylaw was the only one that did not stop county roads at the boundaries of the village, and we felt they should all read alike."

Reeve Ball—"If Millbrook has to maintain its paved streets it will never be done. When the road was resurfaced it didn't prove out. We did it a year ago, but the pebble stones were all off again by Spring. The Commission did a fine job on the resurfacing of the pavement from No. 28 highway to the village."

Reeve Cummiskey—The Department didn't feel it should pay a subsidy on maintaining the urban link in Millbrook. That was the main reason why the county road is to be discontinued at the boundaries.

Reeve Edmonstone, Bowmanville—"Millbrook's is a county road, so designated in the bylaw. Why shouldn't they get a subsidy on expenditure. The rest of us are just connecting links."

The Hastings Item

County Road Superintendent A. R. Miller said the county road department would do the work which would be charged against the refund from the counties. This applied to the connecting links. The other streets were to be maintained by the municipality, but if the village desired it that work would also be done by the county road department while they were there, to be also paid out of the rebate. On a motion by Reeve C. R. Carveth of Newcastle it was decided to amend the Millbrook bylaw.

The Commission's proposal to cooperate with Peterborough in assuming the road from Norwood to Trent Bridge was endorsed on Reeve Kelley's motion, seconded by Deputy-reeve P. M. Locke, Campbellford. The united counties pay 25 per cent. of the cost of two miles of the road.

The committee adjourned promptly at 4 o'clock making way for the schools commitee. Warden George and Percy Gooding his deputy reeve were absentees, atending the final meeting of their council. Municipal nominations and elections in Brighton township are held early in December. The two representatives form Murray township were due to be away last night for the same reason. As a result the whole day was spent in committee work, beginning with finance in the morning, and the evening was a blank.

American Nun Is Beatified

"turning our backs on European nations linked to Argentina by traditional bonds."

Mr. Roosevelt did not give out definite figures in his exposition of aims involved in the United States rearmament program, but his remarks gave support to persistent reports that he would propose an army air corps of from 7,000 to 10,000 war planes. This would form one of the wold's strongest aerial armadas.

There is no present intention, he said, to try to create a navy strong enough to defend both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts at the same time.

Mr. Roosevelt mentioned no direction from which he believed future threats to the Americas might come. He said aviation strides were responsible for his new conception of defence needs.

His remarks followed his outspoken criticism of anti-Jewish violence in Germany and his hearers had no doubt that the threats of aggression which he mentioned referred to the totalitarian powers.

Asked to elaborate on this point, he suggested the answer would be found in the newspaper of the last five years.

Thus far, Mr. Roosevelt said he has formed no definite idea of methods to finance the administration's fast developing defence program.

Declining to give any hint as to its cost, he said in reply to a question that it would be wrong to assume measures he contemplated would add $500,000,000 to next year's army and navy budgets.

Another question which Mr. Roosevelt left unanswered was whether the distant Philippines figured in his defence program. He commented merely that the American flag still flies over the islands. Under the 1934 independence act, it is to come down in 1946.

Fairmount Service Hears Talk On West

(Examiner Correspondence.)

FAIRMOUNT, Nov. 16.—The annual W.M.S. thank offering service was held on Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. Rev. C. L. Brown took part in the devotional exercises, assisted by the choir, and then introduced Mrs. W. J. McMahon, a former missionary of Saskatchewan and now residing at Bailleboro, as guest speaker.

She told of the promising outlook the west had given to her with thousands of acres of ripening wheat in the fall of 1909, and for over 20 years prosperity had reigned, but since that several sections had been hit by the drought, wind storms, hail, rust and grasshoppers, which had put a large percentage of the farmers needing help from the government, while others had to move to different parts. The cars of provisions and bales from Ontario which were donated to their aid was appreciated and helped out greatly. But as the crop is much better in sections no Ontario help will be needed in the line of provisions this year, but the clothing, books and papers will be greatly appreciated.

A hymn was sung in memory of the late Mrs. R. H. Howden. Rev. C. L. Brown spoke of her loyalty, generosity and willing service she had rendered to Fairmount church.

The young people's meeting was held on Friday evening with a good attendance. Mrs. H. M. S. McBain opened the service, after which she introduced Mr. L. F. Unitt as guest speaker, who gave an interesting talk on music, its origin and the advancement it has made up to the present time, which was illustrated by the selections he played on the piano.

Alvin and Arthur Eggleson of Mount Pleasant were dinner guests of Mr. Eddie Johnston on Sunday.

Most Jews, however, encountered great difficulty. Frantically they crowded into foreign consulates to ask help.

"I am through," one consular official said as he left his office. "Just as I was leaving, two mothers plaintively held their babies up to me.

"'For God's sake, give us visas so we can find our husbands,' they said. That was the final straw. It got me."

Parents in many cases are worried because they cannot locate sons who disappeared after Nazi degrees closed Jewish educational homes.

One reliable person said 50 youths, the student body of an experimental farm for Jewish boys at Neuendorf, were sent to work on fortifications at one of the German borders.

There developed, meanwhile, indications the destruction of last week was a sharp setback to the Nazi four-year plan for economic self-sufficiency.

Field Marshal Goering, administrator of the plan, was angered by the destruction of millions of dollars in property, a trustworthy informant said.

This view differed with that of angry crowds.

Stomach Ulcers Fade Under Whiffs Of Snuff

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 16 (AP)—A whiff of snuff was reported today as the newest and most successful treatment of stomach ulcers, one of the commonest complaints of fast-living civilized man.

The snuff treatment, announced to the Southern Medical Association by Dr. M. Hill Metz and Dr. Robert Lackey of Baylor University, Dallas, has been found effective in 55 out of 60 cases on which it was tried.

A finely-ground powder made from the rear half of the pituitary glands of animals is the special snuff used, they said. It is inhaled into the nose. The pituitary gland, which is divided into fore and aft parts, is located just at the base of the brain and is the master gland of the body, controlling the hormone secretions of all the other ductless glands.

The exact cause of peptic ulcers treated with the pituitary powder is not fully known, the Texas physicians said. However, medical scientists believe they are caused by an excessive secretion of digestive juices particularly hydrochloric acid, which eat out the lining of the stomach. This upset may be due to nervous disorders resulting from worry or the wrong choice of foods.

The usual treatment of such ulcers consists of putting patients on a strictly limited diet and using drugs taken by mouth which act as sedatives and direct healing agents on the stomach lining, Dr. Metz and Dr. Lackey reported, however, such treatment was unnecessary when the pituitary gland extract was used.

Only two-thirds of a grain of the powerful glandular extract taken four times a day by snuffing it into the nose was sufficient to bring relief to a patient within two to four days, they said. Generally within 18 days he was found to be free of symptoms of the disease.

Bus Costs

fered without prejudice to Wooler, and when Mr. Callahan was called into the committee room and advised of the proposed terms his reply was that they were not sufficient to satisfy his clients.

He had suggested earlier in the negotiations that the counties pay $1,750 providing Murray township made up the difference. Another suggestion which had cropped up between sessions was an offer by the Department of Education to pay 60 per cent. of the bus transport cost, if the school sections in the Woole rarea would contribute the remaining 40 per cent. Some rural solons regard bus transportation as the fine edge of the wedge of consolidated schools in one form or another, and the 40 per cent idea has been rejected. Incidentally two of the Wooler buses roved through Murray township and one in Brighton.

First Test of Issue.

Reeve Mallory remarked that the question of not allowing any charge for bus transportation had never been raised before in dealing with continuation school requisitions.

In his opinion on the case, Mr. Wilmott sai dthat, apart from its other merits, the charge of $1.176 for last year was excessive. He said there was no express authority in the act providing for transportation of county pupils to continuation schools. There was no authority for the transportation of children from outside the school section. The government itself was willing to assume 60 per cent of the transportation costs in the desire to promote larger unit schools and sections.

It was said that Millbrook, Warkworth and the other continuation schools could put buses on the road if Wooler's claim was upheld, and the eventual result would probably add a large sum to the present cost of education in the united counties. However, the department intends to amend the act at the next sessions of the Legislature clarifying the statute in regard to continuation school affairs.

Only One Dissident.

The Locke-Shield motion was adopted by a vote of 12-1. The solitary opponent was Reeve W. J. Troop of Colborne. With the rejection by Mr. Callahan of the $1,000, it is expected that there will be some intimation before the week ends as to the likelihood of the dispute being related to Judge O'Connor, although the schools committee has an aversion to getting tangled up in the process of law.

COMPULSORY PASTEURIZATION HAS AIDED SMALL DISTRIBUTOR

Sales Increase M.O.H. Reports Board Of Health

Compulsory pasteurization of milk in this city has resulted in more business for the small distributor, was the amazing statement heard at the board of health's meeting last night.

In answer to a query put by Ald. James Dutton, Sanitary Inspector Ronald MacPherson and Dr. G. Murray Fraser, medical officer of health, were agreed that not one distributor to their knowledge had been forced out of business. Mr. MacPherson said that on the contrary the men, many of whom are now selling their raw product to large companies in exchange for the pasteurized product, have reported increase in sales. Other distributors have established their own pasteurizing plants and are reporting greater sales.

Old Oil Dump Is Causing Oily Surface On Lake

One day in the future an optimistic prospector is going to announce discovery of an oil well near Little Lake, Ald. James Dutton cracked at a meeting of the Board of Health last night, following a report by Sanitary Inspector Ronald MacPherson.

The report indicated that the Canada Packers, Ltd., has been subjected to a good deal of criticism for something that was not their fault at all. On request of Mayor James Hamilton, Inspector MacPherson had investigated causes of an oily surface on Little Lake. He reported last night that the gas works used to rid themselves of excess oil by dumping it into sump holes nearby. The accumulation has worked its way underground and is now coming up through the waters of Little Lake, despite the fact the method of disposing of such oil, used in the production of gas, has been discontinued.

The board learned that apparently nothing can be done to check the nuisance, that it will have to continue until all the old oil seeps through. Ald. McCannan suggested that Ald. Gordon, proponent of a cleaner Little Lake, be informed of the cause of the nuisance.

Three Are Injured As Cars Collide

Two cars were extensively damaged in a collision at the intersection of Sherbrooke and Water streets this morning and three persons received injuries.

Leonard Larry, Third Avenue was alone in his car travelling south on Water Street and another vehicle being driven east on Sherbrooke by C. K. Jensen, 508 Romaine street, was about to turn north on Water when the crash took place.

Gordon Pierson, a passenger in Jensen's car, received a cut and Miss Jean Hopkins, 506 Romaine street also a passenger, suffered facial cuts and had her knees bruised. Jensen apparently escaped uninjured. Larry had a cut on his forehead which required three stitches and his left hand was lacerated.

BAILIFF ORDERED TO COLLECT

The city's bailiff will be instructed to collect all accounts overdue more than fourteen days, from patients at the Queen Mary Isolation Hospital, the Board of Health decided on Tuesday night.

A QUALITY PRODUCT

Workmen repairing a water main in front of the Canton Cafe recently discovered that the iron water pipe was made in Scotland in 1882, and thus has been underground for 56 years. It was found to be in perfect condition, the leak being at a joint.

TWO CARS DAMAGED

F. R. Foote, 196 Perry street and Frank Lytle, Buckhorn, reported to police yesterday afternoon that their cars had been in a collision at the intersection of Parkhill road and Water streets and both cars were slightly damaged. They agreed to settle the question of costs.

FOUR CASES SCARLET FEVER.

Four cases of scarlet fever in the city during the past month were reported to the Board of Health on Tuesday night by Miss Zeta Kearney, Public Health Nurse. Two of the cases were among children of pre-school age, two among persons of post-school and adult ages.

CONGRATULATE INSPECTOR.

Verbal bouquets were handed to Peterborough's sanitary inspector, Ronald S. MacPherson, at the conclusion of his first year with the Board of Health on Tuesday night. "In my opinion he has done his work well and in a quiet manner that is going to get him a long way in his profession," was Ald. James Dutton's offering. Chairman Walter Stocker and Ald. H. McCannan both agreed the inspector is doing good work in a conscientious way.

LOSS IN REVENUE

Comparative operating statements for the gas department of the Utilities Commission for the month of October this year and last show a decrease of approximately $1,000. September of this year was cold and wet with the result householders switched from cooking with gas to other fuels giving heat earlier than usual. October was warm but the householders evidently had made the change and did not revert back to gas.

SKILLED WORKERS WANTED

Only skilled workers seem in demand at the present time, and there certainly is a scarcity of them, according to Dan Douglas at the Employment Service of Canada. Posted in the office are twelve advertisements for skilled workers. Custom coat makers, hair dressers, production foremen, cupola foremen, paint chemists, glass bevellers, cabinet makers, diamond polishers and setters, are among the posts offered. All applicants must be fully qualified, Mr. Douglas warned.

TO INSTALL CONVENIENCES,

The Board of Health on Tuesday night decided to take immediate steps to install sanitary conveniences in four houses in the city, two of them on Gilchrist Street, the other two on Park Street, the cost to be charged to the owners of the homes, who have refused to make the installations of their own accord. City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, K.C., will be instructed to inform the owners of the decision, and of the board's authority to do so under by-law.

BAG IS FOUND.

Miss Edna Greer found a lady's handbag containing a small sum of money near the Capitol theatre Tuesday night and turned it over to the city police. It awaits a claimant at the police station.

CHRISTMAS TREES CUT.

A truck from Toronto passed through the city to-day loaded with Christmas trees, cut in the northern section of this county. The trees are to be used for Yuletide decorations in the Queen City.

BURNED CAR STRIPPED.

C. Harvey, Romaine street, owner of the car which burned up on the Apsley-Bancroft road ten days ago, reported to the police Tuesday that the wreck had been almost completely stripped. Thieves had carried off three tires, a wheel, generator, carburetor and fuel pump.

WON THIRD PLACE

EQUIPMENT IS LACKING.

Projected tuberculosis testing of school children was halted for another spell Tuesday night when Dr. G. Murray Fraser reported that, following permission from the public and separate school boards to proceed with the work, it could not be continued at present because X-ray equipment was lacking. The matter was laid over until another meeting of the board.

TWO CUBS AT ZOO.

Two cute little black bear cubs have been added to the zoo at the filtration plant. The pair were on exhibition at the Toronto Exhibition this year and originally came from Kirkfield. They were obtained from the Ontario government. The adult bear who met an untimely ending when a live wire fell across his cage and electrocuted him has a successor in the big wire cage also, which brings the total bear population at the zoo up to three.

RESOLUTION PASSED

A resolution calling for the early completion of the connecting link of highway seven between Peterborough and Port Perry and embracing Bethany and Cavan, was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Peterborough Business Men's Association held in the Chamber of Commerce last night. It will be forwarded to the Minister of Highways. This is only one of many resolutions being adopted not only by service clubs and other organizations in this city, but also by every municipality between here and Sarnia.

JOY TO BOYS

Two youngsters enroute to Central School this afternoon had as much excitement as they could stand in one day when they noticed a heavy pall of smoke what seemed to them to be the precise location of their school. Scarcely of school age, they are apparently disciples of Tom and Huck, "It's Central on fire," one of the lads exclaimed. "Oh, goody," shrieked the other in high glee. Actually the smoke was coming from a chimney at the Quaker Oats Company.

CONSERVATIVE ACTIVITIES.

A busy program lies ahead of Conservatives in this district, according to the announcement made by Gordon K. Fraser. On November 22 there is a dance in the Armouries, Madoc to introduce George White, the Conservative candidate in Hastings-Peterborough. Similar functions at which Mr. White will be present will be held at Apsley on November 23, and at Norwood on December 2. Closer to home, West Peterborough Conservatives will hold a meeting and dance at Lakefield on November 25, and at Rye's Pavilion, North Monaghan, on the evening of December 1.

MOVIES OF REUNION

When members of the Red Patch club meet on Friday evening they will see themselves as others saw them at the Canadian Corps Reunion in Toronto during the summer. Moving pictures of the reunion will be shown by a Toronto member. Guest speakers will be C. J. Brown and J. Blaber, members of the Canadian Corps association executive.

OPEN NEW WING IN JANUARY

Y.W.C.A. oficials say they intend to have the grand opening of their new wing in January. Of course the renovation of the older part of the building will not be completed by that time, but the new rooms should all be completed, they say. The new quarters give promise of becoming a very attractive spot for Peterborough's youth, and officials are proud of the job the contractors are doing.

14 INSTRUCTORS

In all, fourteen teachers will instruct the students who attend the Keene school of elementary agriculture and home economics which opens on November 22 and lasts until February 24. Applications are still coming into the Department of Agriculture, sponsors of the school, but there are still openings for others who want to join, it was learned.

ELECTRICAL DEPARTMENT ACTIVE

Ross Dobbin's report to the Utilities Commission Tuesday revealed that five flat rate water heaters had been installed bringing the total in use up to 1470, and 4 electric range services had been hooked up. The rural line nine miles long east on No. 7 Highway is about fifty per cent completed. His report showed a decrease in the monthly peak for the third successive month due largely no doubt to the shutting down of the Auburn plant. Poles have been moved at all points where city workmen rounded curbing at street corners.

Co-operation Of Baptists Sought

LINDSAY, Nov. 16.—The United Church of Canada will endeavor to co-operate with the Baptist Church in the northern sections of Victoria and Haliburton Counties, it was decided here yesterday. Rev. C. C. Miller told the Home Missions Committee of the Lindsay Presbytery that "it is better that any Christian denomination look after these people than that their lives be blasted by the inroads of secularism." United Church ministers have far too many charges in the outlying sections of the two counties, Rev. J. J. Black, chairman of the committee, said. Even some settlements with church buildings and people longing for church services were being neglected because a shrinking missionary fund did not permit the expense of sending ministers.

Two Hunters Come Near To Having Venison Roasted On Way Home

Joe Astles, electrician in the fire department, came close to having his venison roasted before he arrived home from the deer hunt.

He was driving toward Peterborough Tuesday night about eight o'clock, with Norman Moore as passenger, and coming down the hill, one mile north of Nassau, he was blinded by lights on an approaching car. When he applied the brakes, the icy road surface sent the car into a spin and it backed into a deep ditch, turned over and caught fire. Astles and Moore climbed out of the upturned vehicle, and grabbed their guns and hunting equipment. Then they wrestled with ropes which held a large deer on the front fender and finally succeeded in pulling the carcass free of the flaming car. Some of the hair was singed off the deer.

Provincial Traffic Officer Gordon Broughton found Astles and his companion standing near the blazing car a few minutes later, and neither was injured. Several near accidents were averted by Astles and the officer who directed traffic past the blaze, as the highway at that point was glassy with a thin coat of ice.

The fire was believed to be out when the tow truck brought the wreck into the city, but as the car was towed down George Street a stream of fire glowed in its wake. The wind had evidently fanned the fire into new life, and the operator of the tow truck was unaware of it until he reached his destination.

Firemen's Toy Supply Is Lowest In Years Workshop Is Idle Awaiting More Toys

The sorriest sight in all Peterborough these days is the basement of the Fire Department—merry old Nick's toy shop.

Scarce a toy to be found, scarce a hope lingers in the heavy, heavy hearts of the city's fire fighter who stand about waiting for kind-hearted residents of Peterborough to send them broken toys that they will only too eagerly repair and distribute among the needy children of the city, who must otherwise have a bare Christmas.

Old Nick's helpers don't feel any too merry these days, for they know from experience that toys will begin to flow into the fire department a week or two before Christmas—far too late for all to be repaired. Today four of the staff joined forces in repairing a lone toy that had come in for repair. It was a rocking chair, in fairly bad shape, but it didn't require four of them to fix it. The whole thing was they want to help Santa so badly that they all insisted a part of the work be theirs.

Cans of paint, all bright blues and greens and reds and yellows, stand on the floor of the worshop, but there's nothing to paint. Are you one of those hundreds of people who have just overlooked the fact that Christmas is drawing near, because of the summer weather of the last little while? Do you realize the firemen had only a little better than a month in which to repair more than two thousand toys? Do you want some child to go past Christmas without a single toy, merely because you neglected to send down a toy you had no use for?

Grave doubts as to the practicability of their new health certificates now required of all restaurant workers, must have assailed members of the board of health last night when they read Dr. G. Murray Fraser's report.

Reporting six cases of tuberculosis within the past month, the Medical Officer of Health related that "one of the adults is the proprietor of a local restaurant and is classified as pulmonary tuberculosis, moderately advanced with positive sputum. The case was reported to the Medical Officer of Health on October 11, 1938. On September 27, less than a month previously, this man was examined by a physician and a recommendation made that as there was no evidence of disease, he be granted a health permit as a food handler.

"It is not possible," reported Dr. Fraser, "that he developed the disease to its present extent within such a short time because tuberculosis develops slowly over months. One must conclude, therefore, that the man either showed no symptoms or that the examiner failed to detect the signs. While the first premise is possible it is not probable.

Of No Value.

"All this leads to the question as to whether or not examination and certification of food handlers is of value. Recent literature indicates that in larger centres where it had been the practice for some years to demand a health certificate for food handlers, the health authorities are discontinuing the requirement because the expense of an examination sufficiently thorough to be of value is too great. Reports also are that the examination is, in many cases, very brief and of no practical use in detecting such communicable diseases as tuberculosis, typhoid fever or venereal disease.

"Detection of these diseases requires the use of X-ray and laboratory tests which the average food handler is unable to afford. The examination might be conducted by the health department but the expense would be excessive. In centres where requirement has been discontinued, the proprietor of the establishment is held responsible if he employs a food handler who is, or is found to be suffering from a communicable disease. My present attitude is that we should continue our present arrangement until such time as it is further demonstrated that it is impracticable."

Three Still Wait.

Of the other five cases of tuberculosis reported during the month, two were non-resident children and one an adult recently moved to the city. Three of the six cases have been moved to sanatorium and application has been made for the accommodation of the others, Dr. Fraser reported.

"No difficulty has been experienced in persuading the contacts of these cases of the necessity of examination and it is anticipated that in the near future they will be cared for," he said.

In her report to the board, Miss Kearney, public health nurse, said that three of the cases are still awaiting admission to sanatoria. "It seems too bad to keep patients waiting for admission," she wrote. "This situation has not become acute but we have instances when an individual has to wait from one week to a month to gain admittance."

The Rambling REPORTERS

A GOOD COOK

The Y.W.C.A.'s cook is having a difficult time of it these days as carpenters insist on tearing down the walls of her kitchen. She has been provided with a moveable cake board that she can move from place to place when plaster begins to fall into her pie crusts. Somewhat harassed by it all, she nevertheless is doing a good job, officials and diners declare. Not once have they bit into a nail in a pie; not once has continued hammering made one of her cakes sag in the middle.

Santa Claus Parade Committees Named

Santa Claus has been assured a fitting welcome to Peterborough on his pre-Christmas visit to this city on the evening of December 2.

This was determined at a general meeting of the Business Men's Association held Tuesday night in the Chamber of Commerce. Committees were appointed to look after every detail. Don Scott was made convener of the important committee responsible for the lovely float that will transport Santa through the city.

Committees named were as follows:

Parade and Floats Committee—Don Scott, chairman and C. Hughes, Reg. Turner, Dr. E. M. Crough, R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, Art Bacon, H. Freeman, F. Overend, R. Raine, F. Goodfellow and Chas. Saunders.

Transportation Committee — J. Smith, chairman and G. Duffus, H. Florence and H. Chown.

Costume Committee—H. A. Walker, chairman and Don Clark, H. Kelso, W. J. Moorhead, H. L. Shiner, J. G. Lewis and Ed. Riley.

Music Committee — Al Sharpe, chairman and H. Coleman.

Lighting Commitee — D. Hewitt, chairman and J. Geraghty, N. Hamely, Ivan Lillico and Cliff Towle.

Highway Supervisor Has Close Call Near Fenelon Falls

Lindsay, Ont. Nov. 16.

RONALD McINTOSH, Department of Highways supervisor survived a train-auto crash near Fenelon Falls last night. Driving east on the Rosedale highway, his car collided with a northbound Canadian National Railway freight train at the Fenelon Falls crossing. The car was demolished by the slow-moving train, which stopped 40 feet from the scene of the crash. Mr. McIntosh recovered consciousness at his home. He did not suffer serious injuries.

Earl Dies

The Earl of Beauchamp a member of the Asquith government from 1910-16, and warden of the Cinque ports from 1913 to 1933, died while holidaying in New York. He was governor of New South Wales from 1899 to 1901.

City's Lighting Is Superior To Many Cities

Members of the Utilities Commission do not agree with the recent statement by Alderman Dutton that "Peterborough is the worst lighted city in the Dominion," and in discussing the question at the regular meeting yesterday the collective opinion was that this city was superior to Toronto and many other cities in the matter of street lighting.

"You will have to go a long way before you find a city better lighted than Peterborough," said E. R. Shirley.

"You won't find it in Toronto or Belleville," added the chairman, Gordon S. Matthews.

As a result of the discussion the Commission decided to have a survey made of the city's street lighting in the event that future developments might cause a demand for such information. The survey, according to the discussion, can be obtained without cost.

Louis Yeates sent the Commission a letter seeking compensation for damages said to have resulted from water seeping into the basement of his building on George Street during the past six weeks. During that time the city workmen had made repairs to a leaking joint in the water main directly opposite this property. It was decided to answer the letter stating the Commission would not assume any liability because the leaky joint was not caused through any negligence of the city's workmen.

Another communication showed arrangements had been made to give water service to the new Queen Elizabeth School on Barnardo Avenue just beyond the city limits at city rates.

Hydro Electric Power Commission asked if the Commission would permit 250 horse-power to be transmitted over their equipment to the Bonner-Worth Mills. This power was formerly used by the Auburn Mill and the contract for such power does not expire until 1940. The decision was that the local Commission were not primarily concerned in the arrangement because the original contract was one between the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds and the Hydro.

Support Asked Of Doctors For Baby Clinic

The board of health last night sought support of the Peterborough Medical Society in its plan to reorganize the Well Babies' Clinic in the near future.

A delegation of four physicians from the society met with the board to discuss the projected reorganization and said they would carry the board's proposals back to their organization for discussion. Ald. James Dutton stressed the need of cooperation between the board of health and the society if the clinic is to be a success. He pointed to the need of such care by referring to Peterborough's high infant mortality rate—a rate he said was much in excess of the average provincial rate. 'That forms a problem that requires our careful attention," he said.

The Projected Plan

Dr. G. Murray Fraser, medical officer of health, pointed out that under the new plan a nurse would call on all parents after the birth of a child into their families—both rich and poor—and would stress the need of continued examinations by a physician. She would definitely not invite the parents to come to the clinic. Her next step would be to inform the family physician of her call and ask him if he wanted the clinic to assume full control over the child, or to assume part control, with periodic check-ups by the physician or if the physician would himself assume such control. The board of health would not examine babies when physicians had expressed intention of assuming such control, he promised.

The projected clinic is the recommendation of the provincial department of health, Dr. Fraser said. Between five and six hundred babies are born in Peterborough each year, yet only between 60 and 70 attend the clinic, and virtually all of them are children of the low-salaried groups, Dr. Fraser reported. He denied that their attendance at the clinic would affect physicians economically.

Dr. Fraser said that a 1935 report by the provincial department of health revealed that ninety per cent of babies born in the city are into families of low-salaried groups, requiring clinical attention. The scope of the new clinic should be much greater if health standards are to be raised here, he said.

Dr. C. M. Scott, who objected to some phases of free clinical work as conducted in the past, said that a plan has been mooted in some medical circles by which all babies would be cared for free of charge until they were six months old.

"If we had such a plan in force in Peterborough I'm sure every member of the board of health would stand up and give three rousing cheers," retorted Dr. Fraser. The board's only concern is to raise the health standards of the community, he said.

VETERAN GUIDE DEAD

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y.—Plans were made today to bury Thomas A. (Casey) Conroy, 59, who was born in a tiny house at the bottom of Niagara Gorge, near the Canadian landing of the "Maid of the Mist" steamers. Conroy, who for years was a guide in the famous Cave of the Winds died Sunday.

CHAPTER 1

SARA SUE DAVIS dropped her brush back into the paint can and ran to the attic window. Outside, a banshee had wailed, or a panther had screamed, or both. "EE-YEA-A-A-A-HAH-ah-ah-ah yeow!"

For a half minute Sara Sue stared, encaptured. Her heart picked up in tempo. Through a cobwebby, atticky fuzz she watched a bus across Main boulevard disgorging its animated cargo. From its maw came an incredible number of boys, and a few even came from its windows. All of them seemed hopelessly entangled in suitcases, raincoats, handshaking, backslapping, laughter, whistling, comaraderie de luxe.

"Yes, darling!" Mother Davis had been at a window, too.

A third party, highly interested, protruded his ebony neck from a kitchen door. He was Raymond Jones, long since rechristened Calculus.

"Lawd, lawd, ah oughta be over there mah own self, Miss Sara Sue!" Calculus called now. "They sho come a hellin', don't they?"

"You stay where you are, Calculus, or I'll come a hellin' myself!" Sara Sue ordered good-naturedly. "You're not a sophomore, remember. You've been at Rice 10 years at least, haven't you?"

"Fo'teen, ma'am. But ah still likes it."

That was true. Calculus Jones, happy odd-job man, had been nicknamed by the class of '24 when he was a "freshman". He reputedly knew more about the university than its president did. And for five summers he and his enormous wife, Cleopatra, worked for Sara Sue Davis. He and Cleo had been loud and sincere mourners when Sara Sue's young husband had been accidentally killed in 1934. He and Cleo often said they "belonged" to the young widow.

"I don't blame you, Calucus," Sara Sue had come downstairs now. "I like it, too. That's why I'm here."

"You woulda went to Rice you' own self, ef you hadn't failed in love, ma'am."

He said it tenderly. He was remembering when pretty Sara Sue Lanning, fresh out of Houston high school, had eloped with a Rice athlete. But he thoughtfully turned the talk back to current interest.

"I sees Mistah Bob comin' outa that bus, heh heh! Football sho gonna pick up now. He been late for practice."

"Who?" asked Sara Sue.

"Mistuh Bob, the end man, ma'am."

"Oh, Bob Towne, Towne, mother. We saw him play last fall, remember? Right end. Best end Rice ever had."

"Yes'm, sho is."

In this autumn of 1938, Sara Sue Davis, along with practically everybody else in Texas, was doubly interested in Rice Institute. Rice had won championships last year in both track and football, despite the fact that its enrollment was smallest of all the Southwestern conference colleges. People just naturally like to see a small fellow win. And people couldn't criticize Rice; it maintains high scholastic standing, is independent of such things as politics, is privately endowed as a free college for the more worthy southern youths.

"And there's Miss Peaches' long car slinkin' up over there now," Calculus resumed, grumblingly. "Doggone, she can sho tell when Mistuh Bob arrive in town! He hardly git here when she—"

"Yes'm. No'm, I mean." He grinned his apologies, and resumed work. His task for the morning was to make the cottage super clean. With studens arriving, customers might start coming any time, Sara Sue reminded him.

The girl thrilled a little at the very thought of customers. She had never been in business before. She had held a few short-time jobs, but mostly she had lived on the insurance money her husband had left. It had run low, and someone had suggested that she open a tea room near the Rice campus.

But it wasn't going to be a tea room.

Somehow, Sara Sue Davis—the extraordinarily youngish and lovely widow Davis—did not like the idea of a tea room. It had been suggested to her, not by her.

Tea room! It sounded too dainty. No, not dainty, but—. Well, she had been reared with a love of tomboyish action, of football and swiming and such virile sports. Her Larry had been a Rice halfback. True, the heartache of Larry's passing had been eased now by time, and by her own youth. But—oh, well, she didn't want a tea room; there were too many of them.

She and her Mother Davis had surveyed her possibilities, and then all at once Sara had been struck by her Grand Idea!

At least she thought it was grand. She had an instant enthusiasm for it, and that's half of any business battle. She had gone to her banker to discuss it, and he had similiingly decided it might work.

"This year of 1938 is a recession year, Sara Sue," the banker had admitted. "But don't be afraid. Slack times are when we should sow business seed, always. The weaklings are crowded out now. The courageous lay the groundwork for success while other people whine. You have a few hundred dollars, enough to form a corporation. Go on and try your plan. It is much better than hunting a $20-a-week job."

That counsel had boosted her spirits immensely. But, riding home that day, she had been rather frightened, too.

She, the widow Davis, knew little about business. Her occasional jobs had given her but limited experience. True, she was undoubtedly more mature now than she had been, she told herself. She had married at 18. A girl is awfully young, then. At 23 one can think more sensibly. A honeymoon year and a tragedy and four years to recover one's spirit—these things al lamount to "experience," don't they?

Sara Sue asked herself that, and answered herself 'yes.' Her thinking might have been amusing to an elderly person, for she was still so young, so sweet and young. But any elderly person would have admired her spirit; the banker, for instance, did. And so did her kindly, beloved mother-in-law, also left alone by Larry's passing. It made no difference if the girl's plan was startlingly new, different, untried. It takes youth to set precedents; in America, old fogeys in business are definitely out of style.

Sara Sue's first move had been a visit to the Houston Chronicle, the Houston Press, and the Houston Post.

"I want a classified advertisement," she told each paper, "for a house as near the Rice Institute campus as I can get it."

Rice is four miles from the business centre of Texas' largest city. Four miles straight south on Main boulevard—a broad and impressive avenue, prettiest in the southwest. Rice itself, generously endowed by an esthete, is a place of superlative beauty, a collection of architectural gems amid century-old oaks and elms and pines. Sara Sue loved the place. The hope of living near it thrilled her.

Residences nearby were not easy to find. Most of them were above her purse. Houston has not permitted junky, ugly construction near its beautiful university; indeed, the bordering subdivisions are almost as clean and new and lovely as the university campus itself. The house Sara Sue finally leased—"a perfect dream of a cottage, mother dear," cost her $50 a month, a lot of money for a widow just 23 years old.

But she was happy there, and happily busy in her plan. Conscripting Calculus and his fat wife Clea, she had proved a hard taskmaster, working herself hardest of all. But the cottage was becoming spotless and inviting—and her new sign was almost done. The sign, she felt, was really most important. It and the advertisement she had ordered in The Thresher, Rice student newspaper, which also would appear today.

Putting on the last touches of paint, she stood back to read her lettering. "O-o-oh golly," she breathed, "I wonder if people will think I'm crazy!"

She finished her sign by noon, when the second bus load of hilarious students arrived across the street, and by 1 p. m. she and Calculus had it hanging near her sidewalk. The two stood back to admire it.

"I prophesys prosperity for yo' new bizness, Miss Sara Sue," Calculus declared, earnestly. "On account of yo' certainly does know about true love, yes'm."

Sara Sue smiled her thanks. She wished she could feel as confident as her servant.

More Fun For You If You Can Tap Dance

You Can Learn Steps Quickly

But what about yourself? Why don't you step right out in front—learn to tap by practising at home?

See how easily you can do the Forward Tap by brushing your foot forward as in the diagram. Or the Ball Tap, made by striking the ball of your foot on the floor.

And here's the lively Grapevine which you do by making a Ball Tap on every step. Try it while you hum, "East Side, West Side, all around the town—"

Fun, isn't it? And mighty professional looking. Easy to follow diagrams and directions for basic tap steps in our 32-page booklet. Gives practice routines for beginners; waltz, buck, military routines for parties and shows.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of TAP DANCING SIMPLIFIED to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Revenue Declines

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP).—The Department of National Revenue announced today customs and excise revenue in October totalled $27,380,059 compared with $31,160,630 in October, 1937. During the first seven months of the current fiscal year, starting April 1, revenue was $173,671,747 against $191,033,109 in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

Customs and excise revenue in October with figures for October, 1937, in brackets: Customs duties $7,931,168 ($9,356,959); excise taxes, $14,846,197 ($17,118,361); excise duties $4,543,469 ($4,593,979); Sundry collections $59,225 ($91,329.)

DOROTHY DIX

If Men Paid More Attention to the Intellectual Qualifications Than They Do to the Looks of Girls Before They Marry Life Would Be More Enjoyable

AN EMINENT psychologist, who spends his life trying to unriddle the marriage conundrum, asserts that men do not marry to get intellectual companionship. Evidently this is true, speaking by and large, for nothing is more obvious than that feminine brains are not a masculine dish unless they are scrambled.

It is a well-established fact that a college degree is a handicap to a girl if she is set on husband-hunting. Any little Dumb Dora can marry in circles all around Miss Intelligentsia. When a man inquiries about a strange woman he always asks about her looks, never about whether she is clever, amusing and a good talker. Any hostess who is going to have a girl visit her and who is trying to "sell" her to the young men she knows ballyhoos Mamie's good looks, her swell dressing and what a grand dancer she is. If Mamie has a brilliant mind she keeps it as dark as if it were a scandal.

So it is only too true that it is the rare man who marries to get an intellectual companion. The average man never even considers what is inside of a girl's skull and whether she has two ideas or not to rub together in it. He marries Sally because he likes the way her hair curls; or Susie because she has cute little baby-talk ways; or Minnie because she looks good in a bathing suit; or Hattie because she rolls her eyes at him and breathes: "How big and handsome and wonderful you are!"

He never tries to find out what sort of company one of these little nitwits is going to be for the long, hard journey that lies between the altar and the tomb. Or what they will talk about when they get through asking each other: "Oose duckie is 'oo?" And: "Are you sure you will always love me?"

It is because men do not marry for intellectual companionship that so many marriages go on the rocks. It is why there are so many unfaithful husbands. It is why one marriage in seven ends in divorce. For in time beauty fades, passion dies of satiety, and then if there is no mental bond between a husband and wife there is nothing. Everything is gone.

The eternal alibi of the philandering husband is, "My wife doesn't understand me." We mock it, but it is only too tragically true in most cases. For, as a general thing, it is boredom that sets the average married man roaming. He is clever. He is witty. He reads and thinks and is interested in everything that is going on in this exciting old world of ours. And he is married to a woman who is dull and stupid, who never catches the point of his stories and whose conversational range runs from the nursery to the kitchen and back again.

There comes a day when he thinks he will scream if he has to listen one more time about the baby's teeth, or how butchers' meat has gone up, or about the new dress the woman next door has bought. And he grabs his hat and fares forth in search of some woman who will know what he is talking about. He seeks a woman whom he can open the door to the secret chambers of his soul; who will know why he does as he does; who can give him the sympathy and the encouragement and the comprehension that he can never find at home.

When a man marries a woman who is his intellectual inferior they are bound to grow apart because he goes on and she stays put. Their evenings are necessarily as dull as dish water because they have no interests in common and they sit up in a silence so thick you could cut it with a knife. Their marriage becomes one of those ghastly endurance contests that people suffer for their children's sake or else break up in the hope of finding more congenial mates.

The only happy marriages are those in which a man has used his head as well as his fancy in picking out a wife and who has married a woman in his own mental class. Such a couple grow closer together as the years go by because they have all interests and memories in common, and because nowhere else do they find such congenial companionship as they do in each other.

There are many things that a man should consider when selecting a wife, but the most important of all is what sort of an intellectual companion she will make him, whether she will keep him entertained and amused or bore him to tears. And it is a pity that even sensible men have not sense enough to realize this.

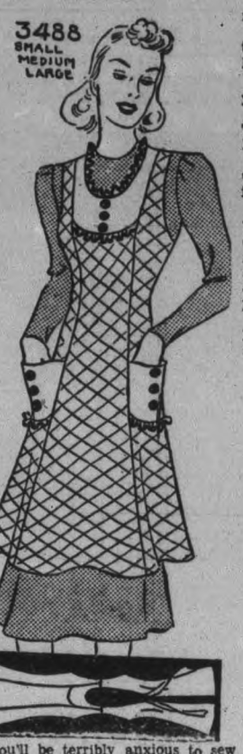
The Examiner Fashion Service



You'll be terribly anxious to sew half-dozen or more aprons with today's pattern. The wonderful princess lines of this printed percale apron are figure flattering to everyone. Crisp white pique ruffling outlines the yoke and is repeated at the lower edge of the huge patch pockets. The built-up shoulders are a comfortable idea, besides a neat and smart one. A sash at the back, snugs the apron at the waistline. A very effective scheme is unbleached muslin with the yoke and jockets of colorful chintz. For a dainty teatime or to prepare evening refreshments bright yellow or green, powder blue, old rose, etc. is exquisitely lovely in organdie. Flowered lawn, dimity prints, broadcloth, plaid gingham, crash, shantung, etc., are other popular cottons for this easy to sew apron. See diagram.

Style No. 3488 is designed for sizes small, medium, and large. The medium size requires 2¼ yards of 35-inch material with ⅜ yard of 35-inch contrasting and 2½ yards of ruffling.

GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TRELL

Knarf, the shadow-boy, came running up to his sister, Hanid.

"There's a whole managerie in the playroom!" he exclaimed. "Come look at it!"

"A whole managerie! What do you mean?"

"Animals! That's what I mean. There are hundreds of them — all kinds, too!"

"H'mm. I guess I'd better look at them then. But remember, Knarf, if you're playing a trick on me—"

"I'm not playing a trick on you. You'll see," Knarf said as he led the way through the dark corridor into the children's playroom. It was already quite late at night. The children were fast asleep.

Doesn't See It.

"Well!" Hanid said when they had entered the playroom. "Where's the menagerie? I don't see it."

"Oh! you can't see it yet. It's in the bookshelf."

"Not real animals, Knarf."

"In the bookshelf! What is it doing there?"

"That's where it belongs. Here, I'll show it to you. You're sure you're not afraid?"

"Afraid? Of course not!"

Knarf reached the bookshelf first. It was along the wall opposite the window. The moonlight, coming through the curtains at the window, shone on it.

"There's the menagerie," he said, pointing to a set of tall books. "The animals are inside these books."

For an instant Hanid felt like scolding Knarf. He really had played his trick on her after all. But then she laughed.

"Well!" she said. "That was pretty funny all right. I never thought of a menagerie being inside a book. Let me see—what are those books? She looked at them very closely. "Oh, it's the Natural History books."

Full of Animals.

"But those books are full of animals, I tell you. I saw them myself."

"Not real animals, Knarf — just pictures."

"They looked real."

Now hardly had Hanid spoken these words when—and this is very curious—the two shadows distinctly heard a roar. It wasn't very loud, but it was unmistakably a roar. And, more curious still, it seemed to come direct from the bookshelf, where the Natural History books were standing.

To Open Royal Fair

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP).—Premier Duplessis of Quebec, here to open the Royal Winter Fair, said in an interview today his government has no intention of rescinding or dropping enforcement of Quebec's "padlock law," directed against Communistic elements.

"They protest about my law, but they never have been able to point to one abuse of it," said Mr. Duplessis. "In Quebec we feel it is necessary and we shall continue to enforce it."

OUR BOARDING HOUSE —with Major Hoople

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, November 17.

The social, intellectual and creative abilities are under high stimuli on this day, judging by interesting lunar and mutual aspects. Those in high places of prestige and power may be attracted by originality, constructive plans and propositions, but be careful with strangers. It is probable that the social, emotional or cultural activities may claim a major share of the attention, although intellectual faculties are under excellent impetus for creative work."

Those whose birthday it is are under auguries for success through heightened intellectual or artistic faculties. They have the prospect of attracting the recognition and practical support of superiors, employers or friends in power. It is a favorable time for creative work in this direction. Also, there are emotional or sentimental urges which may be fanned to happy culminations.

A child born on this day may be energetic and creative in lines of an intellectual, cultural or social order, attracting support from superiors and influential friends. There may be little temperamental expressions to be controlled lest they interfere with its progress.

BETHANY

Rev. and Mrs. V. Walker of Janetville, spent a couple of days last week renewing former acquaintances and celebrating a family reunion of Mrs. Walker's immediate family.

The Misses Hannah Staples and Ruth Rowland of Toronto, spent the week-end holiday at their respective homes in Bethany.

Miss Laura Hutchinson, of Toronto, spent the week-end the guest of her sister, Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, South Line.

Miss Bertha Bertram of Toronto, was a week-end guest of Miss W. Nesbitt.

Rev. A. R. and Mrs. Holden accompanied their daughter to Toronto on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Mickle and daughter Doris were Sunday guests of friends at Gravenhurst.

Mr. Joe Ingraham and granddaughter of Peterborough, spent a few days last week with friends in Bethany and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis, of Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Byers, parents of Mrs. Davis.

C.G.I.T. Girls Elect Officers

George Street C.G.I.T. girls met to elect the following officers: President, Ileen Winslow; first vice-president, Marguerite Ash; secretary, Irene Everett; assistant secretary, Ruby Scott; treasurer, Frances Smith; assistant treasurer, Vivian Alkins; pianists, junior group, Betty Brown; intermediate group, Eva Blanche Parr; senior group, Margaret Fairbrother.

Mrs. Charlie McIntyre was in charge of a very impressive Armistice program. A membership campaign was started with two opposing teams led by Ruby Scott and Vivian Alkins. The contest will close on December eight with a dinner, which is to be provided by the losing team.

We Noticed

. . . That changes have been brewing in stockings for the past few months. Run-proof stockings are being made in deceitfully sheer editions for evening; the new stretch-top stockings can stretch in two directions, so they'll just give and give when you bend down to a bottom drawer; and still more stockings are being tailored to fit the length of your leg, as well as the size of your foot.

✧ ✧ ✧

. . . If you want them all to wear really well (and who doesn't?), follow these rules. Buy the right weight for the right occasion. Light-as-a-breath cobwebs were never meant to go for nice, long walks, or out to inspect the rosebushes. Buy one- and two-thread for evening, three-thread for daytime, and four-thread for sport.

✧ ✧ ✧

. . . Wash all your stockings in the mildest little soap flakes you can find; rinse them well, straighten them to their proper shape, and don't dry them near a radiator. Incidentally, the theory about washing them before the first wearing is just a myth. Stockings are washed at the factory.

Speaks On Need Of Missionary Work

Rev. E. W. Rowland of Mark street church was guest speaker at the November meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society, which was held on Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors, and spoke of the great need of missionary work in Canada.

Mrs. Allen Pilling presided at the meeting, which was opened with the Call to Worship, and prayer. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Rodgers, and prayer was given by Mrs. E. W. Young.

Plans were made for a tea and sale of homemade cooking to be held at the manse on December 2. Two fine violin solos were played by Mary Jane Wharry, accompanied by Mrs. Radford.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. M. A. Kerr's group.

Rev. G. S. Easton To Be Guest Speaker

This is World Fellowship Week in all Y.W.C.A.'s throughout the world, when special programs and services are planned. It is interesting to know also that in Geneva, Switzerland, the world's office of the Y.W.C.A., the world family of the Association is remembered in friendship and prayer every week.

Here in a beautiful little chapel services of worship are shared by the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. and World Alliance for International friendship through the churches, and at the recent World Council meeting at Elgin House, Muskoka, the National General Secretary mentioned that each day a group of the World Associations was the centre of thought and prayer so that every country is brought into close friendship through the National organizations.

In this chapel a beautiful lamp is the gift of the National Y.W.C.A. of Indian, Burma and Ceylon, and a cross of olive wood from the Mount of Olives was sent from the Y.M.C.A. of Jerusalem.

At the local Y.W.C.A. the educational committee has arranged a special program for Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock when Rev. G. S. Easton will speak on world friendship, and Mrs. H. A. Mitchel will sing. A cordial invitation is extended to all members and friends of the Y.W.C.A. to attend.

St. Andrew's Y.P.S.

The culture meeting of the Young People's Union of St. Andrew's church was held last night, with Vice President Miss Margaret Emerson in the chair. Miss Dorothy Ridyard read a poem on "Success," Miss Mabel Crozier read the Scripture lesson.

The President, Gordon Harle, gave an address on Personality, in which he showed that personality consists in doing things rather than in knowing about them. Lloyd Richards spoke on Dramatics and illustrated his theories by practical demonstration. An executive meeting was held at the close in which various items of business were transacted.

Prescott—Ingram

A quiet wedding ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ingram, Harvey township, when their second daughter, Alice Victoria, became the bride of James Hector, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Prescott, North Verulam.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was becomingly gowned in wine velvet with a corsage of snap dragon, lily of the valley and fern. Miss Nora Prescott, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Mr. Innis Ingram, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Rev. C. C. Miller minister of Trinity United Church, Bobcaygeon, officiated. Mrs. C. H. Pardy supplied the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Mr. Pardy sang "I Love You Truly."

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott will make their home in Verulam.

To Relieve Bad Cough Quickly, Mix This at Home

Does the Work in a Hurry. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother used, and, for real results, it is still a very dependable thing for distressing coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really superior cough remedy—more than you could buy for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

This splendid home mixture has a three-fold action. You can feel it take hold at once. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. This explains why it gives such prompt, pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Soybean Furnishes Protein Equal to Meat, Milk, Eggs

(By MARY MOORE)

Soybeans have been neglected on this page, I have to thanks Mrs. B. A. H., one of our faithful readers, for renewing my interest in them.

The deeper I went into my literature, the more I was impressed with their value.

Ironically, (but commonly) enough the cattle raisers discovered them to be so high in food value that they were raised extensively for forage, before their value to humans was realized to any extent.

Soybeans furnish a portein equal in quality to that found in meat, milk and eggs, and are also an important source of vitamin B. The large amount of fat present is an economical source of energy. Soybeans are also rich in calcium and iron and give an alkaline reaction in the body. Since the beans contain very little starch, they may be used as one of the important constituents of a diabetic diet—also in a reducing diet. They can be used both green and dry.

Green soybeans are used much the same as other varieties of peas or beans—but they shell more readily if the pods are first boiled for 3 minutes before attempting to remove the beans.

Scalloped Green Soybeans.

Three cups green soybeans, water, 3 cups milk, 6 tablespoons fat, 6 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, 1 cup buttered bread crumbs. Steam or boil the beans until tender. Heat the milk and thicken with the combined fat and flour. Add this to the beans with the crumbs, and bake until the crumbs are browned and the mixture is heated through. Tomatoes served with this dish make a good combination.

Notes on Dried Soybeans.

Dried soybeans may be used in much the same way as navy or lima beans or split peas or marrowfat peas—except that soybeans require longer soaking and much more cooking. Dried soybeans should be soaked 24 hours, then simmered for at least 3 hours—if they are to be used with further cooking such as baking in casserole dishes. A pressure or fireless cooker can be used to advantage with them. They are very rich in fat and require no more except butter for flavoring.

Chili Con Carne (using soybeans).

One-quarter cup chopped onions, ¼ lb. salt pork ground or diced, ½ lb. lean beef, ground, 2 cups cooked soybeans, 2 cups tomatoes (canned or fresh), 1 tablespoon chili powder. Brown the onion and salt in frying pan. Add the beef and cook slowly for 5 minutes. Then add remaining ingredients and heat through. This is nice served in a rice ring—or with hot buttered toast.

Soybean Vegetable Soup.

One-half cup chopped celery, 2 (from forcing boiled soybeans through strainer), 4 teaspoons cups tomatoes, 2 cups soybean pulp chopped onion, 1 tablespoon salt, pepper to taste, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 cups water. Combine the celery, tomatoes, soybean pulp, and seasonings, mix the flour with the water, stir in this thickening, and cook for 20 minutes in top of double boiler.

Soybean flour is often easier to order from your grocer than the dried beans and Soybean Muffins are very popular.

Soybean Muffins.

One cup soybean flour, 1 cup white or whole wheat flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ cup milk, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon melted butter. Sift the dry ingredients together. Mix the milk and beaten egg, add the melted fat, pour into the dry ingredients, and stir until they are just moistened. Bake in a hot oven of 425 deg. Fahr. Very good with gooseberry jam or current jelly.

We have just skimmed the surface of the soybean subject and would like to hear from those of you who crave "more"—an economical, highly nourishing food—new flavor, new interest.

Over 450 Attend Ploughmen's Dance

With an attendance of over four hundred and fifty persons, the Ploughmen's Dance held last evening in the Canadian Legion Hall was an interesting and successful event.

Col. J. J. Duffus, M.P., honorary president, Mr. Howard Quin, president, and Gordon Hancock, chairman, were in charge of arrangements, and were assisted by members of the social committee who included: Vernon Campbell, secretary, Harry Grant, Ira Robson, Walter Thorn, Alex Huston, Roland Dixon, Alex Carlow, Arthur McIntyre.

Earl Tully, president of the U.P.O., assisted by a group of helpers, was in charge of the refreshments.

Home and School Association News

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL.

A successful and well attended affair of Tuesday afternoon was the delightfully-arranged tea which was held by the Prince of Wales Home and School Association in the Kindergarten room of the school.

Bronze chrysanthemums in a silver basket and bronze tapers in silver holders adorned the lace-covered tea table, and the silver services at each end were presided over by Mrs. P. Windrim and Mrs. W. R. Morris, and later by Mrs. R. Parnell and Mrs. C. S. Mattice. Fifteen individual tables were centred with silver vases of baby 'mums in bronze shades. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. S. Harrison, Mrs. G. Hutchinson, Mrs. George Penhall, Mrs. S. Shields, Mrs. C. H. Wishart, Mrs. G. Worboy, Mrs. C. Gardiner, Mrs. G. Davis, Miss Isobel Conley.

Mrs. W. Constable, social convener, was responsible for the delicious refreshments, and was assisted by Mrs. Hurl and Mrs. Gordon Webb. Mrs. A. Metheral was treasurer for the event.

Cyclamen plants and baskets of red roses banked the platform where a pleasantly-arranged program was given, consisting of vocal solos by Mrs. G. A. Spicer; Mrs. T. Williams; Mrs. Mendel Braund, Mrs. Davies, Master James Cross, and Miss Helen Friendship. Readings by Mrs. Rowe and Miss Joyce Bridcott; a guitar solo by Miss Dorothy Anderson; piano solos by Mrs. Glover, Miss Wells, Miss Adele Fitzgerald, and Master Norman Hurl. Tap dance numbers, Mary King and Lenore Saunders.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL.

The Monday night meeting of the Confederation Home and School Association took the form of Father's Night; with the president, Mrs. T. Monk, presiding.

Dr. C. M. Scott was special speaker, and addressed the parents on child heart conditions and heart diseases.

A fine report was given by Mrs. T. Monk on the regional conference held at Belleville in October. During the busines smeting it was decided to hold afternoon meetings at the homes of the members every Tuesday; the first meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. T. Monk, Braidwood avenue, on November 22. Plans were made also for an evening of games to be held at the school.

The attendance banner was won by Mr. J. Thexton's class. Mrs. L. Johnson and her committee were in charge of refreshments.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

If those who are the enemies of innocent amusements had the direction of the world, they would take away the spring, and youth; the former from the year, the latter from human life." —Balzac.

Dear Friends:—

Yes, there are plenty of kill-joys in the world, those who would make of life and living a sterile joyless thing. They seem to think that God loves long faces, frowns instead of smiles, when all the time we were told to "Praise the Lord with Gladness."

We need to be glad sometimes, we need to take the look of strain from our faces and let the light of joy shine through. We need laughter and fun, for "all work and no play, makes us as well as Jack, a dull people."

Life is dull enough with the common round of tasks that must be done, but when it is brightened with fun, lightened with a laugh, when we forget ourselves and our worries in a bit of humour, then there seems something to live for.

And it isn't goodness these people are trying to learn us when they try to cut us off from all pleasant things. It is their own interpretation of goodness, and who are they to set the rules?

They are not complete, not enough to them. Something was left out of their composition, these kind of people, and that was the saving grace of humour.

They think that all things that would please us are sinful. A new dress is pride, a trip is terrible, for could not the money be useful in some other way?

Thrift is carried to the ninth degree, but they never think of the waste they cause in lives, for they are like a person short-sighted in both eyes who persist in wearing spectacles with but one lense.

And they see the world from a lopsided pointed of view, so that they would stop the lambs from gambolling, and the colts from kicking up their heels if they had their way.

What they never seem to see, is that they are more sinful than any in trying to stifle all forms of innocent fun. Because when anyone kills joy they are in truth bad murderers.

There is no religion which is religion without joy in it. And it does not consist in the kind of habit we wear, nor the kind of uniform. We are joyful because of our religion, not in spite of it.

All through the centuries we have had these kill-joys with us. They were on earth when our Lord was here, criticizing whom He ate and drank with, whom His friends were, what He did on the Sabbath day. He knew and despised them.

And, we too should show how we despise them, for it is not godliness they seek, but just to impose their narrow-minded wills on those who let them get away with it.

They are not, broad-minded enough, not big enough, not enough of any of the charities within themselves to be anything but a pain in the neck to all about them.

And we are worse than them if we let them get away with it. The name of God is often on their lips, but what do they know of Him when they try to stifle the fun that youth gets, and the escape from reality of older ones in a little pleasure.

They are self-styled judges, but they forget about, "Judge not lest ye be judged." And one day their own words will overtake them, and they will be caught in the web they spun for others.

I say, all power to those who get fun out of life and help others to get fun also, and to those who are always telling others how to live, I would say emphatically, "Clean your own doorstep before you try to clean another's."

Your Friend, ROBERTA.

Do You Know?

That a little dry mustard sprinkled in the frying pan when frying bacon will bring out the flavor, and make it much more appetizing?

✧ ✧ ✧

Mold or fermentation in jelly is likely to result when the jelly is stored in a warm or damp place? Keep the jelly cool.

✧ ✧ ✧

If you cut dress patterns out of old cloth instead of paper it will not tear, and will cling to the goods without pinning?

✧ ✧ ✧

If all hardware is coated with paraffin or petroleum ointment before painting, spots of paint can then be very readily removed? This is a helpful plan when painting knobs, locks, or hinges of a door or window.

SAINT JOHN, N.B.—(CP)—Local Chinese flocked to the city market after a truck driver sold the carcass of a large black bear killed when hit by the truck. The Orientals were anxious to purchase the bear's feet and gall bladder, used for making Chinese soup.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK

By MARY MOORE

SUNDAY

Rump Roast of Beef, Brown Gravy
Yorkshire Pudding
Pan Roast Ontario Onions
Brussels Sprouts in Cream Sauce
Lemon Cake Pie Coffee

NOTE: Do not be tempted to chance the above menu to include potatoes, for it will be too much food, I know, for I was served the same meal when invited out to dinner last week, and while it tasted grand the mashed potatoes our hostess served in addition to the above was definitely too much.

MONDAY

Shepherd's Pie (see note)
Celery Hearts
Tapioca Cream Pudding with Hard Sauce
Coffee

NOTE: While Shepherd's Pie is supposed to be a humble dish, and well-known it is sometimes poorly made and poorly flavored. I recommend plenty of mashed potatoes, mend plenty of mashed potatoes, onion added to the ground leftover beef to make it soupy. Line your [illegible] with mashed potatoes, pour [illegible] seasoned and moistened [illegible] cover with mashed potatoes, score top with fork, sprinkle with paprika, dot with butter, and bake until heated through and golden.

TUESDAY (Vegetarian)

Fried Egg Plant Slices
Shoestring Carrots with Parsley Cream Sauce
Mashed Potatoes
Tomato Jelly Salad
Cocoanut Cream Pie Hot Tea

WEDNESDAY (Economy Dinner)

Chili con Carne
Creamed Onions
Lemon Pudding Hot Tea

THURSDAY

Sausage Rolls (see note)
Hot Chili Sauce
Shredded Cabbage and Green Pea Salad
Baked Apples Coffee

FRIDAY

Deviled Scallops
Scalloped Tomatoes and Onions with Crumb Crust
Mashed Parsnips
Rice and Raisins Pudding
Coffee

SATURDAY

Swiss Steak with Carrots
Lettuce and Celery or Tomato Salad
Sliced Bananas and Cream
Coffee

"They take away BABY'S TEETHING FEVER"

SO writes Mrs. B——, of North Sydney. Then a Toronto mother says: "I used Baby's Own Tablets and the babies were always so good. No cramps, pain or trouble when teething. In fact, I hardly knew they were cutting their teeth as they never were any trouble at night."

And so the evidence pours in from thankful mothers everywhere, who praise Baby's Own Tablets also for the relief of simple fever, diarrhoea, upset stomach, irritability, simple croup, colds and other ailments. Speedy and effective in their work. Safe and harmless in their action. Sweet-tasting and easy to take. Contain no opiates or stupefying drugs whatever. Can be given with safety to the most delicate baby. Analyst's report with every box.

Try Baby's Own Tablets. Your money will be refunded if you are not satisfied with the result. 25 cents.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT FOR DINNER with Fish

*Fish Chowder

5 cups of diced vegetables — onions, carrots, turnip, potatoes, and outside and top parts of celery suggested.
4 cups of fish stock or boiling water, or enough to cover the vegetables well.
1 tablespoon of salt.
1½ pounds of fish.
3 cups of milk.
2 or 3 tablespoons of butter.
Soda biscuits if desired.

Boil the vegetables in the stock or water until almost done. (The stock is made by using the trimmings and skin of the fish). Add the fish, cut in pieces, to the vegetables and finish cooking. Flake the fish through the vegetables and add the milk and butter. Heat well, but do not boil after the milk has been added. Serve with soda biscuits. Serves 6 to 8.

*Fillets with Spinach and Egg

Arrange a mound of cooked, chopped, seasoned spinach in the centre of a heated serving dish and garnish with slices or sections of hard cooked egg. Around the border of the dish arrange oven fried fillets of fish cooked as follows:

Dip each piece of fish into salted milk (using ½ tablespoonful of salt to ½ cupful of whole or undiluted evaporated milk). Toss the fish into a pan of sifted dry bread crumbs, coat thoroughly and place in a well oiled baking pan. Sprinkle with cooking oil and cook in a very hot oven (500 to 550 deg. Fahr.) until the fish is tender and the crumbs browned (about 10 minutes).

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. George Buller, Aylmer street, wish to announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Thelma Isabel, to Gordon Robert, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson, Sherbrooke street west. The marriage to take place quietly, the early part of December.

DIED

HICKEY, Mrs. Mary Eliza. — On Tuesday, November 15, 1938, at her residence at 621 Union street, Mary Eliza McCarrol, widow of Edward J. Hickey, in her 84th year. Funeral on Thursday morning from the late residence at 8.45 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral for Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. Interment at St. Peter's Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

AUSTIN.—In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Alexander Austin, who departed this life November 16, 1937.

Weep not for me, nor wish me back,
I am now from pain and free;
And in my Jesus arms I rest
Where I have longed to be.
You watched for me, beside my bed
Now I watch for you;
And when you reach the Golden Gate
I will come and lead you through.
Calm and peaceful she is sleeping
The sweetest rest that follows pain;
I who loved her, sadly miss her,
And trust in God to meet again.
The world may change from year to year
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one I loved
From memory pass away.

—Ever remembered by her daughters and son-in-law, Mrs. William McLean and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mollon.

OBITUARY

HUGH MATHEWS

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 16. — The funeral of the late Hugh Mathews of Douro was held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wellie Dunford, in Douro.

The late Mr. Mathews who passed away at the home of his daughter after a few days' illness, was 77 years old.

Born in Dummer Township, near McCracken's Landing on March 17, 1861, the deceased was a son of William Mathews and Mary Ann Little.

On March 3 ,1891, Mr. Mathews married Martha Jane Dunford, daughter of Lazarus Dunford and Susan Bolton, of Dummer.

Mr. Mathews has lived all his life in this district, having resided in the village of Lakefield for a number of years just previous to his death. Mr. Mathews was predeceased by his wife about nine months ago.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Warren Mallory of Peterborough; two brothers, Mr. George Mathews of Lakefield and Mr. Robert Mathews of Warsaw. Two sisters, Mrs. John Macauley and Mrs. William Crowe, both of Dummer, and two brothers, Jim and Joe, also of Dummer predeceased Mr. Mathews. Also four daughters, Mrs. Wellie Dunford of Douro, Mrs. Bruce Rosborough of Rochester, Mrs. Gordon Davis of Smith, and Mrs. Milford Clysdale of Dummer, and one son, Norman, of Dummer. One son Clarence, died about four years ago.

Rev. G. F. Kelly conducted the funeral service. Pall-bearers were six nephews, Messrs. Clinton and Hilliard Mathews, Galvin and Wesley Dunford and Garfield and Everett Dunford. Interment was in Lakefield cemetery.

MRS. MARY CARL

Mrs. Carl had enjoyed good health to within two weeks of her death. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and took great interest in the Sunday school. Her husband, Bert Carl, predeceased her in October, 1917. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Wasborne of Glen Alda. Floral tributes were many and beautiful. The hymns were: "When All My Labours and Trials Are O'er," "Breathe On Me Breath of God," "Peace, Peace, Peace," "Shall We Gather at the River."

She leaves to mourn her loss one brother, Nathaniel Hawley, Glen Alda; two daughters, Mrs. Henry Washburn, Glen Alda, Mrs. Mervan Reid, The Ridge; six sons, Joe, Glen Alda; Ed, Jim, Frank of St. Ola; Wesley of Methuen, George of St. Catharines.

The pallbearers were Harold Palameter, St. Ola, Ruben Winters, Glen Alda, Robert Steen, Lasswade, Neil Whitmore, Ollie McCauley, Harry Wilson, all of Apsley.

Interment took place on Thursday afternoon in the family plot, Lasswade cemetery, Rev. F. Wick officiated.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

WEAR HIM DOWN

A BOXER frequently adopts the strategy of tiring out his opponent by means of body punches, which do no particular immediate damage but sap his strength, getting him ready for the finishing knockout punch later on. Declarers are sometimes like that when they run a long series of sure tricks in careful order, stripping a defender's hand to the point where he has nothing left to lead back, when he eventually gets a trick, except what they wish him to lead.

After passes by North and East, South pre-empted with 4-Spades, which became the final contract on this deal.

The diamond K was West's opening lead, which South trumped. Declarer could see nine tricks in sight, if the heart finesse was right, and his problem was where he could obtain the tenth. His first hope was that West led from a three card diamond suit, in which event he might set up dummy's diamonds.

Based on this plan, he led to the spade Q and ruffed a diamond. Next he cashed his two high trumps and finessed the heart J. When a diamond was ruffed West played low, his chances for setting up that suit failed. He then led to the heart A and played a diamond, on which he discarded a heart. West won the trick, cashed his heart K and club A, but had to give a club trick to South.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

U.S. Anger Seen In Call Home To Berlin Envoy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—(AP)—A sudden order calling the United States envoy to Berlin home for "report and consultation" gave a clear indication today that the United States government disapproves of Germany's treatment of Jews.

Officials said the instructions for Ambassador Hugh Wilson to come to Washington were in no sense an interruption of diplomatic relations. They added, however, the step was taken only in important cases.

Wilson, in Berlin less than a year, will leave for London Sunday. He will report to President Roosevelt not only on the Jewish situation but also on all problems affecting American relations with the regime of Chancellor Hitler.

Shortly after the announcement of his return was made last night, Senator King (Dem.-Utah) proposed that the United States sever diplomatic relations with Germany if the live without the decent respect of King spoke on a broadcast symposium in which Interior Secretary Ickes, former President Herbert Hoover, and religious leaders protested against anti-semitic measures in the Reich.

"No nation can live unto itself alone," said Ickes. "The time comes when neither man nor nation can live without the recent respect of their fellow men."

Brutality Contagious

Alf Landon, Republican presidential candidate in 1936, whom President Roosevelt has appointed a delegate to the Pan-American conference next month, said: "There is a real danger of the growth of intolerance here in America" because "unchecked mass brutality is contagious."

Former President Hoover declared the situation "makes us fearful for the whole progres sof civilization, and added that it is bringing to Germany "moral isolation from the entire world."

Officials in Washington did not disclose how long Ambassador Wilson would remain here, but Berlin dispatches said he expected to return there early in January.

Fascists Ignore Vatican Frowns

Fascist party quarters showed a marked irritation over the Roman Catholic Church's protest against Italy's new marriage law prohibiting marriages between "Aryan" and "Non-Aryan" Italians.

Some Fascists predicted priests might eventually be limited to teaching the catechism in schools and that the circulation of Catholic newspapers might be restricted.

Many usually well-informed Fascists expressed the belief the party would seek popular support in holding clerics strictly to administering what Fascists consider to be religious duties.

They predicted further restrictions on "Ayran-non-Aryan" relations. Some thought religious marriages unsupported by civil marriages might be classified as illegal.

Scared By Bear Hunter Vanishes And Hunt For Him Continues

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Nov. 16.—The search continues for an unidentified 21-year-old youth, who was hunting in the woods in the vicinity of Flower Station, township of Darling. The youth had shot a deer, and when he noticed a bear nearby became frightened and ran into the bush, and has not been located by the guide. It is in this district that two hunters from Westport were lost for nearly two days before being located by searchers.

Fox Wins Race

Road races with jack rabbits have long been a favorite sport with truck drivers on the roads of North Hastings, but yesterday afternoon, returning from Bancroft, Jack Simpson, transport operator, reported a new diversion, an all in race with a red fox which he failed to out distance with his truck.

The animal startled from beside the road in a section of swamp north of Millbridge was reported to have at once taken to the centre of the road, a course which he held easily on a long lope, apparently unafraid of a truck which lumbered behind.

The driver's attempts to put on short bursts of speed resulted only in the fox accelerating the speed of his bounding gait. The race appeared to have lasted for at least a mile, when suddenly the animal finally darted into a clump of bushes and disappeared.

Hitler Given Blame For Women's Fashions

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(CP). —Dorothy Thompson believes Chancellor Hitler may be responsible for the current trend of women's fashions—upswept hair and all.

"I mean that fairly seriously," said the prominent news columnist and wife of Author Sinclair Lewis at a dinner here last night at which she received the 1938 American Women's Association award for eminent achievement in the field of journalism.

Miss Thompson said there existed in the worl dto-day a tendency to resubjugate woman. An effort was being made to send them back to the home. At the same time children were being taken out of the home as early as possible for military service, giving women less and less to cook.

"So women have nothing to do but try to keep their curls on top of their heads, going to the hairdresser three days a week and wearing clothes in which it is impossible to move. Soon I suppose we'll be learning to swoon and have the vapors again."

Huntsman Gored By Wounded Buck

NAPANEE, Ont., Nov. 16—(CP)—H. (Red) Norris, Napanee sportsman, was recovering at his home here today after being gored by a wounded buck deer during a week-end hunting expedition in the woods near Denbigh, 90 miles north-east of Belleville.

Norris dropped the animal with one shot but as he approached the deer leaped to its feet and charged. Norris was tossed on the antlers but he held on desperately as the animal pawed and gored at him. Dr. G. H. Stobie and Roy Stafford, Norris' hunting companions, killed the pain-maddened beast.

Norris suffered severe lacerations of the legs and abdomen. Dr. Stobie rendered medical attention in the bush and the injured man was brought to his home here. He was reported today to be resting comfortably.

Court Frees Campbell Sweetheart

2 Other Women, Man Held As Aides In Surprise Charge

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 17.—(CP).—John D. Donaghue, 33, of Windsor, who has been held as a material witness in the Mount Brydges bank robbery since Oct. 18, was committed to-day for trial on a charge of assisting the bandits to escape.

Kathleen Byrne, 22, of Windsor, and of Hul, Que., who was taken into custody with Melville Campbell who yesterday pleaded guilty to the hold-up, was released from custody.

Two other women, Mrs. John Donaghue and Mrs. Jean Donaghue Crumb still face charges of aiding and abetting the bandits.

The charge against Donaghue of assisting Campbell and Harold J. Moore in escape came somewhat as a surprise.

He was taken into custody together with Campbell and Miss Byrne when police raided Campbell's apartment four days after the hold-up. However he was held as a material witness against Campbell, just as Miss Byrne was.

Inspector E. D. L. Hammond, of the Criminal Investigation Department who was in charge of the robbery investigation was the only witness in the preliminary hearing which resulted in Donaghue's commital for trial.

Crown Attorney N. F. Newton asked for Miss Byrne's release, explaining that she had been held only to give evidence against Campbell and as he pleaded guilty her evidence was no longer required.

W. B. Henderson, counsel for the two other women moved that they too be discharged but Crown Attorney Newton refused to consider the suggestion. Raymond Quinton and Harold Moore who were yesterday committed for trial on armed robbery charges did not appear in court to-day, but Campbell, Donaghue and the three women were present.

Last Of Brady Gang Will Die Tonight

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Nov. 17 (A.P.). — A spurt of current through the electric chair at State Prison here soon after midnight to-night will wipe out the last man of the Al Brady gang—three farmer boys who turned mobmen to loot and kill through the United States Midwest.

James Dahlover of Madison, 32-year-old trigger man of the gang, will be put to death for the slaying of State Policeman Paul Minneman of Logansport on May 25, 1937, after the $2,500 robbery of the Goodland State Bank.

Dahlover was captured and his pals, Alfred Brady and Clarence Lee Shaffer, Jr., of Indianapolis, were shot to death by Federal agents on October 12, 1937, in Bangor, Me.

Dope On Vessel Costs Firm $145,000 Fine

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP). — A $145,000 penalty was levied today by the United States Treasury Department against the Silver Line Company of London, owner of the freighter Silver Yew, on which narcotics valued at $255,000 were found here yesterday.

Treasury officials, in announcing the penalty, said the vessel's owners had agreed to post bond in order that she might sail today as scheduled. The penalty was based on Customs regulations which set $25 penalty for each ounce.

Federal agents continued questioning six Chinese members of the crew and indicated one or two additional arrests might be made.

The captain of the Silver Yew, William Irving; the first mate and the chief engineer were released after questioning. Tsin Ho Zon, second boatswain of the Silver Yew, was held on a charge of smuggling.

Dean Bans Photos Of Co-eds Limbs

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP)—University College Follies will be presented here tomorrow night despite adverse comment following publication of a newspaper photograph of the chorus of 24 shapely co-eds.

A member of the Follies committee said no changes will be made in the costumes of the girls when they take the stage. The only thing to which Marian Ferguson, dean of women at University College, objected to was exposure of the legs of the chorus in newspaper photographs. Miss Ferguson instructed the committee that no more pictures were to be taken.

Founded six years ago, the Follies cast was limited at first to male students, who took both male and female roles. Co-eds have been allowed to take part in recent years, however.

King Gets Great Reception Upon His Arrival To Sign Trade Treaty

Pact Of 3 Nations Involving Tariff Changes Covering Over 2,000 Items Draws Greatest Democracies Closer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King was welcomed by a distinguished company when he arrived here early this afternoon to sign the Canadian-American reciprocal trade treaty at the White House later today.

The Prime Minister, accompanied by Dr. O. D. Skelton, Canadian Under-Secretary for External Affairs, was greeted by an official delegation headed by Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, and Marvin H. McIntyre, representing President Roosevelt.

Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Washington, headed a welcoming delegation from the Dominion's Legation. Six ranking officers of the U.S. State Department and military and naval aides also were on hand as the train bearing the Prime Minister and Dr. Skelton pulled into Union Station.

Mr. Mackenzie King and Secretary Hull conversed jovially as they left the station. The Prime Minister and Dr. Skelton entered White House automobiles to drive to the Canadian Legation in brilliant sunshine.

The Final Touches.

As the Canadians arrived in the capital, Government officials were busily putting final touches to arrangements for the ceremonies that will transform the trade agreement between Canada and the United States and an even more extensive one between the United Kingdom and the United States into official documents.

After luncheon at the Canadian Legation, the Prime Minister was to hold a press conference for the large corps of newspapermen in the capital.

He was to arrive at the White House at 3.40 p.m. EST to sign the reciprocal agreement, which replaces a trade pact expiring Dec. 31. He will remain as the overnight guest of President Roosevelt.

The two important agreements, embodying tariff schedule changes on more than 2,000 items, are to be signed in the East Room of the White House at 4 p.m.

Secretary Hull, proud father of the reciprocal trade program, will sign both pacts for the United States, with the President looking on.

Lindsay Signs for Britain

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador to Washington and A. E. Overton, head of the British trade delegation which carried on negotiations, will act for Great Britain in the Anglo-American pact which gives the United States concessions in the United Kingdom, all the colonies and Newfoundland in return for concessions on certain British products.

Thus the two great democracies—the two greatest trading nations in the world—and Canada, which ranks fifth in the world trade, will move close together in the economic sphere.

Details of the pacts, more comprehensive than any similar agreements ever before executed, will be made available for publication tomorrow morning.

During his two-day visit, Mackenzie King also is expected to confer with President Roosevelt on the latter's plans for mutual defence of the western hemisphere.

With relations between the United States and Germany strained over Nazi violence against the Jews, the trade agreement with the United Kingdom appeared destined to bring

United Counties Do Honor To Warden George

(By A Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, Nov. 17. — The youngest Warden in the municipality history of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, Warden J. F. F. George, Reeve of Brighton township, in the heart of the apple country, received last night many tributes of acclaim as guest of the counties at a banquet in the British Hotel, incidentally pointing to the approaching end of the concluding sessions of 1938.

Warden George's successful administration was extolled in an address read by Reeve W. Arthur Wood of Cavan, and he was presented with a gold wrist watch by Deputy-reeve R. J. Edmunds of Port Hope, dean of the council, as a token of the appreciation and esteem of his associates. The chairman of the banquet was Deputy-reeve Percy Gooding of Brighton township. Many of the former Wardens of recent years were present.

To Increase Commission

The roads and bridges committee with Reeve J. C. Cummiskey, Manvers, presiding, recommended the enlargement of the county roads commission from three members to four, beginning in January. This special commission has been composed of three members since its inception, one of them the Warden serving for one year; one of the two members being appointed for two years, and the third man representing the original member who was appointed for only one year. It requires the appointment annually of a commissioner for two years.

The proposal for next year is that one of the three members shall be appointed for three years, one for two, and the third for one year, with the Warden as member ex officio, and after 1938 there shall be a new

"GOD'S ACRE" is no longer a cotton patch.

Rev. Marshall Nelms, of Hepzibah, Ga., credited with developing the plan under which rural Baptists may give the church the annual yield of one acre instead of cash, said today crop curtailment under the United States farm program, had caused many farmers to pay their tithes in crimson clover, wheat, peanuts and other produce, instead of cotton.

Mr. Nelms, who attended the Georgia Baptist Conference which closed last night, was not able to estimate the aggregate yearly income to the church from the "God's acre" source.

The plan he said was first put into effect on a broad scale in Hart County, Georgia, in 1930.

Police Cleared In Probe Of Commissioner

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP).—The finding that Provincial Police officers in the Township of North Monaghan never received any instructions to deal leniently with liquor offenders was made yesterday by Major-Gen. V. A. S. Williams.

The O.P.P. head also found that the statement that Provincial Police were powerless to clean up rackets in North Monaghan because of political interference, if it was made at all, was without foundation

All complaints made to Provincial Police, also, according to General Williams, "were dealt with in a proper manner and investigations properly carried out, and prosecutions instigated in all proper cases."

Canadian Heads Troops In China

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP Cable).—The appointment of Major-General A. E. Grasett, a native of Toronto, as general officer commanding the British troops in China, was gazetted last night. The appointment is effective from November 4.

General Grasett has advanced rapidly in the service since he was a major of sappers a few years ago. In his new appointment he succeeded Major-General A. W. Bartholomew, who had held the Chinese post for two years.

General Grasett, born in 1888, was educated at Upper Canada College, Toronto, and Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont. He is a graduate of the staff college and of the Imperial defence college, both of the United Kingdom. He entered the Royal Engineers in 1909 and gave distinguished service in France during the Great War, and on the northwest border of India.

As patron and patroness of the Association, Their Excellencies said in a message to the association: "We are much interested in the admirable work which the Association is doing throughout Canada."

General Anderson Chief Of Staff

Major-General Anderson Major-General Ashton

Major-General T. V. Anderson has been elevated from the appointment of Quartermaster-General to succeed Major-General E. C. Ashton as chief of the general staff, according to an announcement from Ottawa. Relinquishing his post as head of the general staff after 45 years of active work in the Canadian militia, Major-General Ashton will continue to be closely connected with the Department of National Defence.

German Reply To British Protest Noted But Not Accepted

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(CP)—Germany's reply to the British protest over an attack on British statesmen in the German press has been noted but not accepted, Reuters News Agency reported in a Berlin dispatch today.

The protest was based on publication of photographs of Winston Churchill, Anthony Eden and Alfred Duff Cooper, former First Lord of Admiralty, in Der Angriff organ of propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, with a caption implying that the British statement were linked with the assassination of Ernst Von Rath, German Embassy secretary at Paris.

Sir George Ogilvie-Forbes, British Charge d'Affaires, delivered the protest to the Wilhelmstrasse Monday It referred specifically to the Nov. 8 issue of Der Angriff which published the photographs of the British statemen under pictures of the assassins of Von Rath and Wilhelm Gustloff, murdered in Switzerland two years ago. The caption was: "To Assassins and War Mongers."

The Reuters dispatch from Berlin said:

"The German reply to the British protest against association of British statesmen with the assassination of the late Herr von Rath and Dr. Gustloff in Goebbels' newspaper Der Angriff has been noted but not accepted, Reuters learns.

"The matter has been referred to London but no instructions for further action, it is understood, have yet been received.

"The fact that the version of the Reuters interview published in Germany did not contain Goebbels' assurance that the affair would be looked in to has been particularly noted.

(Goebbels, in an interview with Reuters earlier this week, was quoted as saying he did not approve publication of Der Angriff's statements and that he would "have the mistake immediately clear up.")

"Cases of British Jews in business in Germany, whose property and stock have been damaged during the anti-Semitic disturbances, are still being investigated. Great Britain reserved the right to lodge claims for compensation and if such claims are warranted it is assumed that they will be formally conveyed to the German government."

Spurned, Lover Shoots Girl Driver, Both Die In Crash

San Francisco, Nov. 17 (AP)

A REJECTED SUITOR, taking a last ride with the girl he loved, shot her twice through the body, causing her to lose control of the car she was driving. The car plunged 10 feet through a guard rail on Grand View avenue, killing both.

Thus a deputy coroner reconstructed the deaths yesterday of Peter Pellin, 35-year-old cafe owner, and pretty Alberta Cobb, 27, department store clerk.

In the car's charred wreckage and in Pellin's rooms were found notes indicating the man planned it all deliberately.

Wembley Farmer Is New Oat Champion

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP). — William Justyn Rigby, 20, a junior farmer from Wembley, Alta., today won the Canadian grand championship in oats, at the Royal Winter Fair, displaying a Victory variety. Runner up was Victor Watson, Airdrie, Alta., also with Victory. They were selected from six prize winners in different classes.

56,000 Jews Jailed In Germany

Urge U.S. Mortgage Quota And Take 81,000 Immediately

By Melvin Whiteleather
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

BERLIN, Nov. 17—(AP).—Frantically trying to arrange refuge from Nazi anti-Semitic laws, prominent German Jews pleaded to-day that Great Britain, the United States and France and Germany permit the Reich's Jewish population to emigrate without passports and visas "because of the acute need."

Some Jews suggested that the United States mortgage the German immigration quota for the next three years and accept 81,000 Jews immediately. They urged that 50,000 be accepted by Palestine and that Great Britain and France take care of another 244,000 between them.

The Jews kept away from population centres to-day, afraid the funeral at Dusseldorf of Ernst Von Rath might lead to more violence, like that of a week ago after the Paris Embassy secretary died of wounds from a Jewish boy's revolver fire.

Jewish estimates to-day were that 56,000 of their number had been arrested.

They said they had reports from concentration camps that new Jewish prisoners were quickly put in uniform and had their heads shaved after the usual custom, indicating they would not be released soon.

German Press Views.

The first reaction to President Roosevelt's press conference statement of plans for an air force that could defend both North and South America came in an editorial published by Voelkischer Beobachter, Chancellor Hitler's newspaper.

It said the President pictured an "imaginary menace" to American and that "suspicions were cast on other powers in the interest of United States armaments."

There still was no indication of what feeling may have been aroused by Mr. Roosevelt's statement against Nazi threatment of the Jews.

The Berlin group which proposed the emigration plan said there are 500,000 Jews in Germany, not including Austria and Sudetenland.

They suggested that of these, 50,000 could be accepted by Palestine, another 100,000, more than 60 years of age, would remain in Germany and wealthy relatives in foreign countries could take and support 25,000.

If the United States would open its immigration quota for 1939, 1940 and 1941, 81,000 could leave Germany. The annual American quota for German immigration is 27,000.

If the 31 countries represented by the Evian-les-Bains international refugee committee could agree to such a scheme for old Germany, the Jewish group said a similar one could be devised for the recently annexed areas.

Jews with a knowledge of Jewish finance took exception to official statements that their wealth amounted to 7,000,000,000 to 8,000,000,000 marks (about $2,800,000,000 to $3,200,000,000. They thought about half that would be nearer right.

Woman Driver Hurt, Friend Killed As Car Skids Into Truck's Path

STRATFORD, Ont., Nov. 17.—(CP)—Suffering internal injuries and possible head injuries in a car-truck crash at the westerly outskirts of Sebringville last night, Mrs. Alex Haddy, Clinton, died early today in the Stratford General Hospital. She was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Louis Oakes, wife of Dr. Walter A. Oakes of Clinton.

The car was believed to have skidded into the path of a heavy gasoline truck after the right hand wheels evidently slipped off the pavement and on the shoulder of the road. The car skidded when the driver manoeuvred it back on the pavement, covered with hard slippery snow and ice.

The car was travelling west and the truck, driven by E. Carter, Toronto, east. The truck driver escaped injury but Vic Pinder, Toronto, a passenger in the truck, suffered a bad gash over the eye when cut by flying glass.

Mrs. Oakes, driver of the car, was taken to Stratford General Hospital with a fractured pelvis. Her four-and-a-half-year-old son, Harris, escaped with minor injuries.

Collapsed In The Dock

GUELPH, Ont., Nov. 17.—(CP).—Charles Schneider, of Kitchener, who faces 26 charges of chicken theft, false pretences and escaping from custody, collapsed in the dock in police court today and halted hearing of the long list of charges against him.

Magistrate Watt had just started to read the first of the charges and Schneider had pleaded guilty to them, when he suddenly slumped, and fell in the dock.

He was removed to the county jail and it was understood that the case will proceed as soon as his condition warrants.

Grass Agettin Short Says Death Valley Scotty As Roll Of Ones Replaces Usual Hundreds

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17 (AP) —"Thuh grass is agettin' kinder short," mused Death Valley Scotty as he paid for his fried oysters and ice cream with two one-dollar bills.

On past visits the mystery midas of the desert flashed $100 and $1,000 bills, and once a $10,000 silver certificate. Today his pudgy fist revealed a roll of only "ones."

"Broke?" the 62-year-old, silvery haired desert rat ejaculated to a questioner. "If I wuz, I'd have plenty of company, eh?

"Nope, it's just thuh grass is agettin' short.

"I have to get out in thuh rocks and prowl out some of that 13,000 ounces of gold I got buried. When I come around again I'll have plenty of kale."

Ship Sinks, Skipper Dies As 3 Crew Battle Gale 32 Hours In Dory

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—(AP).—Haggard and exhausted after 32 hours in a dory in near freezing weather, three crew members of the New Bedford fishing dragger Valencia were fed and put to bed to-day aboard the lightship Nantucket, with the story of the vessel's sinking Tuesday afternoon still untold.

The three were identified by the lightship's captain as Jack Knutsen, George Jacobson and Nels Adland, all of New Bedford.

With the body of their captain in the dory, they pulled alongside and told, in half-incoherent language, that they were the only survivors of the 48-foot Valencia. The ship sunk in a north-west gale Tuesday, 25 miles southwest of the lightship.

The men were so near collapse from exposure and fatigue they were given stimulants and bundled off to sleep before the Nantucket's skipper could learn the dead man's name. At New Bedford, he was identified by Mrs. Muriel Tellefsen as her husband, Sigvart, 28, father of a nine-weeks-old son and a 2-months-old daughter. He died of exposure.

Whether others perished in the sinking remained undetermined early to-day as the coast guard cutter Thetis ploughed south to the lightship, 44 miles off Nantucket, to take the men ashore. Mrs. Tellefsen said the Valencia usually carried "five or six."

New Grass Developed To Make West's Wastes Bloom Again

Toronto, Nov. 17 (CP)

DEVELOPMENT of a hardy, "marvellous" new strain of drought-resistant Siberian grass will result in reclamation of all abandoned drought land in western Canada, Dr. L. E. Kirk, dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Saskatchewan, said here today.

The new grass, developed at the university will be of inestimable value in rehabilitation work, Dr. Kirk, here to judge grains at the Royal Winter Fair, said in an interview.

"It means that all abandoned land will be reclaimed," he added. "That land now subject to soil drifting, and land that should never have been broken in ranch country, will be brought back into production again."

"The new grass, which produces a thick crop of fine hay and has an exceptional ability to add fibre to the soil, is "hardy and tenacious almost beyond our first dreams."

The world now has 61,000,000 bicycles, according to the new estimate of the British Cycle Makers' Union.

Last Minute News Flashes

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 17—(AP).—A daughter was born today to King Farouk and Queen Farida. London Lawyer's Claim May Upset Law That Impounds Drunk's Cars

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 17.—(CP).—Legal argument that might upset Ontario's new law ordering a three-months seizure of cars owned by persons convicted of drunk driving was heard by Magistrate Donald Menzies in city court to-day.

After listening to both sides, the magistrate said he would reserve judgment for a week. He will study legal references presented to him and will decide whether or not the province has the right to order cars seized.

In legal circles it was said the case would likely be carried to higher courts after Magistrate Menzies had made his ruling. It was suggested the decision might be appealed to the Supreme Court and from there to the Privy Council.

The question was raised a week ago by A. B. Siskind, London lawyer, after a client of his had been convicted of driving a truck while intoxicated. When Magistrate Menzies spoke of seizing the truck for three months as ordered by Ontario's new law Mr. Siskind claimed that the law was ultra vires, that the Ontario Legislature had no power to order machines seized in drunk driving convictions.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 17.

MRS. BERTHA SOULLIERE, 15-year-old bride of a few weeks, charged her husband, 24-year-old Milton Soulliere, with desertion and non-support in county police court today. The case was postponed a week while police sought Soulliere.

The girl told reporters after the court session her husband had not lived with her at all after their marriage.

King And Queen May Visit Rumania Next Fall To Return Present Call Of King Carol

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP-Havas) —The Bucharest correspondent of the Daily Herald reported today he understood King George and Queen Elizabeth would visit Rumania next autumn to return the current visit to London of King Carol.

Their Majesties, the correspondent said, would go to a Rumanian Black Sea port aboard a warship and stop at Istanbul, Turkey, on their way home. The King and Queen already have announced plans for visiting Canada and the United States early next summer.

In connection with King Carol's visit here, the Financial News reported the British government and Rumanian experts are now negotiating extension of £20,000,000 ($100,000,000) in commercial credits to Rumania. Part of this would be made up of export credits and the rest would be a loan for the purchase of armaments.

High Home Price Of Butter Cuts Exports

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP).—Export of considerable quantities of butter from Canada is impracticable unless certain price situations exist, J. F. Singleton, associate director of marketing services, dairy production division of the Dominion Agriculture Department, told the Ontario Creamery Association's convention here today.

"Judging from the results of past efforts," he said, "there seems to be little doubt that the removal of considerable quantities of butter from Canada is impracticable unless the domestic price level is down to export parity or funds are available to compensate for loss on export if the domestic price is above export parity."

Even if funds are available to compensate for loss on exports, there is no assurance that any desired objective as to volume to be exported can be realized, he said.

"The very organization of such a movement creates an incentive for individual holders to hold stocks firmly and even to acquire greater holdings, which, of course, prevents free export. An example is found in the operations of the butter export marketing board in 1935, when it was only possible to secure for export 6,549,200 pounds although the objective was 10,000,000 pounds."

Keep Up to Date.

Mr. Singleton said that those engaged in the creamery industry and trade should carefully study all available information concerning developments and conditions from week to week and also concerning future trends. Such studies were particularly important to the operator or trader who was considering holding or purchasing butter either for trade requirements or for speculative purposes.

An appraisal of the future market trend in the United Kingdom is at all times of value to Canadian creamery interests because of the influence of the U.K. market on the Canadian.

"The Canadian market frequently advances or recedes in sympathy with the United Kingdom market, even if no exportable surplus exists in Canada or appears likely to accumulate in the near future. But the future trend of the London market is particularly important to Canada as a surplus seems likely to accumulate or has accumulated in Canada.

"In forecasting the market trend in the United Kingdom one should consider past trend of volume of exports, rate of production in the United Kingdom, the stock position, quantities afloat to the United Kingdom, quantities available for export in the principal countries of supply sources, rates of production and climatic conditions in the countries from which supplies are regularly drawn, trend of consumption in the United Kingdom and buying by countries of Continental Europe."

Mr. Singleton said there is a feeling that producers lost more this year owing to reduced demand than they made through the high prices during the fall of 1937. "It is possible efforts will be put forth in future to prevent such sharp and extreme advances in price, and Canada should not store quantities of butter during our season of heavy production, with the expectation of exporting to the United Kingdom during the autumn at a profit."

2nd Seat Won By Nationalists

LONDON, Nov. 17—(CP).—The "little general election" in the United Kingdom continued today with voting at Doncaster and Bridgwater following closely the government's victory yesterday in another by-election in Walsall.

Sir George Schuster, National Liberal candidate, called his victory in Walsall over George Jeger, mayor of Shoreditch and Labor candidate, an endorsement of Prime Minister Chamberlain.

The electorate recognized Mr. Chamberlain saved Great Britain from war, he said, and that 'his government afforded the best hope for better employment and a greater extension of social services."

The defeated candidate said the people were so "bewildered by recent events they have not yet come to an understanding of the effects of Munich on the nation's future."

Sir George received 28,720 votes to 21,562 for Mr. Jeger. His majority of 7,158 votes compared with 8,969 in favor of the late J. A. Leckie, National Liberal, in the 1935 general election. Then Mr. Leckie polled 28,563 to 19,594 for W. Graham, Labor, and 1,480 for J. A. Harper, Independent.

As in two previous by-elections since the September Munich agreement accepted the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, the contest was fought squarely on the government's foreign policy. In this case the troubles of Germany's Jews were used by the opposition to support its claims that the government had failed to find a basis for real appeasement in Europe.

B.C. Shelves Move To Curb Japs

VICTORIA, Nov. 17—(CP).—The government of Premier T. D. Pattullo yesterday defeated an opposition attempt to place on the order paper of the legislature a motion favoring abrogation of Canada's immigration agreement with Japan. The vote was 27-17.

Division came when Capt. MacGregor Macintosh (Cons.-The Island) moved to put on the order paper his resolution which had previously been disallowed by Speaker Norman Whittaker.

The resolution, after noting "continued increase in Oriental population in the province," and that "no requisite action to curb such increase had been taken by the federal government," asked that "this house urge upon the government that it make further immediate representation to the federal government for the abrogation of the existing agreement in regard to immigration with Japan."

the United States and Great Britain close together and to push Germany still farther away.

Germany, on the United States economic blacklist because of her discriminations against American trade, is not eligible for the same tariff reductions granted Britain under the new agreement. As a result, her exports to the United States are considered certain to suffer.

A Check On Hitler?

Some officials here believed the treaty might act as a restraining force on Germany, perhaps inducing Chancellor Hitler not only to quell anti-Semitic outbreaks but also to seek a similar trade agreement with the United States.

Embraced in the two new agreements are about 1,000 articles of export and import. Each treaty, in printed form, is the equivalent of a good-sized book. Together they weigh a pound and a half.

Products from all parts of the globe are involved in the agreements through inclusion of the British colonies ranging from Zanzibar and Sierra Leone in Africa to the Malay States in the Far East, the Fiji Islands in the Pacific, Bermuda in the West Indies and British Guina in South America.

The importance of the trade with the colonies is indicated by the 1937 figures showing that the United States bought $322,560,000 worth of goods from them and sold them $76,897,000.

The United Kingdom is the United States' best customer. She bought $535,000,000 worth of goods from the United States in 1937, which is about as much as the United States sold to Germany, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Sweden combined.

Guiana Favored As Jew Home

By Paul-Louis Bret
(Copyright, 1938, The Havas News Agency.)

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(CP-Havas)—A $200,000,000 United States-financed plan for resettlement of Germany's Jews in British Guiana and perhaps also parts of British Africa was reported under discussion here between Foreign Secretary Halifax and the United States Ambassador, Joseph Kennedy.

British Guiana, a colony with an area of 89,480 square miles and a population of about 330,000 on the northeast coast of South America, appeared to win most favor in high British quarters as a prospective Jewish haven, although it was emphasized the colony could absorb only part of the refugees and other governments would have to make parallel efforts.

It was stressed that whatever part the Dominions take in the resettlement program will be entirely up to their respective governments.

Under the British Guiana settlement plan now being considered, it was reported, the United States would advance the entire sum involved, and would subsequently investigate its own possibilities for giving sanctuary.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 17 (C.P.). — An export business of 750,000 bushels influenced a firm trend in today's Winnipeg wheat market, and values closed ¼ to ⅜ higher, November 60, December 59¾, May 62¼ and July 63 cents. Price range hung around yesterday's closing levels most of the day.

Wheat was reported to have been shipped out of both coasts, and a cargo left Vancouver for the United Kingdom. Aside from the good exports, the market was featureless. Trading was dull and offerings light. Commission house selling was noted and believed due to firmness at Chicago caused by reports the si xcent preferential duty on wheat entering the United Kingdom will be removed under the United Kingdom-United States trade agreements.

FLUSH KIDNEYS
STOP GETTING UP NIGHTS

IF kidney irregularities break your rest do not overlook it. For the relief of minor kidney irregularities Dr. Pierce's A-nuric Tablets have been found very beneficial. The action of this stimulant diuretic in flushing the kidneys, diluting acid, and relieving irritation has given relief to men and women in every part of Canada. Mrs. H. Mead, 41 Metcalfe St., Toronto, said: "My kidneys gave me trouble. I found sleep almost impossible, my back and limbs ached, headaches were frequent, and my hands and ankles would swell. But Dr. Pierce's A-nuric Tablets soon brought relief." Buy at drug store.

Mexican Rider Is Injured At Winter Fair

TORONTO, Nov. 17.— (CP). — Herdsmen arose before dawn at the Royal Winter Fair to-day—Maritimes Day—to groom their charges for a lengthy session of competition that will last until nightfall. Cattle judging will outweigh all other events with Ayrshires, Guernseys, Holsteins and Jerseys competing.

The program for the third day of the huge agricultural and livestock exhibition also includes competitions in swine, horses, poultry and seeds, with the usual horse show in the afternoon and night.

Hon. Albert Matthews, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, was among a large audience that thrilled to chills and spills at the horse show last night. Much of the action came in the military broad jump, won by Lieut. J. Stack of the Eire army team, up on the gallant veteran Blarney Castle.

Horsemen from five other International army teams also competed, with Lieut. F. F. Wing of the United States team taking second place. Three of the competing horses smashed into the difficult jumps, throwing their riders to the tanbark.

Only rider seriously hurt was Captain Villarreal of the Mexican army team, flung heavily by his mare, Donaji, at the Liverpool jump. The rider was assisted from the ring and taken to hospital.

X-rays were taken and officials said Captain Villarreal suffered a possible spine injury. The mare was uninjured.

Canadians Eliminated

Members of the Canadian army team were eliminated on the first round through faults and balks. However, Lieut. Doug Cleland and Captain Stewart Bate of the Canucks jumped to victory in the open-air competition, not restricted to military mounts.

Premier Mitchell Hepburn, entering the six-horse light draught teams for the first time, placed second with an entry from his St. Thomas, Ont., farm. He was defeated by G. R. Brownridge, Brandon, Man.

Grand champion and senior champion stallion was judgedtobe champion stallion was judged to be the entry of Pine Ridge Stables, London. E. E. Foster, Galt, won the grand champion mare award in standard breds. Western Ontario won the majority of other horse-judging competitions and also took the first four prizes for boys' horse showmanship.

Western Canada scored a major victory when Nels Linden, 60-year-old Wetaskiwin, Alta., farmer won the title of Canadian wheat king with a sample of Reward wheat, and also the barley championship in the seed division. Linden heard the news from a sick bed at his Red Deer river Valley home.

Before winning the grand championship of the barley division, Linden took the registered barley class with a sample of Trebi variety grain.

Most of the livestock division prizes were won by Ontario entries, although westerners were also prominent. Suntan, junior calf Aberdeen-Angus steer of Howard Fraleigh, Forest, was chosen champion steer of the show.

Senior and grand championships for jersey bulls went to William [illegible] and Son, Brantford. Entry of M. L. McArthy, Sussex, N.B., won the Holstein grand and senior bull titles. Josephat Faliberte, St. Henri, Que., took the grand and senior French-Canadian bull awards.

Made Homeless, Czech Refugees Stranded

Typical of the scenes along the roads on the new Czech-Polish border is this one; Czechoslovakians, who fled from their homes when they became Polish through that nation's acquisitions of territory formerly owned by the unfortunate Central European democracy are now standing along the roadside with their furniture, awaiting conveyances into the interior where they will make new homes.

Herd Inspector Raps Milk Covers As Only "Bacteria Traps"

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Nov. 17.—December 1s the dead line set by the Lindsay Board of Health for producers supplying milk to local consumers to install pasteurization equipment in compliance with new government regulations. Referring to the new covers on the apparatus for cooling milk in connection with the equipment, Dr. Lawrence, herd inspector, stated: "It is the silliest regulation I ever heard of. These covers are nothing more than bacteria traps.'"

Wolves are reported as being very plentiful in the northern parts of Victoria county, especially in Carden and Dalton township. Quite a number have been destroyed during the past few weeks. Reeve McGaughey, states that hundreds of dollars had been paid out by the township to farmers who had sheep destroyed, presumably by dogs. In his opinion wolves were the killers.

It was reported in county council circles to-day that the Department of Railways and Canals would construct a new concrete dam at Coboconk, where the waters from the northern lakes join Balsam Lake. The present structure is quite faulty, allowing water to escape in millions of gallons.

Lindsay police and fire departments are badly undermanned, according to a report from the Canadian Underwriters' Association. The brigade of thirteen is not sufficient, according to the report.

Work Of Seymour East Institute Reviewed At Fifth Anniversary

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17.—An interesting review of the work accomplished by the Seymour East Women's Institute was given at the fifth anniversary celebration held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murray, Seymour township. Over 125 members of the institute and their friends gathered for the occasion at which a varied program was presented. Among the guests from town was the Rev. Harold B. Neal who gave the address in which he emphasized the importance of racial understanding and closer co-operation between nations as the only means of solving grave international problems which exist in the world today.

Captain Sharp of the local Salvation Army Corps was also a visitor from town and contributed a coronet solo.

Following the Reveille and Last Post also given by Captain Sharpe the whole assembly united in singing "Abide With Me." Mrs. C. E. Pollock accompanied at the piano. Other items on the program included a guitar duet by Misses Doris and Josephine Locke and a humorous reading "Cleaning the Furnace" by Miss Yvonne Little. Misses Elsie Rannie and Fern Weatherhill offered a piano duet and Mrs. Fred Hay a piano solo.

Four Members Honored

As a gesture of appreciation for their five years of faithful service four members Mrs. James Shillinglaw, honorary president; Mrs. John Thompson, president; and Misses Doreen Polock and Bernice Fry were each presented with a bouquet of five yellow chrysanthemums. The presentation was made by Mrs. Alex Milne and Mrs. Shillinglaw expressed appropriate thanks on behalf of the honored ladies. Following this Misses Evelyn and Helen Barnum gave a vocal duet. Mrs. Chas. Macoun who played an important part in organizing the society was then called on for a few words. Formerly a member of the Dominion Federated Board she confined her remarks mainly to the work of the Institute.

Review Of Work Done

In the absence of the president, Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. W. A. Hume, first vice-president, presided and presented the following review of the Seymour East Women's Institute:

"On November 1st, 1933, forty-five ladies met at the home of Mrs. John Thompson for the purpose of organizing a Women's Institute. Mrs. Chas. Macoun of Seymour West presided and the necessary officers were duly installed. The first slate of officers were: President, Mrs. John Thompson; vice-president, Mrs. Sam Diamond; secretary-treasurer, Miss Edith Gibbons: directors, Mesdames Roy Walker, Victor Taylor, Henry Locke, Jas. Shillinglaw and W. A. Hume. During our five years we have had only one president, Mrs. Thompson, who has been very faithful to the society and has spared herself no effort in its behalf. We have, however, had four secretary-treasurers, Miss Gibbon was forced to give up owing to illness in the home and her successors, Miss E. Hutcheon and latter Miss Verna Cassan and Miss Evelyn Stotts, the present secretary, then accepted the office.

Seymour East girls were so successful on Achievement Day that they had the privilege of the trips to Peterborough and Belleville fairs and some were fortunate enough to be given the trip to the C.N.E. We have not attempted great things, but some of our efforts which we feel have been successful are briefly: 1. A poultry improvement demonstration held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Eagleson under direction of A. H. Martin who was agricultural representative at that time. 2. Special courses for the young women in the supper club project in which they learned the making of tea biscuits and the setting of a farm table. A Miss Frisch from the Department gave a five-day course in needlecraft from which well on to two dozen benefited. At present we are having a course in Buymanship by local leaders which we feel will benefit the married members as well as the single girls. 3. In co-operation with Seymour West and Rylstone Institutes we furnish a room in the Campbellford Hospital and try to help with the upkeep whenever possible. 4. Assisted in school fair work by giving prize to school covered by our branch. 5. During the past two years in conjunction with the two previously mentioned branches, we have attempted a special prize list in the regular fall fair list; it is not yet what we might call a complete success, but this year we noted a much keener interest taken in this respect in the section, so we are quite hopeful.

Refreshments were then served and the evening brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

Marmora Supper Proves Attraction

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Nov. 17.—The second chicken supper in connection with the annual Sacred Heart church bazaar drew another large attendance at the Town Hall on Wednesday. Those attending from a distance included: Rev. Father Lacey, Napanee; Rev. Father G. T. Martin, Belleville; Rev. Father J. Feeney, Howe Island; Rev. Father L. LeSage, Stirling; and Rev. Father D. A. Cullinane, Tweed; Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Enterprise, and Mrs. J. Meraw, Madoc.

The euchre party which followed was also a great success. The prize winners were Ernest Shannon and John Doyle, playing as lady.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown, Deloro, on Wednesday a, farewell party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. William Foster, who are moving to Campbellford.

Miss Helen Gale, nurse-in-training at Hotel Dieu, Kingston, spent a couple of days at her home here this week.

Mr. Maurice Barlow is visiting relatives at Gananoque.

Public School Kept Open For 3 Students

LINDSAY, Nov. 17.—An alarming decrease in the number of pupils attending rural public schools in Victoria County has led to a situation where some schools are kept open for two or thre epupils, R. F. Downey, public school inspector, reported to the education committee of the County Council yesterday.

"In one school in this county there were only three pupils last year, costing the ratepayers $776, and I think it would be advisable to consider closing all schools with an attendance of less than eight pupils," the inspector said.

Mr. Downey pointed out there had been great advancements in the academic qualifications of teachers in the county since he assumed the inspectorate in 1924. "But there has been a corresponding decrease in salaries," he said.

Inspector Downey advocated the establishment of township school boards of five persons "who could do the same amount of work as thirty or thirty-five trustees do now." Each school section entering the township area would receive an annual grant of $100 from the Department of Education even if it closed its school and transported the pupils to another section, he said.

TRENT RIVER

Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. James Longmuir and family were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gardner and family of Norwood, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Longmuir and daughter Bernice, Mr. and Mrs. Everard Chiles of Havelock.

Messrs. George Brooks and M. T. Lean left Tuesday for the deer hunt. Mr. Lean brought home a large buck on his return last week from the hunting grounds.

The condition of Mr. Sherwood Scea, who was taken with a partial seizure in his right side Sunday, shows signs of improvement. He was able to sit up Monday.

A number of local men are engaged erecting snow fences along highway 30.

Miss Kay Cameron has returned from spending a few weeks at her home at Westwood and is in attendance with her aunt, Miss E. Cameron, who is confined to bed through illness.

A play of three acts by a character cast from St. James' church, Peterborough, was presented in the United church Tuesday night. At the close of the play members of the cast were served supper by Group 2 of the Ladies' Aid.

First Things First

The support of the Rotary Club and the Peterborough Businessmen's Association has been lined up behind the Central Ontario Highway Association in its campaign to secure the completion of the Peterborough-Port Perry-Orangeville highway in three yearly stages.

On the principle that first things should be placed first, the attitude of the Central Ontario Association is invulnerable particularly in view of the fact that the completion of this east-and-west highway now has the backing of Western Ontario municipalities which recognize the importance of the project from a provincial viewpoint.

So far as Peterborough is concerned there seems no doubt of what stand should be taken. This city has led the fight for the east-and-west road, has supplied the leadership for the Central Ontario Highway Association and for the last decade has continued to press for the addition of the Port Perry-Peterborough road to Ontario's highway system.

To abandon all that has been fought for, to scrap all the preliminary spadework to chase after a new trunk highway to Toronto would be to sacrifice all the harvest of goodwill that has been built up between this city and municipalities west of here and to earn for Peterborough the reputation of being a community ready to treat an agreement as a mere scrap of paper.

The new Toronto road is a development that seems likely to come into being in any case but, however that may be, the fact seems clear that we must not make the mistake of dropping the bone for the shadow. There is a strong case available in support of the completion of the Peterborough-Port Perry road and if this section shows itself unanimous in regard to desirability of the project being carried out without delay, the support of Western Ontario municipalities should make the thing unanimous, particularly as the three-year plan should appeal to the powers-that-be as a business-like program.

Too Good To Miss

Farm boys and girls of this district are being given a rare opportunity in the school of elementary agriculture and home economics which is to be opened on Tuesday, November 22 and continue for three months. The school, which is under the management of the Peterborough county branch of the Ontario Deparement of Agriculture with F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative, as its principal, will be held in the Keene town hall and there will be a staff of competent instructors to deal with the many interesting subjects that comprise the course.

Similar schools have been held in a number of counties with most gratifying results over a period of years and it should be a matter for satisfaction among the farmers of this part of the province as well as among all other folk who realize the importance of agriculture in the Canadian scheme of things that Peterborough county is now being given the chance to participate in the scheme.

Briefly, it is explained by the Department of Agriculture, the important purpose of this three months' school is to open up new fields of thought in regard to farm conditions and agricultural problems, to prompt new interest and to discuss agricultural matters from a community viewpoint.

We have an idea there will be a very interesting and profitable three months for the young folk from the farms who enroll themselves at the Keene school. The list of subjects to be studied and the calibre of the teachers who will be available for instruction purposes guarantee the success of the undertaking, provided of course farm boys and girls rise to the occasion and supply the necessary attendance.

Only five schools have been authorized for the whole of Ontario this winter so this district has an opening that is too good to be passed up.

The Hunt For More Taxes

The feelings and motives of public men come to the surface in unexpected ways. Some time ago Toronto had a committee of its experts engaged in that increasingly popular chase — new places from which tax money could be taken and diverted to the city treasurer.

At a recent committee meeting the report came in and it was recommended that the income of corporations in Toronto be taxed and $3,000,000 additional revenue secured by such method. One section of the report contains this:

"With the 1939 municipal elections but a few weeks away councillors indicated little desire to be forced to go on record as favoring additional taxation."

And right there of course could be heard the soft step of the diplomat who desired opportunity to go before the ratepayers with a plea for lowered taxation and decreased spending. That indeed is the diet to place before a taxpayer a few days before he goes forth to mark a ballot. Then after election is over the successful gentlemen will feel free to enter into the chase for more revenue.

When it is suggested that there be a municipal tax placed upon the income of corporations in Toronto the municipal tax hunters have actually thought of nothing new. Such incomes are taxed now to such an extent that increases would not be wise. We do not know what is intended to come under the general heading of corporations, but there would be a number at least with head offices in Toronto but they would be doing business all over the country and getting their income from centres far removed from Toronto so Toronto civic treasury would be no more entitled to that income than would the places which help to supply it.

It is taking some people a long time to understand that there are well-defined limits past which public spending for municipal, provincial or federal purposes cannot go. The word "corporations" may sound formidable and might indicate great financial strength. But actually corporations represent people, and the same people who are now being taxed by all forms of government which we possess. So taking another tax from a corporation would actually be asking the same men who are already heavily taxed to come on and pay some more under a new scheme.

Santa's Toy Shop

That was a disquieting story that came out of the toyshop of Santa Claus at the fire hall the other day that unless there is an immediate rush of toys to be repaired the supply for Christmas distribution is bound to fall short of the total reached in other years and many unfortunate children may find themselves overlooked by the genial old gentleman with the reindeer when Christmas arrives.

We would feel very badly about that condition of affairs, indeed, were it not that we have been able to persuade ourselves that the real reason for the failure of citizens to send in their toys is not that they are indifferent to the happiness of children at the Christmas season, but rather that the long spell of almost summer-like weather has allowed the near approach of the Yuletide to pass almost unnoticed.

Now, however, that the attention of the public has been called to the scarcity in the supply of toys for repair, we feel confident that the situation will adjust itself speedily and that Santa Claus's willing helpers at the fire hall will soon find themselves with an abundance of dolls and sleighs and toy wagons and the score and other toys that delight childish hearts, so that there will not be an idle moment until Christmas Eve and then there will be such a pile ready for distribution that Santa's reindeers will be kept going all night.

Peterborough's firemen have developed the technique of making old toys new to a fine art; they put into it not only the skill of their hands but the magic of the kindness of their hearts and the results are surprising.

They cannot work, however, without the raw material—that is, without damaged and broken toys, and that is where the public comes in. The responsibility of keeping Santa's toyshop working full time from now until Christmas depends upon the good folk of Peterborough, and the Examiner is sure they will do their part now that the need has been stressed.

The Parking Problem

Peterborough's civic government is endeavoring to find a solution for a problem that is baffling traffic experts and municipal heads all over the country, i.e., the vexed question of how to take care of thousands of automobiles on streets that were laid out in the horse-and-buggy days and were never intended to deal with either the kind or the volume of traffic that has to be handled today.

The parking problem has been a thorn in the side of police departments and municipal councils ever since the gas combustion engine introduced a new era of transportation and nothing approaching a really satisfactory solution has yet been devised. Considerable can be accomplished, of course by intelligently-planned parking bylaws and by consistent enforcement of the regulations as laid down but the best of legislation and the most diligent of police administration will never make up for the failure—a most excusable failure—of town planners to realize that in the cities of the future traffic would move on rubber tires and in a volume far too great for narrow streets.

About all that can be done is to make the best of a bad situation, drastically restrict parking in the most congested areas, provide as much accommodation as possible for parking off the streets and keep the business sections reasonably open for shoppers. Here the merchants and business men and their staffs could help by refraining from augmenting the parking evil by leaving their own cars on busy streets for long periods and the motoring public could make its contribution by cutting out, especially at peak hours, all unnecessary driving. There are many folk who insist upon driving into the thick of traffic and during busy periods, who have no great distance to travel and who would assist in relieving the congestion and aid in mitigating some of the evils of the parking problem by leaving their cars in the family garage.

Whatever regulations are ultimately decided upon as being necessary to improve a situation that is fast becoming intolerable, an impartial and strict enforcement of such regulations would get the maximum amount of benefit out of the legislation. We would not go so far as they do in Germany where the police calmly let the air out of all four tires of the cars that are left parked too long but it must be admitted that in some cases there is a certain amount of merit in the scheme.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is said that British prime ministers live longer than they did a century ago. Or is it that it only seems longer?

When Japan talks about forming an Asiatic League it looks like as if she were getting ready for the world series.

Bancroft reports a nightly visit from a bear. It must be that all the villagers are hunting in distant fields.

It is not too late perhaps to issue a general reminder about the desirability of early Christmas shopping.

Mr. Hepburn says that British morale has broken down. It looks as if the Nazis have the same idea.

A straw vote taken in Toronto named Sir Frederick Banting as Canada's greatest man. And that comes closer to being accurate than most votes of that kind.

Primo Carnera giant Italian heavyweight boxer, is to be married. The big fellow, in other words, is signing on a sparring partner for life.

The announcement of a 10,000 plane air armada for the United States is the kind of language that individuals like Hitler and Mussolini can understand.

Col. Lindbergh is to spend the winter in Berlin. Of course he is one of those persons who can move quickly when they desire to do so.

The addition of Hon. R. J. Manion and Karl Homuth to the House of Commons should add a little color. Whatever else they may be the two new members of Parliament are never dull.

With so many hunters losing themselves or getting shot it is difficult to figure out whether the annual hunt is more dangerous for the deer or for the hunters.

To boost tourist business hotel keepers in Florida have been asked to give larger glasses of orange juice and put grape fruit in the rooms of guests without charge. All those in favor signify in the usual way. Carried unanimously.

In German cities there are now no less than 6,000 loud speakers on the streets so that all may hear when Hitler makes a speech. After hearing him on the radio one is moved to wonder why they need the loud speakers.

A song the music of which was written by Mendelssohn has been banned in Germany. Taking the beauty of Mendelssohn out of a nation's life leaves that nation poorer, no matter who gives the order or for what reason.

Dictator countries have banned Rotary, doubtless because one of the objects of the organization is the promotion of international good will. And yet there is nobody in the world more in need of international good will than the same dictator countries.

It was complained at a recent relief committee meeting that 40 cents per half cord for delivering relief wood was not enough. It is interesting to note that thirty years ago the charity board, predecessor of the present relief organization, was paying exactly the same rate and kicking that it was too much.

THE DOCTOR'S OLD PLACE

How still it stands—there on the lone hill-side
The window—lights extinguished long ago;
Close by, the wagon house, whence he would ride
These rutty roads, in service, to and fro.

That little building, hidden 'mong the trees,
With broken steps and tangled grass before,
An office served. Imagination sees
Need in her sickly guise oft at the door.

Healer and healed now in Death's farrowfield
Have bivouacked, and are together sleeping;
The babes he helped to birth their tribute yield—
His very name as a tradition keeping:

While our own day may our best deeds behold
Life's sunken sun may leave its hues of gold.

Newspapers and Their Accuracy

(By V.V.M. in Winnipeg Tribune)

THERE is little likelihood that the following words will do any good in my crusade for fair play towards newspapermen, but I am going to write them anyway — just to get something off my chest.

This morning a good friend of mine, when discussing an interview which had appeared in the Tribune, said: "Oh, well, I don't suppose that's what the fellow actually said. Reporters always garble things."

There is an old saying that it's the truth that hurts.

It's equally true that an untruth hurts.

And what makes it hurt is knowledge I have of the trouble reporters go to in order to get their stuff correct.

The interview my good friend mentioned, for instance, was with a gent who has many friends in the city—a number of whom were present when the interview took place.

If the interview had been garbled it's a cinch that one or more of them would have registered a protest. But they didn't!

Few people seem to realize that, of all the workers in this world, there are few whose work is so critically scrutinized by such a large section of the public as a newspaperman's.

What's more, there are few workers who hear as quickly about any mistakes they may happen to make.

But most often — and this is my biggest beef—reporters get blamed for mistakes they do not make. In other words the reader merely thinks there has been a mistake.

For instance somebody will happen to see a traffic accident and will later see a report of it in the paper. "That report is wrong," he says. "I know it's wrong because I saw the accident myself."

Yet anybody who, like myself, has listened to hundreds of eye-witnesses give varying and often contradictory descriptions of scores of accidents realizes that what one man sees is often entirely different to what is seen by another man.

In other words the reader may have been wrong in his observations yet this possibility would never occur to him. He always thinks that he is right, and the newspaperman—who has spent some time checking up various reports of the mishap—is entirely wrong.

"That wasn't what happened," snorts the squawker, "I saw the play and it went this way—"

The fact that hundreds of other people saw the writer's version of it doesn't feaze the squawker one little bit.

In a highly competitive business like a newspaper business it is fairly obviously quite impossible to keep on printing inaccurate reports. A newspaperman, like any other worker, can only make a strictly limited number of boners before the boss gives him the gate.

Yet countless readers think reporters don't care what they write as long as they fill up space.

These readers have never heard the amount of hell that is raised when a reporter even gets one initial of somebody's name wrong.

I remember some years ago, when I was more active as a reporter, I covered an after-dinner speech.

Two days later I was stopped on the street by a man who had been a guest at the dinner.

"A fine job you made of reporting that speech!" he said, sarcastically. "You got the speaker wrong at the very start."

As it happened the start, or lead, of my report had been taken, word for word, from a copy of the speech supplied to me by the speaker—this being the copy he had read from when making his address.

But there was no use trying to convince my critic that my report had been identical with what the man had said. No indeed. "You must have copied it wrong when you wrote it out," he said, still convinced that he was right and I had been wrong.

As I said at the outset, there is little likelihood that these words of mine will do any good in my campaign for fair play toward newspapermen, but at least I've got something off my chest.

And, when I read these words in print, I won't say I've been misquoted.

TAKING OUT THE FUN.

(Belleville Ontario)

CHILDREN in Italy today who will be the soldiers of tomorrow won't have to laugh at Popeye the Sailorman, and the creations in other comic strips, because little Italian boys and girls are to be guarded in their training to the full imperialistic spirit of the Fascist Revolution, according to Dr. Casini, of the Ministry of Popular Culture, who made the announcement at Bologna "We must follow Il Duce's orders to sleep with our heads on a soldier's knapsack." Little girls must be serious too.

So the Italian boys and girls won't have to go to sleep with thoughts of Popeye and other comic strip figures on their minds. The decree is gone forth.

Yet the comic strips owe their life to the very fact that they have lessons for adults as well as children. They are a universal form of literature in pictures, the most impressive way in which lessons can be taught. Westerners cannot but feel that this serious side of the Fascist Revolution is a grave error in limiting the appeals which are allowed to be made to the imagination and fancy of the young.

Enlistment In the Militia

URGING THAT CANADA should arm for defence, Col. Dr. George H. Philip, speaking at a banquet in Toronto, suggested that the ranks of the Militia should be filled up with unemployed men.

To a point, the suggestion is a good one. Unfortunately we have in this country a large "army" of unemployed men; and in their ranks, undoubtedly, could be found many men who would be glad to give service to their country in times of peril—and would even be willing to enter the Militia now for training.

But how are the unemployed men generally likely to view the proposal? Enlistment in Canadian forces is prompted by at least two considerations, love of country and a desire to protect one's country, in return for the opportunities which that country affords to those thus willing to fight for it. Unemployment may not destroy love of country—at least we hope it doesn't; although it is not always easy to display affection for any country which denies to its citizens, or any section of them, the right to work, to live happily and to prosper. The unemployed in this country may still possess a strong spirit of patriotism; but how many of your young men, some of whom have never held a job in their lives, are apt to consider that the country which treats them in this fashion is worth fighting for, and defending with their very existence?

There are other implications in the suggestion which we do not like. Has our spirit of loyalty to Canada sunk so low, that we regard the ranks of the Militia as a fit place for only those who have nothing else to do except to enlist for military training? Are we content to pose as a people who wish to thrust the duty of defending our homes upon men, to whom we deny the privilege of establishing homes of their own to defend? Are we selfish enough to expect, that the men to whom we deny the full rights of citizenship, should rush eagerly to fight for the perpetuation of a citizenship in which they are denied a full share?

The answer to all these questions is a decided and emphatic "No!"

Men who are unemployed would be welcomed on the rosters of our militia units. Among them are many fine types of citizens, self-sacrificing, loyal and true. But defence is a duty which should not be left to them alone. The ranks of the Militia should include young men with jobs —with a stake which is worth defending—with opportunities which are worth preserving for themselves and future generations. In fact the young men with the finest and most promising prospects, should in the natural course of events, be the first to give practical evidence of their willingness and desire to defend their country if need be, by signing up with Canadian militia units.

Our Young People Are Taller

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

WHATEVER the reason, we seem to be in process of producing a generation of giants in contrast with those preceding it.

It is nothing nowadays for a boy or girl in his or her teens to reach a greater height than his or her parents; some of them actually tower over them.

Child after child cannot begin to fit the sizes in clothing marked for its age, and in the United States it has been found necessary to enlarge these sizes so that they may be even an approximate fit.

This is probably equally true of this country for there has been a noticeable increase in the height of young people and, apparently, without heredity exerting much influence in that regard.

Perhaps the greater attention which is paid to youthful diet, the way in which young people are under medical supervision from the time of their birth, the outdoor lives which most of them lead, the amount of cod liver oil, spinach, milk, fruit juices and other health-giving and building substances which most of them consume from day to day, is having its effect upon growth.

Not the Fault of Real Germans

ON FRIDAY and Saturday, the uncensored press of the world expressed the feelings of normal humanity about the terrorism in Germany. It will again be expressing these feelings today. The average Germany, says Kingston Whig-Standard, is closer in mind, spirit and emotional constitution, if not in self-reliance, to the average member of the Anglo-Saxon-Celtic race, than he is to any other. The average German will almost certainly be feeling the same feelings of revulsion that Canadians feel, in spite of the fact that his mind has been poisoned by years of propaganda. That section of the British Cabinet which has been sympathetic to Hitler and his organization of ruffians should now realize, or be made to realize, that its policy of support for Nazism is no policy of friendship for the German people. On the contrary, it is an aid in maintaining in power gangsters who hold a great and decent people in moral, mental and physical slavery.

Many experts on the international affairs believe that the Third Reich would have collapsed months ago (thus saving Czechoslovakia as well as the Jews), if British credits had been withdrawn. With the aid of British credits the Third Reich has become physically stronger as it grew morally weaker. The Whig-Standard believes that the time has come for British foreign policy to be divorced from "the City," and based instead on the obvious fact that Nazism cannot today be the desire of more than fifteen or twenty per cent of the German people.

If the British Foreign Office regards Canadian views on the subject as minor protests from "the colonies" —and this is the way it probably will regard them—then The Whig-Standard believes that the Canadian Government should take the initiative in calling a conference of Great Britain and the Dominions. The subject for discussion would be Mr. Arthur Moore's proposal in the Manchester Guardian for a federal parliament of the British Empire to determine foreign policy and consolidate defence.

Sockeye Salmon By Millions

THE SALMON fishing fleet is in, trollers and gill-netters and seiners, and now there is news of the salmon, familiar and exciting still, from the far country of blue Thompson and yellow Fraser. The Kamloops Sentinel reports this story of the Interior, and it is a story that is old and ever new, ever wonderful when it is told.

People are making pilgrimage in all those parts, the Sentinel tells us, to see the greatest sockeye run for many years. On the bars and in the reaches of the Adams River, where it comes down to the Thompson, the fish are there in countless numbers, hundreds of thousands certainly, perhaps even millions.

They have come all that long way from the sea, turned from silver to red in their homecoming, in that last mysterious pilgrimage, knowing their way by an instinct which man does not understand.

They are come home to die, to complete the strange cycle of their existence, to spawn and die, giving up their being in the last fulfillment of their epic cycle, after four years: that fishermen may take salmon at the Fraser bar four years hence, that the sockeye kind may not perish in the waters of the Pacific.

They are still strong in the river reaches and on the bars, although their time is almost come, and the shallow waters are red with them. They are feeding the Indian and the bear and the gorged eagle and the trout will be plentiful because the seed of the sockeye is a prodigal bounty. There will be a great salmon pack in 1942 — the slow-taught cupidity of man has learned at last that salmon harvest to be reaped must have its due seed-time.

And it is so in all the interior country, hundreds of miles from the sea, in the deep inland courses of the great river systems, Fraser, Thompson, Columbia, and last year's snows of the Rockies and Selkirks fertilize the crop that will be garnered when another cycle of Oncorhynchus (salmon that dies a-spawning) comes round again.

THEY DO NOT RIDE.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Record)

THE PERIODICAL LISTS of employees retired to pension illustrate the great variety of services required in operation of a railway and, incidentally, the fact that many railway workers never ride a train in the course of duty. The C.P.R. Staff Bulletin of November 1 contains the names of 56 employees retiring, of whom six are sectionmen, five are carpenters, three steamfitters, two painters, two despatchers, three machinists, two checkers, and one each under the classification of car foreman, roadmaster, hostler, coppersmith, rivetter, timekeeper and donkeyman. Only four engineers, one trainman and no conductors or firemen are listed in this batch.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

UNTO THE WOMAN he said, I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception; in sorrow thou shalt bring forth children; and thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee.

And unto Adam he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it: cursed is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life; thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee; and thou shalt eat the herb of the field; in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return....

And the Lord God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil: and now, lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever: therefore the Lord God sent him forth from the Garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken. So he drove out the man; and he placed at the east of the Garden of Eden Cherubims, and a flaming sword which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life.—Gen. iii, 16-19, 22-24.

NAMES ON MAIL BOXES

(Listowel Banner)

ON DIFFERENT OCCASIONS in this column in past years we have urged farmers on rural routes to have their names plainly painted on the mail boxes. A farmer subscribed in this office recently urged us to again advocate that this be done. They say that advertising pays and this is one way the farmer can advertise. Besides, it would be of great advantage to motorists or businessmen in locating certain farmers whose place of abode is not definitely known to them. Our friend pointed out that in the Brodhagen district every farmer has his name plainly printed on the box. He also stated that if roofing pitch is used instead of paint it will last much longer and is easy to use. Why not have the Listowel district follow the good example of the Brodhagen farmers?

NOT ANXIOUS FOR FORCE.

(Niagara Falls Review)

STRANGE is it to note some newspapers which called Britain and France cowards for failing to go to war against Germany over Czechoslovakia now solemnly warning Uncle Sam to be careful how he treats the Japanese over the slamming of the open door in Asia. They would have Washington bow the knee to Tokyo, though that is exactly what they blamed Britain for in the peace of Munich.

Survivor Tells How Pal Drowned In Vain To Save Sweetheart

SUDBURY, Ont., Nov. 17 (CP).—Omer Boucher, sole survivor of a party of four young persons who set out to cross stormy Lake Penage in a motorboat Sunday, told in hospital here today the dramatic story of the tragedy which took the lives of his three best friends.

The 25-year-old athlete was found on the beach of the lake, 30 miles west of here, nearly 24 hours after the boat capsized. Grace Senior, 25; Douglas Butchart, also 25, and Allan Duncan, 22, were drowned. Boucher fought his way to shore and is recovering in hospital from pneumonia. The body of Miss Senior was found by searchers yesterday.

With Helen Senior, sister of Grace and Elwood McCrea, the four went to the lake on a weekend hunting expedition. Helen Senior and McCrae did not accompany the others on the boat trip.

Boucher said he and his friends set out in the boat Sunday morning, crossed the lake and went into a big bay. "We started back about 3:30 Sunday afternoon," he said. "About 4:30 a bad squall hit us. That was the start of everything. The boat was right in the back of the gale and it would have been all right but instead of rolling the waves started breaking."

40 Yards To Safety

The boat was only 100 yards from an island when it became waterlogged. "Had we got another 40 yards, the island would have left us in shelter water," he added. "But a big wave swamped right over us. We tried bailing, but it was no good. The boat was going down, only 100 yards from shore.

"We tipped it over before it was dragged to the bottom of the lake by the weight of the motor. It floated upside down and we all grabbed hold of it.

"Doug and Duncan wanted to leave me at the boat with Grace while they tried to swim to the island. I told them 'nothing doing' and manybe I was wrong. But I don't think it would have been possible to swim that far in the face of that wind with heavy clothes on. I told them our only chance was to stick together and attempt to drift and push the boat to a point, right in the path of the wind, about a mile down from the island."

Boucher recalled that "several times in the first half-mile Doug wanted to make a break for it." "I knew what he was thinking," the survivor added. "He thought if he left and tried to swim to shore, the rest of us, especially Grace, would have a better chance. Two or three times I grabbed him when he went to slip behind.

Butchart Goes Down.

'It was half-way to the point where I last turned around to look at Doug. He was a little behind me and still trying to push the boat. I looked ahead again and kept talking all the time to keep every one encouraged. About five minutes later I turned my head. Butchart wasn't there."

Boucher broke down at this point. Between sobs he told of the friendship between the men. He said he "couldn't bear to tell" Grace that Butchart had gone down. She and Butchart had spoken of marriage that day, he said.

"I decided all of a sudden I would have to make a pretence of it," Boucher continued. "So I continued to held the boat along and all the time I kept right on talking to Doug as if he was still behind me, helping me."

Thus the three still clinging to the boat managed to make a third of a mile to the point. "Suddenly a long, black line came in sight in front of us. We weren't more than 30 yards from shore. I could just feel everybody's spirits rise." The moment of encouragement brought further catastrophe.

Grace Finds Doug Gone

"When she saw that shore, Grace turned around to smile at us, and was going to say something," Boucher continued. "She saw Doug was gone and started to cry. I guess she knew with one look what he had done for her. Just before that Duncan had wanted to try and swim it again."

At that moment, a wave, "the biggest one of the afternoon," struck and swamped the craft. "I went under and when I came up no one was around," Omer said. "The whole boat had gone under and came up tilted to one side. I couldn't find the others and I guess I just snapped then.

"I must have clung to the boat and kept struggling, for somehow I was ashore. I was almost out for I remember a few times attempting to clamber higher up on the shore."

"I can't recall much else till after they found me," he concluded.

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 17.

HARRY HEWINS, Toronto, did not have to go north this year to "bag" his deer. As he drove a truck from Toronto to Brantford about midnight last night, he was started to see a young deer suddenly appear from the side of the road and dash against his truck. The deer was killed.

Hewins lifted it onto his truck and brought it to Brantford, turning it over to police. The incident occurred about 30 miles west of Toronto.

Think Daladier May Try Dictatorship

PARIS, Nov. 17 (A.P.).— Premier Daladier was reported by deputies to-day to be planning to dissolve the Chamber of Deputies and rule France for a time without Parliament if it refuses to ratify his "three-year plan" for reviving French economy.

Such a step was reported under consideration as Socialists and Communists massed forces to fight the Cabinet's economic and financial decrees and as the General Confederation of Labor, with an enrollment of 5,000,000 workers, called for a general strike if necessary to defeat the decrees.

President Albert Lebrun, Premier Daladier, and Finance Minister Paul Reynaud scheduled new appeals to the country for backing in their program for raising taxes, lengthening working hours, and speeding industry.

They were to speak at a French Newspaper Federation banquet at 9.30 p.m. (4.30 p.m. EST). Their addresses will be broadcast.

Deputies said Daladier's projected plan to dissolve the Chamber, rumored frequently in the past month, was disclosed in part by the Premier to the governing committee of his Radical Socialist Party.

If his decree laws do not get immediate ratification when the Lower House meets on December 6, he would dissolve it. Under the constitution he is empowered to wait six months before calling a newly elected Chamber.

Daladier was believed to have a promise of support from President Lebrun and a majority of the Senate whose consent is necessary for dissolving the Chamber.

Hunters Fill Quotas

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Nov. 17 (C.P.). — Every member of Owen Sound's two hunting clubs has brought down his deer this season. When the S.S. Manitou docked here, she carried a cargo of two dozen deer, shot in rural Bruce County. The S.S. Normas also was loaded.

Havelock Store Is Looted Of $500, Robbers Take Goods, Shun Safe

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Nov. 17.—Smashing the glass in the rear window of Bernard Smith's boot and shoe store, Havelock, some time early Tuesday morning, thieves believed to be three in number, gained entrance to the building and carried off goods estimated at over $500 in value. The safe situated close to the spot where the break-in was made was not touched.

Empty shoe boxes left behind, showing that only two pairs size 6 and one pair size 7, had been picked out, hinted that there were three men in the gang, overshoes to match were also taken.

The marauders apparently took pains to acquire a complete supply of winter wearing apparel, fitting themselves out with windbreakers, shirts, socks and gloves.

One hundred and twenty-five pairs of ladies' silk hose were taken, the carton and cellophane wrappers first being removed.

Although a complete check has not yet been made, among the missing merchandise are leather and cloth windbreakers, an assortment of lined gloves, razor blades, socks, shirts and ladies' scarves.

The robbery was investigated by Provincial Constable Campbell of Campbellford.

Missionary Society

The Women's Missionary Society of Knox Presbyterian Church held their regular November meeting on Tuesday evening in the church basement, with the president Miss E. E. Chase, in the chair.

The "Glad Tidings Day" program was followed the subject being "My Field Is The World." The scripture lesson was read by the president while Mrs. Charles Dewey gave an interesting talk on "Progress in Manchuria." "Mass Movement in India" was the subject of Mrs. A. S. Thompson's talk.

A report on the recent sectional W.M.S. meeting at Warkworth was well presented by Mrs. P. Colquhoun.

The meeting concluded with hymn and prayer, following which the hostess for the evening, Mrs. F. Clark served refreshments.

United W.M.S.

The November meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Havelock United Church met at the home of Miss Etta Crawford, when a large number of members were in attendance.

The program was taken by Mrs. A. McLauchlin, when plans were made for a bale of assorted clothing to be sent to the West as requested.

Reports were given by the different secretaries and the lesson study was then taken with Mrs. George Chiles as leader in the discussion of the theme for the year, "Making Canada Christian," and several ladies assisted her by reading brief sketches from the study book, representing many of the different European nations, all of which was very interesting.

Following this was a short worship service with Miss M. Seeney presiding including hymn, prayer, scripture reading, "The Parable of the Loving Father," with comments by Mrs. McLaughlin, the litany and benediction concluding the meeting.

Tea was afterwards served and a pleasant half-hour spent.

10,000 Slips "Partition Must Go" To Be Sent Out By Ulsterites

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 17—(CP).—Ulster Nationalists are to launche a curtain-raising attack on the border—with 10,000 slips.

Derry branch of the Irish union association has 10,000 gummed slips bearing the slogan "partition must go" read for distribution. People writing to Great Britain, the United States, Canada and other parts of the world are being asked to affix them to the backs of envelopes.

The idea has been approved by a joint conference of Ulster Nationalist bodies and submitted to Premier Eamon De Valera of Eire, who invited the organizers to send a supply for use at the headquarters of the Fianna Fail party in Dublin.

The campaign, however, is not to be allowed to rest there. It is known that the Fianna Fail party in Dublin is getting ready a vast propaganda machine which will run day and night next year to carry the agitation by press, poster and radio to all parts of the globe. A new short wave radio station is being erected near Athlone, County Westmeath. But how far it is proposed to use this station in the partition drive is not known.

The Other Side

Meanwhile Conservative circles here are far from idle. The Ulster protestant evangelical alliance has taken up the matter of counter-propaganda with Viscount Craigavon and has submitted a scheme embracing Canada and the United States.

At the meeting of the standing committee of the Ulster unionist council it was decided to ask the following prominent personalities in Northern Ireland to serve on a new committe: The Marquess of Londonderry, Lord Dunleath, Sir Joseph Davison, representing the Grand Orange Lodge of Ireland; Captain D. C. Lindsay, James Henderson, J. G. Cunningham and Sir Wilson Hungerford, secretary of the Ulster Unionist Association.

At an accident corner near London a skull and crossbones has been placed as a traffic sign.

ALBERT COLLEGE ELIMINATES BOWMANVILLE SCHOOL TEAM 10-1

Loses Mate In Gale

MONTREAL, Nov. 17 (C.P.). — Her bridge badly smashed and her third mate lost overboard in a 29-day voyage from Swansea, Wales, the little Swedish freighter Vera was in port here to-day after surviving a battering Atlantic storm.

Captain G. E. Tylin, master of the 1,300-ton steamer, said the mate, 26-year-old S. Johannson, perished on October 31 in a wild sea. A giant wave washed Johannson from the bridge.

COMFORT and economy are the chief reasons why men overwhelmingly prefer the Gillette method for the steady chore of shaving. Gillette alone has the equipment and experience to produce the heavy-duty Gillette Blade with the keenest edges ever put on steel. It is the only blade that is precision made to fit the Gillette Razor exactly. And the reason is that Gillette has invested more millions in plant facilities, spent more years in scientific research and made more blades than all other manufacturers combined.

That is why quality is always uniform in Gillette Blades — why they give you more and better shaves for your money! Demand Blue Gillette Blades and get the world's cleanest, most comfortable shaving performance!

Sudden Death Game Played In Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 17—(CP).—Albert College of Belleville advanced in Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association senior football playdowns yesterday with a 10-1 victory over Bowmanville High School, aided by injuries to two stars of the visiting team.

When Brows went out with a shoulder injury and McIlveen with a ruptured blood vessel, Albert rolled over the opposition for two touchdowns. Bowmanville had led 1-0 at halftime and twice advanced the ball to Albert's seven-yard line.

Bowmanville put on an aerial display in the first half, only to run into a solid wall when within striking district of the goal-line. In the second Albert took to the air and Moulden and Wooley went over for unconverted touchdowns.

Teams:

Bowmanville—Flying wing, C. McIlveen; halves, Brown, Crombie, O. Fagan; snap, Casbourne; insides, Kimble, Crawford; middles, Rickard, C. Fagan; outsides, D. McIlveen, Wiseman; subs, Morden, Graham, Hoar, Bird, Brooks, Martin, James, Rice, Fisher.

Albert College — Flying wing, Wooley; halves, Harrison, Austin, Lovies; quarterback, Moulden; snap, Maidens; insides, Allan, White; middles, Hagyard, Loughheed; outsides, Freeman, Byrnes; subs, Burrows, Suzuki, Partridge, Gerow, Downing, Blackman.

Referee—H. Townsend; umpire—A. Cole.

Buck Plays Safe

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Nov. 17 — (CP).—Deer hunters by the score are out in the rural areas of Bruce, Grey and Simcoe counties this week, but there's one year-old buck that knows how to keep out of harm's way during the hunting season. The deer has been seen within Owen Sound's city limits—where it is illegal to discharge firearms.

Draw Is Made First Round Of English Cup

LONDON, Nov. 17—(CP Cable)—After several weeks' play in qualifying rounds, minor league clubs enter the first round proper of the English football cup competition, Nov. 26 together with members of the league's third division.

Sixty-eight teams, including 27 minor leaguers, will start in the big drive for England's greatest soccer trophy now held by Preston North End. All third division squads, with the exception of Barnsley, Notts County and York City participate in the first round proper. The three teams are exempted until the third round.

Three matches of the fourth qualifying round have yet to be decided, the winners to play Nov. 26. South Liverpool and Workington are battling for the right to oppose Mansfield Town. The winner of the Dartford-Corinthian match will play Southend United and either Kidderminster Harriers or Burton Town will meet Chelmsford City.

First and second division teams enter the big tournament in the third round scheduled for Jan. 7.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

AN OLD RUGBY CUT of a Peterborough team, the "Edisons", has been sent us from Woodstock by H. M. McIntosh. He was a student engineer then in what was later the C.G.E., and he did construction work in Spain for that company ere settling down to become a leading Woodstock citizen. The team made up of company students and Peterborough players, did its stuff back in 1892 and Mr. McIntosh cannot recall all the names of the boys. Mr. Stevens was manager then, and he says some of the backers were: "A. L. Davis, who married a Miss Cox and lived in the old Cox house; Jas. and George Graham of the old Oriental Hotel; Jack Fitzgerald, an old livery man who afterward got into the coal and lumber business; Robt. E. Ross, who married a Miss Halliday, and was in the engineering department at the factory; and several more." Mentions, too, J. J. Turner, Ray Best and Geo. Hall.

• • • • • • •

OLD FILES of The Examiner of that era fail to reveal all the rugby players on the team. In fact, sports news got little or no mention at that time. Little local news of any description, but huge ads all over the front page and news from distant parts—probably a bit on the stale side. It was a period when sports' entertainment was limted, about the only amusement being at Bradburn's Opera House or through the swinging doors of barrooms—which were about three to the block. Dusty roads and trailing skirts no doubt raising such a terrific thirst! An 1892 paper advertised scores of lots for sale in Ashburnham just east of the Dickson Co. Mills "20 minutes walk from Post Office." With suits at Grafton's selling then for $4 to $9, and overcoats at Gough Bros. being $3.50. While ladies' black wool stockings were advertised at 15c a pair. Good old days.

Jumping 46 Years

BUT TO GET MODERN in a hurry, there will be a boxing show in the Brock St. arena tomorrow eve at 8.30 featuring five fights and a grapple match. Staged by the Riverview A.C. with Toronto supplying the matmen and two boxers. Labelle and Gazelley, mat heavies, go two out of three falls with an hour limit. Two headline gloved goes, one between Nick Orlando, local lightweight, and Auggie Ferguson; and one betwixt Norm Hill, ex-Detroit welter, now living here, and Buster Scott of Toronto. Dutch McIlmoyle, 165, and Frank Spenceley have a grudge affair in the semi-final. Prelims feature Pat Jordan, 145, and Bill Joiner; and Bobby Quirt, 80 vs. Buddy Redmond.

• • • • • • •

IT'LL BE THE LAST MITT CARD here till spring, we imagine, unless the club can line up some good indoor spot which'll seat a crowd. Plenty of pug action is promised, with no delays between bouts. We dunno anything about the Norm Hill-Buster Scott joust, but the Nick Orlando-Auggie Ferguson fray sounds like a pip. Ditto the slugfest coming up between McIlmoyle and Tarzan Spencely—bashing senior gridder. While that prelim which sees Pat Jordan return to the ring to meet Bill Joiner sounds right interesting, too. All in all, it ought to be a fine evening's fun for fistic fans—with the mat match for those who thrill to the rough-and-tumble experts. Since the summer season hath ended, and the jitter-bugs have followed swing orchestras elsewhere, we dont' look for any waltz-time numbers on this card at the ex-Summer Gardens.

A Bit On Curling

GHOSTS OF YESTERYEAR slid up and down the ice lanes in the Charlotte St. curling arena last e'en as a flock of local Brethren of the Broom turned out to welcome the new Ontario Curling Association president, Walter Reesor of Lindsay. The genial big gent with the iron-gray hair gave an interesting address, recalling oldtime competition betwixt local and Lindsay rinks. Among his observations was the suggestion that insulation might be the answer to arenas where natural ice is still used; he also advised making Peterborough a focal point for district curling. Local officials in turn extended hearty congrats to Mr. Reesor on his appointment and expressed the view that it was an honor due this sportsman, his home town and Central Ontario. We enjoyed the gathering. The club expects to get going on its membership drive at once, and Herb Martin is standing by waiting to spread sheets of ice when the weather tightens up enough.

IN THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER, we note an item where Les Nunamaker, aged 49, died recently in Nebraska. He was a big catcher, once with Boston Sox, Yanks, Browns and Indians. While with the latter club, he accompanied Tris Speaker, Roger Peckinpaugh, Babe Dye and other ballsters here one autumn for a benefit game in Riverside Park for the war veterans. Speaker and others used to come to this district after the ball season ended to hunt and fish with Chris Graham and friends around Rice Lake. Some believed that it was Speaker who sent Al Heckman to the Petes in the old C.O.B.L. days. We recall seeing Tris, Peck, Dye and Nunamaker playing on the local diamond, but we had a heck of a time eluding the law and scaling the fence that game!

One Grand Squad

SPEAKING in Maclean's Magazine of the many former pro puck teams in Canada—which folded owing to the high cost — Elmer Ferguson of Montreal writes: "In the little valley town of Renfrew, a hockey-enthused millionaire, Senator M. J. O'Brien, decided to give Renfrew big-time hockey. And so he assembled a great pro team with magnificent disregard for expense, a glittering all-star array that included the peerless Cyclone Taylor, possibly the fastest hockey-playing skater of all time; Newsy Lalonde, then at his peak; the two Patrick brothers, Lester and Frank; Lindsay in the nets; Whitcroft, Fraser, Rowe and Miller." But Renfrew faded after two seasons, losses being too heavy. The Whitcroft mentioned was Fred, former Peterborough star—greatest of 'em all to hail from here. He left this town back around 1906, and headed west.

WITHIN A WEEK, we expect the Girls' Softball League banquet for the winning Westclox crew to be held at the Kawartha Club. Loop officers, a manager and player from each of the other clubs and all the Alarm Lasses will be invited. Manager Ab Delahaye's lineup, which mopped up handily on opposition in this neck of the timber before bowing out to Ottawa in P.W.S.U. playdowns, was: Gladys Mortimer, Marg Snowden, Marie Allison, Marg Hawthorne, Marie Ferguson, Irene Pavy, Dot Merrett, Aggie Sturgeon, Barb Blade, Laura Chartren, Helene Bradley, Marg McCall, Marg Selkirk, Dot Botting and Jean Corley. Charter members of the lassies' loop—along with the game C.G.E. damsels—the Armour Hill maidens have copped the Bond Cup pretty frequently. Teams in the past summer were Westclox, C.G.E., Keene and Lindsay — and manys the night concerted roars of applause arose from hundreds of throats around the Ashburnham Bowl to clatter around celestial corridors, and no doubt startle the moon's male occupant!

MUSSING UP THE MAPLES

Six teams from the C.G.E. Drafting Room set the pace in 5-pin rolling when four 300 games were knocked off. C. Wickland took the high three, 773 (316), Shiner 737 (308), Price 684 (315), Hickey 661, Prest 648, Cuffe 615 while Chambers wound up his three games with a 305 single.

Hard slugging was registered in the Quaker league. E. Guerin had 690, A. Barrett 658, A. Guerin 657, A. Delpellaro 644, E. Dixon 632, W. Rankin 620 and G. Anderson 604.

The mixed Westclox Office group gave out 609 by G. Millen, 600 by H. Yelland, and for the girls, Miss Johnston had 483, Miss Hardill 483, Miss Scott 471, Miss Martin 452 and Miss Ackford 541.

The automobile men had a bad night, although M. J. Duffus cracked off 716, Gray Copping 686, Keith White 696, Jack Ashmore 693 and Morris O'Neill 633. An 8-0 win from Oldsmobile let Hudson slip into a first place tie with the Auto No. 1, each team having now 50 points. Chrysler, Ford, Auto No. 1 and Buick took 6 points each from Auto No. 2, Nash, Graham and Dodge teams while the short handed Chevrolet gang broke even for the night with Pontiac, each getting 4 points.

Latest Knee Guards Keep Johnson Busy

DETROIT, Nov. 17—(CP).—Jack Johnson, rugged guard on the Detroit Lions, professional football team here, got tired of complaining about his knee guards and decided to do something aobut it. He invented a new type (pat.pend.) consisting of two sections of horsehair-covered sponge rubber. When standing erect, it appears like one section, but the hinge operates when crouching. Johnson said other players on the team were buying them as rapidly as he could make them. He plans to make them all winter to aid linemen avoid the football equivalent of housemaid's knee.

LOCAL CURLERS WELCOME LINDSAY PREXY OF ONTARIO BODY

Insulation Of Ice Rinks Suggested By President In Natural-Ice Centres

Walter Reesor of Lindsay, new president of the Ontario Curling Association, was welcomed to Peterborough last night by over 50 local curlers. He addressed the gathering in the club rooms on Charlotte street. Mr. Reesor, who needed no introduction to Peterborough knights of the besom and stane, was introduced by the local club president, Alex Richmond.

Interspersing an interesting address, Mr. Reesor covered a lot of territory in his short address on curling. He stated that the number of registered curlers in the province now was in the neighborhood of 5,000 and was showing a continual increase. The popular Lindsay president—who has often played here—advised insulation of ice arenas where natural ice is not possible. Reminiscing on Peterborough competition in the past, in a most entertaining manner, the president pointed out that Peterborough was often prominent in Ontario competition but had yet to win the Ontario tankard.

He added that this was the logical central point for an increase in curling interest in the district, mentioning Campbellford, Norwood, Hastings and other nearby centres. He lauded the strong curling interest every year in Lindsay and hoped this city would triumph shortly in the Tankard competition. Mr. Reesor finished by stating that Peterborough had helped put him in office and he would remember that, doing whatever possible in the Ontario Association to aid this city.

Vote Of Thanks

A vote of thanks was offered by R. F. Downey, who pointed out that it was a great honor to have the provincial president chosen from this section and saying Mr. Reesor and Lindsay deserved the honor as well as all of Central Ontario.

Wm. Campbell, past president of the Peterborough Club—who stated that he had been curling for some 40 years here—praised the Ontario president as a gentleman and a sportsman. He went briefly over some of the Lindsay-Peterborough rivalry in the past, with anecdotes, and gave four-fold advice to the younger curler here: 1. sportsmanship was essential; 2. it was necessary to have a keen eye; 3. an iron nerve was necessary; 4. curling instinct was required to become a top-notcher.

After Walter Oke, veteran skip of the local club, had added his congratulations on a district president of the type of Mr. Reesor being elected, Doug Carlisle—chairman of the Membership Committee here—spoke. He said that Peterborough curlers had a fine spirit that that not enough were interested in the game for a town of this size. He asked Mr. Reesor for any constructive suggestions to aid the Peterborough Club in this excellent game.

Invite Youths

The latter in reply advised club members to contact all new citizens and invite them to the club, and also suggested urging young men to take up this sport. He showed how the interest was maintained in Lindsay, giving their method of lining up rinks each autumn, and the president added, it was "an unpardonable discourtesy for a rink scheduled to meet another to not notify opponents in time if unable to compete."

Secretary Harry Foote recalled old times in curling in this city, and ended his brief discourse with the hope he would live to see the day when Peterborough won the Ontario Tankard. Ray Best added his congratulations to the chorus before the enjoyable session adjourned.

Would Widen Amateur Code

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 17—(CP)—Return of national associations governing hockey, lacrosse and basketball to the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada would be facilitated, observers believe, by a constitutional amendment before the union's 51st annual meeting opening here to-day.

Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, second vice-president, will reintroduce the amendment he carried before the annual meeting in Montreal last year, only to miss the necessary two-thirds majority by five votes.

The amendment would broaden the union's code so no athlete would lose amateur status for any action permitted by the international governing body of the sport in which the athlete is competing.

Canadian hockey, basketball and lacrosse associations broke with the union following the Regina meeting in 1936 when proposals to permit intermingling of professionals and amateurs and payment to athletes for time lost from work while competing were voted down.

Another amendment, submitted by the Thunder Bay branch, would permit amateurs to play against professionals except in the sports in which they were professionalized. This amendment also was defeated at Regina.

Nominations for the Norton H. Crow Memorial trophy, awarded annually to the year's outstanding amateur athlete in Canada, are George W. Sutherland of De Winton, Alta.; Eric Coy of Winnipeg; John Loaring, Windsor, Ont.; and Joseph Gagnon, Montreal.

Sutherland won the hammer throw at the British Empire games in Australia last February; Coy won the discus and was second in the shot put, and Loaring won the 440-yard hurdles and was a member of Canada's winning 440-yard relay team. Gagnon was defeated in the Empire flyweight boxing final.

Shore Abandons Month Holdout And Signs For $7,000 Maximum Salary Of N.H.L.

BOSTON, Nov. 17 (C.P.). — The longest holdout of his National Hockey League career ended, Eddie Shore, Boston Bruins' all-star defenceman, planned to work out with his team mates to-day and get into league play on Sunday night when the Bruins tackle Detroit Red Wings.

Shore signed a contract yesterday calling for the N.H.L. maximum salary of $7,000, abandoning his holdout for more pay after two conferences with League President Calder during which the hockey-playing Alberta farmer was advised that if he did not sign he would be automatically suspended. He had remained unsigned a month.

Manager Art Ross said the date was the only thing different in the contract Shore signed and the one he was offered on October 15 at the Bruins' training camp in Hershey, Pa. He added the club had agreed not to penalize Shore for the four games he missed.

Shore, invariably a holdout as the campaign gets under way each year, has never remained out of the Bruin fold so long, but in 1933 he missed the first two games which were played on the road, but never before had he been absent for Boston's home opening.

Star for Thousands.

Idolized by thousands and selected on more all-star teams than any other player in hockey history, Shore is nevertheless nearing the end of a spectacular career. Born in Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., 33 years ago Eddie was sold to Boston in 1926 and came East to create more furore in big time puckchasing than any other individual before or since.

Eddie, despite his 12 years' service with Boston, thought he was worth more than the $7,000 offered him. This is officially the top salary allowed by the league constitution, but this clause has been circumvented ever since its insertion in the code book.

One novel method of sidestepping the rule came to light three seasons ago when Earl "Si" Seibert held out for a higher stipend from New York Rangers. The player revealed during an interview that as he could not be listed in the official records as receiving $8,000 his father at Kitchener, Ont., was paid $1,000 to scout for Rangers. Seibert Sr., the younger said, did no scouting but Earl cashed the cheque for himself.

One club elects its top-priced athlete as captain each season and pays him $1,000 extra for his services in that capacity. Others allow members of club directorates to "employ" star athletes during the off season as "bond salesmen" for which the players are handsomely reimbursed, although no records to that effect appear on the club's books. Another club head blandly admits sums running into four figures are paid certain of his staff to defray "living expenses."

Next to Hobey Baker, hockey hero who fell in the Great War, Shore is the most worshipped hockeyman ever to step into the enemy on Boston rinks. He realized this particularly after the splendid blocking and goal-scoring plays he engineered last season brought him the Hart Trophy for the fourth time.

Remember When—

Bobby Jones, king of amateur golfers, abdicated his throne eight years ago today. Perhaps the best-known golfer the world has known, the 28-year-old winner of 13 national titles—including his "grand slam" of four major titles in 1930—quit amateur ranks to make a series of motion pictures on golf.

Italo-Canadians Out For Title

HAMILTON, Nov. 17—(CP).—There hasn't been an official Canadian junior rugby champion crowned since Toronto Argos won the title in 1932, but that doesn't mean there can't be an unofficial one.

So Hamilton's Italo-Canadians, who staged their own series here last year and beat Regina Dales for the unofficial title, are again throwing their weight around in the challenge ring.

It cost the Hamilton Huskies a lot of money to bring the Dales east and whether they'll repeat the experiment this year is a question only time will answer. Regina repeated their title-winning feat of 1937 by beating Winnipeg Y.M.H.A. for the Western Canada honors last week.

However, the Italo-Canadians, unbeaten and untied for the past two years, are not averse to meeting some squad closer to home and the sooner the batter, they say.

They challenged the Ottawa city champions to a game this Saturday but as New Edinburghs and Gladstones are locked in a tie for the title at the capital, nothing could be done about it.

And after the Ottawa squads are unravelled, the winner will meet Montreal Westmounts, the Quebec champions. Westmounts have indicated their willingness to keep the playdowns going if they get past Ottawa.

Boxing Show Here Friday

The Riverview A.C. is staging a mitt-mat show in the Brock Street arena tomorrow (Friday) evening at 8.30 o'clock. One wrestling match is on the program, a two-in-three fall one-hour time limit bout between Rene Labelle, 190, former British Games contestant, and Ren Gaselley, 185, Vancouver Wildcat. The main boxing bout sees Nick Orlando, local lightweight tangle with Auggie Ferguson of Toronto. Another feature fight is between Norm Hill, former Detroit welter—now residing here—and Buster Scott of Toronto. The semifinal will find Dutch McIlmoyle and Frank Spencely, local 165-pounders, in a challenge bout. Pat Jordan, 145, battles Bill Joiner in a prelim; and Bobby Quirt and Buddy Redmond, 80-pounders, lift the curtain.

The first mitt scrap is three two-minute rounds, and the rest are five two-minute battles. It promises to be another fine fight card, staged by this hustling amateur club, with plenty of action and keen competition. Competent officials will be appointed and the promoters promise no delay between bouts. Norm Bowler of the Riverview Club predicts this will be the best fistic card, with wrestling match, staged in Peterborough in several years. A big crowd of fans, ladies and men, is expected as it may be the final boxing show staged here before spring. Prices are 50, 35 and 25 cents.

Syracuse Stars Showing Form

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP). — It might not be amiss for the rest of the league to sit up and take notice of Syracuse Stars. For the Stars are starting to show the form that carried them to two straight International - American hockey championships before last season.

The Stars didn't do so well in the 1937-38 season, and didn't startle anyone with their performances in the first few games this year. But they have clicked for five points in a possible six, in their last three games and are in third place in their section. Tonight they have a chance to improve their position further in a game against Providence Reds.

Coach Eddie Powers' Syracuse band scored two goals in every period last night to top New Haven Eagles 6-4, in the only scheduled game of the night.

The game practically was a personal triumph for the line of Norm Locking, Maxie Bennett and Murray Armstrong, for the three players accounted for four goals.

Bennett scored two goals, both in the first period, and assisted in two others. Locking tallied once and aided in three, while Armstrong scored one and had a hand in two. Other Star goal scorers were Jack Markle and Howard. George Brown got two for New Haven in the final period, while Don Willson and Bill Summerhill marked up singles.

Move A.A.U. Relax Amateur Code

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 17 (C.P.). —President Jack Hamilton of Regina opened the 51st annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada here to-day with a move to relax the amateur code the most important business before delegates.

Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, second vice-president, contends a constitutional amendment to recognize as amateurs all athletes in good standing with international governing bodies whose amateur definition is accepted by the International Olympic Committee would pave the way for return to the Union of Canadian hockey, lacrosse, and basketball associations.

Halter submitted a resolution to that effect at the Montreal meeting last year, but, afte controversial discussion, it was defeated, five votes short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

Hockey, basketball, and lacrosse withdrew from the Union after the 1936 meeting at Regina, where a bid to broaden the amateur code was voted down by the "Old Guard."

Another amendment, voted down at Regina and presented again this year by the Thunder Bay branch, would permit professionals in one branch of sport to compete with amateurs in other sports.

To increase production of machine tools Japan is enforcing stronger control over the industry.

Blue Bombers To Come East

WINNIPEG, Nov. 17 (CP).—President Frank Hannibal of the Western Interprovincial Football Union last night announced cancellation of the November 19 game between Calgary Bronks and Winnipeg Blue Bombers to decide the team for the eastern invasion.

Bombers now will face the eastern champions as the result of winning the Union crown, 25-9, in a two-game series with Bronks. Bombers won the first game 12-7 and the second 13-2.

Mr. Hannibal, in his announcement, said the executive voted unanimously for cancellation of the game, which had drawn criticism as it meant Bombers playing again with the same team which conquered Calgary twice.

Some time ago the executive of the Union decided the western finalists must play a sudden-death game, with Canadian Rugby Football Union ineligibles barred, to decide the "strongest possible" team to represent the west in the Grey Cup final.

Last Saturday Winnipeg downed Bronks to take the two-game series for the Union championship with a team eligible for the Dominion final in which the Canadian Rugby Union residence rule bars players without continuous residence in Canada since October 1, 1937.

Calgary, however, would have lost seven players if the November 19 game had gone through. These players faced Bombers in the two games for the Union crown.

ENGLAND BEATS IRELAND

MANCHESTER, England, Nov. 17 —(CP-Cable).—In a match that developed into an exhibition by the home team, England humbled Ireland 7-0 before a crowd of 40,000 soccer enthusiasts at Old Trafford today. G. W. Hall, clever inside-right, bagged five goals to create a new record for England in international competition.

Best McGill Squad In Ten Years Sees Five Battlers Picked For All-Star Outfit

By Sydney Gruson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (C.P.). — A wholesome tribute to what observers called the best McGill football team in 10 years was paid by coaches and sports writers whose selections placed five Redmen on the Intercollegiate Union all-star team to-day.

Two of the five, Ronnie Perowne and Herb. Westman, were unanimous choices of the 13 men who participated in the sixth annual Canadian Press poll. They built a team featuring a backfield wherein lies speed through the air and power along the group.

Three Western Mustangs and two men from each of the Queen's and University of Toronto clubs won recognition alongside the Redmen. Following is the team:

Flying wing—Alex. Hamilton, McGill.
Half—Clem Faust, Western.
Half—Herb. Westman, McGill.
Half (secondary defence) — Jim Farmer, Western.
Quarterback — Ronnie Perowne, McGill.
Snap—George Willis, Western.
Inside—Jerry Conlin, Queen's.
Inside—Frank Sirdevan, Toronto.
Middle—Andy Anton, McGill.
Middle—George Sprague, Queen's.
Outside—Jimmy Hall, McGill.
Outside—Jack Holden, Toronto.

Behind such protection as this all-star wingline undoubtedly would afford, the backfield aces would have full scope for the ball-handling wizardry that has featured the work of Western and McGill throughout the season. The backs all are from the two universities.

Ticklish Decision.

Except for one end position, where Holden beat out Western's Roy Kent by a single vote, the positions were won easily. Anton, the battering ram of McGill's ground forces, ran closest to Perowne and Westman for widespread selection, drawing 11 of the 13 votes.

Left in the ruck as their teams, traditionally the finalists for the college champion, lost out early in the campaign, such stars as Toronto's Cam Gray and Don Mumford, both members of the 1937 team, and Art Stollery, Queen's quarterback and captain, failed to win places. This was a season for McGill and Western, who will decide the title in Montreal this Saturday.

The plunging power of the backfield lies with Farmer, who can boot placement field goals almost as well as he smacks a line. In Herb Westman, the team has the Union's best kicker and a fine passer.

Perowne is acknowledged as the Union's best team director. He has topped his career with a brilliant season and his ability to get distance on an off-middle smash, his fine play-calling and inspiring fight leaves nothing to be desired for the quarterback job.

Pick Conlin, Sprague.

To protect the offensive aces, the selectors dipped into the weaker teams for Conlin and Sprague, who were the bulwarks of Queen's strong front line, and Sirdevan, a gallant fighter in a Toronto cause lost when the team's stars suffered injuries before the season was under way properly.

Willis, captain of the Wild Mustangs, won the centre job from McGill's Presty Robb. Both Hall and Holden are fine pass receivers and downfield tacklers, while Hall also gained a reputation for his ability to scoop up fumbles.

Willis, Anton and Perowne were the only holdovers from the 1937 team. This season's squad loses nothing, however, by its members' lack of previous all-star recognition.

Stabs His Deer

ENTERPRISE, Ont., Nov. 17 (C.P.). — Deverde Wagar doesn't need a gun to kill his deer. When a big buck charged Wagar, he grabbed its antlers and threw it, then killed it with his pocket-knife by cutting its throat.

Banquet Is Given Softball Champs

KEENE, Nov. 17. — The Keene Softball Club, intermediate "C" champions of Ontario brought the season to a conclusion with a large and sumptuous banquet tendered to their supporters as a token of appreciation for all those who gave their time and support to the club in their quest of the Ontario honors.

The banquet was held in the basement of the United Church, supper was served by the Tillicum Class of United Church. Almost one hundred guests were present including J. J. Duffus, M.P., Dave Leether, O.S.A. representative, Bill Prindible, president of the Southend League, Jack Copping, secretary of the Southend loop, Bob Batley of Peterborough, Harry Reid, Deputy Reeve of Otonabee and "Toey" Ibey, Earl Hahn and Clarence Gillespie of Hastings.

Harry Reid proposed a toast to the Keene softball team with a few well chosen words which was responded to by Manager Bill Woods.

Jack Gall proposed a toast to the guests which was responded to by J. J. Duffus who congratulated the Keene ball team on its success, Dr. Wright, Dave Leether, Bill Prindible and Jack Copping congratulated the club.

The banquet concluded with the singing of the National Anthem, after which a dance was held in the town hall where presentations of crests to the members of the team were made by J. J. Duffus who addressed the gathering. The Harry Sniderman Cup was donated by Dave Leether, O.S.A. representative.

An enjoyable evening was attended by a large crowd from the community and Peterborough.

They Stand In Each Other's Path To Dominion Rugby Title

Saturday sees the beginning of a two-game struggle to decide the championship of the east's Big Four. Defending champions of both group honors and the Canadian crown are Toronto Argonauts, and attempting to bring them down off their lofty perch are Ottawa's Rough Riders. The same two teams battled it out last fall with the Toronto squad coming out on top, and this year they split their two league games. Here are some of those expected to figure prominently in the coming playdowns. LEFT, Ross Trimble, Rough Rider coach. Next to him, two of his dynamic stars, Murray Griffin, standout passer and all-round ball carrier in his first year in the league, TOP, and the veteran Dave Sprague, BOTTOM. Sporting the 76 is Art West, payoff runner with the champions and the man the Ottawa outsides will be out to stop in his tracks. RIGHT, Lew Hayman, Argonaut coach.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(AP).—The beak-busting business never was more ludicrous than this week with two self-styled middleweight champions fighting for the title and a third middleweight beefing loud and long that he is the head guy of the division.

The combatants are Fred Apostoli and not-so-young Corbett III, who will meet amidst wild disinterest in the Madison Square Garden ring tomorrow night. The third "champion" is Solomon Krieger, a Brooklyn boy, who to all intents and purposes has been handed the short end of the stick by the New York State Athletic Commission. Krieger whaled the tar out of Al Hostak, recognized as champion in 47 states, only to find he was just another fighter in his own back yard.

The commission didn't recognize Hostak as champion because he had won the title from Freddie Steele, one of the commission's problem children. It ordered Apostoli and Corbett to get together and then blessed the union with a title. The two Californians are the commission's leading contenders. Each considers himself the division's head man.

The title at stake is about all the fight has at present. Apostoli, after looking like a warmed-over amateur for a few days, is beginning to move and hit, but he still is a long way from being a great 160-pounder. Also he looks bad against southpaws.

Corbett is one of the south-paw-ingest southpaws you ever saw. He is 33, a touch heavy in the legs and well pounded about the noggin.

Manager Hymie Caplin is the loudest and fastest talker in the fight business, and he has been going hard ever since the commission gave his boy Solly the run around.

"We beat Hostak," he howls. "We can lick both these mugs in the same night. What do they do? They say Solly must fight the winner of this thing before January 30. That's a crime. We should get the usual six-month rest."

London, Nov. 17 (CP).

STANLEY INCE not only knows he is going to die—he knows how he is going to die.

Ince, who is 53, suffers from creeping paralysis. It is incurable.

A prominent official in London's Boy Scout organization, Ince received on Armistice Day scouting's highest honor. It is the Cornwell decoration for courage, capability and character. The award goes to Ince because of the heroism with which he has faced his ailment.

The only other man ever to receive the Cornwell decoration was Sir Abe Bailey, the South African millionaire. Sir Abe has had both legs amputated.

Ince is warden of Roland House Scout Settlement. He is practically helpless physically. Daily he is driven to Roland House and propped up at his desk.

"I thought I might as well chuck up the sponge when I caught an incurabe paralyzing disease in barracks during the war," he said.

Then he heard that Roland Phillips, a pioneer scout organizer in London's east end, had been killed in action and in his will had asked Ince to carry on his work.

That was more than 20 years ago—but he's still living for it.

Presents Recital

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 17.—Mr. Herbert W. Piercey (interpreter of the drama) from Niagara Falls delighted a small audience here on Monday when he gave a vivid dramatic recital of Jean Valjean, Victor Hugo's popular classic in the Lakefield United Church. The recital was sponsored by the Young People's Society of the church.

Millbrook Y.P.U. Present Pageant

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Nov. 17. — The Young People's Union, held on Tuesday at 8 p.m., was well attended, with "Peace" as the subject of study, those taking part in the well-acted pageant being: Russia, Gordon Might; Germany, William Ridge; Italy, Dorothy Sisco; Japan, Edna McKnight; India, Mary Dawson; England, Ken Kidd; Canada, Margaret Foster; U.S.A., Earl Edworthy; France, Anna Rowland; and the Spirit of Peace, Esther Might.

Jean Fisher read the lesson, and prayer was offered by the president, B. B. Dawson, previous to the presentation of the pageant, which fittingly closed with a prayer by the Spirit of Peace. Next week's demonstration, on account of unavoidable difficulties in the way, was postponed until a later date, the regular meeting to be under the missionary department, Eleanor Bigelow convener. Arrangements were made for an executive meeting to be held at the parsonage early in December, when the new slate of officers for 1939 will be drawn up, ready for presentation to the general meeting the following week.

Missionary contributions to complete the Union's share toward the M. and M. fund for the current year, are now due.

National Theatre Urged In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Nov. 17—(CP).—A national theatre in this capital to provide adequate facilities for production of the best in drama by Canadian actors under professional direction is envisioned by Joseph Thibeault of Ottawa.

Mr. Thibeault, for 43 years associated with theatrical work in Canada and United States, is organizer of a national theatre movement which will be launched officially at a meeting here tonight.

More than 125 invitations have been sent to organizations in Ottawa and Hull, such as lodges, women's clubs, church dramatic groups, the Ottawa drama league and service clubs.

A committee is expected to be set up at the meeting which will work out a clearly-defined financial plan for construction of the national theatre building. This plan will be submitted to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and the cabient, according to present plans of Mr. Thibeault.

Mayor Stanley Lewis will preside at the meeting and Jacques Greber, the Paris townplanner who has designed the beautification of Ottawa project will attend. Mr. Thibeault said that Mr. Greber is enthusiastic about the national theatre proposal and would like to see it accomplished.

"There is no first-class theatre in Canada for production of legitimate drama," the grey-haired former actor said. "For this reason I think a national theatre here would meet a very definite need and contribute to the nation's cultural development. There is plenty of dramatic talent in Canada but the actors do not have an opportunity to display it."

While Mr. Thibeault is sympathetic to the aims and accomplishments of the Little Theatre movement in the Dominion he said he feels that the Little Theatre "does not go far enough or cover enough ground in the drama."

2.28 Pace Won By Al Grattan

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—Al Grattan sped to three straight victories in the 2.28 pace to steal the spotlight at the Dufferin Driving Club's harness races at Dufferin Park Wednesday.

The Proudfoot-owned pacer left little doubt about his superiority and recorded the fastest heat of the day in taking the first dash in 2:16¾.

Dr. Miller's Todd Britton won two of the four heats in the "Named Trot" from a field of six other trotters. After winning the opener the favorite had to bow to Guy Lee in the second heat and Rheita Bars in the third, but came back to take the final dash.

All Grattan was booked at 5 to 1, but showed speed in the stretch under the capable guidance of Driver Chapman to overtake the favored Frank in the first heat. He took the second heat despite a five-length lead in the backstretch and coasting home. Even money against the rest of the field for the third heat, All Gratan got away fourth, but was threatening the leaders at the quarter pole and pulled out ahead and was a one-length winner over the rapidly improving Flora Dixon.

With All Grattan ineligible for the final heat Flora Dixon proved the best of the remainder. She got away on top and was never headed.

The Toronto Driving Club will sponsor the next program on Saturday.

LAKEFIELD

Mr. Ken Morris of Lakefield is being congratulated on killing his first deer while on a week-end hunting party in Eel's Lake district, above Apsley.

Mrs. P. C. Litster of Vegreville, Alta., spent the past week in Lakefield, the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Renwick.

Mr. E. J. Millage has returned from Cold Lake, where he spent several days last week deer hunting. He was successful in killing a good-sized deer.

About twenty members from the A.Y.P.A. of St. John's Anglican church, Lakefield, motored to Peterborough on Monday evening, where they attended the annual meeting of the Peterborough District A.Y.P.A. which was held in the parish hall of All Saints' church. The election of officers for the district was held. Miss Pat Earnshaw of Lakefield was elected second vice-president.

PILES GO QUICK
With Dr. Leonhardt's Prescription

Many sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have found out that quick relief can be had with an internal medicine.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel is the cause of piles. The veins are congested and flabby, the bowel walls weak. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used. HEM-ROID stimulates the circulation, relieves the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who spent several years of his professional life in finding the cause of piles and the medicine that would remove them. His medicine succeeds because it tends to correct the cause.

No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, if you want to try HEM-ROID, you have our promise to give you back your money if you do not find quick and satisfying relief, after using just one bottle.

McDermid and Jury and Bond's Drug stores or any druggist can supply you.—advt.

Britain Waits Nazi News On Migration

LONDON, Nov. 17—(AP). — The cabinet today was expected to seek means of aiding German Jews and awaited Nazi recation to a plan providing for mass migration.

The proposal to move the German Jews to North and South America and to parts of the British Empire was understood to be ready for discussion by the cabinet at its regular Wednesday meeting. Consultations are under way among Great Britain, the United States, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Denmark and Switzerland on the problem growing out of the recent wave of anti-Semitic measures in Germany. An international conference may be called, as suggested by Premier Hendrikus Colijn on The Netherlands yesterday.

One of the biggest problems was the attitude of Chancellor Hitler toward efforts of other powers to relieve the Jews. Germany, smarting under foreign denunciation of the anti-Jewish disorders, may be inclined to snub advances to her on the question.

President Roosevelt's strong condemnation of Germany's treatment of Jews was given prominence by British newspapers while various groups in Britain continued to protest against the Nazi anti-Semitic wave.

Debate This Week

A motion sponsored by Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition, would have the House note "with profound concern the deplorable treatment suffered by certain racial, religious and political minorities in Europe."

The question probably will be debated within a week.

A unique proposal was made by one Jew—that a deputation of British Jews should fly to see Hitler and plead with him just as Prime Minister Chamberlain flew to Germany during the Czechoslovak crisis.

Mr. Chamberlain last night received a Jewish delegation which urged that immigration quotas in British territory be lifted to aid their people.

Oswald Pirow, Union of South Africa defence minister, was to leave today for Berlin to talk over Germany's colonial demands with Hitler—a question which was linked with the Jewish problem.

The Daily Mail (Independent) said Mr. Pirow was taking with him a plan for creating a new German colonial empire in Africa instead of returning to Germany the colonies she had before the Great War.

"He will in fact offer Herr Hitler new colonies for the Kaiser's old ones," said the Mail, mentioning portions of the French Cameroons, Portuguese Angola and the Belgian Congo.

Great Britain was expected to approach Germany "at the opportune moment" in an effort to remove Jews under the auspices of the inter-governmental committee on refugees set up at Evian-les-Bains, France, last July at the suggestion of President Roosevelt.

George Rublee of the United States, head of the committee, is in London and was said to visit Berlin if Germany accepts British proposals.

Man Is Killed Head-On Crash

BOWMANVILL7, Nov. 17—Donald MacLean, 58, Toronto, importer of 233 Yonge street, died last night in Bowmanville Hospital of injuries suffered in a head-on collision at Maple Grove, two miles west of here, shortly after noon yesterday.

The MacLean car burst into flames an instant after the injured occupants had been removed by passers-by. The auto collided with a truck owned and driven by Joseph Crosmez, R.R. 1, Clarke. With him were his brother Walter, and his father, Fred Crosmez. No one in the truck was injured.

MacLean suffered terrible injuries to the head about the eye and several broken bones. He was the driver of the car. The truck driver said he believed MacLean got off the highway on to the shoulder of the road and in getting back his car went over the centre line of the road, hitting the truck.

Coroner Dr. V. H. Storey impanelled a jury last night and examined the body. A date has not yet been set for the inquest. Provincial Constable D. P. Morris and Police Chief Sydney Venton of Bowmanville directed the investigation.

MILLBROOK

Misses Della Mae Sisco and Jean L. Burnham held an afternoon tea at the parsonage on Armistice Day, four tables being filled by special invitation with guests, the proceeds going to help the funds of the Mission Circle.

Miss Gertrude Richards, of Brighton, was home for the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lewis, of Welcome, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. J. N. Eastcott. Dr. Edna Eascott of Toronto was also home for the weekend with her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Williamson of Toronto were home for the Armistice Day weekend with his mother and sister Mrs. Wesley and Miss Gladys Williamson, Princess street.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Fowler had as their Sunday guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Morgan and family of Campbellford.

Mrs. A. Huggins has returned home this week after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carl Huggins, of South Monaghan.

The many friends of Miss Mary Armstrong, nurse-in-training at the Nicholls' Hospital, Peterborough, will be pleased to learn that she is improving nicely following a serious illness which developed after an operation for appendicitis last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart of Moose Jaw, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Reid, and Miss Mary Hampton of Reaboro were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Armstrong on Remembrance Day.

Fred Brown and Allen Dawson of Cavan are in Toronto this week judging in the junior farmers' competition in grain, at the Royal Winter Fair. These two boys were winners for Durham County at the grain judging competition at the O.A.C. Guelph, and were accompanied to Toronto by A. E Summers, of Bowmanville, agricultural representative for this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Robertson of Toronto were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Edworthy.

Mr. J. L. Byam has purchased a new bus for use in conveying pupils of the Continuation School.

Relatives of Mr. Arthur Armstrong paid him a surprise visit on Remembrance Day, games being played, and lunch served before the guests left for home, following a most enjoyable social time together. Among those who attended the party were: Mr. and Mrs. R. Wood and family; Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Armstrong, Margaret and Earl; Miss Millie Wood; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong and Gerald of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Powell; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Armstrong and Wilma; Mrs. W. Charles Thorndyke.

Wilson Report To Gauge U.S. Protest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP).—Any general protest from the United States against mistreatment of German Jews probably will await Ambassador Hugh Wilson's conference with President Roosevelt, government officials said today.

Expression of this belief followed the president's disclosure that he personally gave the order for the United States envoy to return from Berlin at once to report on anti-Semitic violence.

"The news of the past few days from Germany has deeply shocked public opinion in the United States," Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday at his press conference.

"Such news from any part of the world would inevitably produce a profound reaction among American people in every part of the nation.

"I myself could scarcely believe that such things could occur in a twentieth century civilization."

The president read his brief statement—an unusual procedure—to the reporters.

Some Points

Mr. Roosevelt indicated he would receive from Ambassador Wilson, after his arrival late next week, "a first-hand picture of the situation in Germany." This led officials to predict the two men would talk over not only the Jewish problem but also such points as:

1. Germany's ignoring repeated American notes asking her to assume Austria's debts to the United States.

2. Germany's economic campaign in Central Europe, which may impair American trade in that region and which already is interfering with the conclusion of a trade agreement between the United States and Turkey.

3. Germany's ambitions, economic and political, in Latin America.

The state department, through the American embassy in Berlin, is trying to obtain more concrete information about reports that property of American Jews has been damaged in Germany during the anti-Semitic outbreaks.

Protests against the Nazi attacks on Jews are being received in increasing numbers at the White House and the state department.

A delegation of churchmen and educators from nearby states presented a petition asking for economic action against Germany. The New York city council adopted unanimously a protest resolution.

Senator Ashurst (Dem.-Arizona) expressed agreement with the suggestion of Senator King (Dem.-Utah) that diplomatic relations with Germany be severed.

Twenty Canadian Cows Will Be Exhibited At New York World's Fair Next Year

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Twenty Canadian cows will live in New York beginning next May, it was announced here to-day by T. R. Dent of Woodstock, judge at the Royal Winter Fair, and chairman of the Holstein Breeders' Committee. The committee with a committee of the Ayrshire Breeders, has arranged for the exhibit at the New York World's Fair. Three times a day the cows will get a ride on a merry-go-round and will pay for the rides with milk.

The Canadian cows, with 120 United States cows for company, will occupy a building especially designed for a milk company to take care of milk production right from fodder to milk shakes. A feature of the exhibit will be a new "roto-lactor," a sort of merry-go-round for cows which, operated with few human hands, washes, milks, strips and releases the cow for the barn in less than eight minutes. Until the World's Fair rotolator is in operation, the only one in existence is at the Walker-Gordon Farms at Princeton, N.J., where 1,500 cows are milked three times a day with a crew of about 10 men.

H. W. Jeffers, president of Walker-Gordon Farms, is expected in Toronto to-morrow to attend a breeders' dinner at which a working model of the exhibit, called the Dairy World of To-morrow, will be on show.

S. G. Sims of Stonewall, Man., Mr. Dent, and G. M. Clemons of Brantford will be some of the Holstein breeders present, and R. O. Biggs of Dundas and Frank Napier of Ottawa will head the delegation of Ayrshire breeders. The meeting is expected to arrange for every important dairy district of Canada to be represented at the New York Fair.

Mr. Dent expressed the belief it will be the first time that dairy cattle have been shown at a World's Fair.

Skid On a Curve

COBOURG, Ont., Nov. 17—(CP). —Albert Patrick, Rochester, was taken to Cobourg Hospital after an accident last night near Grafton. George Yandy, Rochester, was in the car at the time of the accident. Police state Patrick skidded on a curve and sideswiped a truck driven by Frank O'Leary of Toronto.

Before evacuating Hankow the Chinese carried off 25 per cent of the machinery in that entire area.

Accidental Death

NORWICH, Ont., Nov. 17—(CP). —A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death into the death of William Green, 24, district farm hand killed Oct. 17 when the motorcycle he was driving crashed into an automobile driven by Dr. Roy Riddle, Norwich. Green died in a London hospital Oct. 28.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't fiddle around with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are it's simple if you eat only what most people do: meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crisp crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the intestinal tonic, vitamin B1.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

Join the Thousands Now Switching to This Amazing New Laundry Soap That

WASHES CLOTHES UP TO 15% WHITER

Amazing new ingredient not only brings far whiter washes—but also makes new High-Test OXYDOL give up to TWICE THE SUDS in hard water . . . keeps it safe for washable colors, hands

Here is a new soap creation, developed to bring you an utterly new conception of easier washdays—of brighter, WHITER clothes.

Called new High-Test OXYDOL, it is the result of a new ingredient that scientists have been working on for years. An ingredient that makes the new High-Test OXYDOL not merely a few "shades" whiter washing—but as much as 15% WHITER WASHING than old-style bar and package soaps.

What's more, this new soap creation gives up to TWICE THE SUDS of old-fashioned, less efficient soaps even in hard water, as proved in scientific tests. Rich, vigorous suds that stand up TWO TO THREE TIMES LONGER, in tub or washing machine.

These rich suds soak dirt loose in as little as ten minutes. No back-breaking rubbing or scrubbing to shorten the life of your clothes. In fact clothes washed this scrubless way last 2 or 3 times longer from the standpoint of washday wear and tear, compared to old-style methods.

New High-Test OXYDOL is amazingly safe for washable colors—safe for fabrics and hands. You'll be surprised how beautifully bright and fresh your colored things come out, week after week, even when washed in hard water.

So join the thousands of women who are switching to new High-Test OXYDOL. You'll be thrilled as you've never been thrilled with any laundry soap you've probably used before. Thrilled at the immaculate whiteness of your fine linens—at the freshness and sparkle of colored things! Thrilled at the time and work and MONEY you save.

New High-Test OXYDOL is now on sale at all dealers in the familiar orange and blue bull's-eye package. No advance in price—no change in box. Ask for it today! Procter & Gamble.

Each package of new High-Test OXYDOL goes up to one-fourth again as far—does up to 25% more work—than the same amount of old-style soaps.

Mission Circle Honors Recent Bride

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Nov. 17. — Mrs. F. A. Kidd and her daughter Miss Phyllis were hostesses for the November meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle, held at their home, King Street West, on Monday at 8 p.m., with a large attendance and four new members received.

The chair was taken by the president, Miss Phyllis Kidd, and Esther Might presiding at the piano for the evening. The leader reported $40.25 on hand towards the allocation of $51.00 for the twelve months, with only one or two small accounts outstanding, and part of the fall thankoffering not yet received.

Mrs. M. Weatherup and Mrs. C. Hubbeard were appointed to write a letter to a sick member, Miss Margaret Luxon of Newtonville, after which the president covered the first chapter of the new study book, "Weaving the New Web," in a most informative manner. Margaret Smith took up "What the European Nations Have Contributed to Canada," and Leitha Edworthy, "The Contribution the Asiatics Have Made."

During the worship period, when the theme "One is your Father, even God," was studied, Bea McDowell read the lesson and all repeated the Lord's Prayer. A poem, "Say Our," was read by Della Mae Sisco, and following the closing prayer, the leader called upon Marjorie McDowell who read an appreciative address, and Mary Dawson, on behalf of the Circle, presented Mrs. W. Edmund Ball, a bride of recent weeks and a member for some years of the missionary organization, with two Burns' pictures done in color on old ivory.

The recipient, who was taken by surprise, replied briefly, voicing her sincere thanks for the lovely remembrance; and a contest was enjoyed, with lunch served by the hostesses, assisted by some of the girls, before the guests left for home.

Canadian Contract For Bombers Lauded

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(CP-Havas)—Great Britain's arrangements for construction of bombers in Canada, far out of the bombing range of future enemies, is an "enormous asset" and a "splendid example of Empire cooperation," the Daily Mail (Independent) said editorially today.

"The sole regret is that deliveries cannot begin until 1940," the newspaper declared, adding the warning that "Canadian production does not relieve the government and our manufacturers of putting every ounce of effort into speeding up the home air defence program."

Claim World Parachute Mark

According to Jack Vilas, president of the Chicago chapter of the U.S. National Aeronautical Association, Willie "Suicide" Jones established a national delayed parachute jump and probably a world's record when he jumped from an estimated 30,000 feet and didn't open his parachute until he was 2,500 feet from the ground. The jump was made in Chicago. In the picture are, LEFT to RIGHT: Jones, Capt. Ed Buckley, Major Rupert A. Simmons and Pilot Jack Roth, holding the sealed barograph.

Industries Built At Farm Expense

SASKATOON, Nov. 17 (CP).—Although Canada is essentially an agricultural country it has been controlled for many decades by successive governments which have executed policies intended to build up secondary industries at the expense of the farmer, R. J. Deachman, Liberal member of parliament for North Huron, said last night in addressing a Liberal Association meeting.

"When the farmer isn't prospering, neither is the man in the town or city," Mr. Deachman said. "The farmer in Saskatchewan is in no different position from the farmer down in Huron County. You think you get too low a price for your products. Well, so you do. We think we get too low a price for our products, and so we do, too."

Western farmers were unable to produce wheat profitably without a bonus from the government, Mr. Deachman continued. He traced the parallel between problems confronting agriculture in both east and west. It had been proven farmers in the Toronto area were marketing their dairy products at less than the cost of production. They, however, were given no bonus.

Farming in neither east nor west could become prosperous, as long as the farmer was forced to sell his produce in competition with the world and buy what he needed in a highly-protected market. High protection fallacy had continued so long in Canadian politics because the industrial interests were highly organized and powerful. He urged tariff reduction.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY ELIZA HICKEY

The death of Mrs. Mary Eliza Hickey occurred at her home at 621 Union street on Tuesday after an illness that lasted five weeks. She was in her 84th year.

A resident of this district all her life, she lived in Peterborough for the past forty years, until a year ago residing at 618 Aylmer street. She was born in Emily township, daughter of the late William and Dorothy McCarroll. She was a member of the Roman Catholic church.

Surviving are three sons, Thomas Hickey, Edward Hickey and Sylvester Hickey and one daughter, Mrs. Michael Pearson, all of this city.

The funeral was held this morning at 8.45 o'clock from the late residence to St. Peter's Cathedral for Requiem Mass at 9 o'clock. Interment was made at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Car Strikes Cows During Snow Storm

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17.—Driving cattle after dark in a snowstorm is one way of increasing the death-rate. At least that's what a West Seymour farmer learned to his sorrow Tuesday evening. A herd of nearly two dozen cattle were being driven along the road in charge of one man when a carload of returning deer hunters headed for Healey Falls broke over the brow of a hill. They didn't see the cattle until they were right on top of them, and as a result one animal had to be destroyed. The car suffered considerable damage to radiator and headlights.

Nazis In Tribute Dub Von Rath Eighth Martyr

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Nov. 17 (A.P.). — Nazi leaders in the presence of Chancellor Hitler to-day paid tribute to Ernst von Rath, whose slaying in Paris touched off a sweeping anti-Jewish campaign, as the newest martyr of National Socialism.

Funeral services for the young embassy attache were held in Duesseldorf's swastika-draped Rhineland Hall, bestowing honors rarely accorded a civilian official.

The Reichsfuehrer entered the hall promptly at noon, gave the Nazi salute while an orchestra played Beethoven's Eroica, and then heard his aides eulogize von Rath as the "eighth martyr" abroad.

Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop declared that "lies and calumnies, persecution and murder are the means employed by international Jewdom and other destructive powers which would like to block Germany's road into the future.

"Their last victim was Party Comrade von Rath.

"If now a new wave of hate strikes out at us in the world, if an attempt is made to desecrate the sacrifice of our deceased party comrade by new lies and calumnies, a storm of indignation rises throughout our nation.

Ready to Sacrifice All.

"Its determination at all times to sacrifice everything for the Fuehrer and the Reich becomes all the firmer."

Von Rath was shot a week ago on Monday by Herschel Grynzpan, 17-year-old Polish Jew, and died of his wounds on Thursday.

To him Von Ribbentrop addressed the words: "Dear comrade, you may repose at ease. Slowly but surely the old world is disappearing. No measure of terror can bring Germany bac kto slavery."

State Secretary Ernst Bohle, head of the organization for Germans living abroad, hailed von Rath as the "eighth martyr for Germany among Germans abroad."

The other seven, he said, were Wilhelm Gustloff, Nazi organizer in Switzerland, who was killed on February 4, 1936, by a Yugo-Slav student, and six Germans killed in Barcelona. (A group of Germans were reported to have been executed by Barcelona Leftists in August, 1936.)

MORE ABOUT—
United Counties

appointment annually of a commissioner to serve for three years.

"The commission brought in this recommendation because we felt there should be more provision for experienced and continuous service for the best interest of these counties," Mr. Cummiskey said. "If a commissioner was appointed for three years he would know the county road system of these united counties, and we have a lot of mileage. The Act says you can have three or five men, but as we have been going on you might say we've had only two men."

Mr. Shield advised against the five-man body. It would entail higher transportation costs as in Victoria where the roads commission has a seven passenger automobile bought especially for its service, and now become antiquated.

The proposed new commission plan was unanimously recommended.

Roads Improved

The committee approved the assumption of county roads of 16½ miles of township roads, three of them in Northumberland. The council is asked to refer them to the incoming council in January. The Commission had gone over these four roads, including two miles on the Norwood road to Trent Bridge, and expressed the opinion the entire mileage should be taken over by the counties. The members of the Commission this year were Reeve Robert Innes of Campbellford, Reeve Cummiskey, appointed for two years, and Warden George.

With only six miles of county road in his township, Reeve J. H. Deviney, Haldimand, requested that the three mile road from Centreton to No. 45 highway be taken over by th cuntie. "We paid $17,000 to the counties this year and got back $900 spent on roads," he said. "And Haldimand is the largest township in these counties." The committee recommended that this road be assumed; also the four miles from Morganston to No. 30 highway south of Codrington.

A Cartwright petition asked for the assumption of 7¼ miles from Nestleton to Lakeview post office which is heavily travelled by tourist traffic to Lake Scugog. It was also approved. A bylaw incorporating these recommendations will be prepared for the January sessions.

"It looks as if I'll have to keep after it another five years," Reeve Roy Whistington said in objecting to the road commission's proposal that the South Monaghan road from Wallace Point to No. 28 highway, about 2½ miles, be left over." It was once a county road, and is in good condition. The counties spent considerable money on the bridge, the government is putting in a new pier for the swing, and I feel you have put this off long enough."

Deputy-reeve Shield moved that the 1939 commission report on this road in June. His motion carried.

Some stretches of county road will have to be left off the snow plowing schedule this winter. Reeves were urged to consult the road superintendent regarding such roads in their municipalities.

The commission was instructed in a motion by Reeve Whittington to enquire into the cost of spraying machines for weed destruction per mile and report next year. It was thought this plan of weed control might be too expensive for practical use. The commission was also asked to examine several properties here and in Port Hope in regard to acquiring land and building for housing road machinery, and report in January. The weed control idea was suggested by the commission, and any action will depend on the cost involved.

Rebates on Roads

As requested by the council Col. F. D. Boggs, K.C., counties solicitor, submitted an opinion on the report of the special road rebates committee. He agreed with the recommendation of the committee that the original agreements with towns and villages regarding the paving of connecting links in the county road system should stand.

"In the present case the counties cannot by its own bylaw alter the original agreements and bylaws. In order to make amendments to the original bylaws these should be the joint action of the counties council and the councils of the urban municipalities interested and also the approval of the Minister. These amending bylaws do not operate to change the original bylaws. The amending bylaws are therefore invalid and should be repealed.

The second recommendation in the report is in the words following: "We recommend that in case any urban municipality needs extensive maintenance or repair costing more than the amount of the yearly rebates or where in such case the county council deems it advisable to rescind the original agreements, this procedure should be taken and if necessary new agreements entered into whereby such local municipality shall agree to forego its rebates for such amount of money as the county council shall deem fair and just."

If any such agreements are to be made between the counties and the urban municipalities there will have to be agreements between the respective parties authorized by by-law of each council in order that the recommendations in this clause can be carried out. Whatever agreement is arrived at will require to be authorized by bylaws to be passed by the counties and the urban municipalities with the approval of the Minister.

The last recommendation, "that these counties maintain all county connecting links during the period of the original agreements," seems to be in conflict with provisions of the Highways Traffic Act, subsection 5 of section 9, chapter 84, R.S.O. 1937. Under this section the maintenance of the connecting links is imposed on the urban municipalities. If the counties council is to assume the cost of maintenance of the connecting links this would have to be provided for in new agreements above referred to."

Commenting on the solicitor's opinion and also on the road rebates committee report, Reeve R. R. Mallory, Percy, said the report was clearly supported by Col. Boggs on all points. The original agreements with minor municipalities continue in effect to the expiry of their terms. If a village like Hastings needs a resurfacing job done on the county road connecting links, the counties would do it under a new agreement which would charge the cost against the road refunds to the village. Terms for villages whose refunds are comparatively slight could be arranged by agreement. Extensive repair jobs in the towns might advise the rescinding of the original agreements because of the increased benefit from the subsidy paid by the government. Their refunds were much larger than those of the villages it was pointed out, and any such work would be paid for sooner.

The rebate committee report was approved and passed on to the council.

Sharp Pains Shot Through Knees

Woman Suffered 10 Years

"Since coming here from England 10 years ago," writes a married woman, "I have suffered badly from rheumatic pains. I bought medicine, lotions, liniments, and have taken concoctions until I was tired spending my money. I heard of Kruschen Salts so often, that I thought one day I'd try that. By this time my knees were frequently full of terrible pains. I bought a bottle of Kruschen, and took a teaspoonful every morning. It had no effect. But my husband said 'Persevere! Give it a chance to act.' Well, I did and before long my knees were nearly normal. I kept on, and believe me I am not like the same woman. I walked four miles the other day and felt fine, whereas before I could hardly walk across the floor."—(Mrs.) E.A.

What more need be said about the relief that Kruschen Salts can bring to sufferers from the pains and stiffness of rheumatism?—advt.

To Question Chamberlain

LONDON.—Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, today announced his intention of asking Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons next Tuesday to state to what extent members of the government have recently suggested to newspaper owners the attitude they should take on foreign affairs.

Britain Buys Radium

TORONTO. — Eleven grams of radium, valued at $1,000,000, have been sold to the British Government officials of the Eldorado Gold Mines, Limited, said today. The radium is part of a $2,500,000 purchase being made under the British cancer treatment plan.

City To License Tourist Homes In New Bylaw

A by-law to license, regulate and control restaurants, refreshment booths and tourist homes was discussed for three hours by the legal committee of the City Council Wednesday night, and will now be sent to the Board of Health for perusal before the council gives the by-law its final reading.

Alderman Gordon explained that the purport of the by-law was not to inflict a hardship on any person, but it stressed supervision and control, and gave the Medical Officer of Health and members of the city police force more power. For instance, under the new by-law, an officer may inspect any place mentioned in the by-law at any time without a warrant.

Restaurant Fee $10

When the members discussed the clause dealing with the amount of the license fee, it was felt that the little business man operating a small refreshment booth should not be charged as much as a full-fledged restaurant. The fee was set at ten dollars for restaurants, that is any place serving food and having seating accommodation for the patrons, and five dollars for refreshment booths, drug stores, grocery stores and all other places including tourist homes which now have an eating house license.

It is the first time tourist homes have been licensed. Under the by-law if a tourist home is objectionable or if the owner is not abiding by the rules under the Public Health Act, the M.O.H. has the power to refuse a license, thus closing it. The committee is interested only in having such places clean, conducted properly and the health of those who patronize them protected," said the chairman.

Any person getting an eating house license for a short time will be charged ten dollars for the first day, and a dollar for each succeeding day, the maximum to be set. Churc horganizations and service clubs are excepted under this clause along with other charitable organizations.

Sunday Closing.

Aldermen Stocker and Dutton were opposed to allowing refreshment booths open all day Sunday and late at night, but Aldermen Glover and McCannan pointed out that skiers, skaters, snowshoers and hikers all dropped in to these booths on a Sunday for cigarettes, bottle of pop, a hamburger, or a cup of coffee.

"We are going a long way on this Sunday opening, and to my way of thinking it is the wrong way," said Alderman Dutton. "If we wish to be tolerant we should set a period in the year when they might remain open on Sunday.

"Close them all at midnight," said Alderman Stocker.

The final decision was to allow refreshment booths to remain open on Sunday from ten in the morning until eleven at night from the first of June to the first of October, and on week-day all booths must be closed at midnight.

Public Health Laws.

All the health regulations of the existing eating house by-law are included in the new draft which was examined and many others from the Public Health Act, which gives the Sanitary Inspector and the M.O.H. wider powers in the matter of supervision and inspection.

The committee reached a stalemate on medical examination of all restaurant workers and this will be given further attention by the Board of Health.

A clause which forbids having an orchestra in a restaurant on Sunday was struck out on motion of Alderman Glover and Bradburn.

Charge Is Dismissed Against Gilliland

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., dismissed a charge of illegal possession of beaver against Gilbert Gilliland, Anstruther Township, in the city court today. He reserved judgment on another charge of taking muskrats out of season.

Stanley Windsor, appointed game overseer on October 20th last, was the chief witness. I. J. Lyons, county overseer, conducted the prosecution, and Wilmot Gordon defended Gilliland.

Curlers Welcome Ontario President

When Walter Reesor of Lindsay, new president of the Ontario Curling Association, paid a visit to Peterborough Wednesday evening, he was greeted by half a hundred local knights of the besom and stane in the Charlotte Street club-rooms. Mr. Reesor, well-known to curlers here for many years, addressed the gathering and then posed for the above picture. The group (LEFT to RIGHT): Alex. Richmond, president of the Peterborough Curling Club; Harry Foote, local club secretary; Walter Reesor, head the O.C.A.; and William Campbell, past president of the club here.

Appeal Is Made To Women Of Peterboro' To Supply Dolls For Needy Children

Because Peterborough's firemen, although they are Santa Claus' best little helpers, still haven't learned how to dress dolls and blush violently at suggestion they do such work, women of the community have in the past volunteered to sew the garments. Today Mrs. Ada Craig, Roger street, one of the chief dressers in past years, came to the aid of the firemen once again and this time she brought a suggestion to overcome the scarcity of dolls and other toys that is facing the department.

"Let's have all the churches and women's clubs help us out by supplying the department with as many dolls as possible," she suggested. "I know the women would be only too glad to help out if they knew how urgent the need is." She suggested that each organization within the city should volunteer to send the department a specific number of undressed dolls. "I'll see that they are dressed, ready for the poor children at Christmas," she volunteered.

Well, ladies of one organization and another, what about it? Mrs. Craig at 2923-J or Fire Chief George Gimblett at 24—no fire, would like to know your reaction to the proposal.

Stirling Lodge Enjoys Banquet

BONARLAW, Nov. 17.—On Monday evening Rt. Ex. Comp. J. C. Cooper, of Picton, Grand Superintendent of Prince Edward District No. 11 R.A.M., paid his official visit to Keystone Chapter No. 72, Stirling.

After the business of the evening was concluded all members and a goodly number of visitors repaired to the banquet hall below and partook of a banquet. Ex. Comp. Geo. Watson, first principal, acted as toastmaster and proposed the toast to the King. Rt. Ex. Comp. G. R. Bedford proposed the toast to Grand Chapter which was responded to by Grand Supt. J. C. Cooper and Ex. Comp. Dr. Gullett, of Picton. Dr. Gullett recalled that during his boyhood days he was a resident of Stirling.

The toast to the Visitors was proposed by Rt. Ex. Comp. F. C. Walt, and responded to by Companions Dr. Allison, W. A. Scott, D. L. McLeod, John Shaw, Dr. Goodwin and Warden Chrysler.

Rt. Ex. Comp. J. C. Cooper proposed a toast to Keystone Chapter which was heartily received by the visitors present. Fitting replies were made by First Princ. Geo. Watson and Ex. Comp. Dr. E. A. Carleton.

During the evening community singing was led by Ex. Comp. Robt. A. Patterson a solo was contributed by Ex. Comp. J. F. Baker with Rt. Ex. Comp. Dr. C. F. Walt as accompanist, and two numbers were given by a quintette composed of Comps. Cooper, Allison, Watson, Patterson and Baker.

Dr. Chas. S. Green of Yonkers N.Y., passed through Bonarlaw on Tuesday of this week, enroute from Salmon Lake where he has a hunting lodge and summer home taking with him the spoils of the hunt, a fine buck which tipped the scales at over two hundred pounds. Dr. Green, now a successful medical practitioner in New York, is an old Rawdon boy.

Mr. John Tysick of Christie Lake who has been visiting his sister, Mrs John E. Brown, returned home on Tuesday of this week.

The Rambling REPORTERS

STRIKING PERSONALITY

One man who would seem assured of a successful political career should he choose to throw his hat in the ring is Walter Reesor of Lindsay president of the Ontario Curling Association who spoke to members of the Peterborough club at their annual meeting Wednesday night. A man with striking personality, friendly interest, magnetic speaking voice, Mr. Reesor, often a visitor to the Rotay club here, is what the Italians would call a man "simpatico", for which there is no English equivalent.—P.

$20,000 Fire Hits Simcoe Block

SIMCOE, Ont., Nov. 17.—(CP):—Fire in the R. W. Wallace building, Norfolk street, north, early today caused damage of $20,000 to several business premises and apartments and the club rooms of the Simcoe Young Men's Club.

The blaze started in the Turkish Canada Tobacco Company's manufacturing plant, installed recently in the basement of the building. The fire burned up through the floor of the Trafford, Preston and Brown stockbrokers' board room, the floor collapsing. The Simcoe Young Men's Club rooms in the basement were flooded and damaged to some extent by fire.

The apartment of Morley Preston on the second floor was badly damaged. Most of the contents were lost. The fire reached the second floor where a number of apartments were located before it was discovered by William Reid, a tenant.

The fire department were hampered by dense smoke and were four hours in quelling the blaze, described by Fire Chief P. R. Kendall as one of the most stubborn he ever had to fight.

Lost For 2 Days Hunter Finds Cabin

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Nov. 17. — A hunter named Tammy was found in the Plevna district of Frontenac County, 50 miles north-east of here, after wandering in the bush for 48 hours, it was reported on Tuesday by Jack Imerson of Delta.

Tammy, whose home is in Greenbush, told the Imerson party he became lost after shooting a deer near his cabin. Soaked by a driving rain, he was afraid to sleep due to the fear of bears which were still roaming on account of the mild weather.

He made an improvised shelter of bark the second night and eventually reached the Imerson cabin the third morning.

Four unidentified occupants of a small coupe escaped from serious injury on Wednesday morning when the car skidded on the highway near Mazinaw Lake, Township of Barrie, and crashed into the ditch, narrowly missing several telephone poles. The top and side of the car were smashed.

A truck belonging to Wells Brothers, lumber dealers of Marmora, skidded off the highway into the ditch on the highway to Denbigh, but fortunately no damage was caused. The vehicle was able to proceed under its own power after being hauled from the ditch.

Snow varying from a fraction of an inch around Tweed to five and six inches in the vicinity of Bancroft and Denbigh during the past few days, has made driving on the roads dangerous and extreme caution has to be exercised by drivers to prevent serious accidents occurring.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHANNA MURPHY

Mrs. Johanna Murphy, 491 Elm street was found dead in bed this morning by her son, Jimmy, and had apparently died during the night. No inquest is likely to be held, according to Coroner Dr. H. N. Young. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

MRS. MARGARET KANE

The oldest member of the Catholic Women's League of this city died at her home on Wednesday after a lengthy illness. She was Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Kane, 700 Ross street, and she was in her 87th year.

A life long resident of this city, she was a daughter of the late Michael Heenan and Ellen Lucknan and the widow of Patrick Kane. She was the last surviving member of her family. Her church was her chief interest and she was a member in good standing of the Immaculate Conception parish.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning at 8.45 o'clock from the residence of her neice, Mrs. F. H. Kearney, 700 Ross street, to the Immaculate Conception church for Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. Interment will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

CHARLES EDWARD STURGEON.

A veteran of the Great War, who enlisted here with the 8th C.M.R.'s and served overseas, Charles Edward Sturgeon died at his home at 198 Braidwood avenue on Wednesday evening. He was in his 67th year.

On the 31st of December, 1914, he joined the battalion organized in Peterborough and served throughout the war. He was a member of the Canadian Legion after his return and was well known to hundreds of returned men in this city and district.

Born in Waltham Abbey, Essex, County, England, he was a son of the late Henry Sturgeon and Priscilla Rowland. He came to this city from London, England, thirty years ago. Until seven years ago he was employed at the Canadian General Electric plant as a brass cutter, and then ill health forced his retirement. He was unable to do any work during that time, but was not confined to his bed until Tuesday. He was a member of St. George's Anglican church.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. A. Hawthorne, Mrs. D. Fuller, Mrs. J. Pavy and Miss Edna Sturgeon, all of this city, and one son, Edward H. Sturgeon of Guelph.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock from the late residence, Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican church officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake cemetery.

ELIJAH WINDOVER

The funeral of the late Elijah Windover, who died at his home "Glenoaks" 12 miles north of Buckhorn on Saturday, was held on Tuesday afternoon.

In his 76th year, the prominent proprietor of the "Glenoaks" summer resort for nearly forty years, was born in Harvey township. He was a lumber man by trade, going into the bush in winter months and conducting the tourist business in the summer. He was a member of the Anglican church.

He leaves his widow and two sons, Jewell and Neil Windover, and one daughter, Mrs. Melville Hall of Buckhorn. Three sons predeceased him.

Westwood Institute Votes $2 Each To Ontario Bush Fire Fund

WESTWOOD, Nov. 17. — About thirty ladies met in the town hall on Tuesday afternoon for the November meeting of the Women's Institute. The president, Mrs. J. Clysdale, presided.

The roll call was answered by readings or "bits of verse" on "Peace" and will be preserved for the peace scrapbook, which is in progress of making.

The December meeting will be held on the second Tuesday instead of the third, and in addition to the regular meeting, a bazaar of miscellaneous goods will be held, and afternoon tea served at which a silver collection will be taken. Miss Fern Clements will be convener of refreshments and the following ladies will be in charge of tables: Mesdames Birdsall, Graham, Thompson and Sargent.

It was decided not to ask for the government grant of $3.00. The sum of $2.00 each, was voted to be sent to the Red Cross for Northern Ontario fire sufferers, and to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

A "berry" contest directed by Mrs. S. MacDonald, was won by Miss Edith Bray. Miss Rita Faux concluded the review of the course on the care of clothing and gave many helpful hints on removing stains, etc.

An address on "What Women Can Do to Prevent War" was given by Mrs. E. W. Sargent in the absence of Mrs. F. E. Birdsall, and stressed the importance of mothers influencing their children, during their early years, to love other children of all nationalities, and to love peace in their play-life.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the group in charge and a social time was spent.

Sufficient money will be included in the estimates for 1939 to build a bridge across the river at the London street dam according to a resolution which met unanimous support at a committee meeting of the whole council Wednesday night.

Alderman Dutton explained that in conversation with Mr. Cutting of the Quaker Oats Company, the latter had said he was not opposed to allowing the public to use the dam, but he would set two conditions, the first being that the City Council accept responsibility for the safety of those using the structure and secondly that the Council would give some reasonable assurance that the bridge would be built next year. The foregoing was contained in a resolution moved by Alderman Glover and seconded by Alderman Juby which carried without a dissenting note.

Alderman Gordon who was occupying the chair said plans were being prepared for the structure and when they were completed would be placed before officials of the Quaker Oats Company for their approval. If the plans were satisfactory then sufficient money would be included in the estimates for the work.

New Reflector Signs

Alderman Wilson who was one of a committee detailed to inspect and report on the railway crossing on Water street north where there had been several accidents, said the crossing was properly marked with large signs.

The committee, however, did not share this view and Alderman Gordon remarked it was the main artery for tourist traffic into the north country. He advised that a reflector sign be placed at either side of the railway on Water street. Alderman Bradburn and Alderman Juby made this a motion which passed, the city engineer will be the one to select and locate the signs.

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 17.—(CP).—J. W. Hamilton of Regina, in his presidential address opening the 51st annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada here to-day, urged delegates to remould the constitution to meet new ideas and ideals.

"I believe the success or the reverse—the oblivion of this Union—will be decided at this meeting," he said.

Mr. Hamilton referred to withdrawal from the Union of National associations governing hockey, lacrosse and basketball and said, "falling finances have dealt us a severe blow.

"If the existing two schools of thought in our organization can get together on a compromised basis the future is as bright as it ever was."

The Union had for some years been ruled by a minority. At the last annual meeting in Montreal a move for broadening of the amateur definition had been favored by a vote of 90-53, failing to get the necessary two-third majority. "Persistent domination by minorities will lead to chaos."

New Zealand Invitation.

Secretary John Leslie of Edmonton reported an invitation had been received from the New Zealand Amateur Athletic Association for participation by a Canadian track team of two to four men in the New Zealand centennial celebration, November 1939, to April, 1940.

Invitations also had been received for a Canadian team to enter the world's amateur baseball championship either in Cuba or New York, probably next August, and for participation in an International gymnastic meet at Stockholm, Sweden, next year.

The International Amateur Basketball Federation had notified the Union it would not recognize any Canadian federation for basketball pending receipt of evidence of eligibility. The Union forwarded a statement of eligibility last June 5 but it had not been acknowledged.

Mr. Leslie has since learned the International body lists the Canadian Amateur Basketball Federation as the Canadian member pending decision of the International Federation's 1940 congress.

"In my opinion the Union has not received much courtesy from the International Amateur Basketball Federation in view of the fact that we had not been advised as above, even although the annual dues payable to the International body were paid as requested and no refund has been made or offered," the secretary's report said.

GRANTED REMAND.

James Ross Woof, of Toronto, charged before Magistrate Langley, K.C., with fraud this morning, was given a second remand until November 24 at his own request without plea. Bail was set at $750 and accused was represented by Reg. Chandler.

CLEARINGS DECREASE

A decided decrease in the amount of money passing through the Peterborough clearing house during the past week as compared with the same week a year ago was reported today. Clearings for the past week totalled $618,505 while for the same period a year ago they were $799,940.

VOICED APPROVAL.

Chief Newhall received a letter from an insurance company this morning, lauding the efficient work of Detective-Sgt. William Meagher, who recovered a car which they had insured against theft. The car was stolen on November 12 and recovered by Detective Meagher on the morning of November 14.

HEAD GEAR BLOWS OFF

Traffic Officer McClure organized a search party late Wednesday night to drive out highway 28 and make a search for his cap which had blown off as he zoomed along on his motorcycle. The cap is khaki in color and because of this was quite difficult to locate on the ground. He borrowed a cap at the police station and returned with three sympathizers to find his own bonnet.

CHRISTMAS MAILS FOR OVERSEAS

The local Postmaster so far has announced last Christmas mailing dates for the following countries: Australia and New Zealand parcels, November 28; European continent parcels, December 5th; registered letters, December 6th. During the first week in December Christmas mails will close for Guadeloupe, Martinique, Colombia, Brazil, Grenada, Barbados, St. Vincent, Trinidad and Central America.

UNCLAIMED DOGS.

Clarence Blodgett, dog catcher, reported today that he had four beautiful dogs in the pound which were unclaimed and were so valuable he hesitated to destroy them. One is a male black cocker spaniel, one a male fox terrier, white with a brown spot over one eye, another is a brown and white spaniel with 1937 Peterborough tax number 504. This tag was issued for a pomeranian and the pom is known to be dead. The other dog is a brown cocker spaniel and a female. It has a Belleville tax No. 464 and issued in 1938. Owners or any other person wishing to give any of these animals a home should see the dog catcher.

92 Years Old

One of this city's oldest residents is celebrating his 92nd birthday today. He is Alfred Cummings, ABOVE, of 110 Monaghan Road. A resident of Peterborough for the past 56 years, he came to this country from England, and worked for the city for many years. A little over a year ago his wife died. They had been married for almost seventy years.

Theft Of Hound Case Adjourned

Charles Westlake, R. R. No. 2, Peterborough and Earl Mills, R. R. No. 1, Peterborough, charged with the theft and receiving of a hound, said to be the property of Arthur Johnston, V.S., had their case adjourned until Tuesday, November 29.

Alex Elliott, M.P.P., representing Mr. Westlake, took exception to the fact that the complainant Johnston had custody of the dog pending disposition of the case. He asked that the dog be given to an independent person, suggesting Dr. Thos. Johnston, inspector for the Humane Society.

Chief Newhall said the city police had nothing to do with the dog being handed over to Johnston for safe keeping. "The police in another city shipped the dog to Johnston because he is supposed to be the owner."

"This man gained possession of the dog by the simple expedient of instituting criminal proceedings," said Mr. Elliott. "Mr. Westlake is apprehensive of the welfare of the animal and wishes it placed in some other person's hands. The city of Peterborough is paying Mr. Johnston a dollar a day for the dog's keep."

Magistrate Langley said his duty was to try the case and that he had no power to make any such order as was suggested by Mr. Elliott. He pointed out Mr. Elliott had the means at his disposal to have this condition corrected if he desired.

Mr. Mills who is charged with receiving the dog knowing it to be stolen is being defended by Donald Ruddy of Whitby who was unable to be in court today.

"I am asking for a further adjournment in this case," said Mr. McElderry, the Crown Attorney, some of the witnesses are deer hunting."

"I suppose hound dogs and hunters go together," said the Magistrate as he granted the request, which was not opposed by the defence.

Charged With Robbery

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Alexander Roy, 29, today pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery and was remanded in custody until November 24 for sentence. The charge was laid after Miss Harriet MacKenzie, cashier in a coach line station on Bay street, was robbed of $25. The robbery was committed October 21.

Roy was arrested last night.

Three Charged Entering Brady's Inn

Joseph Heffernan, 220 Munro Avenue, Harry Jones, Otonabee, and John Harran, London street, were charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., today with breaking and entering Brady's Inn, Douro street on November 13th.

Heffernan, to whom the charge was first read, said he didn't understand the charge nor did he want a lawyer. He did not elect trial or plead, and Magistrate Langley advised him to get some advice as this was a serious offence. He was remanded until Nov. 1st. Jones was also remanded without election or plea.

John Harran, the third member of the trio, consented to summary trial and pleaded not guilty. He was remanded in custody until November 21st also.

Charge Dismissed

A charge against Norman Hurrle of giving liquor to Lawrence Taylor, an Indian, contrary to the Indian Act was dismissed when the Crown offered no evidence.

Bruce Freeburn, formerly of Bobcaygeon, and Charles English, Harvey township, were charged with a breach of the Excise Act before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., The charges allege that they had 30 gallons of mash in Harvey township suitable for the manufacture of spirituous liquors.

Freeburn was not represented by counsel and did not plead. English was represented by Alex Elliott, M.P.P., and pleaded not guilty. Both were remanded until November 24.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., who represented the Department of National Revenue said the case must go ahead on November 24th. Corporal Jack Woods, R.C.M.P. laid the charges and brought Freeburn back from Sudbury yesterday.

Heighington Out For Leader's Cap

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (C.P.). — A contest for the Ontario Leadership of the National Conservative Party was assured to-day with at least two—and possibly more—candidates in the running.

Wilfrid Heighington, former Toronto member of the Provincial Legislature, guaranteed a competition last night when he announced he definitely would contest the convention in December.

Up to that time an acclamation for Lieut.-Colonel George A. Drew had appeared a possibility, first after Leopold Macaulay, present Conservative House Leader, declared he would not be in the running and then after Cecil Frost, Provincial Association president, stated yesterday he had made up his mind not to be a candidate.

Two other prominent Conservatives were reported possible added entries. In Hamilton Rev. Norman Rawson said he was "very seriously considering it." A. Hollis Acres, member for Carleton, was said to be a possible candidate although last night he had nothing to say "just now." Both men indicated they might have something definite to say later.

Dr. J. B. Challies Will Visit City

Members of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada will be signally honored this month when they hold their annual dinner. It has been announced that for the first time in the history of the organization a council meeting of the institute will be held in this city on the afternoon of the same day on which the annual meeting will be held, November 26.

Dr. J. B. Challies, president, Mr. L. Austin Wright, general secretary, and the councillors will attend the annual dinner at the Kawartha club at 7 o'clock. An attendance of approximately one hundred members and guests is anticipated.

BY OREN ARNOLD

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

Read This First:

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 1

MR. ROBERT OSBORNE TOWNE, Rice Institute senior, was a man with no troubles whatsoever.

Once he had known trouble. His dad had been bankrupt in what the older people called a "depression". The net result, on Bob, had been to miss two years of schooling between high school and college. But that had been five years ago. Now Bob was on top of the well-known world.

The well-known world consisted of:

a. Rice Institute, and the incidental remainder of Texas.

b. The Rice Owls, holders of the Southwestern championship in football.

As to the university, Bob had it eating from his hand. He was, in short, president of the student body—testimonial enough to his popularity.

And as to the team—his heavy woolen gray sweater already held a blue R and two arm stripes in blue. A Rice letterman can have only three football stripes. And his senior year was yet to be played.

Oh, yes—one other thing. Perhaps it ought to be listed as "a" above, rather than "c". It was Geraldine Pomeroy, alias "Peaches She was Bob Towne's girl. Or so everybody said, including Peaches herself.

She was plenty good looking. She had a figure like—like—well, you just ought to see Peaches in a bathing suit! And old man Pomeroy has more millions than East Texas has oil wells. Yep, Mr. Robert Osborne Towne was a man with no troubles whatsoever!

He hung his curly head out a window of East Hall dormitory now and yodeled, or shrieked, or screamed: "EE-YEA-A-A-A-HAH-ah-ah-ah- YEOW!"

This translated, to whomsoever heard it, "Hello, gang, it's great to see you all again!" Many a collegian hailed back. Everybody liked handsome Bob Towne. And handsome Bob Towne liked everybody. His class once voted him the student most-likely-to-succeed; he grinned and said phooey, he had already succeeded. He not only was a shade ahead of everybody else at such fine arts as trucking and doing the big apple, but he originated dance steps of his own. Remember how "The Owl Hop" went like wildfire over Houston last winter? Bob Towne originated that. He and Peaches Pomeroy. People said Bob would go into business with Peaches' father after graduation. Bob hadn't considered that. He hadn't even proposed marriage to Peaches yet, for that matter. To Bob, the past was forgotten, the future was nebulous, the present a glorious time to live.

"Hey, you Calculus!"

"Welcome, Mistuh Bob, suh!" Calculus shouted back.

The two were greeting each other across 100 yards or so of space. Bob's room was on fith floor, East Hall Tower—most prized rooms at Rice Institute. Fifty or so lesser collegians, scattered here and there, heard their conversation. All but the freshmen knew both men.

One strange gentleman, though, heard the boisterous conversation. He was walking with a green umbrella. He wore horn-rimmed spectacles and a very serious expression. He was plainly dressed. He cocked his head to one side, looking up in appraisal of Bob Towne, and as he approched Calculus he addressed the colored man.

"Pardon," he said, "but could you tell me that student's name?"

"He ain't done nothin', Mistuh Professuh, suh."

"Oh no! No, no. I have no thought of disciplinary action whatscever. Just—ah—curious." The professor was positively blushing. Calculus noted. Calculus grinned. The Negro was keen at reading character.

"Oh, yes. Quite so. Thank you."

The Professor bowed and went his way. The colored man made a mental note to check up on him. Every September brought four or five new faces to the Rice faculty. Calculus liked to have them all pigeon-holed in his mind. He took pride in being friends with all of them, and here was one a little bit "different".

The colored man labored up the five flights of stairs, pausing every step to accept greetings from upperclassmen, to joke and laugh and enjoy himself. Finally he tapped on Bob's door, hat in hand.

Their conversation lasted half an hour. Calculus had to bring Bob up to date on campus gossip, on Houston news. Incidentally he had to take charge of Bob's cleaning and pressing, shoe shining, and such incidental services. Both enjoyed the chat. And Calculus had a special mission to complete. He led up to it as soon as he could.

"Mistuh Bob, you jes has to come over and patronize our new bizness 'stablishment, suh."

"What business? You in business?"

"Naw suh! Not me. Ah mean—ah just helps. Miss Sara Sue. Ah works in the yard and kitchen for her. She got her sign out, though."

"What sign?"

"That'n she made. We hung it two hours ago, suh. Look—you can see it down there, through yo' window. Right over the hedge. 'Tween them two bigges' ellum trees. You see?"

"Nerts, Calculus, that's a quarter of a mile. What kind of business? Who is Miss Sara Sue? What does the sign say?

"I can't say, suh."

"Didn't you hang it for her?"

"You knows I can't read, Mistuh Bob. What for you—"

"You been around Rice ten years and—"

"—fo'teen, suh—"

"—and still can't read! Calculus, I'm going to educate you if I have to torture you, you lazy, low-down—what kind of sign, Calculus?" The two were grinning. Good friends cannot insult each other in words. It's better than drawing room polish if the respect is genuine.

"Say, Bob!" He was beaming. "You heard about the new store across the street? The club, or whatever it is? There's a sign up, and an ad in The Thresher, and—,"

"That's whut I been tryin'—"

But Calculus couldn't interrupt.

"—and they say it's a red-headed cutie offering to teach a new course. Fancy that!"

"Hunh!" Bob just grunted.

"Yeah, let's go see it. Come on."

The two collegians left Calculus shining shoes, and descended to the dormitory green. Half a dozen cronies joined them. The talk was loud, rapid, gay. They had heard of the new Love Cottage, too. They all walked toward the campus third gate, thence north half a block or so and joined 15 or 30 boys and girls who were already standing there, staring. The sign on the cottage lawn read:

SARA SUE DAVIS, Inc.
—COUNSEL IN ROMANCE—
Come in.

Some of the group held copies of The Thresher, students newspaper, just off the press. Heads were huddled over the papers.

The editor really had missed his cue, for he had given front-page as usual to football and registration, whereas a three-inch publicity "brief" inside, explaining Sara Sue Davis, Inc., commanded practically all the readers' attention and comment.

No Death Penalty For Violence?

LONDON, Nov. 17.—(CP Cable.)—The House of Commons last night expressed approval of an experimental abolition of the death penalty for crimes of violence.

It carried by a vote of 114 to 89 a motion of Vyvyan Adams, Conservative, proposing the abolition for a five-year period in peacetime.

The sponsor asserted abolition in some 30 countries and states had not retarded the downward trend in crimes of violence.

Geoffrey Lloyd, Home Under-Secretary, said the government opposed the idea, declaring: "If there is any change it should be for abolition outright, and such legislation in the government's view is not justified at present."

Marriage Touches Life at Every Point, So Both the Man and Woman Must Give Their All If They Want to Make a Success of Their Venture Into Matrimony

DEAR MISS DIX—Perhaps men do expect their wives to be sort of jack-of-all-trades, but it is nothing to what women expect of their husbands. Consider: A wife expects her husband to be a financier who can not only provide a home for her when he marries her, but also to improve upon his technique after marriage so as to be able to support her and the children; give them cars, good clothes, college educations and everything that rich people have. He must be a chartered accountant who can balance her budget and tell her where the money went that she can't account for. He must be the world's greatest lover at all times and under all circumstances. He must be able to plan meals, wash dishes, take care of the baby and help out with the washing. He is expected to keep the lawn mowed, the flowerbeds weeded, to repair furniture, fix the electric lights and run the vacuum cleaner. She demands that he be a bright and shining guest and a charming and generous host; plan and design cabinets, be a good dancer, a delightful companion. If he can do a fair job at paper hanging and painting and understudy the plumber, so much the better. Also, he must love his in-laws, dote on having his wife's family always under foot. He must be able to lend her father money and call his wife's temper nerves. He must always tell her how beautiful and young she looks. Never criticize the cooking or complain when she feeds him out of paper bags and tin cans on her bridge afternoons. Inasmuch as Admirable Crichton left no lineal descendants, is it any wonder that so many women complain of being "disappointed" in their husbands?

H. A. S.

ANSWER:

It is because both men and women expect the impossible of their mates that marriage is so often a failure. A man isn't content to have a wife who is a living picture and who satisfies his cravings for beauty. He expects her to be a kitchen utensil also and keep his tummy filled with good food. A woman doesn't consider that she has all that is coming to her in the way of a husband when she gets a good provider. She demands that he be a romantic lover who will supply her with white hyacinths as well as limousines.

How husbands and wives get that way about marriage, goodness only knows. For they don't expect any other condition in life to be perfect except marriage, nor do they expect any other human being to possess all of the charms and virtues except the men and women they marry.

But they do. And when John discovers that Mary is a good cook but a poor conversationalist, and Mary finds out that John is more interested in the stock market than he is in the higher life, they rend the air with their wails and disappointment.

In reality, the curious thing about marriage is not that husbands and wives fail to be the universal geniuses that their mates expect of them, but that marriage seems to develop an uncanny versatility in them. We daily witness the spectacle of quite ordinary appearing women who do make good as cooks and baby tenders, sick nurses and financiers, social secretaries, hostess and club women, penny-pinchers and shopping experts. And they have a thousand other sidelines necessitated by the complicated job of wife and mother.

And we also see plenty of men who not only earn the living for their families, but who also can lend a hand in the kitchen, change the baby, fix the radio, put a new washer on the tap, grow prize tulips, take the children to the zoo on Sundays, play a good game of bridge and still have time to keep their wives in love with them. Perhaps it is because marriage touches life at every point and calls for all that a man and woman can give to it that it builds, strengthens and rounds out character, and keeps married people from becoming the narrow specialists that so many old maids and old bachelors are.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a 22-year-old man with three remaining years in a six-year course in university technical and business training still before me. Hence marriage is unthinkable for me for at least three years. This being the case, my problem is one of ethics. Am I despicable for seeing a girl about once a week when I have no intention of ever marrying her? I have been told exactly that. Am I likely to prevent girls meeting eligible mates? I have not spoken of love to these girls. On the contrary, I have told them to go out with other boys. I merely treat them with genuine respect and affection because I enjoy their company. Girls take so much for granted. They don't seem to realize that a man can enjoy their company without even thinking of marriage. What is your attitude on this subject? CONFUSED.

ANSWER:

There is no greater cad than the man who monopolizes all of a girl's time and who keeps other men away from her by being always camped in her parlor chairs; who leads her to believe that he is in love with her when he has no intention whatever of ever marrying her.

But your case is entirely different. You only go to see these girl friends of yours occasionally and you have made your position perfectly plain, that your object is NOT matrimony. Your attentions not only do not injure the girls in any way or blight their matrimonial prospects, but also must add to the young women's pleasure by giving them dates that they would not otherwise have. You must have got in a very unsophisticated circle of society if in it a man cannot take a girl to the movies without being supposed to have a passion for her, or ask her to pass the butter without its being tantamount to a proposal.

My advice to you is to watch your step, son. For if you go around with girls who are that dead set on marriage, one of them will get you before you know it.

• • • • • •

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—What financial resources should a young couple have in order to marry? N. AND B.

ANSWER:

Depends on the manner in which they are accustomed to live and how much courage and grit they have. If the man has a good steady job and they have a little nest egg in the bank for emergencies, it is enough if they are both willing to work and save.

DOROTHY DIX.

Learn Correct Form For Your Letters

Ann's baffled. After writing five charming letters, she doesn't know how to address the envelopes properly.

You're judged socially by just such matters. So to your married friend, Alice, write "Mrs. John James," never "Mrs. Alice James."

Address Mrs. Fellows, too, even though she's a widow, by her husband's name—Mrs. George Low Fellows.

Address an envelope to a priest, "The Rev. John Riley," never "Father Riley"—although you may begin your letter "Dear Father Riley." A Protestant clergyman is addressed as "The Rev. Howard Riff."

Our 32-page booklet gives rules and correct forms for all types of letters—business and social. Tips on improving your vocabulary. Sample letters as a stimulus to gay, easy letters.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, November 18.

The astral operations, both by lunar and mutual direction, point to very exciting situations and conditions on this day. There may be much commotion and agitation but little achievement, although much might be accomplished by restraint, calm deliberation and sagacious handling of vexatious or tumultuous contacts. Impetuosity, sarcasm and enmity may bring opposition from elders and powerful friends, with financial loss as a consequence.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which results and achievements depend on individual sagacity, calmness, sound judgment, and the control of inherent tendencies to acrimony, rash tongue and temper, with impetuous and inconsiderate conduct. These aggravate opposition from friends and elders, resulting in loss of funds, prestige, and peace of mind. Precaution and moderate behavior are recommended for happy culminations.

A child born on this day may be well endowed with talents and energies for success, being studious, industrious, and of fine creative ability. But its proclivity to caustic and intemperate words and deeds may prove defeating factors to its success.'

GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TRELL

Sure enough, Hanid and Knarf heard strange animal sounds from the Natural History books on the bookshelf in the playroom.

"I told you there was a whole menagerie in those books," Knarf said. "You didn't believe me."

"I didn't think book-animals could make sounds. They aren't like real animals, you know."

"They look just like real animals."

"Those are just pictures of them."

"And some of them—some of the pictures — are very queer." The shadow-boy paused. "I don't think anyone has ever seen animals like them before. One of them looked like a great big lizard—as big as an elephant."

Big as Elephant.

"A lizard as big as an elephant! I never heard of such a thing!"

At that moment the tin soldier,

"There's an animal in that book."

who had been standing quietly on guard at the door of the playroom with his musket over his shoulder, said: "What's that you just said?"

"I said that there's an animal in that book which looks like a lizard and is as big as an elephant," Knarf answered.

"And I said that I never heard of such a thing," Hanid put in. "Have you?"

"No. But it had better stay right in that book. I won't have it coming out into this playroom; no sir, not while I'm on guard."

"You mean you're not afraid of it?" Knarf said.

"Certainly not! I don't care how big it is. With my trusty musket, I can drive away any animal."

"Oh!" said Knarf. "I have an idea."

"What kind of an idea?" Hanid asked quickly. She could tell that Knarf had some sort of mischief in his mind.

"Oh"—just something. I was just thinking....if—well! I guess the tin soldier wouldn't care to go with me, anyhow."

"Go with you where?" the tin soldier asked. "What do you mean? Answer me, sir."

Knarf smiled. "All I meant to say was that the best way to keep that big lizard where it belongs is to go in and find it and chase it way back into the woods. But I can't go alone. The tin soldier would have to come with me with his trusty musket."

"Sir," said the tin soldier in a loud voice, "I'll go with you! Lead the way!"

Looking Back On This Date

Now that defence has again become a live political issue in Canada, and there is every indication of a revival of the organized opposition to any Canadian participation in the wars of the empire, it may not be out of place to recall a speech made by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen at Hamilton 13 years ago, on November 16, 1925. That speech, it may be remembered, caused considerable criticism of the then Conservative leader and some protests from the Old Tory wing of the party, because he advocated that in the event of another war the people of Canada should be consulted before troops left this country.

It is not clear whether Mr. Meighen proposed consultation of the people by plebiscite or by an election; but it was presumably the former. There are two versions of this famous "Hamilton speech." The Canadian Press report (published Nov. 17), prepared in advance by, and supplied by Mr. Meighen, read:

"The government would have to act on its judgment, but before there was anything in the way of participation involving the dispatch of troops the will of the people of Canada should first be obtained. I have myself not the slightest fear, but that, if danger threatened Canada again, this country would respond as it responded in 1914. But I believe in future it will be best for all that, before a government takes a step so momentous as the dispatch of troops, the will of the people should be known."

But Mr. Meighen's actual words were different. Here is a verbatim report, taken in shorthand by Mr. W. E. Elliott of the Sentinel-Review, Woodstock:

"Never did we even think of dispatching from this country any troops at all save after authority of parliament was obtained, and never would any government in the future. I do not anticipate that within the term of this generation we will ever be called upon to enter into war again, and I earnestly hope our children and our children's children will be spared from the curse of war. But if ever the time should come when the spectre of 1914 should appear again, I believe it would be best in the interests of all that not only should parliament be called and the approval of parliament given, but the decision of the government, which necessarily would have to be come to promptly, should be submitted to the will of the people, and the will of the people be given before we go to the extent of troops leaving the shores of our country.

"This would not mean any delay. Indeed, in my judgment it would contribute greatly to the effort and unity of our country in the months which should follow. Delay in the stress of war might be fatal. I hope I make myself clear. If the time came when a crisis came and it became necessary for the government to come to a decision quickly, it should act upon it and go on with its preparations, but before that decision was put into execution to the extent of dispatching troops from Canada into other lands, I believe it would be better in the interests of our country that the consent of the people as well as a party should in a general election first be obtained."

Extensive Road Improvements In United Counties Please Members Of The Council

(By A Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, Nov. 17.—Compliments to A. S. Miller, county road superintendent, and Reeve J. C. Cummiskey, Manvers, chairman of the county road commission, on the extensive improvements this year in the condition of the roads under their supervision, were expressed by members of the counties council Wednesday.

Reeve H. Morrow, Murray township, explained that the large expenditure of $7,760 on the Trenton-Wooler pavement had been highly effective. This road, originally paved by contract let by the united counties, and the subject of recurrent complaint, was in better condition now than at any other time since faulty construction became apparent. Ratepayers in the southeastern district were well satisfied with the work done this year.

Reeve J. N. Greenaway, Port Hope, said he had never seen the roads of Northumberland and Durham in as good condition as they are today. Other members congratulated Reeve Cummiskey on the manifest results of his efforts as chairman of the county roads commission.

Mr. Miller said he would have four snow plows ready for use this winter. Reeve C. Burrison of Hamilton township conveyed the appreciation of ratepayers along the Harwood-Gore's Landing road, much used by summer visitors, for its good condition, and altogether the road department was warmly praised for its efficient labors this year.

Superintendent's Report

Mr. Miller reported expenditure of $77,620.80 from December 1, 1937 to October 31, 1938; on maintenance, $42,351.91; construction $12,656.89; general, $22,612.

The council appropriated $90,000, but that amount cannot be spent. The counties raise $45,000. About $5,000 of this amount is set aside for rent, insurance, compensation and bank interest on which no subsidy is received from the government. Only $40,000 is left for road improvement, a subsidy of $40,000 is added, making the total $85,000.

City estimates for 1938 included $10,700 for calcium chloride used in stabilizing and dust laying of county roads. We spent $7,387.68 on stabilizing 42 miles of road and $1,647.92 on dust laying 10 miles, including all hamlets, a total of $9,035.60.

Machinery purchased amounted to $11,151.44; a f.w.d. dump truck cost $7,720 and a G.M.C. dump truck $2,930.55. They were purchased to replace worn out gravel trucks and were selected with the assurance they would plow snow.

Cost Of Crushed Gravel

Crushed gravel placed on the road cost us 66c a cubic yard in Seymour, including 8c a cu. yd. for gravel. In Percy from our own pit the cost on the road was 62c a cubic yard. The amounts were 3,619 cubic yards and 5,888 cubic yards respectively. Two 5' by 10' concrete box culverts were built on Road No. 26 Brighton township at a cost of $1,603.56. A 250-foot span steel bridge in Campbellford and a 100-foot steel bridge on the Manvers-Cartwright boundary were painted at a cost of $446.65 and $177.62 respectively. Corrugated iron culverts costing $2,006.94 were purchased. At Orono 34,833 feet of snow fence was manufactured at a cost of $4.23 per 100 feet, amounting to $1,476.90 or about $4.75 delivered. Snow fence manufacturers charge $9.50 delivered. We bought 2,400 six-foot posts for this fence at a cost of $894.30.

Pavement Repairs.

Patching pavement costs were $3,124.15; surface treatment of 8½ miles of pavement in Murray township cost $5,558.08 and 2¾ miles in Cavan $1,544.36.

Manvers, Clarke, Cramahe, Haldimand, Alnwick, Newcastle, Hastings, Cobourg and the Department of Highways used our power graders on their roads at $1.50 an hour. We also rented them to the Department of Transport and a contractor at $2 an hour. Our return for these rentals, the sale of calcium chloride and refund of gasoline tax totalled $2,180.88.

Brushing and weed cutting cost $3,544.15. Brushing on all roads was not completed. This expenditure was heavy owing to the fact that at least three years had elapsed since the road allowances were cleared of brush. Two snow plows and wings to complete our snow fighting equipment have yet to be purchased."

Where Money Was Spent

Distribution of expenditure was summarized as follows: Brighton township, $536.34; Blarke, $1,400.38; Cavan, $4,520.31; Cramahe, $3,610.17; Cartwright, $1,748.56.

Darlington, $2,047.07; Hope, $2,574.45; Haldimand, $970.87; Hamilton, $3,591.27; South Monaghan, $975.72; Murray, $7,760.95.

Manvers, $463.59; Percy, $6,711.30; Seymour, $6,193.31; boundary and county bridges, $662.62; Brighton village $29.36; Colborne, $226.39.

Campbellford bridge, $467.80; Cobourg, $1.30; Bowmanville, $143.60; Hastings, $361.60; Millbrook, $107.58; Newcastle, $5.50.

Snow fences distributed over the county road system, $1,476.90; snow fence posts, $672.15; gasoline, oil and grease used in maintainers, $1,858.92.

Two Cars Collide

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17.—The first accident of the season attributable to icy streets occurred here late Wednesday. Don Free was unable to bring his car to a stop when T. Woule of Warkworth, who was proceeding east on Bridge street made a left turn to go north on Front. The two cars collided at the intersection and although the Woule car sustained a broken windsh and bent running board little damage was done to Free's car.

3 Barrel Apple Gift Brings Cow As Return Courtesy

Sparta, Ont., Nov. 17 (CP)

JAMES McDOUGALL, Maple Creek, Sask., farmer, extended many courtesies to W. H. Mills, Liberal M.P. for Elgin, when Mr. Mills visited the West last year. The parliamentarian reciprocated by sending the farmer three barrels of apples.

Mr. McDougall came right back at Mr. Mills and advised him he enjoyed the apples. In return, he is sending a 1,000-pound Hereford cow to Mr. Mills' granddaughter. Says Mr. Mills: "Jim McDougall is the big-hearted kind who is always striving to go you one better."

Society Plans To Make Quilt

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17. — Members of St. Andrew's Y.P.S. will meet at the home of Mrs. Arthur Collette where they are to begin work on a patch work quilt it was arranged at their meeting held on Monday. When completed the quilt will be disposed of in some manner to raise money for the general fund of the society. Mrs. P. H. Macmillan, the president, presided for the business portion of the meeting during which Miss Violet Patrick, devotional convener was placed in charge of next week's meeting.

The programme for the evening was in charge of Miss Dorothy Reynolds and opened with a violin solo by Jack Bell. Miss Frances Hendy gave a vocal solo and Miss Merle Black contributed a reading, "Success." The concluding number was a piano solo by Mrs. M. McFarlane. Rev. B. Simpson Black closed the meeting with prayer.

St. John's Y.P.U.

An interesting address on Home Mission was a feature of the St. John's Young People's Union meeting held on Monday. The president, Miss Ruth Palliser, was in charge during the business and devotional periods and Miss Margaret Bateson was in charge of the programme. A missionary skit was acted by Misses Florence Bertrand, Betty Blake and Mazo Blake. Following this was a piano solo by Miss Eleanor Armour and the topic taken from the second chapter of the study book by Miss Grace Payne. At the conclusion members played a number of games and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (CP)

ERNEST THOMPSON SETON, Canadian - born naturalist and author who consistently defends the North American Indian as superior to the white man, proposed today that the United States government give back to the Sioux their old buffalo hunting grounds, consisting of South Dakota, Nebraska, eastern parts of Montana and Wyoming.

This area was guaranteed to the tribe in 1868 by a government treaty with Red Cloud, a major Sioux chief, Mr. Seton said, "but the treaty was broken, as were all the treaties with the Indians."

"Farmers out there haven't been doing so well," Mr. Seton said. "They would be glad to sell their land to the government, and the money the government would be spending for it is owed to the Indians, anyway.

"The land could be stocked with buffalo and the Indians could hunt and live the way they did before the white man ever came. That would solve the whole problem of the plains Indian."

Mr. Seton conceded that certain details of the plan would offer difficulty and would have to be worked out. For instance, fences would have to be constructed around large cities, like Omaha and Cheyenne, to keep the buffalo from roaming the streets.

Bingo Party Held In Campbellford

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17.—The first bingo party ever to be held in Campbellford was staged by members of the A.Y.P.A. in the Parish Hall on Wednesday evening. The affair was adjudged a complete success as people from all parts of the district attended. Twenty-five prizes were given away during the evening which also afforded an excellent opportunity for Rev. T. S. Gault who took over his duties as rector this week, to meet members of his congregation. Rev. Gault arrived in Campbellford on Tuesday and it is understood that he will take up residence in the rectory early next week.

Loyalists Drive For Power Plants

HENDAYE, France, Nov. 17—(AP)—Spanish government forces, thrust back to the Ebro River's east bank, today stepped up a new offensive farther north in an attempt to recapture the Tremp power plants which formerly fed Barcelona.

The plants, taken by the insurgents April 7, also supplied power for many war industries of the Barcelona region. Tremp is 40 miles northeast of Lerida in Northern Catalonia.

While militiamen moved toward Tremp, other government forces prepared to launch attacks along the Serge River where they have established a sector 12 miles long and three miles deep in a ten day offensive.

The insurgents cleaned up the Ebro River's west bank and declared they had taken many prisoners in the Sierra de Fatarella, near the Ebro's bend. Government dispatches, however, said "neither a single soldier nor a single rifle remained in the enemy's power."

Chicken Supper Is Held At Marmora

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Nov. 17.—The annual bazaar and chicken supper under auspices of the Sacred Heart church drew a large attendance to the town hall on Tuesday, the opening day of this three-day event.

The heavily laden tables staffed by the good ladies of the congregation, provided an appetizing meal for a well satisfied crowd of approximately four hundred. Visitors were present from Stirling, Campbellford, Madoc and Peterborough. Noticed in the gathering were Rev. Father J. V. Meagher, Stoco, Rev. Father J. McCauley, Campbellford and Rev. Father A. J. Carey Read.

Misses Gertrude Moloney and Margaret Sullivan were in charge of the fancy good stall and Mrs. James Brady and Mrs. Hannah Auger, as in former years, looked after the sale of home cooking.

Lakefield Pupils Beautify Grounds

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 17.—The first snowfall obligingly delayed just long enough for the pupils of the Lakefield public school, under the supervision of Miss Aileen Youpg, agricultural teacher, to get their recently received consignment of bulbs, planted.

This is the first year that agriculture has been taught in the public school here and the older pupils of the school are entering into the work with a will a taking a great deal of pains in the task of beautifying the school grounds which has been their fall project.

For some years now the lawn just north of the school has presented a disreputable appearance, altogether out of keeping with the fine building. This year, this strip of hardpan has been dug up by the pupils, fresh soil has replaced the rocky clay and as a final touch, flower beds have been added and a number of tulip, crocus and tigerlily bulbs planted.

Moscow has recruited a song and dance group of 1,000 members.

Miss I. Madill Reviews Study Book

Miss Irene Madill interestingly reviewed the first chapter of the study book, "The World in Canada" in which Mr. McKay tells of the work and good citizenship among the peoples of the "church of all nations," showing encouraging and helpful service by European and Asiatic members in their new land, at the meeting of the Elizabeth Parker Evening Auxiliary. The meeting was held in Trinity Church Parlors, with Miss Ola Gow's group in charge.

A tribute to the memory of Mrs. Parker, whose great work and service as president of the Auxiliary for 23 years is remembered with great appreciation by the members, was paid by Miss Olive Armstrong.

Business in which plans for the coming year were discussed was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ray Brown, and was followed by a social half hour.

Young People Hear Humorous Debate

A humorous debate entitled, "Resolved that there is more nourishment in the hole of a doughnut than in the fragrance of Limburger Cheese," given at the Tuesday meeting of the young people of St. James' United Church, caused much laughter and hilarity as the various stages of the debate progressed.

The meeting opened with a short devotional service conducted by the president, Miss Gladys Langton. A solo was given by Miss Margaret Smart, and Mr. Ashton Fife was pianist. The program was then turned over to Eric Douglas, convenor for the evening, when Christian Culture and Dramatics were discussed.

Coffee and doughnuts served by the social committee brought the evening to a successful conclusion.

Entertains On Fourth Birthday

Little Arlene Jarvis, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jarvis, 715 George Street, entertained a few of her playmates on Wednesday afternoon at a birthday supper.

The supper table was prettily decorated in Christmas colors, and candles in red holders topped the birthday cake, which was iced in pink, red, and white.

The small guests were: Beverly Bell, Jane Jarvis, Patsy Boyd, Geraldine Jarvis, Ruth Telford, Marjorie Brown.

We Noticed

....That muffs are definitely in for this season, judging from the number seen at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

◇ ◇ ◇

....Trimmings of artificial flowers are a fashion novelty. They may be worn on the head, made into a collar, or used as a trim for cuff or pocket

◇ ◇ ◇

....Skirts are short and easy to walk in. Their length varies a little, but nearly all have a clever pleat in front to enable easy walking.

◇ ◇ ◇

....Paris dressmakers are definitely in favor of wide, glamorous skirts for evening....cloth evening wraps are extremely good this season.

FRIVOLOUS But PRACTICAL

By ALICE ALDEN

IN THIS season of tiny hats and mammoth handbags, Tippy-Tippy hats and Coblentz bags come into their own. Paris has nothing smarter or more practical to show than these domestic designs that are of the mode and frivolous, yet eminently practical. Tippy-Tippy comes through with grand miniature models for sports, general wear and dress wear.

Una Merkel, above, chooses a trig little Alpine Tippy-Tippy that is made of felt with a narrow band of grosgrain trimming the double-rolled felt crown and holding the tiny ostrich feather in place. The bag has clever gussetz so that it can hold a lot and still look slim.

The other Tippy-Tippy is worn by Francine Bordeux. It is big in sophistication and dash. It is of fine fur felt, with velvet outlining its miniature crown and repeated again in the binding. The veil is tied in back. The huge Coblentz-designed bag is extra smart when worn dangling at one side.

Centreville Bride and Groom Are Honored

CENTREVILLE, Nov. 17.—A large gathering of friends and neighbors assembled in the Municipal Hall of South Monaghan on Wednesday night to honor Mr. and Mrs. Harry Larmer, who were married recently, Rev. H. R. Williams was chairman.

Following the singing of "O Canada" an interesting program was given: Violin solo, Allan Brown; reading, Jean Holden; speech, Fred Barnard; reading, Mary Larmer; violin solo, Allan Brown.

The bride and groom were called to the platform and were presented with an address read by Reggie Perrin, and two beautiful chesterfield chairs by Reggie Achison. The groom thanked the friends for the gift and invited them to their home.

Refreshments were served and was followed by dancing.

Miss Margaret Brown, after visiting at the home of her father, Mr. W. W. Brown, has returned to Queen's University, to resume her studies.

Miss Jessie Deyell has returned from visiting her brother, Archie, of Sudbury.

Mrs. Ronald Isbister has returned home from visiting her sister in Detroit.

Mrs. John McKague after spending nearly three weeks with her son at Kitchener, has returned home.

Master Cecil Downs, pupil at S. S. No. 3, South Monaghan, won third prize in the public oratorical contest for Northumberland, and was presented with a silver cup donated by the late Fred J. McArthur of Cobourg.

Mr. Ronald Isbister spent last week with friends in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kimball of Keene visited Mr. and Mrs. James Falls over the weekend.

Mr. Joseph Clark of Saskatchewan is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph White.

Upswept Curls In Farm 'Mums

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 — The "upswept effect may be a trying task for hair-dressers but it appears to be a simple feat for Mother Nature in the display of curly-headed chrysanthemums on view here at the Experimental Farm.

Some are curled up, some curled down, and others are just shaggy in the 40,000 heads forming a 200-foot wall of 'mums, which range from minute pom-poms to toy balloon-sized "Majestic" exhibition varieties, in the annual production of the horticultural branch of the agricultural department.

The master size of exhibition types have been named after celebrities, Sir William Clark, a former British high commissioner to Canada, is a bronze bloom whose petals curve round so tightly the deeper rust tone on the inner side of the petal is scarcely seen.

Lord Willingdon is a butter yellow mass of ringlets, the size of a man's head. Lady Willingdon is a smaller orange bloom with slender-pointed petals opening from a golden "cushion" centre.

Less pretentious blooms are the anemone cluster single 'mums with as many as 10 blooms to one stem, varying in colors from pale cream to deep orchid and American beauty. Of the 140 varieties displayed this year 40 have been developed through research carried on at the Farm. Three years are required to develop and perfect a new variety.

"Y.W." Observes Week of World Fellowship

Senior members and friends of the Y.W.C.A. met Wednesday evening with Board and Committee members to remember together the world link of the Young Women's Christian Association through the Week of World Fellowship and Prayer.

Mrs. F. M. Somerville, convenor of the Educational Committee, presided, and read a letter from the World's President, C. M. van Asch va Wijck. Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, president of the local association, spoke of the chain of sixty nations linked together through the Y.W.C.A., and of the feeling of sympathy for the countries which are suffering today. At the recent World's Council meeting at Elgin House, Muskoka, the Christian friendship shown by the delegates from countries torn by war and threats of war was an example that friendship could exist. A special call had come to all the associations that they remember Czechoslovakia, as her people are making a supreme sacrifice for peace. Moments of silent prayer followed as the different countries were remembered.

An interested audience filled the Rose Room of the Y.W.C.A. for the meeting, at which Rev. G. S. Easton of Trinity United Church was guest speaker. The Anglo - American Friendship as a basis for World Peace was the subject of Rev. Easton's fine address, in which he stated that "the first step towards World Peace is a fair and just understanding of differences, which are so apt to be misinterpreted."

Pointing to the similarities between Great Britain and the United States, the speaker remarked that such similarities go far deeper than the differences. The same religious education, language, and a common ideal of literature and of democracy form a link which helps to bind the two countries together. The first words of friendship and welcome which crossed the Atlantic cable from Great Britain to the United States, "Let us never deface this cable by messages of war or hate," was, Rev. Easton said, a symbol of the friendship which forms a link between the two countries.

The meeting was opened with The Lord's Prayer, and the hymn, "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life." A responsive scripture reading was conducted by Rev. Easton, Mrs. H. A. Mitchel, accompanied by Miss M. Clarry, sang a special arrangement of the hymn "O God, A Father Who Art Omnipotent." The hymn, "God of Our Fathers" and the benediction brought the program to a close.

Mode Recalls Mayflower Days

PARIS, Nov. 17.—One important influence introduced in the mid-season collections recalls the Mayflower days; it brings back Cromwell collars, Pilgrims hoods and demure organdie ruches. Alix contributes glamorous Puritan touches in austere black afternoon or dinner frocks with high collars topped by organdie ruffs and long sleeves ruched at the wrists accompanied by black organdie-lined coiffe hats. Bruyere and others also endorse this trend.

A contradictory influence glorifies the 1900 vamps. Alix and Lanvin are featuring 1905 evening sheath gowns with ruffled hems accentuated by a contrasting color. Alix Lelong and others stress slithy Egyptian drapes done in the 1913 maner. Flounces are seen everywhere. Pleatings are very important; in groups they often replace drapery. Pleated or gathered aprons are featured by Chanel. Francevramant and others in afternoon dresses.

Coats resembling smocks or shirts are prevalent for both day and evening. Ultra-full bloused jackets are featured by Alix, Lanvin and others. Brief bloused boleros are Francevramant.

WARM, COMFY AND PRETTY

We have to be warm and comfy come the cold weather, so we may as well be pretty, too. That is why there is such a demand for beauteous yet practical pyjamas like those shown here. Susan Hayward wears them. They are comfy blue flannel pyjamas with big patch pockets

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Charles Shaw Addresses Alumnae Dinner

Because he claimed that "exaggerated dignity is a painful liability," and that "laughter attacks prosperity as sunshine attacks plants," Charles Shaw opened his remarks at the annual dinner of the Nicholls Hospital Alumnae in the Empress Hotel on Wednesday evening with a delightfully humorous repertoire of stories.

Addressing the gathering in a more serious vein, Mr. Shaw emphasized the value of working harmoniously together, and likened the human race to a great machine in which some are the main drive; others the insignificant engine; and still others the little units which, whether under a light load o ra heavy one, must all work together by doing their part.

"Learn to know each one with whom you work," the speaker advised, "learn to understand each one with whom you serve; to respect everyone with whom you come in contact, and you will achieve new heights."

The life story of Carrie Jacobs Bond, left a penniless widow crippled by inflammatory rheumatism in her home in North Michigan; of her struggle for existence in Chicago, where she tried everything from selling hand-painted china to singing on the stage, and of her visit to California to visit friends, when she was inspired by the flaming glory of a fading sun to write the beloved song, "The End of a Perfect Day," was told to illustrate the words which appear in the creed of the Friday Night Supper Club, in which Mr. Shaw takes an active interest, "It is not easy to keep on trying, to keep out of a rut, but it always pays."

The guests, seated at tables decorated with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, were graciously welcomed by the president of the Alumnae, Mrs. Eva Breckenridge. The guest speaker was introduced by Miss Daisy Reid, and a vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Mrs. W. T. Holloway.

Guest artists were Mr. Roy Rome, who gave several exquisite violin numbers, and Miss Marguerite Rome, who accompanied at the piano. A bouquet of roses was presented to Miss Rome.

Arrangements for the bridge which was played after the banquet were in charge of the social convener, Mrs. Roy Taylor.

Among those present were: Mrs. E. M. Leeson, Superintendent of Nicholls Hospital, Miss Olive Waterman, Superintendent of Soldiers' Memorial Hospital, Orillia, Mrs. W. L. Ferguson, Mrs. W. J. Moorhead, Miss A. Dobbin, Mrs. S. O. Shields, Miss M. Weidmark, Picton, Mrs. Gordon Miller, Miss Florence Vickers, Miss Jean Paul, Mrs. F. Revoy.

FABULOUS HANDBAGS

By PRUNELLA WOOD

The more de luxe handbags of the moment seem to have a place for everything within them, everything but running water and picnic grounds.

This group was designed by Elizabeth Arden — yes, the same Arden—and there would seem to be but little need ever to go home again, once you start on your way with such handbags. TOP, LEFT, is a honey in suede, calf, lizard, patent or pin seal, fitted with gold-finished vanity and jewelled lipstick, comb, change purse and pocket for cigs and matches. Plenty of space surrounds this collection for samples, specs, hankies — all the imperishable junk of woman. TOP, RIGHT, is a velvet evening bag, also swell in metal brocade, with an enamel and rhinestone clasp. Inside are face-fixings, perfume vial and room for mad money and keys. LOWER LEFT is a travelling case with your "other face" all set in it in such a way that the bottles are always upright, whether the case is open or closed. (Only a few days 'til Christmas!). Alligator grain leather is used for the case. CENTRE, under the lady's chin, is a fitted evening bag of kitten-soft velvet or brocade, with room for your keys and stuff, plus the harmless, necessary compact, lipstick, comb—even scent.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"The child's sob curseth deeper in the silence

Dear Friends:

The other day, while walking down the street I saw a child whom stark tragedy had overtaken. She had just bought an ice-cream cone, and as she ran to join her mother, she gripped it so very tightly that it broke in the middle and fell on the sidewalk.

And as I passed her face was all screwed up into the most woeful crying. Her mother was naturally annoyed, and said she could not have another.

I was so sorry I could have bought one for the child myself, but have learned by bitter experience to keep hands off, and voice still. But as I went on my way, I hoped that mother would relent and give the child another chance.

For don't we all have a tendency to grip the things that will bring us happiness too tightly? We think the harder we hold it, the less likely are we to lose it.

But, like the little child with the cone, it sometimes breaks in the middle and falls to earth, gets soiled with mud and trodden underfoot by the passers-by.

If only we were taught to have a lighter grip on the things of life, then tragedy would not overtake us so often. Love must be held lightly yet firmly, else it escapes from us.

And so many other things are like that, not to hold forever, but just for a little while. Nothing is permanent, yet we refuse to believe that, and so we get hurt.

Friendship held too tightly will escape us, for none like to feel that they are bound too much. Marriage must not be taken too seriously, else it defeats the very thing it was intended for, the joint happiness of two people.

And how can there be happiness for two, when both must live by the will of one? How can it last unless both are happy in it? It cannot be done.

We accumulate so much learning as we go through life, from schools, and churches, and contact with others. But we never accumulate the proper learning of how to get the best out of life.

You might say: "what is the best, Roberta? Is it this, or is it that, or could it be the other thing?"

It would be, I think, training how to use our brains to the best of our ability. As it is we are pushed here, and shoved there, spuare pegs in round holes, and round pegs in square holes, so no wonder there is a muddle.

It is only later in life we realize that simple things are best, but before we have come to that, we have passed through many kinds of hell, and suffered much unnecessary tortures.

We look for the perfect friend, with no perfection in ourselves, then wail because we have not found what we sought. Far better try to rise to our level.

We idealize things, instead of looking at them as they are. We grab and break so many fine things in life, in our greed for a little happiness, then wonder why this had to happen to us.

And so, life is more often a tragedy where it should be so pleasant. We buoy ourselves up as if our lives will go on forever, the young thinking youth will be always with them, and the older thinking they have still many years before them. Try taking things a little lighter, and see the difference.

Your Friend, ROBERTA.

Tested Favorite Recipes
(By MARY MOORE)

The dessert made from the following recipe was the first frozen cream made in a mechanical refrigerator I had tasted that did not have frozen ice crystals through it—it was perfectly smooth—and delicious.

MAPLE PARFAIT (as promised two weeks ago).

Three-quarters cup maple syrup, 1 pint heavy cream, 3 egg whites. Cook maple syrup until it threads (when allowed to drip from tip of spoon); pour slowly over stiffly beaten whites and beat until cold. Then fold into thickly whiped cream. Pour into freezing tray of mechanical refrigerator or into small paper cups and freeze without stirring. This is good alone with lemon cookies or with a topping of whipped cream and chopped nuts or whole pecans.

"Treasure Hunt" Feature Of Shower

In compliment to Miss Freda Field, whose marriage to Mr. Frederick Allen Lockhart is to take place on Friday morning in St. George's Anglican Church, a happily-arranged miscellaneous shower was given Wednesday evening, with Mrs. P. Gray and Mrs. H. Sargin-son as co-hostesses at the former's home on Murray street.

Prettily wrapped gifts were hidden about the room, and had to be discovered by the bride-elect in a treasure hunt that caused lots of fun.

Games were played during the evening, and prizes won by Mrs. W. Whaley, Mrs. L. Thomas, Miss Eleanor Brown, and Mrs. H. Sargin-son. Tea was served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Jean Sargin-son and Miss Norma Gray.

Mirrors should be cleaned with.. special care? If moisture gets on the backing there will be heavy bills to meet for re-silvering.

Enquiry Column
Conducted by
Mrs. MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I have read your interesting page for ever so long and have tried many of your recipes to the delight of my family. However, as the Christmas season is fast approaching I am enclosing a favorite cookie recipe which is different than the recipe published by a similar name, and which you may like to try some time.

Last year I made your Emem's Dark Fruit Cake for Christmas and took some with me while visiting my people in the States and I certainly received many compliments on my delicious Christmas cake, but I gave you credit for it. I do hope you continue your good work for years to come.—Mrs. J. P.

Lebkuchen
(contributed by Mrs. J.P.)

Boil together until it forms a syrup 1 lb. honey, 2 lbs. brown sugar. While warm add 2 lbs. brown sugar, 6 eggs (one at a time), and stir one-half hour. Add ½ lb. blanched almonds, ¼ lb. each of chopped citron, lemon peel, orange peel, 4 teaspoons cinnamon, 4 tablespoons baking powder and enough flour to make a stiff dough. Let stand overnight. Roll out, cut and place almond on top of each cookie and bake. These cookies are hard at first but soften and flavor improves after made a week or so.

ANSWER: Thanks so much for that mouth-watering recipe. Cookies made from it will definitely be among our Christmas goodies and I hope many of our readers'. Your I am a dyed-in-the-wool Canadian. Personal note was very pleasant, but Your guess is partially right though for we lived in Missouri for two years when we first were married. Do write again, and let us be of service to you.

QUESTION: Thanking you very much for recipe for mustard pickles which were very nice indeed and also very economical. We always like to see the cookery page as we find it very useful. We have been readers of your paper for years. Thanking you again.—Mrs. E. R.

ANSWER: You are most welcome and shall be at any time we can help you in the future.

QUESTION: Would you please publish in the cookery page recipe for Spaghetti in Tomato Cheese Sauce serving 6 helpings, also recipe for quick tapioca pudding. Thanking you.—Mrs. McD.

ANSWER: Thank you for your letter.

Spaghetti With Tomato Cheese Sauce

Boil ½ lb. spaghetti in at least 3 quarts water with 1 teaspoon salt for 10 minutes, no more. Drain without breaking. Place spaghetti in buttered baking dish, and pour over three cups tomato juice (or strained canned tomatoes) which has been mixed with ½ cup dry old Canadian cheese. Add another ¼ cup grated cheese to ½ cup dry crumbs and mix together well, adding a little salt to the crumbs and sprinkling salt over spaghetti before crumbs are spread over it. Sprinkle top with paprika and bake at least 1 hour in very slow oven, not more than 300 deg. Fahr. If it is necessary to keep this meal waiting add more tomato juice or hot water to the spaghetti.

Tapioca Cream Pudding (quick)

Scald 2 cups milk in top of double boiler, sprinkle in 1½ tablespoons quick tapioca and cook 20 minutes or until tapioca is transparent. Beat the yolks of 2 eggs and add one-third cup sugar and sprinkle a shake of salt over them. Pour the tapioca mixture into the egg mixture gradually, return all to double boiler and stir until it thickens. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and fold the hot pudding into them. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into mould to chill. Turn out on round plate and put border of whipped cream around base or serve with cream in sherbet glasses.

We hope you like these recipes and that we can help you again.

QUESTION: We are very much interested in your page but I have never seen your recipe for Sour Dough pancakes, the kind you set overnight with wheat and buckwheat flour. Thanking you.—Mrs. F. G. S.

ANSWER: Thank you for your letter. The envelope you mentioned enclosing was left out so I am hoping you will find this recipe on the page.

Buckwheat Cakes

One-third cup fine bread crumbs, 2 cups scalded milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ yeast cake, ½ cup lukewarm water, 1¾ cups buckwheat flour, 1 tablespoon molasses. Pour milk over crumbs, and soak 30 minutes; then add salt, yeast cake which has been dissolved in the lukewarm water, and buckwheat, about 1¾ cups or enough to make a batter thin enough to pour. Let rise overnight; in the morning stir in the molasses and ¼ teaspoon soda stirred into ¼ cup lukewarm water. Cook same as any griddle cakes, on well kept griddle. If you save ½ cup batter it will raise another mixing and yeast cake will not be needed. We hope you like this and that we can help you again.

TRY

Haliborange is a concentration of Halibut Liver Oil and the juice of fresh oranges. It has double the A and D vitamin strength of Cod Liver Oil. It is the finest Food Tonic that you can take to build up resistance to coughs and colds, because it is rich in vitamins A, D and C. Vitamins A and D are body-building, bone-forming and germ-resisting. Vitamin C protects against scurvy. Haliborange has no fishy taste or odour whatsoever, but is perfectly delicious to taste.

In order that you may taste and test Haliborange Free of Charge and know beforehand that you will like it, go to your druggist and get a 5-oz. bottle with the sample bottle attached. Try the sample for tasting. Then, if you don't like it, take the 5-oz. bottle back to the druggist and he will return your money in full—75c. The 5-oz. bottle contains about two weeks' treatment.

Millbrook Presbyterian Supper Draws Over 400 Guests

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Nov. 17.—The annual fowl supper, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian Church, held in the basement on Tuesday evening, drew more than four hundred guests, and had a gate receipt of something over two hundred dollars.

The president of the Aid, Mrs. J. R. Thompson was assisted by an army of willing workers in looking after the service of the guests, and with other details, table convenors being: Mrs. S. E. Eakins and Miss Mina Gibson; Mrs. Alex Miller and Mrs. J. N. McGill; Mrs. H. A. Kerr and Mrs. I. W. Larmer. H. A. Kerr was cashier.

The program began promptly at eight o'clock, with Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., as the genial chairman, and the accompanists of the evening were Mr. L. Unitt and Miss Mary Burnham. Visitors from Peterborough who delighted the audience with their Hawaiian guitar selections were Misses Velma Scott, and Jean McElwain, who have been heard on other occasions in Millbrook, and always with much pleasure.

Variety Program

Orval Wainman contributed vocal solos, including "The Cathedral in the Pines"; "Smilin' Through"; "Did Your Mother Come From Ireland?" and "My Blue Ridge Mountain Home." Readings given by Miss Helen Carscadden, of Lindsay, were a highlight of the program, her numbers being: "Sister's Wedding," and "Don't you wish you were a man?" As usual, Miss Velma Staples' readings brought insistent demands for a recall, this fact being also true of all the artists of the evening; Miss Staples' number, "Nora and the twins," was given with marked dramatic ability, as was likewise the recall, "Larry O'Dee," and the selections on part two of the program, "An old woman of the roads" and "In Flanders' Fields," drew enthusiastic applause from the listeners.

Miss Ruth Thorndyke, who introduced songs of human interest, won an outstanding place with her number, "Little Lady Make Believe," in which she was assisted by little June Miller, costumed to suit the part, and carrying a big doll; the second number was "Little Old Lady," with June again dressed, and acting out, the title role, while the concluding selection, "The Kid in the three-cornered pants," brought prolonged applause.

Miss Leatha Rowland is always a popular entertainer, her number being "Rural Infelicity," with "Nothing Suited" as an encore, and Miss Carscadden's concluding reading was "Aunt Doleful's Visit," the National Anthem bringing the program to a close after the Misses Scott and McElwain had played "Good Night, Ladies."

Some geese and baking, not used for the supper, were afterward sold to individual buyers, thus adding to the gross receipts of the evening.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

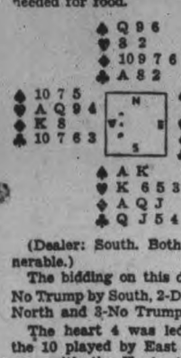
"The Authority on Authorities"

THAT VITAL ENTRY

FINESSES can be a luxury which you are unable to afford. If one of them necessitates giving up an entry which is needed to bring in the remainders of an entire suit, it should be forgotten. Trying it in this case would be like spending on a piece of jewelry money which is needed for food.



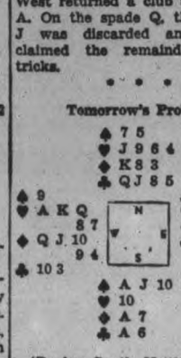
(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

The bidding on this deal was 1-No Trump by South, 2-Diamonds by North and 3-No Trump by South.

The heart 4 was led by West, the 10 played by East and South won with the K. As the dummy offered only one entry, South had to decide whether he could afford to risk the loss of the diamond finesse. He decided against it. With the heart 4 led by West and the 2 and 3 in sight, it was evident that West held only four originally and could do no great harm if he cashed the diamond K and three hearts. Declarer therefore laid down the spades A and K and followed with the diamond A and diamond Q. The latter was won by West's K and three hearts taken. West returned a club to dummy's A. On the spade Q, the diamond J was discarded and declarer claimed the remainder of the tricks.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

How should South play to make his contract of 5-Spades after the heart K has been cashed and a heart returned?

MUSKRAT RETRIEVER

DORION, Ont.—(CP).—Duck hunter Art Harris has found a new use for muskrats. While shooting near a small lake, he noticed a muskrat swimming toward a a flock of ducks. He fired and one of the ducks was hit. The muskrat grabbed the dead duck and swam to shore whereupon Harris let out a yell. The muskrat dropped his catch and the hunter picked it up.

South Africa Will Rather Fight Than Return To German African Colonies Taken In War

MARITZBURG, South Africa, Nov. 17 (AP).—General Jan Smuts Wednesday declared the Union would fight if necessary to retain her mandate over Southwest Africa, former German colony.

In a speech here the statesman termed a "sacred trust" the League of Nations mandate which was granted South Africa in 1920 to rule the 318,000 square miles of territory taken from Germany in 1915.

"We are going to defend South Africa and its vital interests, including Southwest Africa, to the uttermost," he said.

General Smuts was chief of the forces which ousted Germany from Africa as a colonial power during the Great War. Then he went to England and served as member of the War Council and later became Prime Minister of South Africa. Now he is Minister of Justice.

Speaking of Defence Minister Oscar Pirow's current visit to Europe General Smuts declared "Mr. Pirow has gone to see if he can get from the British Government and British manufacturers the means of defence which are vitally necessary for protection of the Union of South Africa.

"We have found it very difficult to move Britain so far. There is a gigantic struggle going on there for the self-defence of Britain, who is busy with her program of rearmament.

"We are far away and perhaps we are small here. They may not appreciate as fully as we do here in South Africa that we must have the equipment and mechanical armament that is necessary for defence of this most important station in the world.

"Mr. Pirow has gone to persuade our friends in Britain to help us."

No Gifts From France.

PARIS, Nov. 16 (AP).—Premier Edouard Daladier today declared his government would cede no colonies to Germany and that it would protest the colonial integrity of France as established after the Great War.

No such measure as cession of colonial territories has even been considered, said the Premier in a statement to the press designed to quiet anxious questions, especially from members of parliament.

The Chamber of Deputies committee on colonies yesterday demanded that the government make no commitments concerning the return to Germany of her war-lost colonies in response to Chancellor Hitler's demands without consulting parliament.

(Daladier's statement presumably meant he had no intention of relinquishing Togoland and Cameroons, held by France under League of Nations mandate. These have frequently been mentioned among the territories that might be handed back).

Hopes of Transfer Wane.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP-Havas).—The Times (Independent) in a lengthy editorial on the colonial issue today declared "No one at this moment feels disposed to risk the unconditional transfer of any backward race to the sort of subjection which finds favor in Germany today."

Deprecating the anti-Jewish persecutions in the Reich, the Times said no responsible British statesman ever considered such a transfer. It proposed a "common undertaking in uncivilized Africa by the powers concerned with African colonization," including the Reich, and a ban on black armies and naval bases in this colonial territory.

"The problem of the German claims to colonies could hardly be regarded as propitious at the moment for those—if there were any—who had seriously considered its solution on the lines of merely 'restoring' certain native territories in Africa," the Times stated.

"The savage German outburst against the Jews, their manifest indifference to the common promptings of humanity where a defenceless subject population is concerned, and the wave of sympathy and indignation which has swept the civilized world—all these are convincing evidence that whatever solution may eventually be found for the colonial problem will find no support nowadays if it lies in this direction.

"It is true enough that the Jews are regarded in Germany with a positive hate that would not extend to African natives. It also is true that German people, as distinguished from their rulers, may well be made ashamed and uneasy by these excesses of their party leaders. That does not affect the simple view of the case as it is held in this country.

"What does matter is that no one at the moment feels disposed to risk an unconditional transfer of any backward race to the sort of subjection which finds favor in Germany today. Nor is there any reason to suppose that so crude a transaction is contemplated by any reasonable British Minister.

Euchre Party Held By Lakefield C.W.L.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 17.—A euchre party under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Lakefield, was held in the parish hall on Tuesday evening. Five tables of euchre were played. Prizes were won as follows: Mrs. Sam Trude, ladies' first; Mrs. Martin Holland, ladies' consolation; Mr. Jack McLiggott, gentlemen's first; Mr. Martin Sullivan, gentlemen's consolation.

Dainty refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Harry Armstrong and made up of Mrs. Jack Sabatino, Mrs. T. McManus and Mrs Ambrose Coughlin.

King and Queen Drive In State To Parliament

The golden state coach en route from Buckingham Palace to the Houses of Parliament to attend the opening of parliament. The coach is pictured here as it entered the Horse Guards from the Mall. Drawn by eight of the famous Windsor Greys, Their Majesties were accompanied by tudor-uniformed Yeomen of the Guard, who walked on either side of the coach.

U.S. Protection Offer Pleases King

OTTAWA, Nov. 17—(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a press conference yesterday following the weekly cabinet meeting that president Roosevelt's pronouncement of the defence of the Americas was a further indication of the common concern and interests Canada and the United States have for their mutual welfare.

Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that the U.S. air program was designed to protect not only its own country but the 20 American republics and Canada renewed "the note of co-operation" the president struck in his Kingston, Ont., speech last summer when he said that should Canada be threatened by aggression the U.S. would "not stand idly by," the prime minister commented.

Replying to a question as to whether there was any common policy between Canada and the United States on mutual defence, Mr. MacKenzie King said that the whole question of Canada's defence policy will have to be reserved until parliament meets. Parliament is expected to convene early in January.

The prime minister referred newsmen again to his Woodbridge, Ont., speech, delivered last Aug. 20, two days after Mr. Roosevelt's Kingston speech.

In that speech, Mr. Mackenzie King said Canada appreciated the president's declaration but at the same time the Dominion knows it has its own responsibilities for maintaining Canadian soil. The Canadian people would recognize "there is no room today for shirking these responsibilities."

The Jewish refugee problem came within the scope of Mr. Mackenzie King's comment at his press conference.

He said the possibility of Canada providing homes for Jewish refugees from Germany and other countries or for German democratic refugees from Sudetenland has been before the cabinet for many weeks but has not been considered recently.

It is expected the Prime Minister will leave later today for Washington and it is assumed he will sign the new Canada-U.S. trade pact later this week with Cordell Hull, U.S. secretary of state, in the presence of Mr. Roosevelt and officials of both governments.

Win Dairy Cattle Judging

Queen Maud Is Ill

A physicians bulletin said "although her majesty has come through the operation well, the next few days cannot be without some anxiety." She is 68 years old.

Queen Maud, sister of the late King George V., became ill during her annual visit to England.

Fleming, Father Of Standard Time To Be Honored By Jewellers

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP). — Memory of Sandford Fleming, a struggling young Scot who came to Canada in 1845 an unknown but ambitious surveyor and draftsman in search of his fortune, will be honored here next week in a ceremony of universal significance.

Sandford Fleming, the unknown Scot, is the late Sir Sandford Fleming, Canadian railway pioneer and the "father of standar dtime" whose system of time zoning, outlined first in an address in Toronto 60 years ago has been adopted by every civilized nation of the world.

"Standard time" to many is something that gives way to "daylight saving time" and more sunshine during the summer months, but without it modern communication would revert to the crippling pace of the days before the world heard of Sir Sanford's "selection of a prime meridian and the division of the world into time belts."

The problem of keeping clocks and watches in time with the sun is a great one. The first trains between Montreal and Toronto were required to make four time changes during the 350-mile trip. There was difference of 23 minutes in sun time between Montreal and Toronto and 8½ minutes between Toronto and Belleville. And radio and air travel with their rigid time requirements still were things of the future in 1879.

Sent Across World.

The address given by Fleming was printed and distributed throughout the world by the Governor-General of Canada, the Marquis of Lorne, and the Czar of Russia called a conference which met in Rome, later to adjourn to Washington, where standard time was adopted by most countries of the world. Shortly afterward Fleming was knighted by Queen Victoria.

The jewellers of Canada, through the Canadian Jewellers' Association, Incorporated, will honor Sir Sandford's memory next Wednesday in the unveiling of a bronze tablet on the outside wall of the building now occupied by the Sons of England Society at Richmond Street East and Berti Street in downtown Toronto. The Canadian Institute owned the building 60 years ago when Sir Sandford outlined his scheme to the members.

When British Columbia entered the Dominion of Canada in 1871 he was appointed chief engineer for construction of a railway linking the province with the rest of Canada. He laid out the route through the Rockies now used by the Canadian National Railways.

A great educationist, too, he was Chancellor of Queen's University.

FAIRVIEW

The regular meeting of Fairview Y.P. was held Monday evening. The special speaker being Miss Frances Clarke of Peterborough, who is Christian Fellowship convener of the Peterborough Presbytery. Miss Johnston was also present from Springville and favored the Society with a solo.

The teacher training classes will begin at Fairview next Tuesday evening, November 22.

Misses Dorothy Clarke and Lillian McGregor of Lindsay highway were guests over the past weekend at the home of Ferne and Wilma Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson of Oakwood visited at the home of their niece, Mrs. Elmer Milburn, on Sunday.

Mr. Albert Reynolds has returned from the deer hunt, his party getting their full quota of deer.

Mr. Wilbert Rosborough is away on the deer hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mann entertained the members of the Gilmour B.Y.P.U. and their friends at a most delightful party last Friday evening.

Norwood Y.P.S. Hears Convention Reports

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, Nov. 17.—The weekly meeting of the Norwood Young People's Society took place on Monday night. A reading was given by Bill Buck and a report given of the convention held in George Street Church, Peterborough, a week ago by the different group leaders. Due to the absence of the president, Laura Metcalfe took charge of the business part of the meeting. Miss Metcalfe also conducted the program and was assisted by Margaret Marks, Hazel Rogers, Ormond Hogg and Wilfred Buck. A solo was given by Lila Kirk.

The Norwood United church choir was invited as guests to St. John's United Church, Campbellford, on Sunday evening. Nearly all the choir members were present and were extended a hearty welcome by Mrs. Neal of Campbellford. The numbers rendered by the choir were "Now let all the heavens adore thee," and "Lord of the Harvest," in which Earl Humphy and Earl Bongard favored with solos.

Personals.

Mr. Stan. Air is spending a few days with his grandmother, Mrs. E. J. Laing.

Miss Helen Scott entertained dinner guests on Monday evening in honor of Miss Eleanor Marks, who is leaving in a short time for Newfoundland.

Miss Virginia Herrington of Elmvale was the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean and Mr. Charles Fredericks.

Two Congregations Exchange Choirs

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 17.—The choir of St. John's Church, Campbellford, visited Norwood United Church on Sunday evening last when the two churches exchanged choirs and ministers for the evening. Rev. M. I. Robinson took the service at St. John's Church, Campbellford, and Mrs. S. Wildman was the visiting organist. The special music provided during the evening included a vocal solo by Miss Emma Watson who rendered "Teach Me To Live." Anthems sung by the choir included Beethoven's arrangement of "The Heaven's Are Telling" and "I Heard The Voice of Jesus Say" by Sebilius. There were thirty-five members present in the visiting choir.

A Queen's Heart Is Enshrined

A view of the procession during the ceremony of enshrining the heart of Queen Marie of Roumania in her favorite chapel of Stella Maris, Balcic, on the shores of the Black Sea. King Carol, son of the Queen, placed the urn containing the heart in a marble niche in the chapel in accordance with the last wishes of his mother. In the row behind the urn-bearer here the King is at LEFT with his sister, the ex-Queen of Greece and his brother, Prince Nicholas. Behind them are the Archduke and Archduchess of Hapsburg and Princess Hohenlohe. In CENTRE background, wearing light uniform and beret, Crown Prince Michael.

Bit Of Confusion

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 17—(AP).—The sergeant became confused when a Northwestern student reported that his coat was stolen from the student union building.

It was, he told the sergeant, a hairy, tweed cloak.

"Your name?" asked the sergeant.

"Harry Cloack."

"No, no, no. I got that. I mean your name."

"Cloack, Harry. Harry Cloack, C-l-o-a-c-k. Cloack."

"Why didn't you say so," sighed the sergeant. "We'll look for your hat—missing garment."

U.S.-CANADA-U.K. TRADE BARRIERS DROP

Berlin Calls Envoy From U.S.

Would Learn Opinion In America Of German Actions

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—(CP-Havas).—Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador to the United States' was ordered back to Berlin to-day "to make a report."

The communique announcing the step said Dieckhoff would come back to Berlin to inform Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop of the state of opinion in the United States and of the "singular attitude concerning internal German problems which was displayed through the various statements of President Roosevelt and other American personages."

Dieckhoff's orders followed similar instructions to the United States ambassador to Germany, Hugh Wilson, who was called back to Washington for the purpose of "making a report."

Ambassador Wilson sailed from Le Havre in the liner Manhattan today. Dieckhoff will presumably leave Washington at once.

This will not amount to a rupture of diplomatic relations because the Embassy staffs will remain in each country and carry on their normal routine.

Airways Plane Crash Kills 2

REGINA, Nov. 18 (CP)—Crash of a westbound trans-Canada Airways plane two miles west of Regina killed two airmen early today.

David Imrie, pilot, and Jack Herald, co-pilot, died when their machine crashed and burned. The westbound plane left Regina on schedule at 12.51 a.m.

An unidentified motorist reported seeing the plane fall to the ground about a mile from Pinkie. He was unable to reach the scene.

The crash was the first serious accident in the operations of the Airways organization.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police were called from Regina to investigate and examined territory west of the city.

The plane apparently crashed nose first, for two deep holes in the ground to the east of the scene showed where it hit. Wreckage of the machine was scattered over a wide area, the two big engines yards apart.

2nd Seat Lost To Government

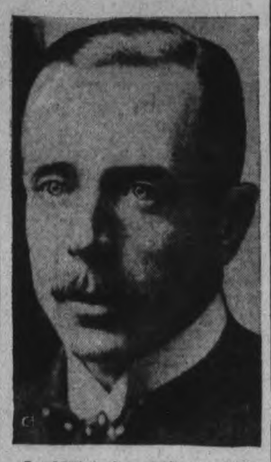
MINEHEAD, England, Nov. 18.—(AP).—Vernon Bartlett, running as Independent Progressive candidate opposed to "the dangers of Prime Minister Chamberlain's foreign policy," scored a major political upset to-day by winning a by-election for the House of Commons in Bridgwater, formerly held by the Government. His majority was 2,332.

This compared with a Conservative majority of 10,569 in the general election of 1935. The by-election in this division of Somersetshire was necessitated by the elevation to the Bench of R. P. Croom-Johnson, aPtrick Heathcoat-Amory, a young lawyer, was the defeated Government candidate.

It followed by a day Labor's victory in Doncaster where the Opposition retained its position with a majority increased by nearly 4,000 votes over the 1935 figures. The day previous, however, the Government held Walsall, in the Midlands, with its majority only slightly reduced as compared with 1935.

The world now has 61,000,000 bicycles, according to the new estimate of the British Cycle Makers' Union.

To Call Conference



Lord Winterton, chairman of the directorate of the Intergovernmental Committee on Refugees, who will call a five power conference that will probably meet in London to discuss relief measures for oppressed Jews in Germany, if the five powers involved, Great Britain, France, Brazil and The Netherlands agree to the meeting.

Ottawa Figures On Canada's Exports To U.S.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (C.P.). — Coincident with the signing yesterday of the new Canada-United States Trade Treaty, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics issued latest figures on Canada's domestic exports to the U.S. of commodities on which Canada gained concessions under the previous trade agreement effective from January 1, 1936.

These exports were valued at $18,332,573 in October compared with $23,181,142 in October, 1937. The export of agreement commodities during the 10 months ended October amounted to $150,229,211 compared with $216,721,979 in the corresponding period of 1937.

Total domestic exports to the United States in October including gold bullion other than monetary to the value of $12,736,640, amounted to $41,445,701 compared with $40,970,302 in October, 1937. During the first 10 months the total was $285,034,942 compared with $410,680,176 in the same period last year.

Included in export of agreement commodities during the first 10 months of 1938 with figures for the corresponding period in 1937, were:

Newsprint $68,510,127 ($86,203,002); wood pulp $17,201,987 ($28,378,898); pulp wood $9,502,817 ($9,672,315); softwood planks and board $8,516,903 ($11,785,915); whisky $8,012,746 ($15,818,703); singles $4,867,208 ($5,582,939); cattle $4,034,226 ($13,184,596); cyanamid $2,442,901 ($2,567,154); asbestos $2,420,033 ($4377,423); abrasives $2,363,040 ($,525,620); asbestos sand and waste $1,592,981 ($2,555,947); nickel in matte or speiss $1,263,960 ($2,244,706); logs $1,322,925 ($1,139,902); whitefish $1,248,306 ($1,310,938); fresh lobsters $1,787,596 ($2,245,627); maple sugar $1,166,897 ($483,173).

Export during the 10 months of other principal commodities under the agreement, bran shorts and middlings $114,378 ($2,167,888); screenings $117,507 ($504,768); hay $105,088 ($910,081); clover seed $333,419 ($766,989); grass seed, $133,674 ($108,423); certified seed potatoes, $191,289 ($393,515); turnips, $586,055 ($536,765); horses $620,516 ($1,225,807); poultry $174,256 ($585,452); halibut $525,730 ($430,186); salmon $555,859 ($494,258); smelts $432,973 ($36,0490); beaver skins $424,542 ($596,245); mink skins, $789,994 ($914,594); muskrat skins $305,649 $283,778); cheese $273,845 ($673,481); laths $404,185 ($882,762); telegraph and telephone poles $864,051 ($1,082,811); railroad ties $180,258 ($198,197); reaper threshers $734,151 ($339,020); ploughs and parts $265,434 ($659,329); skates $132,660 ($58,892); crude gypsum $684,468 ($691,898); acetic $300,653 ($1,619,613).

Pact Pleases Most In Canada

Car Manufacturers, Port Officials Are Main Objectors

OTTAWA, Nov. 18 (CP).—Praise for the new Canadian-United States trade agreement was general today in Canada with representatives of a majority of industries holding out hope that primary objectives of the agreement — to facilitate interchange of goods between the two countries — would be ultimately reached.

Such industries as fishing, farming and lumbering greeted the treaty changes enthusiastically, commending the government for successfully broadening the American markets by obtaining tariff reductions and higher quota limitations.

Among dissentient voices raised were those of automobile manufacturers, who complained at elimination of the three per cent. excise tax on imported United States cars, and Great Lakes and Atlantic port authorities, concerned over abolition of the six-cent-a-bushel preference on Canadian wheat in the United Kingdom market.

J. L. Stewart of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, said in Toronto manufacturers probably would meet today and decide whether to send a delegation of protest to Ottawa.

"I fear the industry in Canada will suffer severely with a probably loss of employment to Canadian workmen," Stewart said. "It has been obvious for the last two years to protection afforded the automobile manufacturing industry in Canada has been insufficient."

See More U.S. Cars Brought In.

First reaction of Windsor motor car manufacturers to the excise tax abolition was fear that imports of United States cars would increase. About 20,000 U.S. cars were imported in 1937, last year in which a reliable figure was unavailable.

H. K. Starnes, president of the Montreal Corn Exchange described as "a blow to the Canadian Atlantic ports" the clause establishing United States wheat on the same basis as Canadian wheat in the United Kingdom market.

While a six-cent-a-bushel duty was in effect against foreign wheat,

Tokyo Rejects U.S. Protests

TOKYO, Nov. 18 (AP).—Japan today rejected all major contentions of the United States note of October 6 protesting against "unwarranted interference" with American rights in China and declared that "ideas and principles of the past" no longer applied to the Chinese situation.

The Japanese reply, handed to Ambassador Joseph Grew, said in conclusion:

"In the face of the new situation any attempt to apply to the conditions of today and tomorrow the inapplicable ideas and principles of the past neither would contribute to the peace of East Asia nor solve the immediate issues."

The Japanese note, which had the approval of the Cabinet and the sanction of Emperor Hirohito, declared Japan was engaged in establishing a new order in East Asia "which is an indispensable condition of Japan's very existence."

5 Oshawa Welfare Board Renamed After Quitting Over 'Union' Order

OSHAWA, Ont., Nov. 18 (CP). — Five members of the former Welfare Board that resigned on Wednesday were reappointed a new board last night together with three new members to be appointed at a meeting of council next Tuesday.

At a special meeting, council accepted the resignations of five members of the board who resigned, as a result of a letter sent to the board by council instructing the board to purchase union made goods where prices were comparable with non-union made articles.

The board took such action as a want of confidence motion on the part of the council and voted 6-5 to resign with Chairman Ernie Cay casting the deciding vote.

Members who voted to resign were: E. Cay, A. W. S. Greer, L. V. Disney, J. C. Ward, Mrs. T. K. Creighton and Mrs. R. G. Williams.

The five members who voted against handing in their resignation, and instead lay the council's motion on the table for the present were: W. Bilskey, E. Cheetham, A. W. Griffiths, George Turner and Alderman James Haxton, council's representative on the board. All five who voted against resigning were Labor members of the board.

Alderman John Stacey urged the council to rescind what he termed "the former objectionable motion" and asked the present board to reconsider their action and carry on but he failed to gain support from the Labor members of the council.

Rome, Nov. 18 (AP)

ITALIAN CHILDREN may follow the antics of Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck in their funny papers but must give up other foreign comics.

Dino Alfieri, Minister of Propaganda, instructed comics editors to "abolish completely all matter imported from abroad excepting the creations of Walt Disney which are distinguished from the others for their artistic and substantial morality."

The minister declared children's papers must become educational, "exalting Italian heroism, especially military, the Italian race and Italy's past and present history."

Refugees To Be Deported

OTTAWA, Nov. 18—(CP).—Three German Jewish refugees, held in immigration detention at Quebec, will be returned home today unless court action is taken, an official of the immigration department said today.

The three, Mr. and Mrs. Max Levin of Stetin and Miss Helga Joel of Berlin, sought entry into Canada under "misrepresentation," the official said.

He claimed they came here on visitors visas but had planned to remain in Canada permanently or go to the United States.

Roosevelt Urges Speed On Seaway, King Agrees, At Fireside Chat

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(CP).—President Roosevelt said to-day he had expressed to Prime Minister Mackenzie King the hope that action would be speeded to culminate the new St. Lawrence waterway treaty between the United States and Canada.

Mr. Mackenzie King was a guest at the White House last night after he participated in the signing of the new United States-Canadian trade agreement.

The President told a press conference he had talked with the Prime Minister about 40 seconds on the St. Lawrence question and that Canadian officials agreed with him that the waterway treaty should be pressed to final agreement.

Asked whether, as a follow-up to his proposed continental solidarity for defence of the western hemisphere, he would favor extension of Pan-Americanism in other respects to include Canada, the President said he did not know, but that was an entirely separate problem.

The prime minister ended his visit to the White House this forenoon and returned to the Canadian legation.

Most important concession Canada was able to offer, according to opinion here, turned out to be discontinuance of the 3 per cent excise tax on foreign goods imported into Canada. In tariff discussion in Ottawa this tax rarely has been mentioned but in the negotiations here it is claimed Canada received several reductions in the United States tariff in return for an undertaking to drop it.

The tax originally was established by the Bennett government for revenue purposes and formerly applied to all goods imported. Then it was reduced to 1½ per cent against Empire imports but left at three per cent against foreign goods. In 1935 it was dropped altogether against Empire goods but left in effect against all other imports.

While in the agreement signed yesterday Canada only undertakes to drop the tax on United States goods included in the schedule, the feeling here is that because of the most favored nation agreements and to avoid discrimination it will be necessary to drop the tax altogether.

Finance Minister Dunning will find a fruitful source of revenue gone because the tax brought in over $15,000,000 last year.

Roosevelt To Give 12,000 Refugee Visitors A Break By Extending Visas 6 Months

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today that on humanitarian grounds he had proposed a six-months' extension for between 12,000 and 15,000 German and Austrian refugees who are in the United States on visitors' permits.

The president said unless this extension were granted the permits of this large group would be cancelled if the refugees were not back in their native land by the end of the year.

He has informed Labor Secretary Frances Perkins, he said, that it would be a cruel and inhuman thing to compel these persons to go back to Germany and face possible mistreatment in concentration camps or other persecution.

He described it as just another step in tying in many government agencies to tackle one big problem instead of studies of component parts of that problem by separate agencies.

The group will report from time to time informally, the president said.

Dominion Sacrifices Empire Preferences To Aid Anglo-American Pact And Gains Wider Entry To States' Mart

Almost Two Billions' Worth Of Trade Affected By Treaties

By Andrue Berding
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Three great merchant nations—Great Britain, Canada and the United States — offered one another far-reaching tariff reductions today in the expressed hope of increasing foreign trade and thereby preserving world peace.

Historic commercial agreements, giving concessions on more than 2,250 products, were signed late yesterday in the mirrored east room of the White House.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada and Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, joined State Secretary Cordell Hull of the United States in predicting that better international understanding and co-operation would result.

Officials estimated that between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 in trade is directly or indirectly affected by the two agreements.

The principal concessions granted by the United Kingdom to the United States were on agricultural products. All customs duties on American wheat, lard, canned grapefruit and some fruit juices were removed; duties on rice, apples, pears and some canned fruits were substantially reduced; the quota on American hams was increased; duties on ham and some other pork products, corn and cotton were "bound" at the present rate.

Boost To U.S. Railways

Removal of the six-cents-a-bushel duty on United States wheat, officials said, should benefit American railroads, ports and shipping. Canadian wheat, which formerly had to move from a Canadian port or carry proof of origin in order to enjoy preferential treatment, now can go out through United States ports.

The United Kingdom gave the United States concessions on a variety of manufactured products, including office and electrical machinery and appliances, automobiles, chemicals and silk stockings.

In return the United States gave Great Britain substantial concessions averaging 25% duty reductions on textiles, whether of cotton, flax, hemp, jute or wool. The duty on whisky, which is Britain's largest export to the United States, was "bound" at $2.50 a gallon. Britain also got concessions on leather and leather manufactures and pottery.

In some cases concessions were made by or to the United States were balanced in agreement with Canada. This was the reason for signing both agreements at the same time.

Blow to Germany

All the tariff concessions made by the United States in the two treaties are extended automatically to all countries enjoying "most-favored-nation treatment." Virtually the only country not enjoying it is Germany, owing to her discrimination against American products.

On products in which Britain and Germany tend to compete in the American market, Germany now will find it more difficult to face British competition, because she must still pay the old duties imposed by the Smoot-Hawley tariff of 1930.

After signing the trade treaty, Secretary Hull and Ambassador Lindsay of Great Britain exchanged notes guaranteeing sympathetic consideration to representations either nation might make regarding access to the other's raw materials. Officials regarded this as significant in case of the need of primary materials which would arise in time of war.

Three Highlights.

Proponents said the Anglo-American commercial agreement,

Canadians To Save On American Cars

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 18 (C.P.).—Importation into Canada of United States motor cars would tend to increase under the new Canadian-United States trade treaty which eliminates the three-per-cent. excise tax, automobile authorities said here to-day.

It was stated that about 20,000 cars were imported into Canada in 1937 under the old trade agreement. Elimination of the excise tax would possibly have the effect of increasing this total in 1939 under the new agreement.

The position of Canadian exporters to British colonies would not be seriously affected by reduction from 20 to 15 per cent. in the preference on Canadian-made cars, motor industry representatives said. The 15-per-cent. preference was described as "still a valuable concession."

11 Are Crushed To Death Seeking View Of Ataturk's Body

Istanbul, Turkey, Nov. 18 (AP).

ELEVEN persons died, many were injured, and others fainted to-day in a crush of persons trying to get into Dolma Bagtche Palace to view the body of the late President Kamal Ataturk.

Most of the casualties were among women.

The crowd was estimated at 100,000. Aproximately 300,000 filed past the body yesterday.

Anti-Jew Drive Costly To Nazi Sales

BERLIN, Nov. 18—(AP).—The anti-Jewish drive is costing Germany orders for her goods from abroad and it appeared today that other economic difficulties may follow.

One exporter said all orders had been cancelled by customers in five leading countries around Germany. Another said the steep downward curve of business extended beyond the bottom of his sales graph.

The sharp decrease of foreign orders, manufacturers said, was the first effect they noted after the wrecking of Jewish shops, the decrees ordering these shops under Aryan proprietorship, and the $400,000,000 fine imposed for the shooting by a Jewish boy of a Paris embassy secretary, Ernst Von Rath, who was buried yesterday with Nazi honors.

New prohibitions include, the newspaper Angriff said, one against tenant rights for Jews which would permit an Aryan wanting a Jew's home to have him evicted overnight. The paper said some 3,000 homes in Berlin would become available shortly for aryans.

Muirhead Quits Balmy Beach

TORONTO, Nov. 18 — (CP). — President John DeGruchy of the Ontario Rugby Football Union said today he had "heard" that Floyd Muirhead had resigned as president of the Balmy Beach Club and from the executive committee of the Union's senior series.

Muirhead, backer of the Beach team, was reported to have sent in his resignation from the executive committee in a letter mailed to DeGruchy yesterday. The Union president said he had not received any communication from Muirhead yet.

Succeeds Muirhead

Ab Box, star halfback of Beaches team, was reported to have been named by Muirhead to succeed him as club president and the club's representative on the executive committee. Box announced his retirement as a player less than two weeks ago. He closed the season by playing a major part in Balmy's victory over Montreal Nationals last Saturday.

It was understood in Toronto football circles that the executive of the Beach club had resigned in a body after Saturday's games. Reports, which could not be confirmed, said resignations of Alex Ponton, veteran coach, Manager Doug Stewart and Secretary Tommy Loudon were in Muirhead's possession.

Muirhead, himself, was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

WRECK INSPECTED

CAMPBELLTON, N.B.—(CP). — Federal engineers report that only part of the hull of a French war vessel sunk in the Restigouche River in 1760 can be salvaged. The Dominion has deeded the wreck and accompanying relics to Father Pacifique, of Ste. Anne de Restigouche, Que., to assist in establishment of a museum.

Canada Concedes U.S. 283 Reductions Against 129 Given Her

By C. R. Blackburn
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, Nov. 18—(CP).—Long-standing trade barriers separating the English-speaking democracies trembled today under the shattering blast of reciprocal agreements which knocked down customs duties over a huge range of commodities exchanged between Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States.

When high dignitaries of state assembled in the White House at Washington yesterday and signed the trade agreement between the United States and the United Kingdom, a history-making economic union was concluded between the world's greatest trading nations. Canada and the United States also signed a trade treaty and the two agreements will extend for three years at least, starting next Jan. 1.

A blow was struck at the Empire preferences negotiated at the Imperial economic conference at Ottawa in 1932, when Canada and other members of the British commonwealth sacrificed certain of these preferences to facilitate the Anglo-American pact.

Renewal Of Old Pact.

For Canada it was a renewal of the reciprocal trade agreement with United States negotiated three years ago, but on a much enlarged range of commodities and involving further tariff reductions on both sides of the border. For the United Kingdom it was a new departure in foreign trade arrangements.

Fishermen, farmers, lumbermen and miners will be affected in a great degree. Canada lost a portion of the preference on apples in the United Kingdom market but gained lowered tariff treatment in United States for all kinds of fish, and a potato tariff in that country lower than that which existed in 1921.

Canada's preference of six cents a bushel on wheat shipped to the United Kingdom was lost so far as United States wheat is concerned, and with it the requirement that wheat must pass through Canadian ports to gain the preference.

Canadian lumber will benefit under the changed conditions with the prospect of further concessions next year. Quotas placed on Douglas fir and hemlock were removed and the quota on red cedar shingles increased, while the requirement recently imposed by the United States necessitating Canada lumber being marked to identify its origin will be removed.

Live cattle will enter United States under a lowered tariff in some instances and an increased quota as compared with the 1936 agreement.

Boost For Fisheries

One phase of the new agreement with United States which has caused the liveliest speculation and which touches on a long discussed situation is the concession to Canadian fisheries. Virtually all varieties of fish, even those caught in fresh waters, will enter United States at lowered duty rates.

One great source of revenue to Canada will receive a death-blow as a result of the new agreement. Canada undertakes to remove from United States commodities enumerated in the agreement, the three per cent. excise tax imposed on imports from all but Empire countries. This will require parliamentary action.

Fresh and chilled pork will be given lower tariff treatment in the United States markets to the extent of 50 per cent. of existing rates while there will be similar reductions on dair products, oats and feed wheat, horses, hay maple products, clover and grass seeds, turnips, fox skins, blueberries, poultry products, paper, metals and non-metallic minerals whiskey and a wide variety of manufactured goods.

Given 283 Sets 129

In all the United States makes reductions on 129 items in its tariff schedule and bind 41 other items at the existing rates, and assures continued free entry of commodities under 32 additional headings in the tariff.

British Press Dubs Pact Women's Trade Deal As Mrs. John Bull Gets Major Benefit

LONDON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Mrs. John Bull derived the most satisfaction today from the Anglo-American trade agreement.

British housewives talked about cheaper silk stockings, shoes, handbags, lipsticks, refrigerators, canned fruit and electric sweepers.

Newspapers hailed it "a women's trade agreement" and declared that now millions of girls, both young and old, who, incidentally, outnumber the men in Britain, could have more of the things they want.

Not only that but thousands of women and girls employed in the vast cotton and woollen textile trades will have more money to spend on the cheaper luxuries—asuming that they get more work because of more sales since the United States cut tariffs on the products they make.

Milk, Cheese Boost Given Canada

New Pact Slashes Duties Also On Cream Export

OTTAWA, Nov. 18—(CP).—Concessions in the United States market for Canadian dairymen, under the Canada-U.S. trade treaty signed in Washington yesterday, are featured by:

1. Maximum reduction in the duty on cream on an annual quantity of 1,500,000 gallons;

2. Maximum reduction in the duty on milk on an annual quantity of 3,000,000 gallons;

3. Further reduction in the effective duty on cheddar cheese to four cents a pound.

In the 1935 agreement the U.S. duty on cream was reduced to 25 cents a gallon on a tariff quota of 1,500,000 gallons a year. The new pact provides for the maximum reduction to 28 and three-tenth cents a gallon on the same quantity to be imported at the reduced rate of duty in one calendar year.

While there was no concession on milk in the previous agreement, the new treaty provides for the maximum reduction in duty to 3¼ cents a gallon, with the quota to be admitted into the U.S. at the reduced rate set at 3,000,000 gallons in one calendar year.

Cut of Cent Granted

A concession on cheddar cheese in original loaf was obtained in the 1935 pact when the duty was reduced from seven cents a pound but not less than 35 per cent ad valorem to five cents a pound but not less tahn 35 per cent ad valorem.

A still further reduction was included in the new treaty when the duty was slashed to four cents a pound but not less than 25 per cent ad valorem. The concession is also broadened to include other non-processed cheddar cheese besides that in the original loaf.

Other concessions on dairy products in the new treaty are the binding of the existing low duty on skimmed milk and buttermilk and the maximum reduction in the duty on dried buttermilk to 1½ cents a pound.

Canada made no tariff reductions to the United States on dairy products.

OSHAWA, Nov. 18. — Dr. Oscar Mills has been elected president of the Oshawa Kiwanis Club. He succeeds "Bert" Coulter, who will become immediate past president on the executive.

Other officers include Leighton Souch as first vice-president, and William Burns as second vice-president. D. C. Forrester was re-elected treasurer.

SALES BECOME STEADY

SIMCOE.—It was estimated today that probably two thirds of the 62,000,000 pound tobacco crop will be sold today. Sales since this week have been steady with about 31,000,000 pounds being taken up daily.

Reports today showed the crop was moving more freely last night. Prices were holding near appraisal, the minimum average of 22½ cents a pound.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 18 (AP).

JOHN L. LEWIS was elected first president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations today, following a 28-minute tumultuous demonstration by 500 delegates representing some 3,800,000 workers in more than 40 national and international unions.

Tables went down in the tumult. Scotch bagpipes took the head of one parade, while another marched in an opposite direction. Flags, including a Union Jack, were waved by the storming delegates.

Toronto Horse Captures $1,000 Stake

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—(CP). — Judging at the Royal Winter Fair, Canada's largest exhibition of livestock and agriculture, reaches a high point to-night with selection of the grand champion steer and the grand champion thoroughbred mare. In prestige, the winners will be worth thier weight in gold to the owners.

Selection of the grand champion steer marks him as the most marketable piece of beef in the show. The grand champion thoroughbred mare will receive the James F. Cosgrave trophy.

But the judges first have a full day with cattle, horse, sheep and swine competitions. Judging of seed and grain, flowers, fruit and other exhibits also continue.

The horse show closed the third day of the exhibition before a thrilled crowd that jammed the Arena last night. The $1,000 Royal York jumping stake, a main feature, was won by the aged gelding Carnation of the Sifton stables, Toronto. Carnation, Eddie Tweddle up, was the only performer to make three clean circuits of the treacherous course.

The military touch-and-out stake, 34 crack jumpers of six International army teams competing, went to King Hi, ridden by Captain R. A. Drake of the United States army team. The gelding was the only entry to clear the fences cleanly. Second place was taken by Lieut. E. W. Berwick of the Canadian army team on Eureka.

Bull Brings $10,000

A large crowd thronged the livestock judging ring yesterday to see cattle form various provinces take honors. Exhibitors showed interest in the announcement that Brandy Rock Stock Farm, Brandy, Va., had purchased a champion Aberdeen-Angus bull from Edward Brothers, Watford for $10,000.

The bull, Bandolier Anoka Sixth, has been a grand champion 30 times. The animal has not appeared in the ring this year at the fair here.

Female junior championship of the jersey cattle division went to the entry of J. W. Innes, Woodstock, an annual exhibitor here. Innes also took first place in four-animal and three-animal groups.

William Brooks, Paris, Ont., took the junior female Guernsey championship and four firsts in Guernseys among other placings.

The Hon. George S. Henry Challenge Trophy for the three best uddered Holstein females of milking age in the show went to George Ball of Sarnia.

Western Canada all but swept the grain division. William Rigby, Wembley, Alta., was awarded the Canadian Grand Championship in Oats with a victory variety. Douglas Gibson, Ladner, B.C., won the Grand Championship Peas crown, and G. Hilljard Monarch, Alta., taking the Dominion Bean title.

Canadian Tariff Cut Upon Cotton, Silk

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—(CP)—Canadian tariffs on such textiles as cotton and silk imported from the United States show considerable reductions in the new Canada-United States trade agreement signed in Washington yesterday.

In cottons, Canadian concessions of greatest importance are those on unbleached cotton fabrics, reduced from 20 per cent plus 3½ cents a pound, to 17½ per cent plus three cents; and bleached or mercerized fabrics, from 22½ per cent plus 3½ cents to 20 per cent plus three cents.

"Printed or dyed fabrics," said the official press summary, "presently duitable at 27½ per cent plus 3½ cents a pound, become duitable at various rates, as follows:

The rate on denims for the manufacture of garments, and on all cotton fabrics not otherwise provided for, valued at more than 80 cents a pound will be 20 per cent plus three cents a pound; that on cotton fabrics, not otherwise provided for, valued at from 50 to 80 cents will be 25 per cent plus three cents a pound; and the rate on fabrics valued at less than 50 cents a pound will be bound at the present level. The rate on cotton fabrics made from yarns of counts of 100 or more is reduced from 27½ per cent plus 3½ cents a pound to 27½ per cent.

Cotton Clothing Unchanged

"The agreement provides for removal of the specific component of the present compound duty on cotton-handkerchiefs, making these dutiable at 30 per cent, and for reduction to 27½ per cent of the rate on all cotton bags, seamless or not. The present rate of 30 per cent on cotton clothing and wearing apparel, not otherwise provided for, is bound against increase. Other reductions apply to certain cotton yarns, cotton sewing thread, cotton blankets and mercerized yarns, the rate on the latter being reduced from 25 to 22½ per cent."

Specific components of the present compound duties on clothing and wearing apparel of silk, artificial silk, linen and mixed fibres will be completely removed.

The former rate of 30 per cent plus 1½ cents a pound for wearing apparel composed of woven fabrics not containing wool is reduced to 30 per cent; the rate of 30 per cent plus seven cents an ounce on silk apparel is reduced to 30 per cent. Duty on artificial silk apparel comes under the most favored nation rate of 31½ per cent plus 4½ cents an ounce.

The concession on woollen clothing is limited to women's and children's outer garments and is a reduction from 40 per cent plus 32½ cents a pound to 32½ per cent without any specific duty.

Specific duty of 25 cents a pound on knitted garments is removed, leaving an ad valorem duty of 35 per cent. The duty on sox and stockings other than of wool is reduced to 20 per cent plus $1 on each dozen pairs compared with the old rate of 32½ per cent plus $1.25 on each dozen pairs.

Gambling Raid Nets 22 Men

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 18 (C.P.).—Twenty-two London men lined up in City Court to-day to answer charges laid by police following a raid on an alleged bookmaker's office. Vivian Dalby, 34, was charged as "keeper" of a gambling house.

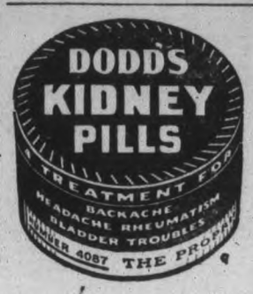
An intimation that officials may ask for unusually heavy penalties in bookmaking convictions came when Crown Attorney Norman Newton told the court that he wished to proceed against Dalby "by way of indictment."

This was a legal move to bring the case under a section of the Criminal Code that provides for heavier penalties. With the prosecution proceeding by indictment Dalby, if found guilty, could be given up to a year in jail and also heavily fined.

When the Crown Attorney said he wished to take this procedure, A. B. Siskind, defence counsel, asked for an adjournment so he could consult his client. Magistrate Donald Menzies agreed to lay the Dalby case over to November 24. Then the 21 persons charged as "frequenters of a gambling place" were also remanded on bail until the same date.

Norwood School Is Broken Into

NORWOOD, Nov. 18. — The Norwood High School was broken into on Monday. The catch on the window was broken, and it is supposed that the robbers made their entrance by this means. Three horns were stolen which had been loaned to the school by the town for use in the Boys' Band, also a set of dies belonging to the caretaker, James Rogers. No trace has as yet been made of the stolen articles.



Jews Wait For Permits To Leave

Anyone found on the roads outside the town minus a permit is liable to arrest.

United Counties Ask Ontario To Assume Entire Cost Of Administration Of Justice

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, Nov. 18.—A petition to the Ontario government to assume the entire cost of administration of justice, thereby relieving the municipalities of a heavy and burdensome financial charge, recommended in the finance committee's report Thursday afternoon, was endorsed by the counties council.

It is proposed that the other county councils in the province be requested to lend their support to this appeal. The committee of which Reeve J. A. Deviney of Haldimand is chairman, protested that the cost of administration of justice is excessive, and also is beyond the authority of county councils to reduce.

Special Committee.

The special advisory committee on schools was appointed by bylaw at the concluding session Thursday. Reeve Ray R. Mallory of Percy township was named for three years, and Deputy-reeve T. G. Shield of Cavan for two years. The Warden is an ex-officio member. The appointments date from November 17..

Reeve H. Morow of the reforestation committee reported that 90 per cent. of the trees planted by the united counties this year had survived. The season was unusually favorable, and there had been strong growth. Only 150,000 more young trees are required to complete the planned planting in Northumberland. There had been no tree loss by fire, and both the Orono and Haldimand forests were in good condition.

A proposal from the Bell Telephone company to delegate to the county road superintendent authority to sanction comparatively small operations involving changes of lines and poles was rejected by the legislation and bylaws commitete, Reeve S. Burrison, Hamilton chairman. Representatives of the company had made a strong plea to the council, urging the change as a facility to avoid waiting until the council could meet to grant permission for changes in pole lines but their plea failed to obtain a favorable decision.

Presnt To Groom

The sessions concluded with the singing of the national anthem, preceded by a penultimate note of congratulation to Reeve J. E. Ball of Millbrook, a bridegroom of recent weeks. Reeve Chas. Calver of Campbellford took charge of that pleasant episode reading an address to Reeve Ball, who was presented with an electric toaster by Reeve Edmonstone of Bowmanville.

On that point of electrificaion, the special county property committee was given authority to act on a recommendation to replace the coal stoves in the kitchen at the counties jail with electric stoves. It transpired that down here at Cobourg where the boats dump hills of coal on the dock without penalty of local railway freight rates, they have a schedule of rates for electricity that makes the burning of coal an extravagance. Deputy-reeve Roy Dodge of Cobourg is chairman of that committee, and it is likely the jail kitchen will be modernized before long.

Reeve Edmonstone reported that the Canadian product was shipped largely from American ports in order to retain its identity and qualify for the preference.

Starnes said he was afraid the tariff abolition would mean "much Canadian grain will go through United States' ports now."

"I hope that the Canadian government, having given up our preference at the behest of Britain, will see fit to give the eastern ports some compensation, such as freight and elevator charges or something like," Starnes said.

Hon. P. M. Dewan, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, found the changes in livestock duties would be "very favorable" to Ontario producers. He was enthusiastic over reduction in the duty on Canadian cream entering United States.

But Mr. Dewan was sorry to see the loss of preferences in the British market, especially affecting wheat and fruit, "which is bound to affect some Ontario farmers."

Boon For Scotia.

United States concessions on Canadian fish were described as "a remarkably fine thing for the industry" in Nova Scotia, by Ralph P. Bell, Halifax fish exporters. He thought the industry had obtained everything it could reasonably have expected.

Another Nova Scotia exporter, W. H. Smith, president of Lunenburg Sea Products, Limited, did not know what effect the tariff changes would have on the price paid to the Canadian fishermen, but he looked for a larger volume of business between the two countries.

Fletcher Smith, chairman of the fisheries committee of the Halifax Board of Trade, commented: "It is gratifying to see that the determined efforts that Ottawa has made on behalf of the fisheries have met with such a large measure of success. The concessions secured are very substantial and of great importance."

Prince Edward Island potato growers would be "more than satisfied" with concessions granted Canada in certified seed and table potatoes, said J. W. Boulter, secretary-manager of the Prince Edward Island Potato Growers' Association. The agreement "exceeded my expectations," he said.

Hon. E. W. Pirie, Minister of Lands and Forests for New Brunswick, said potato-growers of his province would be enabled to place on the U.S. market stock that otherwise would be dumped on the Maritime market and tend to hold down the Maritime price level.

B.C. Lumbermen Pleased.

The British Columbia lumber industry was pleased with the new agreement. A prepared statement issued at Vancouver by J. G. Robson, president of the B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association, said:

"Our industry recognized all along that some sacrifices would have to be made to make it possible for Great Britain and the United States to get closer together, and we feel that our government representatives have protected our interests in an admirable way, considering the many traders, producers and consumers who are entitled to serious consideration."

Lowered U.S. duties on Canadian livestock, hogs and hog products won praise of agriculturalists and packers. Lifting of the quotas on Canadian cattle entering the U.S. was of little importance now, in the opinion of cattle breeders, as current exports are far under the old quotas.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 18—(CP).—Operations on Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day were dullest in many weeks with trading virtually at a standstill. Wheat futures values held to a steady trend most of the day and closed ⅝ higher to unchanged, November 60⅝, December 59⅝ to ¾, May 62⅜ to ½, and July 63⅛ to ¼cents.

Removal of duty on wheat entering the United Kingdom appeared to have been anticipated and was discounted.

Export business worked overnight was light, and other operations were routine and dull.

Trucker Breaks Leg In Leap But Saves Tot

TORONTO, Nov. 17—(CP)—Ben Griffin, 26, was pinned beneath a three and a half ton truck for 45 minutes last night after an attempt to snatch his four-year-old nephew from the truck cab as it started towards a steep incline.

Griffin slipped and accidentally stopped the truck with his legs and the child was saved. Griffin was pinned beneath the sand-loaded truck until help arrived and a two truck dragged it off his body.

The rescue on the brink of a 50-foot embankment near the Rouge River, left Griffin, Scarboro Hotel owner, with a multiple fracture of the left leg bruises and shock.

He said he was loading the truck with sand for use on a road when he had engine trouble. William Oldster, a nephew, was in the cab.

"I put the brake on and got out of the truck," Griffin said. William Wilson, employed by Griffin, was standing at the front of the truck. Suddenly the truck began moving towards the incline. Young Billy had released the brake. I made a leap for the door to get him out.

"I yanked at the cab door. It would not open. Then I slipped and my left leg went under the rear wheel. I was jammed in a kneeling position against a wooden fence," Griffin related.

Wilson rushed for an axe to cut away the fence and allow Griffin to lie flat on the ground. Meanwhile, George Dight, a neighbor, pulled the badly frightened child from the truck.

Griffin who said he was more worried at the time about Billie than himself, dismissed the incident as "all in the day's work." "It hurt quite a lot when I was lying on the ground," he said. "But after a while I got pretty numb and then it wasn't so bad."

Remembrance Is Theme Of Meeting

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Nov. 17.—A devotional period with "Remembrance" as the topic was the most interesting feature of the United Church W.A. meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

The following numbers were contributed: "Shall We Remember Them?" was read by Mrs. M. Davey. Mrs. Stewart Thackeray read a poem, "Armistice"; Mrs. L. Tucker read a poem, "The Graves Of Flanders" written by Willis Dowler of Roseneath, when she was a student at Albert College, Belleville some years ago. "A Prayer For Peace," was the title of a poem read by Mrs. Andrew Brown. The president commented briefly on the topic and suggested that an annual remembrance day in the life of each person might well be observed.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Alfred Braithwaite and the president, Mrs. A. Nill, presided.

250,00 Win Holiday For Week With Pay

LONDON, Nov. 18—(CP-Cable)—Garment workers and tailors, numbering approximately 250,000 persons, last night won the right of one week's paid holiday each year as a result of negotiations between manufacturers and employees.

The agreement was reached at a meeting of the executives of the wholesale clothing manufacturers federation and the national union of tailors and garment workers.

The principle of holidays with pay for all workers is rapidly spreading throughout Great Britain. A Canadian Press dispatch last July estimated that 8,000,000 workers would receive a paid holiday during the past summer and that they represented 42 per cent of the estimated total of 18,500,000 in the employment field.

The government is on record, in the words of Ernest Brown, Labor minister, as desiring the extension of "the payment of wages for holidays by means of voluntary agreements to the greatest possible extent."

Fisher Collapses

THORNBURY, Ont., Nov. 18—(CP).—Maxwell Pillgram, 54, noted Georgian Bay fisherman, suffered a heart seizure and died on the railway station platform here last night. Pillgram was a member of the curling team that won the Ontario curling tankard for Meaford in 1912.

TWEED

Trucker Fined After Crash

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Nov. 18.—An accident which fortunately resulted in only a shaking up for the drivers implicated, occurred near Marsh's service station on No. 7 Highway on Thursday. It appears that a truck, driven by Hugh Hillier of Harlowe, was proceeding westerly and as he was about to make a left hand turn, a car driven by Roy Bar, of Mountain Grove, which was abreast of the other vehicle at the time was struck.

Considerable damage resulted to the passenger car. Chief of Police J. C. Hayes, was summoned, and after an investigation, decided that Hillier had been negligent in driving the truck. A charge under the Highway Traffic Act was laid and he paid a fine of $5 in police court.

Horses Damage Car

A car owned by William Bently, of Queensboro, was damaged last evening in a rather peculiar accident, although fortunately, the driver escaped injuries. It appears that as Bentley was rounding a sharp turn on No. 37 Highway near Thomasburg, he observed two horses running in front of the truck, which was proceeding south. As the animals attempted to get out of the way of the oncoming vehicle, they swerved toward the Bentley car, and jumped on the radiator. It was considerably damaged. Chief Hayes, was called and after conducting an investigation, said charges were pending against the owner of the horses which were apparently running loose on the highway.

Held For Fraud

Harvey Windover, 49, of Trenton, was arrested in Brockville on a warrant sworn out by Chief of Police Hayes of Tweed. The accused is charged with issuing worthless cheques. Chief Hayes escorted the prisoner back to the county jail at Belleville. He appeared in court before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in Tweed on Thursday afternoon. On receipt of a telephone message from Chief Bain of Trenton, the local officer was instructed to hold Windover on further charges of obtaining money by false pretenses and also non-support.

John Windover, a son, was taken into custody by Toronto police this week and was charged with obtaining money by false pretenses in two counties.

Moore Inquest

The adjourned inquest into the death of Kenneth Moore, who died as a result of injuries received in an accident near Stoco on October 20 last, was resumed in local police court on Thursday afternoon Following a long session, during which several witnesses were heard, the jury returned the verdict that Kenneth Moore came to his death as a result of an automobile driven by Gerald Wycott, Trenton.

Wycott, of Trenton faces three charges, being reckless driving, criminal negligence and driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He will be tried in local police court next Thursday.

Gangster Dies In Chair

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Nov. 18 (A.P.). — The last gangster of the Al Brady mob of Mid-Western killers, once described as the worst in the United States, died in an electric chair here to-day.

James Dalhover of Madison, 32-year-old gunman for the gang, paid in state prison's electric chair for the slaying of Paul Minneman, Logansport State policeman shot after the $2,500 Goodland State Bank robbery on May 25, 1937.

A Hacking, Racking Persistent Cough

The constant hacking, racking, persistent cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you do to get rid of it is the kind that is dangerous to neglect.

The longer the cough sticks, the more serious menace it becomes to your health.

But, there is a remedy to relieve coughs—coughs that won't let go. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is that remedy.

It has a healing and soothing action on the air passages, and acts as a disinfectant of the respiratory organs, destroying the germs that may produce serious complications.

He Once Lived Here

The announcement that the jewellers of Canada are to pay a tribute next week to the memory of Sir Sandford Fleming, the man who gave the world its present system of standard time should be particularly interesting to Peterborough citizens, for the Scot who was an outstanding railway engineer of pioneer days and who lived to become world famous because of his suggestion that the world should be divided into time belts, once lived in Peterborough.

Soon after he came to Canada in 1845 as a struggling surveyor and draftsman he became a resident of this community and in 1855 he married a member of one of Peterborough's best known families, Ann Jean, daughter of Sheriff Hall, who was the grandfather of the present Deputy-Sheriff F. J. A. Hall. Sir Sandford's name is perpetuated here because Fleming Place, where he once lived, has been called after him.

Had he never introduced standard time Sir Sandford would still have been a great Canadian and a well-known figure throughout the Dominion for his railway building activities had made him known to every Canadian. He became chief engineer of the Northern Railway in 1857, was chief engineer of the Intercolonial Railway during its construction and in 1871 he was appointed engineer-in-chief to superintendent the surveys for the Canadian Pacific Railway. He surveyed the route through the Yellowhead Pass which is now followed by the Canadian National Railways and he was the first to demonstrate the practicability of the route through the Kicking Horse, Eagle and Rogers passes. In the field of education he was also prominent, holding the position of Chancellor of Queen's University for thirty-five years.

An empire-builder indeed was this great Scottish-Canadian and the tribute that is now being paid him in the form of a bronze tablet prominently displayed in Toronto will be appreciated no more warmly anywhere than in Peterborough where his early days in Canada were spent and one of whose daughters he took as his consort for life.

Well Worth Investigating

After an investigation ordered by Attorney-General Conant, General Victor Williams, Commissioner of Provincial Police, has found that there has been nothing in the nature of political influence interfering with law enforcement in the township of North Monaghan. That finding was what every reasonable person anticipated, for never at any time has there been the slightest reason for believing that politics were playing a part in the enforcement of the Liquor Control Act, either there or anywhere else in the district.

However if the Attorney-General wants to strike a powerful blow against bootlegging and if he has any trained investigators who happens to be unemployed at the present moment we would like to suggest that he set on foot an inquiry into the activities of beer "boosters" and their possible connection with the illicit sale of liquor in this province. We have an idea that he would find a probe of that kind not very interesting but decidedly worth while.

Under the Liquor Control Act breweries are forbidden to advertise and they get around that ban by employing a large force of, shall we say, promotion agents whose job is to stimulate the sale of the lines manufactured by their respective breweries. They are paid a good salary, provided with a substantial expense account and often furnished with automobiles, and some of them, it is said, receive a handsome commission on every case of their brewery's products sold in their district.

We believe that the Attorney-General would discover that it was good business from a public viewpoint to study the methods employed by these beer agents in their promotion campaign. His investigators might start by digging down into the question of whether or not there is a hookup between some of the "boosters" and the bootleggers and at the beginning of that angle of the question we fancy they would be struck by the coincidence that almost every time the premises of a bootlegger are raided and liquor is found the beer seized is discovered to be the product of some particular brewery. Rarely is there more than one manufacturer's goods found in a bootlegging establishment. One illicit dealer always handles one kind of beer, another favors another brand, but hardly ever is there a case where bootlegger's stock-in-trade contains more than one kind.

So closely do the gentry engaged in the illegal sale of liquor adhere to their own pet brands of beer that a suspicious mind might jump to the conclusion that there is a connection between that persistent preference and the source of their supply. Doubtless the trail is well camouflaged but trained investigators might be able to follow it through to a useful conclusion.

Not The Way Out

So much has been said in recent years about Canada being over-governed and about the desirability, in the interest of economy and the more efficient administration of public affairs, of cutting out some of the governmental overhead that it comes as a surprise that there should be a proposal in the Maritimes for more instead of less government and that such a proposal should attract to itself a certain amount of support.

It was Premier Campbell of Prince Edward Island who came forward with the suggestion that the Maritimes needed something in the nature of a council to deal with problems that were common to the three Maritime provinces.

A paper in his province, the Charlottetown Guardian, at once swung in behind the idea and suggested that the Legislative Council abolished some time ago should now be revived "in modified form, to function jointly in the interests of the three provinces. "In support of its suggestion, the Guardian ventured the opinion that if the council it proposes were given power to review the legislation of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, the fact that such a check had been provided would have a "sobering effect" upon the provincial legislators.

Our own opinion is that the very suggestion of adding another governmental body to the structure now in existence would rather have a "sobering influence" upon the sorely harassed taxpayers.

The man on the street, we imagine, would be much more enthusiastic about a program that instead of increasing government would effectively decrease it; if, in short, the proposal were to scrap the three provincial legislatures and substitute for them one governing body for the three provinces. That would seem the logical route to cheaper government and also a trunk road to greater efficiency in handling public business.

And if at the same time there should happen along a similar proposal to combine the three prairie provinces under one legislature, the Canadian taxpayer would take a day off and light bonfires in the street.

The Menace Of The Dole

Local point is given to Premier Hepburn's expressed fears in regard to the demoralizing effect of continuous relief—or the "dole"—by reason of the fact that already this year $100,000 has been spent in Peterborough in providing food, fuel, shelter, medical attention, etc., for the city's unemployed.

And that after some eight years of distribution of relief on a major scale to those who by reason of inability to find a job and earn an income have had to be cared for by the state.

The most disturbing feature—aside from the fact that relief rolls have grown heavier again within recent months—is the fact that a fairly substantial proportion of those who are in receipt of public assistance have been on the relief lists more or less steadily since the beginning of the depression.

In their case it is difficult to avoid agreement with Premier Hepburn's opinion that their morale has been injured by this continual acceptance of aid from the public purse. It is impossible to go on year after year being fed, and clothed, and sheltered, and kept warm by municipal and governmental assistance, without in time losing the will to work and the desire to be independent. That is what Mr. Hepburn fears and there is reason to believe that his forebodings are justified.

The way out of the problem is not easy to find. Vast programs of public works would provide employment but experience has taught that a very large proportion of the money that would be necessary to furnish jobs on a large scale would go to other things than labor; in fact the labor cost is usually the small end. From the viewpoint of actual cost, it is cheaper by far to feed and shelter and clothe the unemployed and their families and keep them in idleness than it would be to find them employment on public works.

And while the effect on morale is admittedly serious there is reason to doubt whether it is much worse when relief is granted without work than if relief recipients were put to work on projects that were obviously justified only as relief-work undertakings. That has been the weakness in the United States where ridiculous public works have been undertaken and where everybody including the unemployed who were given jobs, knew that the work being done was unnecessary and often just a silly waste of public money.

Should Be Cleared Up

The Examiner was asked the other day if there was anything we could do to eliminate some of the interference with which the key station of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is almost blanketed at times during night broadcasts.

We are always glad to be helpful but, unfortunately there is nothing that we can do about the matter except to suggest that, if the thousands of Canadian set-owners who are bothered constantly by that kind of thing really set their minds upon getting the situation cleared up, they should be able to set up enough static on their own account to cause the Federal Government and the Broadcasting Corporation to make an earnest effort to bring about a betterment in reception conditions.

As we understand it the trouble is caused by a very powerful Mexican station jamming into the channel that is supposed to be reserved for the use of CBL, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's outlet in Toronto. The result is that Canadian set-owners who try to listen to some of the programs put on the air by the Corporation find themselves endeavoring to pick out what they would like to hear from the midst of a barrage of patent medicine advertising blasted over the air waves by a Mexican super-station.

There has been a marked improvement recently in the quality of some of the Canadian programs put on the air by the C.B.C., but, unfortunately, the value of these programs is being lost to a great extent by reason of this Mexican interference with one of the corporation's principal stations.

It is a condition that should be dealt with. After all the Canadians who own radio receiving sets are nicked at the rate of $2.50 a year each for every set they operate, and for that license fee they are entitled to better reception from the publicly-owned Canadian stations than they are getting. If they turn loose a general protest over the present situation it is almost certain there will be a more determined effort on the part of Ottawa to clear the air waves and give Canadians the kind of radio entertainment they are paying for.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Jack Miner's birds get about. One of his wild geese has been shot near Kingston, Jamaica.

Our civic financiers are merely pikers. They are content to balance the budget while here is Winnipeg getting into the headlines with a million dollar deficit.

British authorities are planning to abolish the lash for prisoners, and so far there has been no protest from the crooks over the new policy.

It is said that powder and polish are used to titivate cattle and sheep shown at the Royal Winter Fair. There was none of that kind of stuff on the Tenth Concession.

Ten American players were chosen for the all-star Western Canadian football squad. The immigration authorities must have taken the other two right out of the play.

New York highways department official is charged with accepting $67,000 in bribes. If the indictment is correct he is evidently an individual who has big scale ideas about business.

It's not every man who can be a farmer declares Ontario's Minister of Agriculture. And when it comes to the unemployed it is not every man who wants to be one.

Some of the National League hockey players are growing beards this season which prompts the thought that there are a lot of players quite old enough to grow one.

MONUMENT IN SQUARE

The children are familiar with the cannons,
They ride the fat black muzzles like farm horses.
They play the touchholes have not yet been bolted,
They lift a ball and wonder what its force is.

Above them in the square with granite eyes
Peace offers granite laurel to the skies.
None asks her to come down to play at games,
None asks her if the game he plays is wise.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

O LORD, be gracious unto us; we have waited for thee: be thou their arm every morning, our salvation also in the time of trouble....

The Lord is exalted; for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with judgment and righteousness. And wisdom and knowledge shall be the stability of thy times, and strength of salvation: the fear of the Lord is his treasure....

Hear, ye that are far off, what I have done; and, ye that are near, acknowledge my might....

Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees. Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompence; he will come and save you.

Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped. Then shall the lame man sleep as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing.—Isa. xxx. 2, 5, 6, 13; xxxv, 3-6.

To The Editor

ONE MOTHER'S SACRIFICE

Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—As I was listening to the Armistice program from Ottawa on Friday morning while wreaths were being deposited I heard the announcer say — And now here is a mother who lost six sons in the war. I was thinking on that statement for the rest of the day, being a mother of boys myself could I not visualize something of what it meant, for true mother love is the nearest we can come to the love of God for it comes into the heart of a mother from Him and no place else, that concern for their protection, their comfort and from their first state of helplessness to grown manhood, always concerned in their welfare and when they go out her prayers follow them yes, that mother's sons went out never to return and let us reflect right here that if in the last crisis war had come that women's sacrifice would have been in vain, but I cannot help but think that the Angel of the Lord stood in the path of those who would use the mailed fist and prevented what seemed imminent.

Speaking from Westminster Church, Buffalo, the Sunday before Armistice, the assistant minister said there were many folk almost in tears over what they termed Britain's lost prestige in the recent crisis but he asked: Did she lose prestige, or did she lose one kind of prestige to gain a higher. He further said we had a key put into our hands that day which could solve our international problems. God grant we do not lose it. Now here we are again, passion and hate on the rampage again in Germany and as James Allen says in his little book "From Passion to Peace" where passion is, peace is not; he goes on to say—Men pray for peace, yet cling to passion; they foster strife, yet pray for heavenly rest. This is ignorance; profound spiritual ignorance; it is not to know the first letter in the alphabet of things divine.

Oh what a world—how low mankind has sunk, living in the lowest sensual of their mind, cussing and swearing, taking the hallowed name of God in vain, my heart cries out Lord what will become of us; crucified, slain by the world again, what more can they do, for those who do these things are lost—how can we pray. (Give peace in our time Oh Lord.)

Yours truly,
A MOTHER.

TAKING HOLIDAYS.

(Ottawa Journal)

A CIVIC OFFICIAL of an Ontario town died the other day, and in his obituary it was said he had filled his post for 26 years, in that time had taken only a fortnight's holiday. This was mentioned as evidence of his singular devotion to duty, as something commendable.

All of that no doubt is true, and yet what impresses us is rather the folly of such a course. Every man—and every woman—is the better for an occasional departure from the daily routine. Mind and body go stale in an unremitting round of work. To see the same people day after day and month after month, to do the same things in the same way, never to know the relaxation of travel, of seeing new places and meeting strangers, to go on in this way for many years, is to miss much in life, to endanger health, to shorten one's days.

Every man is entitled, we think, to look forward to a time when he can retire, or at least so lighten his duties that he has an unaccustomed leisure, more time to do some of the thngs he always has wanted to do, whether fishing or gardening or collecting postage stamps or visiting the South Seas. To enjoy that period, which so often is the happiest of a man's life, he needs to keep alive in his more active years an interest in things beyond his work—and to preserve his health. He is not doing himself justice in an absorption in the daily task so complete as to exclude vacations—and very, very few men are so indispensable that they cannot be spared for two or three weeks each year. When a man dies there is always somebody fit for his place.

A NICE COUNTRY.

(St. Catharines Standard)

CAN A NATION which perpetrates the outrages reported from Germany and Austria since Thursday last, be entrusted with the government of ignorant and primitive native populations? England is asking that question in a very serious strain at the moment. If the Prime Minister has had it in mind to make some trade or transfer of former colonies back to Germany, his hands have been tied by the Germans themselves. There is even the threat from Berlin that a British protest against the treatment of the Jews may result in Germany taking action for the Arabs of Palestine. A nice country with which to contemplate the building of the structure of permanent peace!

• Cannot Blot Out Religion

(From the Detroit Free Press)

THE STORY that Stalin has started a new drive against religion in Russia for the purpose of blotting it out seems to come direct from Moscow.

If the statements in the dispatch are correct, Stalin still has a lot to learn about fellow human beings in spite of his long experience with dictatorial control over a hundred and fifty million of them.

Individuals sometimes are able to smother belief in God. Considerable numbers may neglect religion as they are doing today in this country. And some races are more given to piety than others.

But actual destruction of the religious instinct in the human heart and of the religious impulse in human action is beyond the power of any dictator, any government or any propagandist. It would be as practical to try to destroy the appetite for food.

Furthermore, the religious instinct as a compelling force in life is apt to be strongest among the very sort of people Stalin purposes using for his experiment.

The prosperous and happy, and hose who have many means of mundane diversion often neglect God and would like to forget Him (which doesn't mean they disbelieve in Him); but those who are needy and oppressed, and lead drag and circumscribed lives, are apt to have a lively and persistent impulse to turn for consolation and escape to things which are unseen.

It is true, of course, that among such people there sometimes are rebellions against some particular established form of religion, but that does not mean desertion of religion itself nor resort to the atheism Stalin dreams of.

Even the Witchcraft of the Middle Ages was in a hideous, evil and perverted way a confession of the truth of religion. It acknowledged the existence of Diety.

It is one thing for an individual, or even for a nation, to rebel against God; it is a far different thing to deny that He exists.

No considerable part of mankind has ever successfully done the latter for any considerable time, and Stalin never will be able to make the Russians do it.

• Guessing At Future Weather

A LARGE PART of the American continent has this year enjoyed what is everywhere acknowledged as a very pleasant autumn season says the Sarnia Observer. Within the last few days, however, there have been signs of important weather changes that presage the onset of winter. Practically up to mid-November we have had temperatures that approached summer standards and it has been most enjoyable. It has resulted in some saving of fuel, but merchants complain that the unseasonable warmth was disastrous to their business, that it was impossible to sell furs, overcoats, heavy footwear and other commodities for which, normally, there is a rush in late September and October. That is a disappointing condition for merchants who invest in goods that are especially applicable to autumn business, but it involves a risk that farmers are compelled to take in all their operations, year after year, so that the merchant who is feeling down over the blow that this unusually warm fall has dealt him, will now be more inclined to sympathize with his agricultural neighbor who is so helpless against the vagaries of weather.

It is not likely that exceptionally mild weather will continue for long now. In fact, when the current drop in temperature has moderated to some extent, as it is fairly sure to do, we may expect that there will be a rather rapid movement into the pre-winter conditions of frost and intermittent snowfalls that are normal at this season. In any event, it is now necessary to make all the preparations for a drastic change in weather. Householders will find that there is considerable work to be done to make the premises weather-tight and snug, and it will be found profitable to exercise some diligence in that direction, for, after this delightfully mild spell that has been a protracted summer, it might be that there will be some severity in the first touches of winter. That is not to be regarded as a prediction, for of all futile enterprises, that of undertaking to forecast the weather, is the least reliable.

• Wisecrack Phrases Are Old

OUR NORTHERN TOWNS.

(Rouyn-Noranda Press)

THESE northern towns are modern and have everything to be found in older centres — good schools, churches, hospitals, theatres and places for other recreation and amusement. They have the usual fraternal and perhaps more of cultural organizations and ladies' church societies. Their social life is in every way normal, and religious and charitable work and efforts for the young are not neglected.

They, of course, are not free from the evils that beset other older towns and cities, but, without assuming any "holier-than-thou" attitude, they are not prepared to accept without protest the odious reflections of certain types of clergymen who would give to distant towns and cities the impression that they are laboring among conditions and people where civilization is at low ebb, religion is forgotten and full license is taken to follow all the evi practices, instincts and temptings of the world, the flesh and the devil.

GOLDEN AGE IN JAILS

(Winnipeg Tribune)

THE PRIZE for the best jail of the year ought to go to Pickens county, in Georgia, where they have just completed the building of a new jail under WPA and PWA endowments.

It is of white marble which was quarried in great slabs six feet long, each slab weighing 1,200 pounds. Tastefully designed doors and windows are of the best saw and file proof material. The building is air-conditioned throughout. Sound-deadening material has been laid on the floors.

In this palatial structure ample quarters have been provided for 100 compulsory guests, with a plentiful supply of bathrooms which include showerbaths and plug-ins for electric razors. Comfortably furnished consulting rooms have also been provided in which gentlemen on remand may consult their legal advisors.

AND LIFE GOES ON.

(Edmonton Journal)

FROM north to south, the people of Alberta seem to be enjoying life with a wholeheartedness lacking for some years. The weekly newspapers, recording the daily life of the rural communities, are filled with accounts of social events, of weddings and "showers", of plans for community improvements and of trips to near and distant parts by residents of the district.

The weekly newspapers reflect the life and spirit of their communities very accurately. The picture they paint of life in rural Alberta this Fall is one of glowing vitality. The long stretch of fine Autumn weather, a good crop harvested to the last sheaf and the satisfaction of being prepared for the Winter, no doubt have all combined to bring about this revival of better spirits. Alberta, today, is looking forward to the future with more of its traditional optimism than it has shown for several years.

Belmont Women's Institute Holds Special Grandmother's Day

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Nov. 18.—"Grandmothers Day" was celebrated by the Belmont Branch Women's Institute when all the grandmothers in their district were invited to attend the regular November meeting, held in the township hall Thursday afternoon. The meeting was exceptionally well attended with a fine representation of grandmothers. A prize to the grandmother having the largest number of grandchildren was won by Mrs. Robert Anderson, while a prize for the least grandchildren was divided between Mrs. John Lloyd and Mrs. Leonard Keene.

The vice-president, Mrs. William Smith, presided at the meeting, in the absence of the president, Miss Iva Smith, who is at present in Toronto attending the annual Women's Institute Convention.

An appropriate roll call "Money-Making Devices of Pioneer Days" was very well responded to. Among the many schemes mentioned were the making of maple sugar, potash and weaving.

The meeting opened with the usual Institute Ode and prayer followed by a short period of business conducted by Mrs. Smith. The Institute decided to apply for their government grant, which they will turn over to the Ontario Red Cross Society.

All the members are to bring a gift to the December meeting which will be suitable for the Christmas cheer boxes which the Institute annually distribute throughout their district.

Opening the afternoons program, Mrs. William Smith extended a hearty welcome to the guests. The grandmothers replied to this with a very fine old song "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

The Memory Poem

The monthly "memory poem," entitled "Worth While" was given by Mrs. Alec Keene. Among the other number on the program were a piano solo ,entitled "Hawaiian Love" by Mrs. Donald Anderson; reading, "Granddaughter's Resolution, by Mrs. Joseph Seabrook; vocal duet, "Carry Me Back to Calvary's Mountain," by Mrs. McMullen and daughter Ruth; community song, "Old Black Joe"; reading, "Life Is a Game," Mrs. A. Cassan.

A report of the recent Officers' Rally held at Lakefield was presented by Mrs. William Smith, who noted among many other interesting facts concerning the present day Women's Institute, that there are now over 42,000 members now enrolled.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program by the members under the convenership of Mrs. Keene and a social hour much enjoyed.

Havelock Dramatic Executive Named

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Nov. 18.—The Havelock Amateur Dramatic Society recently organized by a local group interested in amateur theatricals, elected their executive at a meeting held in the council chamber. Miss Dorothy Davidson, as president will head the new organization with Miss Mary Anderson, as vice-president, and Charles Taylor as secretary-treasurer. The casting committee is composed of Miss Davidson, Miss Anderson, C. Taylor, Wm. McBurney and Wm. Platt, with Miss Helen Spencer and Miss Cordie McColl, as pianists. The executive as a whole will act as the finance committee.

The object of the Dramatic Society is to train the younger generation in town in the various stages of dramatics, and all proceeds of any public activities will be devoted to charitable causes.

The first exhibit of talent will take place on Wednesday, December 7th when the society will present a series of playlets ,interspersed with vocal solos, and novelty tap-dancing, and closing with Uncle Joshua and his Frogtown Minstreals. The proceeds from this will provide Christmas cheer boxes to those in need.

Talk On Clothing Given Havelock W.I.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Nov. 18.—A special meeting of the Havelock Branch, Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the council chamber when the demonstration on "The Care of Clothing" was very capably given by Mrs. Clare Price, secretary, who was the Institute's delegate to attend this course in Peterborough.

An interesting description of how to wash and dry woollens; remove spots from clothing; dry clothes in winter; washing different materials; what soaps to use, and much other valuable information to housewives in general was given by Mrs. Price. Assisting her were Mrs. J. Armstrong, who demonstrated the proper way to press suits, and Mrs. W. Rose, who demonstrated how to iron men's shirts.

Dr. H. Walker Dead

LONDON, Nov. 18—(CP Cable).—Dr. Jane Harriett Walker, who introduced to England open-air treatment of tuberculosis, died today at the age of 79.

Her untiring efforts in the campaign against the disease brought her a companionship of honor in 1931. Nearly 40 years ago she started the East Anglican sanitarium at Nayland, Suffolk, and had since been its medical superintendent.

Bomber Order Under Fire

LONDON, Nov. 18—(CP Cable).—Criticism of the agreement between the British government and Canadian Aircraft Manufacturers for an initial order of long-range bombers was voiced in the House of Commons today by Sir Hugh Seely in moving an opposition Liberal amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

He said he could not believe the decision announced yesterday was one which the house wished to accept.

"We know the air secretary is buying 400 machines in the United States," Sir Hugh declared. "He has also said he is setting up Lord Nuffield's factory for Spitfires, which is to produce 1,000 machines.

"But when it comes to this Canadian order he says it would not be in the public interest to disclose figures. It has been said they are going to manufacture Hampdens, but the Hampden is outdated now and will not be the machine you will need in 1940."

Referring to the inclusion of Handley Page, an aircraft manufacturer, on the committee which was responsible for recommending the agreement, Sir Hugh doubted if it was wise to ask a man to go out to report on building something which was going to compete against him.

"His patriotism, you may say, is sufficient in regard to that," he continued, "but it is very largely due to his views that you only get this very unsatisfactory result in the matter of Canadian production. You cannot produce a few machines between the present time and 1940 and, when you need production for war, extend it then."

Crokinole Party Is Held By A.Y.P.A

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 18. — The crokinole party staged by members of St. Andrew's Y.P.S. was a complete success, with 15 tables taking part in the fun. During the evening Mr. Raymond Wragg offered several vocal numbers, and prize winners were announced as follows: Mr. Charles Fraser and Miss Ruth McCredie winners of the ladies' and gentlemen's first prizes and Mrs. F. Adamson and Mr. Allan Raymond winners of the consolation prizes. So pleased were members by the large attendance that they announced a further party would take place shortly after the new year. Mrs. Cliff Vessey and Mrs. M. McFarlane were in charge of the tables.

Canadian Manufacturers Get Aircraft Contract

Sir Kingsley Wood, Secretary for Air, has made it publicly known that a contract has been signed between the British governmen and Canadian aircraft manufacturers for the construction of large bombing planes. The Air Secretary announced that the type of machine to be manufactured in Canada would be the Hampden, one of which is shown here as it was christened by Lady Hampden. Due to the peculiar appearance of these bombers they have been dubbed "flying suitcases" by airmen.

Soviet Press Warns Nazis Off Ukraine

MOSCOW, Nov. 18 (AP).—Soviet newspapers warned Nazi Germany today, the 20th anniversary of the ejection of German troops from the Ukraine, that any new attempt to conquer that territory would end in disaster.

The army paper Red Star said German militarists had forgotten everything they should have learned and "are howling again, to the east!"

"But they do not realize that the potentialities and inexhaustible reserves of the Soviet Union exceed anything that could be grasped by the bourgeois mind," the Red Star continued.

"At the very moment the Fascists dare touch us, the Red army will cross the border of the hostile country. Like an avalanche of steel it will rush upon territory of the war incendiaries. The Imperialist beast will be crushed in its den."

Janetville Friends Honor John Hall And His Sons, Lloyd And Leslie

(Examiner Correspondence.)

JANETVILLE, Nov. 18.—On Wednesday evening a large gathering of friends and members of the Presbyterian church assembled at the home of Miss Margaret Johnston in honor of Mr. John Hall and sons, Messrs. Lloyd and Leslie, who are leaving this community to make their home at Harwood where they have purchased a store.

The fore part of the evening was spent in friendly games of crokinole and this was followed by an enjoyable program for which Mr. Leonard McNeil was chairman.

During the evening Mr. Hall and his two sons were given prominent seats while Mr. Hildon Johnston read an address and Wilmer Fitze presented Mr. Hall with a club bag and Ross Carson presented sets of military brushes to Lloyd and Leslie.

Each of the recipients made suitable reply in an able manner.

Rev. W. H. V. Walker, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in a brief address commended Mr. Hall on the efficient way in which he carried out his duties as chairman of the church board and stated that his unfailing attendance at church and his great interest in church work had been an inspiration to both minister and congregation.

Lloyd and Leslie Hall were particularly active in the field of sport and will be exceedingly missed in all junior organizations.

Following an oral contest lunch was served and a memorable evening came to a close.

Mr. Hall has been a resident here for the past 15 years, having owned the store now operated by Mr. Cecil Brunt. The entire community sincerely regret their departure, but at the same time all extend best wishes for their future happiness and success.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

FISTIANA is a funny racket. And not always the ha-ha kind of funny, either. The manly art of self defence—called the sour science for short—has, like a veteran porcupine, its good and its bad points. On the whole, we rather like the mitt game but strictly as a spectator, believing that a sock on the foot is worth six on the chin. And that he who fights and runs away will live to fight another day. It's the Gypsy in us! As a fan, we like the boring-in boxer who belts away with both hands, dishing up heaps of acti on. But we also like the clever scrapper who has shifty feet, fast counter punches and the ability to roll with blows. Clever ring work is nice to view provided the pugs don't duel at six paces. Such gees are less likely to wind up slap happy from leading too often with the chin. It can occur in other games, too, and we know local rugbyists next thing to grid goofy, if we may coin a term.

* * * * * *

ON A CARD with five or six boxing bouts listed, like the mitt show tonight at the Brock, you can always bank on several sweet scraps, at least. Which is a good gamble from the fans' viewpoint. Lots of fistic action and good boxing shown. In this game, only a dumb leather-pusher will frame it in the clubroom and do a waltz o'er the resin. Powder-puff punches do not fool the fans, and ya simply can't successfully fake a fight. It's been tried a few times here and there, but the cash customers got wise in a round or so and didn't hesitate to roar: "Throw the bums out, they're stalling!" Your real fighter has weeks of hard training behind him when he steps into the ring for maybe 10 minutes actual battling. He is in the pink of condition, has plenty of real courage, a certain amount of ability and confidence in himself. He is a good specimen of physical perfection. Only a sap dodges training, as it'll show within two rounds—and he is liable to have his ears blasted right off by a rival. It's a tough game.

* * * * * *

An Odd Occupation

RASSLIN' is an odd occupation, and they sure drag in the customers. One minute a beefy bohunk will take a gentle cuff on his hairy chest and stagger around like a kid in his paw's pants, but the next instant he'll kick the other on the jaw, and head and floor meet so hard chips fly from both—and ya know that wasn't rehearsed. They give all they have and it's exciting entertainment. Rasslers frequently spend a day or two in the hospital. There may be gold in them thar spills, but we're satisfied with that little yellow filling the doc drilled into a back molar for us.

* * * * * *

ANYWAY, there will be both boxing and rasslin' at the Rue Brock this gloaming and you can get a load of the fun and ferocity for yourselves. Two good Toronto grapiers, and 10 mitt-slingers. Guys like Orlando, Ferguson, Hill, Scott, McIlmoyle, Spencely, Jordan, Joiner, Quirt and Redmond. Lineup and dope is in elsewhere. A good gang of athletes, who train hard, fight hard and bargain hard, too! They yell for high expenses when they come from Toronto to Peter's borough, not only as it's a long trip but also 'cause they meet good scrappers here. Three Toronto dudes lost on the last show. A hard, hard game where sentiment is just another word in the dictionary. Truly the sour science. And the brawny grapplers—they dish up the works for metropolitan crowds or a hand full of villagers. And do they beef or crab or squawk? Well, you're darned right they do!

* * * * * *

He's Still Biffing

BIFFER RANGER, 35-year-old veteran, who helped bring the Petes a senior puck title back in 1926, is with Wichita in the American Assoc. again this winter. Has been shifted to defence and got three scoring points in the first three games—besides drawing 14 minutes in penalties! As a U.S. clipping says "he carries one of the hardest shots in the league." They ran a couple of good pictures of him recently in the Wichita paper, these lines appearing under one: "Shift Biff—One of the most popular players on the Wichita Skyhawk aggregation is pictured above. He is Biffer Ranger, former winger who has been shifted to the back line by Coach Wilf Peltier. The new chief of the Hawk forces is confident that Ranger will handle the defensive job in fine style." The Biff and Mickey Murray, in goal for St. Paul in the same loop, ought to have a lot of fun 'gainst each other now.

* * * * * *

WHILE THE PETES await the O.H.A. meeting in Toronto on Nov. 26th to see whether they'll be classed as intermediate "A" or senior "B", and what grouping they'll get, the Colts likewise are worrying about their junior "B" grouping. Possibly Belleville and Oshawa will line up with 'em, but four teams are needed. There is some talk of the local Monarchs having a junior "C" O.H.A. grouping along with Port Hope, Bowmanville, Cobourg and Lindsay. It is uncertain yet whether the good Lindsay "C" team of last winter—which has been bolstered since—will move up to a "B" rating or stick with the "C" division .Another week may sort of settle things. Meantime, O.H.A. prospects here should get in some gym exercising at the "Y" at 8.15 on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

* * * * * *

And Thus It Goeth

AFTER ASKING for the playoff series with Albert Collitch of Belleville to be a sudden-death affair, the Bowmanville boys can't kick now at their 10-1 elimination in C.O.S.S.A. senior the other aft. A couple of injuries to stars ruined the Rubbermen's chances, but the Alberts must have a smart squad. Of the game here last Saturday, the Bowmanville writer says: "One lesson that can be learned from Peterborough is the fallacy of the old adage 'down and out'. P.C.I. were down 19 points but, backed by a large and enthusiastic crowd, Peterborough fought with all they had. Never has a team been greater in defeat than were the Petes. The officiating was nauseating. And that doesn't mean that it favored Peterborough, for the breaks seemed to be about even, but there were more funny decisions than a centipede has legs."

* * * * * *

BANGING AWAY in practices as they prepare to invade Montreal on the morrow for the first senior grid playoff, Sarnia Imps are knocking chips off each other. In fact, about four of 'em are laid up now and may miss the first melee. The Nats have a few minor injuries but aren't bouncing each other so hard in drills—sorta saving their savagery for the Sarnians. Unless the One-Man Gang, Bummer Stirling, is in top form, the Imps are going to take a trimming in the shadow of the C.N.R. workshops which surround the Nats gridiron. And mayhap Scribe Wilson of Sarnia—who penned a pungent piece not long ago re aroma de garbage which hangs o'er the Point Aux Charles playing field—will find a new hirocine odor faintly reminiscent of cheese! But it ought to be a tight tilt, and we'd be inclined to call the Nationals, even though the Imps seem to be really a-rollin' now.

Officials May Be Forced To Insure Lives

LONDON, Nov. 18—(CP Cable.)—An enterprising insurance company is convinced English soccer crowds are getting tougher. This week the company circularized league referees and linesmen inviting inquiry into a special "accident policy for football referees and linesmen."

During recent weeks hostile demonstrations, including an outbreak of stone-throwing, have occurred at a number of grounds where usually crowds are well-disciplined. The letters to league officials followed.

Meanwhile club managers in the United Kingdom are worrying over a heavy crop of injuries. In England no fewer than 40 players will be unable to participate in week-end games. Next week third division teams enter the English cup competition and no expense is being spared to keep the clubs at full strength.

Try a Little Pep Line

Pep talks were included in the training programs of Derby County and Everton during the week as a result of reverses suffered by the first division leaders a week ago. Derby county, leader with a two-point advantage, over the Lancastrians, has a tough home battle with Bolton Wanderers while its rival is favored to win over Manchester United.

Scottish soccer critics are examining the record of Hibernians as the result of a two-month spurt that has carried the Edinburgh Irhsmen into a third-place tie with their neighbors, Hearts, and Queen of the South. The Hibs have not been beaten at home since Sept. 14 and have captured 14 of 18 possible league points.

The green shirts, five points behind the leading Rangers, hope to improve their position Saturday in a home game against Partick Thistle, Rangers, out in front with 24 points, oppose Clyde at Ibrox Park, and Celtic, runner-up with 22 points, has a home game with Motherwell.

Edward Little Dies

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—(CP). —Edward Herbert Little, who is credited with having recruited a unit of naval workers for the dock-yard at Esquimalt, B.C., in the early days of the Great War, died here to-day. Stationed in South Africa at the beginning of the Boer war, he wired news of the start of hostilities to Gen. Baden-Powell, his telegram being among the General's prized collections.

The Wrong Boy

SAGINAW, Mich., Nov. 18.—(CP). —While Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keie were grieving over the reported death of their son Frederick, 13, the boy walked into the house. Neighbors at the scene of an automobile accident told Mrs. Keie that Frederick was killed and another boy hurt. Police would not let her come close to the bodies.

Cutting Christmas Trees

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 18. —(CP).—Cutting of Chrismas trees has begun in North Hastings county. First truck load of trees passed through here yesteray, consigned to Toronto.

Cold Weather Is No Swimming Bar Mother And Sons Dive In Daily

BARRIE, Nov. 18.—Despite wintry weather, Mrs. Harold V. Gosling, 160 Dunlop Street, Barrie, and her two sons, George, 17, and Tommy, 16, have been swimming daily in the waters of Kempenfeldt Bay. They go in at the foot of Poyntz Street.

Their usual hour for swimming is around seven o'clock in the morning, just after they get up.

Occasionally the trio — comely young mother and two strapping sons — go in swimming in the afternoon after school.

The Star watched them dive in unconcernedly.

"We expect to swim until it freezes over," said Mrs. Gosling. "Tommy and George and I haven't had a cold all fall and we have been swimming every day. It's the greatest thing going to keep one fit."

Harold V. Gosling, husband and father, also swims, but not as much as his family. He is a commercial man and is absent from home a great deal.

Two daughters, in their early 'teens, are also swimmers, and good ones. Like their mother, who won several swimming championships in earlier years. There is a third daughter, 17 months old.

The family came to Barrie three years ago.

MUSSING UP THE MAPLES

"Bud" Weese and the K. of C. bowling team broke out in another pin-spilling rampage at Duffus Alleys last night. Bowling in the City League, Weese topped a long list of top-notch 5-pin performers from the C.G.E., Bankers and City leagues when she smashed down 860 pins. Jack Playford, Roy Lewis and Reg Dyer were also in fine form to count 839, 830 and 809.

Fred Martin got away for 776 which included a 350 single. Tom Holyman chalked up 755, Dick Galbraith 750, Tommy Miller 748, Elgin White 746, Tom Cupoli 737 and Harold Dormer 702. In addition to the above City Leaguers the Bankers trotted out E. R. Taylor with 714 and L. LeClair with 706 while Newby had 664 (302) and McKillop 641.

Sands 685 led the parade of 17 crack trundlers from the 1st C.G.E. 16-team group. E. Kearns had 670, A. Heal 668, P. Weir 668, V. O'Connor 655, P. Townsend 653, C. A. Low 652 J. Marsden 641, W. T. Westran 640, W. Cowling 637, W. A. Masters 630, G. Jay 629, O. Taylor 620, P. Pryde, 610, R. Clifford 608, F. Doris 606 and Stevens 601.

When the last C.G.E. League finished Frank Wood had 798 and the night's highest single 356 C. Cox 740 (316), J. Playford 735, R. Clyde 725, L. Calladine 724 (307), J. F. Reed 716, (327), H. Kearns 612.

In the City League the Capitol Grill chucked off 3576 pins only to go down before another vicious bombardment by the K. of C. team which accounted for 3609. Graftons, another fancy squad of trundlers got only 1 point for 3357 pins when they stacked up again Fowler's Barbers 3409. The Examiner smothered Pattenicks by over 500 pins to take all four points while Duffus Recreation took 3 points from the I.A.C. Following are the City League scores:

Still hobbling around on an injured leg, Cal Moore, ABOVE, backfield and secondary defence ace with Ottawa Rough Riders, will probably be out of the first game of the Big Four finals against Toronto Argonauts.

SPORT SPICE

(By SID FEDER)

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—You can win yourself plenty of oughday around this town betting when Notre Dame played its first football game in New York...It was against Rutgers in '21...The Irish won 49-0.

United States golf officials still are hopeful Henry Cotton will come over for next year's campaigning, particularly for a World Fair tournament here...Incidentally, Henry averaged 72.25 for 20 rounds of competition to lead British pros in '38... Now that Jimmy Adamick is off the active list, the good Doc Kearns is looking for another "white hope" heavy.

Pitt goes for intercollegiate baseball for the first time next Spring... And Edgar Jones, a football halfback from Scranton, is rated as major league pitching material...'Nuff said..Ever since Gene Sarazen wrote his mag piece saying golf pros lose money around the circuit, the folks in the game are wondering what Ralph Guldahl, Denny Shute and Johnny Revolta used to build those new Florida homes...

Schoolboy stuff from here and there: Bob (Ding) Barry, Burlington (Wis.) halfback, scored 130 points in six games...Had 20 touchdowns and ten extra points...And twice knocked off six touchdowns in a game, most of 'em for 50 yards or better.

W. H. Hunt Passes

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18.—(CP). —William Henry Hunt, 70, former Canadian newspaper publisher and veteran member of the International Typographical Union, died here Thursday. Hunt had owned newspapers in Kenora, Ont., Moosomin, Sask., and Regina and was at one time connected with the Calgary Herald. He had been employed by the Vancouver Daily Province as a proof reader since 1902.

Just a Gift

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 (A.P.). —Ben Wolf received a $22.76 cheque from the Pennsylvania Highway Department, couldn't recall doing anything for the Department, and sent it back. Back came the cheque with this notation: "That's your pay for driving a truck 35 hours at 65 cents an hour." The figuring was all right, but—Ben's an artist, he didn't drive a highway truck, and he can't find the Ben Wolf who did.

Broader Code Is Approved For A.A.U. Use

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Nov. 18—(CP).—Strict rules of amateurism upheld by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada through many torrid convention battles are easier today and delegates with this contentious problem settled for another year, almed for conclusion of the 51st annual meeting by to-night.

The amateur code was broadened last night by approval of a constitutional amendment which its sponsor, Sydney Halter of Winnipeg, contends will pave the way for return to the union of Dominion hockey and basketball associations.

These organizations together with the national lacrosse body, withdrew following the 1936 annual meeting in Regina, where the union rejected proposals to permit compensation of athletes for the time lost from work while competing, use of athletic ability in obtaining employment and to allow professionals in one line of sport to play as amateurs in another.

Halter said after his amendment was approved by a show of hands, he believed hockey and basketball might find the new amateur definition acceptable. He would not commetn on the lacrosse situation.

The amendment reads: "No one shall lose his amateur status by reason of any matter or action, occurring in connection with a sport, the recognized international body of which permits such matter or action, notwithstanding that such matter or action constitutes an infringment of the definition of amateur or the amateur rules hereinbefore or hereinafter set forth."

"In effect the A.A.U. of C. now officially recognizes the amateur definition of each international governing body of sport which is so recognized by the International Olympic Committee," Halter explained.

For example, he said, an amateur can compete against a professional in hockey under some circumstances and by this action would not jeopardize his amateur standing with the A.A.U. although the union's code at present does not permit "intermingling."

The Philippine Islands have a cement shortage.

EIGHTEEN BILLION PASSENGER-MILES

WITHOUT ONE FATALITY!

A MAGNIFICENT RECORD... in one year, men, women and children travelled a total of more than eighteen billion miles by rail without a single passenger fatality as the result of a train accident!

With trains running on faster schedules than ever before, this is a tribute alike to railroad men and to the dependability of all railroad equipment. It is proof, if any could be needed, that the railroads take no chances with the equipment upon which the safety of passengers depends. And it is significant that for operating the signals that make today's higher train speeds safe, as well as for car lighting, air conditioning and other vital services, the country's leading railroads depend upon Exide Batteries.

With the experience of the railroads to guide you, there is no need to take chances when you require a new battery for your car. You know that Exides have proved their dependability for nearly half a century in many vital services. Is there any other battery that so thoroughly merits your confidence? Exides are priced for every car-owner. Look for the sign of the nearest Exide dealer — symbol of honest service.

MAPLE LEAFS DEFEAT AMERICANS 1-0 WHEN PEP KELLY SCORES

Wings End Jinx, Nip Canadiens 7-1 Handing Frenchmen 5th Loss; Rangers Drub Black Hawks By 1-0

By Jack Carter
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Away from the barrier at last after four stumbling attempts, Detroit Red Wings still could sympathize today with the National Hockey league fortunes of Montreal Canadiens, whose hopes of ever getting started look darker all the time.

When the Red Wings sped from the blackness of four successive defeats last night in a crushing 7-1 victory over the hapless Canadiens at Montreal, they stepped over the team that had been favored widely to lead the league from the season's start. And in Montreal's growing disaster Detroit must have recalled something of the 1937-38 campaign, when everyone called the Red Wings to repeat after winning the Stanley Cup for two years.

As Canadiens suffered their fifth straight loss, four other clubs exhibited increasing defensive strength to pit against the Frenchmen's attack if and when it starts to roll. New York Rangers remained the only unbeaten unit with a 1-0 victory over Chicago Black Hawks, who, despite their first loss, continued to lead the league. Toronto Maple Leafs slipped into second place, a point behind Chicago and a point ahead of Rangers, by stopping the Americans 1-0 at New York.

Hero of Detroit's swift reversal of form was Harvey Teno, a poker-faced little jumping-jack from Windsor, Ont., who has tended goal in just about every rink in Ontario. Teno replaced the suspended Normie Smith and didn't allow a goal until Rod Lorrain beat him in the third period. Simultaneously, Smith's demotion to replace Teno with Pittsburgh of the International-American League was announced.

Penalty Does It

The Wings started to strike halfway through the first period, when a penalty to George Mantha of Canadiens gave Marty Barry an opening for a goal. Before the chapter ended, the visitors had grabbed a 5-0 lead through the sticks of Don Deacon, Carl Liscombe, Barry again and Ebbie Goodfellow. Only goal of the second was another by Goodfellow and after Lorrain scored Syd Howe finished off the rout.

It was a goalies' night, as Dave Kerr of Rangers and Turk Broda of Toronto recorded their second shutouts of the young season.

Phil Watson, aided by Bryan Hextall and Babe Pratt, scored the second-period counter that brought Rangers their third successive win. Earl Seibert was in the penalty box when Watson cut in to slam the puck by Mike Karakas from 10 feet out, but the blueshirts carried the play even when Hawks were at full strength.

Pep Kelly starred with Broda at New York, sinking Nick Metz' pass six minutes after the third began with Lorne Carr in the penalty box. But it was Broda, fending off everything that came his way as Americans bore down repeatedly, who caught the eyes of the crowd of 9,000.

Remember When—

Alex Connell was signed by Ottawa Senators of the National Hockey League 14 years ago today. He guarded the nets for the Senators until 1933 when Ottawa dropped out o fthe league. He went to Detroit Red Wings in 1934 and in 1935 helped Montreal Maroons win the Stanley Cup.

Red Dutton's Men Were Taking No Chances

Expect 20,000 To See Riders, Argos Tangle On Toronto Field; 2 Montreal Games Live Affairs

By Sydney Gruson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Borrowing the words from Hollywood, a fitting description of tomorrow's Eastern football schedule might be any one of stupendous, colossal or magnificent.

The section's six strongest clubs, proven by arduous campaigns, will lock themselves in combat at Toronto and Montreal to decide the Intercollegiate Union championship and the first round of the Interprovincial and Ontario Union playoffs.

Ancient rivals of the Big Four, Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts will open a two-game total-points series for the Union championship before an expected crowd of 20,000 in Toronto. This looms as the day's outstanding game, though the clashes at Montreal between McGill and Western and Montreal Nationals and Sarnia Imperials will be fought just as hard and with as much at stake.

It will be the end of the season for McGill and Western, no matter the result. A sudden-death game decides the college title and the collegians for several seasons have left the matter of an Eastern champion up to the Big Four and the Ontario Union.

Fifteen thousand are expected to jam Molson Stadium in Montreal for the college final while across the city, Imperials and Nationals will try for their first decision in three starts before a capacity crowd at Alexandra Park. The return games will be played in Ottawa and Sarnia next Saturday with the Eastern final scheduled for Dec. 3.

Level after two meetings, Riders and Argos have primed their attacks in a week of hard drilling, the Scullers featuring ball handling while Coach Ross Trimble of Ottawa concentrated on ground work.

Against this Riders stack the most powerful grounds forces in the East. Murray Griffin, Dave Sprague, Hank Usher, Joe Zelicivotz and Bunny Wadsworth are the shock troops.

Two Members Of Lester Patrick's Squad Have Followed Strange Ice Paths

(By Central Press Canadian)

Short, story story of two wandering New York Rangers who got their start in professional hockey together, took widely separated paths and are now together on Lester Patrick's squad again.

Larry Molyneaux

Six years ago the Rangers and their farm team at that time, Springfield Indians of the Canadian - American league, were training at Lake Placid, N.Y. Battling to make a place the pro ranks were two and one was from the prairies, the other from Ontario.

Both players were impressive enough to warrant pro trials and signed with the Ranger farm. So far, so good. But midway through their first pro season the Springfield club blew up and back to the plans went the westerner, while his ephemeral teammate remained in the league, moving to Quebec Beavers and later to New Haven. A few thousand miles away the other half of the twosome caught on with Saskatoon in the Western Canada league, and from there moved to Vancouver in the Pacific coast loop.

Came the fall of 1935 and Maestro Lester and Co. took over Philadelphia's club in the International-American league, renamed it the Ramblers, and forged the final link in the now famous "3-R" chain, Rovers to Ramblers to Rangers.

In the course of building up the Ramblers a sturdy defence player was purchased from New Haven and a speedy forward from the Vancouver coast team. The years had added polish to the play of both and it wasn't long before they were knocking at the major league door. And successfully.

Clint Smith, born in Assiniboia, Saskatchewan, is the prairies product brought up from the Ramblers last year, to stamp himself as one of the year's best rookies. Fast-skating, play-making centre of the line flanked by Cec Dillon and Lyn Patrick, Clint has all his best hockey ahead of him.

The Ontario hopeful who made the grade with Springfield with Clint six years before is now burly, hard-hitting Larry Molyneaux. He didn't break in with quite the bang that the centre ice star did, but he appears to be up for good now. Last year he alternated between the Ramblers and Rangers, probably travelling further in the closing weeks of last year's campaign than any other player ever did in a similar period. He comes from Newmarket, Ontario, and the natives there, like those of Assiniboia, will probably be long-distance Ranger rooters for a number of years to come.

Mitt-Mat Card Here Tonight

Five fistic bouts and a wrestling match are on the card here tonight (Friday) at the Brock St. rink when the local Riverview A.C. stages its amateur show, commencing at 8.30 o'clock With a fine card lined up, moderating temperature, the show should draw a big crowd of fans of both sexes. It may be the last local ring program till spring and the local promoters have arranged one which promises plenty of exciting action and keen competition. Good officiating and no delays between bouts has been promised, so that fans should thoroughly enjoy the complete card.

The wrestling match is between two heavyweights from Toronto, Rene Lebelle and Ren Gazelley, two out of three falls with an hour time limit. Main five-round boxing bout sees Nick Orlando, local lightweight, tackle Auggie Ferguson of Toronto. Another headliner features Norm Hill, 147, of this city—former Detroit boxer—and Buster Scott of Toronto. Semi-final is between Dutch McIlmoyle and Frank Spencely, local 165-pounders who have a grudge. Pat Jordan battles Bill Joiner, 143, in an all-local prelim; and the curtain-raiser is between 80-pounders, Bob Quirt and Buddy Redmond. It is the only three-rounder, the rest going five heats, barring knockouts.

Brighton School Beats Belleville

BRIGHTON, Nov. 18.—Belleville Collegiate Institute rugby team played a second game against Brighton High School team, in Brighton, and lost to the newly organized local eleven, to the tune of a 16-7 score.

Belleville took first score by kicking for 1 point. A few minutes later Brighton also kicked for a point. At half time, the game stood 1-1.

In the second half, Brighton really got under way and Bill Potts broke through the Belleville line for a well-earned touchdown. Belleville came right back and, in turn, went over the line for a touchdown. Now, with Brighton down one point and fighting desperately Potts scored a second touch down for the home team. In the dying seconds of the game, Belleville fumbled while running out a kick from behind the line. Alan Sharpe recovered for Brighton, making the final score Brighton 16, Belleville 7.

Of Importance to Peterborough Telephone Subscribers

The dial system will be introduced in Peterborough about September, 1939.

As the majority of telephone numbers require to be changed, we suggest that business telephone subscribers make note of the date so that they may make necessary changes at the proper time in telephone numbers appearing on stationery, vehicles, signs, or elsewhere.

The telephone numbers of certain subscribers will be changed at the time of the issue of the February, 1939, directory, and these customers will be advised in due course.

Canada deals with 447 items in its tariff structure in concessions to United States. These involved 283 tariff reductions below existing rates, while 164 items are bound at the present level for the life of the agreement.

To facilitate the United Kingdom-United States trade agreement, Canada sacrificed the wheat preference and agreed to a reduction in the margin of preference of apples, pears, lumber and other commodities. South Africa agreed to lowering of the corn and fruit preference and the United Kingdom sacrificed a measure of its preference in Canada on a considerable range of commodities.

Concerning the removal of the six-cent-a-bushel wheat preference in the U. S. market, the official press summary of the treaty said:

"The economic effects of this duty have always been a matter of argument. In normal years the Empire as a whole produces a good deal more wheat than it consumes; and so long as it remains on an export basis it has been difficult, if not impossible for United Kingdom preferential duty on wheat to have any ascertainable effect on the prices received by overseas wheat producers. Wheat prices are much more responsive to changes in the general supply and demand position than to tariff preferences."

Nine Months' Work.

About a year ago it was disclosed that Canada and United States would open negotiations for an enlarged reciprocal trade agreement, and at the same time announcement was made that attempts would be made to negotiate an Anglo-American trade agreement.

Trade missions from London and Ottawa went to Washington nine months ago and have been there ever since working over the complex questions involved in agreement between nations with such tremendous export business.

Trade between United Kingdom and United States in the calendar year 1937 amounted to around $700,000,000, while that between Canada and the United States was more than $900,000,000.

Canada relinquished a measure of her preferences, chiefly on motor cars, in the British colonies and protectorates, in favor of United States.

To offset Canada's sacrifice of preferential treatment in Empire markets the United States gave the reduced fish, lumber, potato and other duties which have operated against certain sections of the Dominion.

In addition Canadians will benefit from the lowered cost of many manufactured articles, particularly heavy machinery used in mine and agricultural production, construction machinery, package foods, textiles, and numerous household articles. Canadian tariff is heavily reduced on tobaccos, confectionery and liquor.

Changes in the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreements and the agreement with South Africa necessary to facilitate the Anglo-American treaty were accomplished by an exchange of notes between the diplomatic representatives of those countries in Ottawa and Washington.

Ratified By Parliament

The agreements will have to be ratified by the parliaments of Canada and the United Kingdon at the earliest opportunity but President Roosevelt has power to act, to the extent he did, under authority given him by the trade agreements act of the United States congress.

Under that act President Roosevelt may lower tariffs to the extent of 50 per cent from the 1930 United States tariff without resort to congress.

The Canadian government, by order-in-council, may reduce tariffs but not raise them. But even the reduced tariffs must be submitted to parliament for ratification and the agreements signed today, so far as they affect Canada, will be submitted to parliament at the first opportunity when it meets early in January. In the meantime the reduced tariffs will become effective Jan. 1 by order-in-council.

twelve residents of the united counties had been commitee to the Counties Home since last June, a euphemism for the grim fact that twelve persons had to pass over the doorstep of the public home for indigents of Northumberland and Durham; and if they receive pensions of $20 a month at least $18 of that amount goes into the treasury of the counties, the general practice. There are now 83 inmates, 44 men and 29 women. There were 80 last June. Of the twelve committed since then, three died, five were discharged and one absconded.

The Board of Management advised that the appointment of its members be changed in future from the present personnel of three members for one year to three members as follows: one for one year; another member for two years and the third for three years.

Reeve C. M. Carruthers, Darlington, warned the council not to neglect the equalization of bridges, an oversight George Hooton discovered a few years ago with threats to terminate the municipal union. This question was left until January, and A. S. Miller, road superintendent, was requested to prepare the information for the incoming council.

The special schools committee was authorized to arrange for defense of the counties' interests in the event of the Wooler continuation school board going to court with their claim of $2,850.

R. J. Edmunds, Deputy-reeve of Port Hope, and dean of the council, said he did not wish to return next year but in parting he desired to thank all the members for the courtesy he had always received. He has been in the county council altogether fifteen years, "and I don't think I'm coming back again. I might but I really don't want to. Some of the other members are not likely to be back, and as we are about to adjourn for the last time this year I would like to tell you all how much I have appreciated the courtesy and friendly relations that exist here."

It is understood that Warden George is retiring from Brighton township's municipal affairs. Although he is still a young man he has been ten years a member of the counties council.

Sweden's economic boom is slackening slightly.

high point of Secretary Huul's reciprocal trade program, disclosed three outstanding facts:—

1. It reverses the British trend toward protectionism. Britain began to impose protective tariffs during and after the Great War and greatly increased them in the last six years.

2. It cuts appreciably into the Ottawa preferential agreement of 1932 which tended to link Britain and her dominions in a closer economic unit and to shut certain American goods from British markets.

3. It opens the British colonies to United States trade. At present the United States buys more than four times as much from the colonies as she sells, the total trade with them averaging $400,000,000 a year.

The British and Canadian agreements go into effect January 1 for a three-year period, and may continue in force indefinitely thereafter, subject to termination by either government on six months' notice.

Over 50 Colonies Included.

The agreement with the United Kingdom includes Northern Ireland, Newfoundland and more than fifty British colonies. American negotiators hope to complete the picture of commerce with the British Empire by opening discussions with Australia, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa and India.

United States Government financial experts said publication of the pact should dispel rumors that the treaty provided for devaluation of the pound sterling.

The State Department said it had obtained valuable concessions for American pork products in the agreement with the United Kingdom.

Principal concessions the Department noted for meat products in the agreement were elimination of the 10 per cent. duty on lard exported to the United Kingdom and the binding of the present free treatment for chilled and frozen pork against change. The United States was guaranteed "equitable quota treatment" for these products, the Department said.

The Department said a provision in the United Kingdom treaty against increasing the present 10 per cent. duty applicable to non-Empire sausage casings of animal origin was "useful in safeguarding American interests in the British market." It said exports of American sausage casings to the United Kingdom in 1937 represented 44 per cent. (by value) of the American sausage casing exports to all countries, compared with 26 per cent. in 1929.

Discussing the removal of the duty on lard in the agreement with the United Kingdom, the Department said lard ranked third in value of American agricultural products imported into the United Kingdom, exceeded only by raw cotton and tobacco.

Shoe Concessions.

The United Kingdom granted the United States concessions to-day on women's shoes in return for reduced American duties on English welted shoes. Duties on American women's shoes were reduced from 20 to 15 per cent. ad valorem by the United Kingdom, while the United States reduced its 20 per cent. ad valorem duty on high-grade welted shoes to 50 cents a pair with the stipulation the ad valorem duty must not be less than 10 per cent.

The Untied Kingdom also granted concessions the state department said would cover at least 80 per cent of the United States leather goods trade either through duty reductions or binding present tariff levels.

The principal concession was a reduction the 15 per cent ad valorem duty on patent to 7½ per cent. However, this item must be approved by parliament. British negotiators assured the United States this action would be taken August, 1939.

Other reductions on American leather imports to the United Kingdom included women's handbags and various types of leather belting.

The United States also reduced the ad valorem duty on men's gloves 31 per cent and on women's gloves 23 per cent. Gloves of leather made from horsehide or cowhides, except calfskin, were reduced 40 per cent ad valorem.

Pottery Reductions

The United States granted tariff concessions to the United Kingdom on earthenware and pottery.

Most important concession, the state department said, was a reduction of from $2.50 to $1.75 a long ton in the duty on kaolin or china clay, imports of which from England totalled $1,120,000 last year.

The department said some domestic users of china clay prefer the imported product. Imports are equal to about one-fourth of domestic production.

The agreement also reduced the duty on decorated plates, cups and saucers of earthenware from 50 to 30 per cent of the value, but left the specific duty of 10 cents per dozen pieces unchanged.

Tree Saves Two Men

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Nov. 18—(AP).—A fortunately placed tree saved two men from possible death today when their skidding automobile halted near the edge of the Niagara River Gorge, a drop of more than 150 feet.

The accident occurred near the Niagara University campus. The machine leaped a curb, struck the tree and stopped. Neither of the occupants, whose names were not learned, was severely injured.

Women Kidnappers

FLINT, Mich., Nov. 18.—(CP). — Two Detroit men waited trial here to-day on charges of making a "wholesale business of kidnapping women," police said Henry Cron, 27, and Ray Mills, 31, admitted impersonating officers and ordering women out of parked cars in a "lovers' lane" near here.

LOWERING OF TARIFF WALL WILL BENEFIT ONTARIO FARMERS

Heads Of Peterboro' Industries Believe Wider Markets Be Had For Primary Producer

Lowering of the United States tariff wall against Canadian agricultural products was regarded locally as a substantial benefit to Ontario farmers from the new trade agreement signed in Washington on Thursday.

Wider markets are considered the primary problem of the farming industry of this country and especially of Ontario, and it is generally believed from the first reading of the press reports of the terms of the new pacts should have the effect of increasing to a large extent exports of cattle, dairy products, horses, potatoes, lumber, shingles and other wood products, fish, and other commodities.

Concessions extended by Canada to American manufactured goods includes a reduction on cream separators, naturally of special interest to the De Laval Company. W. R. Breyfogle, general manager, was interviewed by the Examiner this morning, and made the following statement:—

"There are one or two tariff changes, involved in the United States - Canada - United Kingdom treaty, which affect our industry, but to what extent remains to be seen.

Cream separators are affected through the reduction in the tariff from 25% to 12½%.

Dairy machinery, on a considerable list of items, is affected by a reduction from 27½ to 15%.

Additionally, the excise tax of 3% is removed, but the import tax 8% apparently remains on most items.

There are a number of other tariff changes involved in connection with the materials entering into manufacture that may prove helpful in some degree. Until the changes are thoroughly studied, and the results of the changed tariffs determined, any further observations are obviously premature

It goes without saying that there will be increased competition within Canada, but, on the other hand, there may be export opportunities in compensation."

Aid To Cattle Market

Gordon S. Matthews, general manager of Canada Packers Limited, expressed the opinion that the cattle clauses of the new agreement apparently offered a distinct advantage to the farmers of this country.

"It should help the farmers by offering them a greater market, thereby reducing the surplus of cattle in this country," Mr. Matthews said, "and finally tending to give more steadiness to our own market. Stronger markets are better for the packing industry, and with the broader opportunity of increasing exports of cattle to the United States, our markets should be strengthened. Our producers filled their quota to the United States last year, but not this year."

Doubtful of Grains

Col. John A. Dewart said he was somewhat dubious about advantages to the grain growers of this country. The agreement confirms the reductions previously allowed on clover seed, but on the other hand Canada was foregoing her six cent a bushel preference on wheat in the British market. Col. Dewart said that seemed a heavy price to pay for the considerations otherwise given to Canadian farm products.

"However, it is a step in the right direction," he added. "It promises a great increase in trade between the Empire and the United States, and if it results in expanding our exports of agricultural products to the extent that is desired it will do a great good because at present prices agriculture cannot carry on."

J. J. Duffus, M.P.

J. J. Duffus, M.P., said the King government had given primary thought to finding an outlet for the natural products of Canada as a practical means of endeavoring to build up prosperity.

"I have had just a chance of glancing over the morning news, and I feel certain that agricultural, lumbering, fishing and mining industries are going to be strongly stimulated by the new agreement," Mr. Duffus said. "Personally, I am convinced that this country cannot be prosperous if our primary producers are not prosperous. I expect to see farmers take greater advantage of the increased market for cattle, both beef and dairy, because of the knowledge and assurance that this export outlet is to be continuous. Then there are the new concessions to Canadian butter and cheese, milk and cream, honey, potatoes, and so on. The fact that there is no quota limit on dairy cows is an assurance that our breeders in this part of the province will continue to have a big market right at their boundary at a time when we have more and better pure bred herds than ever before in our history."

Mr. Duffus said he expected there would be unanimous approval of the fact that the great English speaking democracies had been brought into closer relations than have existed between them for three hundred years. In that new relationship Canada had been an intermediary, fulfilling an opportunity she had long sought in cementing goodwill and understanding between Great Britain and the United States.

"The operation of the new agreements will take some time to demonstrate their actual effects," Mr. Duffus said, "but undoubtedly they are offering valuable concessions in the markets of the United States for the farmers, lumbermen, fishermen, and other Canadians producing natural products of soil, the woods and mines and the sea."

Looking For Kernels

R. E. Cutting, general manager of the Quaker Oats Company, told the Examiner that he had not seen a copy of the agreement, and as far as the first press reports might have been a help they presented so many opinions and comments that it was difficult to determine definitely the scope of the agreement between Canada and her neighbor.

Aid Consuming Public

Honourable G. N. Gordon, K.C., said that he had read the press reports of the Canadian-United States agreement in which the British government will join, and there is a very great advantage for the farmers of Ontario, Quebec and in the Maritime Provinces, while a loss on the United Kingdom wheat preference of 6 cents takes place, yet the wide concessions for farm produce generally to the United States seems to more than balance any loss that takes place to the Western Provinces.

The fact that C. L. Burton, who has been president of the board of trade of Toronto and who is the president of the Robert Simpson Company, speaks so highly of the treaty indicates that there is an advantage to the consuming public in Canada. The effect should be much increase of export of milk, cheese, cattle, hogs and sheep to the United States which will have a direct effect on increasing the purchasing power of the farmers and improve and increase sales by merchants and Canadian manufacturers.

The lumbering industry should be improved by the reduction of tariff on lumber and shingles to the United States.

It is a refreshing sign to see that Hitler's new Germany is on the black list and is outside the zone of dealings by the Dominions of the British Empire as well as the United States. This appears, so Mr. Gordon said, about the only way that will impress the Germans that their terrorizing attitude towards the Roman Catholics and other Christian faith as well as the Jewish people is a kind of lawlessness that will not be tolerated by the English-speaking nations.

National Viewpoint

John R. Marshall, general manager of the Canadian Nashua Paper Company, said that from the newspaper report of the agreement its features relating to paper schedules did not affect his company. "I think it would be unwise to express any definite opinion," Mr. Marshall added. "It seems to me with the United States market open to us on a broad basis it should be of material help to our farmers. Possibly some industries may be handicapped as compared with what they have been, but that remains to be seen. We should look at these agreements from the national standpoint. How are they going to affect this country as a whole. If they bring more income to farmers, that money will reach through the channels of trade, back to our manufacturing industries, giving more employment, stimulating business."

Mr. Marshall said that one question arising at present was whether our primary producers were in a position to take advantage of the new trade concessions offered by the United States.

Officers Of Diocesan Union

JUDGE L. V. O'CONNOR

T. J. BEGLEY

Judge L. V. O'Connor of Cobourg, elected president on Thursday of the Diocesan Union of Holy Name Societies for the diocese of Peterborough at a convention held in the Lyceum on Simcoe Street. One hundred and ten delegates attended. Thomas J. Begley of Lindsay was elected secretary-treasurer.

Diocesan Union Is Organized Of Holy Name Societies

More than 100 delegates from Holy Name Societies in the Diocese of Peterborough attended a special meeting in the Lyceum yesterday afternoon when a Diocesan Union of all Holy Name societies in the diocese was formed, and delegates named to attend the provincial conference to be held in Toronto next June.

Rev. Father V. J. McAuley of Campbellford, spiritual director of the society explained that provincial wide union of all Holy Name Societies was the objective, with the hope of national union within a year.

Delegates attended from every parish in the diocese from Huntsville on the north, Wooler and Cobourg on the south, Lindsay, Hastings, Bowmanville, Trout Creek, Bracebridge and many other centres. Douro, Downeyville, and all other rural parishes had their representatives along with the three city parishes.

Judge L. V. O'Connor was elected president of the Union; Denis Larkin, Cobourg, is vice-president; T. J. Begley of Lindsay, secretary-treasurer, and J .A. Dwyer, Parry Sound, is assistant secretary.

Bring Men Closer Together.

Bishop O'Connor welcomed the delegates and voiced approval of a plan which would bring Catholic men closer together. "In these days of waning spirituality and growing materialism, there is great need for Catholic Action, he said, and added, only the godless will find fault with you.

Father Moloney of the Church of the Sacred Heart, who also spoke, briefly deplored the fact that Catholic people leave too much to the priests in the matter of organizations for the laity. He said the members of the Holy Name Society were expected to get behind any organization or movement for the good of youth which the clergy start, as these had but two aims, namely seeing that the children grew up to be good Catholics and good Canadians.

A NEW BARBER

Peterborough added another barber today when Cecil Thompson of Toronto opened for business in the former Forsythe stand at 56 Hunter street. Mr. Thompson is a brother of A. E. Thompson realtor.

850 POUNDS OF TURKEY.

Between fifty and sixty large turkeys were on display in the window of John Allen, George Street grocer, last night. They will all be eaten at one sitting when the Knox United Church holds its annual fowl supper next Tuesday night. Women of the church will cook the turkeys, total Weight of which is 850 pounds.

INCREASE REPORTED.

Firemen report a slight increase in the number of toys being sent to them for repair, but are insistent a much greater response must be given by the public if all the city's children are to have a visit from Santa this Christmas. Not even a plea of "too busy" is possible for the householder any more. All he or she has to do is to telephone "24—no fire," tell anyone there the address, and a fireman will call for any toys that are offered.

RETREAT TO RAINCOAT.

Downtown stores that have been displaying winter overcoats in prominent places in their widows, were busy this morning making a hasty change over to raincoats. Many merchants were bemoaning the change in weather, but others were hopeful it would aid in the selling of rubbers and overshoes. Unseasonable weather this year has left many with large stocks of rubbers, raincoats, and other fall supplies, and winter garments in which they have a good deal of money invested, are moving extremely slowly. Garages too are affected by the weather, one proprietor reporting that he has close to five hundred dollars' worth of various kinds of anti-freeze products, winter oils and greases, windshield defrosters, and other equipment, and that little of it is moving.

Curran Stands By His Wolf Theory

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 18 (CP)—J. W. Curran, who made famous the challenge, "any man who sez he was et by a wolf is a liar," stood by it today—and more. The publisher of the Sault Ste. Marie Star insists no man ever was attacked by a wolf.

Along came C. J. Barnes, Algoma district wolf bounty officer, this week with an affidavit by E. Donaldson, Hornepayne section man, that the wolf Donaldson killed last week attacked him first.

Barnes mentioned that the Sault publisher years ago offered $100 to anyone who could prove the wolf attacked humans.

"Every wolf jumps at his victim's throat—in the story," commented Curran today. "But I investigated about 60 of those yarns till I got discouraged. They always turn out to be just yarns."

Group Of Distinguished Lecturers Will Be Heard At Junior Farmers' School

The Keene school of elementary agriculture and home economics, which starts next Tuesday will have many distinguished lecturers, but the most surprising of them all, in view of the nature of the course, will be G. E. Reaman, M.S., B., Ph.D., principal of the Glen Lawrence school and a noted psychologist.

A course in psychology is a new feature of such schools, and it will be interesting to see what progress is made, said Frank Paterson, agricultural representative, who is principal of the Keene school. The course on "Rural Psychology" will be given in five lectures that will include a study of psycho-analysis as propounded by Freud, Jung and Adler.

Pupils attending the course are expected to be the cream of the farm crop, according to Frank Paterson. He said they are as much in contrast to ordinary pupils as night school scholars are to the average day pupil. "These people, like the night pupils, are attending the course because they really want to learn something that they need in their every day life," he explained. The course is primarily intended for young men and women who have definite problems and who want to learn something that they need in their every day life," he explained. The course is primarily intended for young men and women who have definite problems and who want to learn a means of overcoming them "We want no dull students who would rather be somewhere else, sitting in at our classes," he said.

A difficult task must of necessity face the teachers at such a school, he commented. He pointed out that pupils are of varying ages and that they have had varying amounts of formal education. The lectures must be planned so as to be understood both by the high school graduate—and sometimes the university graduate—and by the boy who never finished public school, but who is nevertheless a keen student.

Besides imparting information needed in farm life, the teachers hope through the course to develop personality. One difficult task before them is teaching of public speaking to a group who have passed the school age and who are not accustomed to making speeches of any kind.

Eight Deer, Two Wolves Are Bagged By Peterborough Rod and Gun Club

Two wolves and eight deer were brought back from the Parry Sound district last night by the Peterborough Rod and Gun Club composed of six local men and two Americans.

The wolves were shot by Jim Geraghty of this city and Jim Whitely of Utica, N.Y., who along with Howard Landers of the same city accompanied the party. Both Americans and every other member obtained a deer. They report that wolves were plentiful in the district and they heard the howls of hunting packs practically every night they were in camp.

The camp was located on Wilson Lake, 35 miles north-west of the town of Parry Sound and about 20 miles south of Pakesley. In the district there is a chain of nine lakes and nine hunt clubs were shooting in the area. Local hunters report that every club had exceptional luck, and there was not a single accident in any camp.

The party included Joe McGillen. Seve Elliott, Tom Sullivan, Jim Geraghty, Tom Ashby, Ed Freeman and the two Americans. It is also reported that the Irishmen in the party brought their fishing tackle along and took advantage of the regulations in that section to provide pickerel and pike for the Friday meal. The fishing was excellent and the hunt was voted one of the most successful ever engaged in by this party.

Durham Boys Runners Up To Champions

"Our boys made a fine showing," said Frank Paterson, agricultural representative, commenting on the work of Gordon Stalker, Harold Donaldson, and Jim Moore in the inter-county live stock judging competitions at the Royal Winter Fair. The boys finished third.

Mr. Paterson was in Peterborough for a few hours yesterday, returning to the fair last night. Thirty teams were entered in the competition from all parts of the province, he said, and the trophy was won by a team from Middlesex County.

The Peterborough team is the same one that captured second honors at the Ottawa Winter Fair last year. Because no team may judge twice at the Toronto Fair, they will now disband and another team be chosen. Mr. Paterson pointed out that this year's team placed much closer to the trophy than did last year's, which placed seventh.

Gordon Stalker and Harold Donaldson both won gold medals in the competition for ranking highest in two classes of stock. Stalker won his for placing first in beef cattle judging, while Donaldson's was for judging sheep.

In the individual contest Gordon Stalker placed sixth, and Jim Moore was 8th, Gordon Fallis of Millbrook, a member of the Durham County team, finished 12th.

The Durham County team were runners-up for the championship. Members consisted of Gordon Fallis, Lloyd Metcalfe of Bowmanville, and Howard Millson of Enniskillen.

New Radio Store To Open In City

Jack G. Gledhill and Jack D. Huggins of Peterborough have just completed arrangements for leasing the premises at 299 George street, where they will carry a complete line of battery and electric radios and appliances and an up-to-date service department.

Mr. Gledhill has seven years' experince in the technical branch of the radio busines, both as an operator and as a service expert. He is well and favorably known to Peterborough radio users having been associated with a local retailer for the past four years.

Mr. Huggins has resided in Peterborough for fourteen years and has made a great many friends locally. He has a wide experience in retailing which should prove of real service to city and country residents.

Mr. Gledhill and Mr. Huggins are convinced that Canadian business is going to climb steadily to new peaks of prosperity and consider the time ripe to offer their services as retailers. They are planning extensive improvements to their present location within the next few months and are optimistic as to the sales possibilities offered by the Peterborough market.

Both rural and city dwellers are heartily welcomed to visit the new premises and inspect the carefully chosen lines now on display.

The Rambling REPORTERS

A MYSTERY

Steve Elliott and Tom Ashby are convinced that Jim Geraghty's reputation as a big game hunter preceded him in the Parry Sound district where the three and other local hunters have been deer hunting during the past two weeks.

According to Geraghty's hunting companions, the latter shot at a deer, and it dropped dead. When it was being dressed, one man remarked that there was no bullet mark, so a thorough examination of the carcass was made and failed to reveal any spot where the animal had been shot. The men arrived at the conclusion that the deer had died of fright as soon as Geraghty raised a gun.—McG.

Rev. J. H. Walker Accepts Call

One of the longest pastorates in the district was concluded, when the Rev. J. H. V. Walker accepted a call from the congregation of Stirling and West Huntingdon at a meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough, Presbyterian Church in Canada, held in St. Paul's Church Thursday afternoon. For the past twenty-one years, Mr. Walker has been minister of the associated congregations of Janetville, Nestleton and Ballyduff, and representatives were on hand to express their esteem and regret at his leaving. The call from Stirling was presented by the Rev. W. A. Hunter of Madoc, who spoke enthusiastically of the unanimity of the people. Representatives from Janetville who spoke were Messrs. T. Johnstone, Wm. Weiss, Cecil Wilson; from Nestleton, Messrs. Herbert Hooey, Wm. Hooey, R. Porter and Miss Porter; and from Ballyduff, Messrs. Wm. Davidson, Henry Ward and H. Stewart. The translation takes effect on Nov. 30, and the pulpit will be declared vacant by the interim moderator, Rev. H. R. Williams of Millbrook, December 4. A special minute embodying a tribute to such a long pastorate of twenty-one years was moved by Alderman Dutton, who reminded the Presbytery that Mr. Walker was "the only minister who remained from the old regime to 1925."

A re-arrangement of the boundaries of the Presbyteries of Lindsay, Toronto and Peterborough is contemplated, and Revs. Dr. Barr and J. B. Rhodes, Cobourg, together with Messrs. James Dutton and J. MacGregor, Campbellford, was appointed to meet with representatives from the other Presbyteries concerned to discuss the proposal.

Deer While Being Carried Out Suddenly Comes To Life And Gives Man A Real Test

Strange tales have been told of the men who search for gold in the northland and of the mighty hunters who by their amazing strength and courage wrest a livelihood from Mother Nature in the wilds of Canada; but to-day a story was related that may be labelled as the strangest and almost unbelieveable to ever come out of the northern part of Peterborough county.

Gene Hurtubise, 256-pound giant and one-time amateur heavyweight wrestling champion of Ontario, is said to have broken the neck of a 200-pound buck with his bar hands in a battle royal while on a deer hunt with three companions last week.

Hurtubise with Fred Marshall, former game overseer; Marshall's brother George from Toronto, and Clinton Heath from the C.G.E. Company were hunting north of Apsley last week. It had been agreed before the hunt started that Gene would carry out any game that would be killed by the quartet.

The Marshall brothers down a large buck, dressed it and hung it on a tree for Gene to bring to camp as soon as he was told about it. The following afternoon the four left camp, and Gene was told the deer was in the woods ready to be brought out, but they did not tell him the animal had been dressed. Just before they separated another large buck went sailing by, some distance away and every one of the hunters except Hurtubise, fired at it. Evidently they had missed.

Hurtubise continued on through the woods and soon came across a buck lying dead. He figured immediately this was the deer shot that morning by Marshall and the one he must carry out. He placed his shotgun alongside a large tree and shouldered the deer which weighed more than 20 0pounds. He had not travelled more than fifty feet when to his amazement the deer suddenly came to life, and started to kick. Hurtubise recovered from his surprise and was determined the deer was not going to get away, so the two locked in a battle that will go down in history.

Watched Battle.

A shout from the surprised man brought the other hunters running and when they arrived, dead leaves, rotten tree stumps and limbs were flying in every direction, and saplings were being smashed down as the deer and Gene went to the mat in a death struggle. His companions were unable to shoot for fear of hitting Gene, so stood watching the unusual spectacle. Suddenly Gene got hold on the animal's neck and with a mighty hug that would have broken the back of an elephant, snapped the deer's neck and it dropped dead at his feet.

Hurtubise proceeded at once to criticise his companions for playing such a joke on him, but when the argument settled they convinced Geene that he had picked up the wrong deer. The men finally decided that one of the bullets fired a few minutes before at the buck had struck an antler near the base, stunning the animal for a short time which ,according to hunters, is not unusual.

This week Hurtubise is being driven to work in a car and, his friends notice that he is walking with a pronounced limp which is believed to be an injury received in the battle.

Rugby players and fans of three decades ago will remember the young giant who played on the Peterborough teams. He is a big man to-day, stands well over six feet and weighs 256 pounds and is still strong as an ox.

The story although approaching close to the borderline of the unbelievable is vouched for by Fred Marshall, former game overseer, and others are agreed that a man with Hurtubise's strength would have little trouble breaking a deer's neck.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY ELIZA HICKEY.

Requiem Mass was sung yesterday at St. Peter's Cathedral for the late Mary Eliza McCarroll, widow of Edward J. Hickey, who died at 621 Union Street on Tuesday.

Rev. P. J. Kelly sang Mass and Rev. Dr. Masterson officiated at the graveside. Interment took place at St. Peter's Cemetery. Pall-bearers were all grandsons of Mrs. Hickey. They were Frank, John, Elmer, James, and John L. Hickey, and Gregory Pearson.

MRS. WILLIAM MURPHY

The funeral of the late Mrs. William Murphy, who died at her home 491 Elm street, yesterday morning will take place from the Funeral Home of Lane and Eano Saturday morning at 8.45. Requiem Mass will be celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral, and burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

She was 61 years of age, and is survived by her husband, W. A. Murphy, one son James of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. George Lemoire and Mrs. Samuel Low. One sister, Mrs. Thomas Perry also survives. She was born in Ireland and moved to this city from Hastings, Ontario, 30 years ago. Her maiden name was Johanna Burke.

Actinolite Mill Has $6,000 Fire

TWEED, Nov. 18. — Fire broke out this morning at 2 o'clock at Major Price's Lumber Mill, Actinolite, and destroyed $6,000 to $7,000 worth of dressed lumber. The blaze was of unknown origin. Much stock was saved by the arrival of the Tweed Fire Brigade, which made the five-mile run from Tweed in fast time.

Major Price said the loss was partly insured, but he is mystified by the outbreak, as all was apparently in fine order when the day's operations ceased last night.

Hunters Return With Full Quota

Bringing back their full quota of deer, 10 members of the Peterborough Hunt Club returned yesterday from a successful hunting party in the Sudbury district. Included in the catch was a buck weighing 220 pounds and two in the 200-pound class. The hunters reported that weather conditions were ideal, with no snow or frost until the last day, and that three dogs proved a big help on the hunt. They claimed it was one of the most successful trips since the club was formed 15 years ago, and that deer were quite plentiful through the north.

The party spent 10 days in camp and experienced no trouble in shooting their quota. In the party were: George Robertson, captain, Ralph Godfrey of Hiawatha, Wallace Harvey, Ev. Taylor, C. Taylor, E. Brown, John Brown, Harry Pinn, Bruce Payne and Wally Davidson. "I have never seen deer so plentiful in our district in the past 10 years," Mr. Robertson said upon his return.

ROMANCE, INC.

BY OREN ARNOLD

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture, Bob Towne, football end and campus hero, and some of the other students, are arrested by the new sign in front of the Davis cottage announcing a "COUNSEL IN ROMANCE".

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 3

SARA SUE DAVIS, the girl, and SARA SUE DAVIS, Inc., were individually and jointly as nervous as possible. She peeked every few seconds through her front curtains to see the group of Rice boys and co-eds staring at her sign and cottage, reading the student newspaper, laughing and speculating as to her advertised "Counsel in Romance."

She wanted to go hide in the attic and bite her finger nails, she told herself. But she was a mature widow of 23, and a business woman. True, some of those collegians were as old as she, especially the seniors, but she had to act older and "go out after business." These were recession times, her banker had told her; she must not sit down and idly wait for customers, she must be aggressive.

Sara Sue Davis, personally and incorporated, therefore fluffed up her curls—Sara Sue's curls really were almost red—and hastily added a touch more of rouge. She smiled at herself in the entrance hall mirror, a practice corporate smile, then instantly changed into what she fancied was severe business-like manner. She cleared her throat opened her front door and stepped determinedly out.

A chorus of hellos and how-are-you's answered.

"Are you—can't you—won't you come in? Mother's—mother's inside. And—" It was a very lame invitation. The prim speech she had imagined, now refused to jell.

A big tall collegian was first to answer. A handsome youth, with black hair, and a contagious smile. His leadership seemed to be unconscious, habitual. He stared hard at Sara Sue as he spoke.

"Thanks. Thanks, we'd like to," said Bob Towne. "We were just reading the sign. And the Thresher ad. We'd like to meet her, I'm sure."

That's all that was needed. The sign itself said "Come in". And the pretty girl had said it. Curiosity already was at high pitch. The group swarmed into the cottage quietly, speaking in interested undertones.

"How do you do—all of you?" Mother Davis' manner was almost benign. Past middle age, this mellowed soul could show calm and genuine friendliness.

Again came a chorus of polite answers.

Sara Sue had followed them in, of course, and felt now that she simply must take charge, despite her stage fright. She swallowed hard, blushed and pitched in.

"I want to welcome you again," she began. "Won't you find seats? Anywhere. I have put in a great many chairs, and a lot of extra cushions. Just sit on the floor if the chairs run out.

"Now, perhaps I'd better offer to answer any questions. You read the Thresher announcement. Does anyone—anyone want to inquire further about the plan?"

"Is it really a date bureau?"

"Can we have parties here?"

"Can you find me a sweetheart?"

The questions came in a flood, some serious, many in humorous vein. Sara Sue bit her lip, and kept smiling. Bob Towne was staring at her still, and she noticed that. She didn't mind, but his gaze was so rapt—

"Maybe I'd better tell you all about it," Sara Sue resumed.

"No, I'm not going to run an escort bureau, or a gigolo service, or anything like that. But I have planned—"

"Pardon me," Bob Towne broke in, "but you say 'I.' Will you be one of the assistants or something?"

"No. I'm—I'm the corporation. I am Sara Sue Davis. OH, I am so sorry I overlooked introductions! Please forgive me. Will—will each one of you tell your name now? I—I—"

"YOU'RE Miss Davis?" Bob Towne jabbed his question at her.

"Mrs. Davis. And this is my mother-in-law, Mrs. Davis also."

"Oh," murmured Bob. "You're married. Married."

"I was. Mr. Davis—passed away. Four years ago. He was a Rice student, too. But am I not to hear your names?" She smiled engagingly at them.

Something very positive was happening to young Bob Towne while introductions were under way. Frist a letdown, then a revival of spirit. A revival when he learned that this utterly fascinating girl was a widow.

The dress she wore was blue, he noted. Blue with some white doodads on it. Beautiful. Her hair was nestly. He'd bet it was soft, and pleasant to touch. But most striking of all were her cheeks.

Cheeks are seldom given their due, in appraisal of feminine beauty. Poets sing of eyes and lips. Artists create busts and limbs. But cheeks—Mrs. Davies' cheeks were like—like peaches. No! That sounded like Peaches Pomeroy, and hers were hollow. Sara Sue's were plump, rounded, like apples in shape and tint. No, Bob told himself, that sounded silly. Why think of fruit? They were—gee!

His racing thoughts were interrupted by her speech again.

"—the result of careful investigation, which revealed a definite need for a pla nof this sort." She was going well now, sure of herself. "I want my cottage to be an intimate social home for students away from their own homes. I know you have some fine characters. I know you want to build those characters, and I know you will be having many thoughts about—love.

"I believe in love. I—"

"Me, too!" That was Bob Towne's voice. Laughter trailed him.

But Sara Sue squelched him with a look. "—I am not joking, Mr. Towne. I mean it! I believe in love. I believe it is the most important thing in the world. I believe it is the key to all happiness. It is much more important than—than football. Or even than classroom studies. And colleges pay too little attention to it. I mean, they don't offer guidance and help in bringing young people of the right sort together, under favorable circumstances. They don't enable boys and girls to meet the kind of mates they could be happy with.

"Now I am not able to solve all the problems of young lovers, surely. But I can be a confidante. I can keep secrets," she paused to smile at them, sweetly. "I really can, and I will. I expect I shall be the most value to co-eds, rather than to boys, for I can talk girl talk with them and help them with their personal problems. But I will try to help the boys all I can, too. I am mature, and—and experienced."

Mother Davis quietly smiled at this, but said nothing.

"I want you all to make this cottage a loafing place. We have a piano. And a radio and phonograph. This is a big living room, where we —where you could dance. You can arrange parties, even using my kitchen for refreshments. I can act as chaperone when needed. Our garden is lovely, too. I will take you out there presently. And you can come to me privately with any personal problem you may have. I'll give the very best advice I can.

"But you will have to pay just a little for all this. The cost will be $3 a month each. For Memberships. No more. I want only 100 members. Out of 1,400 Rice students I think I can get 100, and—"

"Goodness, Mrs. Davis, you'll get a thousand!"

The interruption came enthusiastically from a co-ed. But Bob Towne was nodding. This aggressive fellow stepped forward now, holding out a $10 and a $5 bill.

"Sign me up at once, please, Mrs. Sara Sue," he boomed. "I'm paying five months in advance."

That flustered Sara Sue again. She hadn't expected such prompt action. But she was delighted.

The crowd began to drift over the cottage and garden, ohing and ahing in delight at the bright cheeriness of all the rooms, pausing to poke fun at grinning Cleopatra Jones, colored queen of the kitchen. Sara Sue had fluttered away to her tiny private office, where she had receipt blanks in her mahogany desk. She was thrilled pink. Her business was actually beginning, on her first day of school! She invited Mr. Towne in, showed him a chair, then wrote out the receipt for him."

"Thank you very much," she said, professionally, handing him the slip of paper.

"Surely. And—can the service start immediately?"

She stared blankly at him, looking up a little, for Sara Sue was just five feet three. "You mean—?"

"I mean, please Sara Sue, that I think your plan is wonderful. I want your expert counsel at once. I want —I want to take you to the theatre tonight! May I?"

He leaned forward eagerly.

Real Reason Women Can Never Supplant Men in Business and Professions Is Because They Have No One to Back Them As Wives Do Their Husbands

THE real reason that women can never seriously compete with men in business and the professions is because they can never have wives. For a wife isn't merely the incarnation of love's young dream or even a household convenience. She is the foundation stone to success.

She is an alibi. She is an escape valve. She is home comforts and home cooking. She is a liaison officer between her husband and society. She is a press agent. She is a comforter in time of trouble and a nurse in sickness. She pinch-hits for her husband in religion and tells his white lies for him. And, lacking all of this assistance, it is no wonder that so few women ever get anywhere when they stray out of their own kitchen and drawing rooms.

Of course, business and professional women do have husbands, but even so, a husband is oftener a handicap than a help in an ambitious wife. For he is not a builder-upper for her as she would be for him if he were going places. He is a disgruntled grouch who is doing his darndest to pull her down and hold her back.

Men do not look upon their wives' careers with the same eyes that their wives look upon theirs. A wife simply bursts with pride if her husband is a go-getter. She does everything in her power to push him along and is happy basking in his reflected glory. But there are very few men who are not burned up by their wives' successes and who do not consider it a deadly insult to be known as merely the husbands of their wives. Men like to have their wives praised for their looks and their cooking, but when it comes to their achievements outside of the home—no dice.

The price that women nearly always pay for their successes is losing their husbands, as is amply proved by the fact that most career women are divorcees. Yet these women long just as much for love and encouragement and the home brand of flattery, which is the headiest wine on earth, as men do. Many a man succeeds because his wife is right behind him, backing him up, believing in him, urging him on. Many a woman falls because her husband wet-blankets all of her hopes and aspirations, belittles her talents and throws so many obstacles in her path that she gives up in despair and quits.

Then, too, the business and professional woman virtually always has a double job. When she does the work of a man she doesn't get out of having to do the work of a woman. Nobody expects a merchant to be anything but a merchant, or for a lawyer or a doctor to get dinner and scrub out the bathroom and darn their own socks when they get home after a hard day's work. On the contrary it is conceded that the Tired Business Man should be pampered and petted, amused and diverted, and thus prepared to meet the labors of another day.

But does the Tired Business Woman receive any such consideration? Not at all. Husband doesn't meet Wife with a glad, sweet smile and have a smoking dinner on the table ready for her when she returns from a grueling day at the office. He assumes the attitude of an early Christian martyr because she is late. He grumbles because the house isn't spick-and-span and her cooking isn't up to some other woman's standards. The reason so many working women break down is because they have to make the dough as well as bake it, and listen to their husbands' criticisms to boot.

But the chief place where a woman who is doing a man's work misses not having a wife is in not having anybody to do for her the little tender services that only the hands of love ever perform; not having anybody to coddle her and fuss over her. Nobody to notice whether she is sick or well.

Nobody to get her the aspirin without being asked for it, or to bring her in a cup of hot soup when she comes in chilled or cold. Nobody to protect her from bores. Nobody to head off Aunt Susan from paying a visit when she is overworked. Nobody to mend her clothes and send things to the cleaners. Nobody to take off of her shoulders the thousand little daily chores from which a wife saves her husband.

If the business and professional woman happens to be a wife and mother and has to do all of these multifarious things for her family, the wonder is that she accomplishes anything at all in her career instead of doing so little. Poor soul, what she lacks that her male confrere has—is a good wife.

Grand fun — a Merry-Go-Round Jamboree—with the boys larking about in "gob" caps, the girls playing up in "country fair" style.

Start with a mixer. Guests match Merry-Go-Round animals for partners for the first "ride"—a dance.

Get ready for this stunt by cutting out picture animals and mounting on cardboard, two each of zebras, elephants, giraffes, and so on. Separate pairs into two boxes —boys draw from one, girls from the other. And away they go, matching mates.

When the crowd gets hungry, turn the kitchen into a hamburger stand. Guests draw slips of paper marked First, Second or Third Shift.

First Shift gets white aprons and chef's caps. For ten minutes they sizzle hamburgers for the merry-makers. Then Second and Third Shifts play chef.

Still more fun with a Puppet Show. Or line up girls and set the men begging "Where's my lucky penny?" in jolly Coin Divers. You'll find these and many more grand party ideas in our 32-page booklet! GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TRELL

There they were, Hanid, Knarf, and the tin soldier, all in the middle of a deep forest. Huge vines hung down from the thick tangle of trees. Birds with bright feathers chattered overhead in the branches and from far off came the roar of some large animal.

"Listen to it!" Knarf said, stopping. The tin soldier stood with his musket over his shoulder. Hanid stook next to Knarf. "It sounds like a lion."

"It is a lion, sir," the tin soldier said. "I know; I've hunted many a lion."

"It seems to be coming closer," Knarf said the next minute. "Aren't you afraid, Hanid?"

"'Course not! This isn't a real forest and that isn't a real lion. It's all just the inside of a book—a Natural History book."

They were in a deep forest.

Hanid was right. The two shadow-children and the tin soldier had crawled inside the covers of the Natural History book which they found on the bookshelf in the playroom.

"Let's go away anyway," Knarf said. "I don't care much about seeing a lion. I've seen lots of them in zoos. There's nothing to a lion."

Hanid had to laugh. "I really think you're afraid of that old lion, Knarf."

"Oh, no I'm not! I just don't want to see him. And, anyhow, we didn't come in here to catch a lion. We came for a great big animal which looks like a lizard. Let's go away quick!"

By this time the roaring was so loud that Knarf had to shout his last words. And then suddenly there was a rustling of the vines just a few feet away. They turned about quickly. There was a lion, standing and looking at them.

Soldier Is Brave.

"Stand back!" shouted the tin soldier.

The lion roared.

"Be warned! I've got a musket!"

The lion roared again. He came a little closer.

"Take your musket off your shoulder!" Knarf shouted to the tin soldier.

"Hurry!" Hanid cried.

But the harder the tin soldier tried to take the musket off his shoulder, the harder it stuck there. You see, it was just melted there; it couldn't come off.

And that made the lion roar still more—only this time he roared with laughter!

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, November 19.

The astrological forecast for this day is strong for advancement, fulfillment of high ambitions and all that is worthy, prosperous and progressive in the business and private lives. There is promise of assistance from powerful interests and friendly offices of those in influential positions, although an old matter or some trivial detail might cause concern.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of increase and expansion of the fortunes, with the friendly support of those in place and power. A friendly and co-operative spirit is assured in the fulfillment of important objectives, with happy reactions and benefits manifest in the private life and its affiliations. It is a time for reaching such high goals.

A child born on this day may be efficient and capable, with powers to attain goals in progressive and noble ideals. Its magnanimous and kindly nature may find its fulfillment in the direction of education, religion or philanthropy.

Fenian Raid Veteran Sees Hope Fade Of Inheriting Estate

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—Long familiar with the story of Clan Chattan, though not personally acquainted with the late chief of Chattan, Alfred Donald Macintosh, news of whose death at Moy Hall, Inverness-shire, Scotland, was received yesterday, Lieut.-Col. George Alexander Shaw, 96, 189 Dunn Avenue, is keenly interested in the news since the House of Shaw is of this historic clan.

A Fenian Raid veteran and descendant of a long line of military men, his father, grandfather and great-grandfather having served their country in their turn, Col. Shaw read the cable which told of the death of his noted Scottish kinsman with keen interest.

The despatch referred to the Macintosh as a noted Highland chieftain, whose 124,000-acre estate is a Highland showplace of many historical associations, which had been visited by Bonnie Prince Charlie. The late King George V. and King Edward VII. were frequent visitors at Moy Hall.

According to historical records Clan Chattan goes back to 1163, when "Shaw styled Mackintosh or son of the Thane, was given forfeited land in Moray and made Constable of Inverness by King Malcolm."

Col. Shaw, second cousin of the dead Mackintosh, had high hopes of falling heir to the Moy Hall heritage, but a cable despatch from Rhodesia, which says that the new chief of Clan Chattan is Duncan Alexander Elliot Mackintosh, rather dims that hope. It is understood that the new chief, nephew of a cousin of the Mackintosh, will succeed to the estate.

Thanksgiving Eels

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 18—(AP).—Nearly $100,000 worth of eels are on their way down the Hudson River for New York's Thanksgiving Day trade. Two specially constructed steel boats passed through Albany last night with 35 tons of the fish aboard each. The eels are gathered each summer in Quebec and transported on the State's canal system.

Taxes Roll In

WALKERTON, Ont., Nov. 18. —(CP).—County Treasurer Alan Nelson reports a "definte trend" toward better financial conditions among Bruce county taxpayers. In past 10 months, $13,650 of tax arrears have been paid up and $2,599 has been realized from tax sales.

Stirling Girl Is Winner Oratorical Test

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 18. — Attended by members of Hastings County Council and county officials, the annual public speaking contest and presentation of prizes was held in Shire Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Marion Rose won the gold medal donated by Warden Henry Larkin for the girls' championship, and Ross Jeffs took the boys' title for the Warden Larkin Medal. Miss Rose won out in the finals, for the right to compete in the district championship contest in Brighton on November 18. With the championship, Miss Rose received the Warden's Trophy donated by Roscoe Vandewater.

An unusual feaure of the test was the fact that both finalists were from the same school section, Stirling, R.R. 3.

Medal Winners.

Winners of 1938 entrance examination medals were: William Read, South Hastings; Miss Doris Hill, Centre Hastings; Miss Dela Linkie, North Hastings. The championship live stock judging trophy was won by Wilmott Shortt, Trenton, R.R. 5, and was presented by Reeve George E. Jordan, Hungerford Township. The Trenton youth also won the dairy cattle judging trophy donated by P. C. McGuire, Belleville, and presented by Reeve Thomas E. Fleming of Huntingdon. Ralph Campbell of Foxforo won the C.N. trophy for judging in the novice class. Reeve Thomas Cranston, of Stirling, made the presentation.

Other awards were as follows:

Seed judging trophy, donated by James Haggerty, Belleville, won by James Welsh, Shannonville, presented by Reeve George West, Madoc. Silver medal donated by H. P. Ells, Stirling, for cereal grain judging, won by James Welsh, Shannonville, presented by Reeve George Spencer, Frankford. Silver medal donated by H. L. Fair for small seed judging, won by Arthur McDonnell, Stirling, and presented by Reeve George McDonald, Thurlow.

Championship School Fair Shield, donated by B. C. Donnan, Belleville, to school with highest point total at Stirling Fair, won by School Section 12 and 14, Thurlow, under Miss Muriel Milligan, Foxboro.

School fair prizes, donated by the T. Eaton Company, were awarded as follows: North Hastings district—Eunice Davis, Wicklow; Francis McAlpine, Monteagle; Lorne Below, Monteagle. Rawdon Township—Gerald Clancy, S.S. 8; John Hoard, S.S. 4; Dorothy Hinds, S.S. 8. Huntingdon Townsnip—Joyce Wallace, S. S. 1 and 3; Harry Morgan, S.S. 4; Jean Haggerty, S.S. 1 and 3. Hungerford Township—Barbara Whalen, S.S. 6; Claude Thompson, S.S. 1; Anna Forbes, S.S. 4. Madoc Township—Madeline Palmer, S.S. 4; Gerald Graham, S.S. 6; June McCaw, S.S. 5. Sidney Township—Marjorie Bush, S.S. 10; June Ketcheson, S.S. 13; Bernard Hearnes, S.S. 17. Thurlow Township—Vernan Bowerman, S.S. 7; Reta Christie, S.S. 12 and 14. Tyendinaga Township — Bernice Bradshaw, S.S. 14; Jean Hanna, S.S. 13; and Marie Badgley, S.S. 11.

Australia To Improve Governor's House

CANBERRA, Nov. 18—(CP-Reuters)—Additional or improved accomodation for the Duke and Duchess of Kent when the Duke comes here next year as Governor General of Australia will be considered soon by the federal government.

Prime Minister Joseph Lyons told interviewers considerable expenditure would be necessary to provide suitable residential facilities. Extensive alterations and additions will be necessary at "Yarralumla," the Govenor General's residence in Canberra, and at Admiralty House, Sydney.

It is believed a suitable residence must be bought or leased in Melbourne, where at present there is no vice-regal residence. Provision of a Melbourne residence is strongly favored by ministers from Victoria.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist one ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has cattarh in any form, or distressing, rumbling, blasing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.—(Advt.)

Bright Meteor

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—A meteor, described as unusually large and brilliant, lighted the sky east of Los Angeles last night and caused scores of excited residents to phone newspaper offices that an airplane had fallen in flames. Dr. E. C. Bower of the Griffith Observatory in Los Angeles, who saw the meteor, said it probably fell somewhere betwen Los Angeles and Albuquerque, N.M.

Municipalities Could Reduce Tuberculosis

KITCHENER, Nov. 18.—"Of 72 patients discharged from this institution last year, 40 may be expected to resume active work," declared Superintendent Dr. E. N. Coutts at the annual meeting of Freeport Sanatorium, Wednesday.

Of the 238 patients under treatment during the year, 138 remain. The other 100 either died or were discharged.

Dr. Coutts' reports revealed that only eight of those examined in the institution were non-tuberculous and two of this number died. On admission 23 had less than one-third of a lung involved with the disease, while 25 had moderately advanced cases, not having more than a total of one lung involved, he stated.

The report showed that the mortality rate from tuberculosis in Kitchener had receded somewhat, being 30 in 1,000 deaths in 1935, and only 23.9 in the past year.

Averaging 28 in 1,000 deaths, tuberculosis mortality in Galt has decreased from 42.6 in the past two years, the report stated.

"I'm not proud of being able to cure tuberculosis, and if you could survey the field, neither would you be. The necessity is chiefly for prevention, for cure is merely the "mopping up'," asserted Dr. Coutts in conclusion.

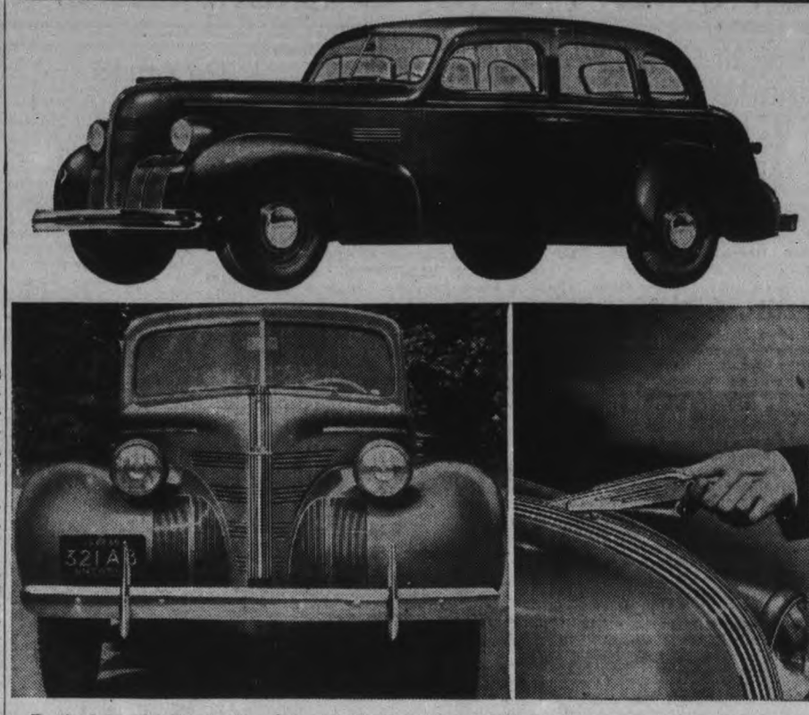
"It seems to me that the homeowners and municipalities are responsible for the work of prevention and should bear the burden. It's not very heavy and amply repays the community," he stated.

Jail Break Fails At Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 18 (CP)—What is thought to have been an attempted jail break was discovered at the police station today when Sergeant Harman in his daily inspection found that hinges of the door leading to the cell block had been tampered with.

Two prisoners, David Nixon of Montreal and Howard Bowman of Hamilton, held on car theft and other charges, were confined in the cell block Tuesday night, before removal to the county jail on Wednesday. Only 18 transients occupied the cell block last night.

1939 Pontiac in Two New Series



Pontiac is introduced to the Canadian motoring public for 1939 in two new lines—the "Arrow" (top) and the slightly larger "Chieftain" (lower left). Complete and striking new body styling features the many innovations, both structural and mechanical, while the new Handishift gear control on the steering column is obtainable on both lines. The distinctive new Pontiac emblem (lower right) also serves as a hood catch and radiator ornament.

Madoc Township Mourns Passing Of Charles Thompson

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, Nov. 18.—The funeral of the late Charles Thompson of Madoc Township took place on Wednesday afternoon from his late residence to Hazzard's Church, under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Lodge, of which he was a valued member. Interment was made at Hazzard's Cemetery.

The late Mr. Thompson was born in Madoc Township sixty-six years ago, and was the eldest son of Mrs. Mary Jane (McCoy) Thompson and the late Archibald Thompson. Born and brought up on the farm where he has continuously resided all his life, he took a leading part in all matters pertaining to social, business, church and municipal life. He was a kind friend and a good neighbor, and his demise will be sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends.

Suddenly stricken at the family residence near Queensboro on Sunday, Mr. Thompson, ex-Warden of the County of Hastings, and for eight years the Reeve of Madoc Township, failed to rally and succumbed to a heart seizure on Sunday morning.

He was prominent in cheese circles of this district, and at the time of his death was president of Madoc Cheese Factory, having served in that capacity for twenty-five years. He was also a former director of the Eastern Ontario Dairy Association.

Lauded By Associates.

In the Hastings County Council, tribute was paid on Monday morning to their late colleague. County Clerk Eric Denyes voiced the regret of his associates as he said: "Charles Thompson was an extremely popular councillor, enjoying the high respect and esteem of the council, both in and out of the chamber. He was possessed of a ready wit that increased his popularity not only with his fellows on the council and cheese boards but with all with whom he came in contact."

The late Charles Thompson was elected Warden of the County of Hastings in 1931 and served as Reeve of Madoc Township for a period of eight years. He was an outstanding municipal councillor, and worked for the benefit of the county as well as that of his own municipality. For a number of years he served as a valuable member of the Roads and Bridges Committee, also of the Finance Committee, where his opinions were often sought and his counsel proved an invaluable aid to the solution of the many county problems that came up from time to time.

He was a staunch Conservative, and a member of the United Church.

Left to survive are his widow, the former Florence Countryman; two daughters, Miss Hazel Thompson of Belleville and Mrs. John W. Moore of Queensboro; two sons, John A. and Charles at home; also his mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Thompson; two sisters, Mrs. S. S. Ashley of Madoc and Mrs. (Rev.) S. E. Morton of Brockville; three brothers: John A. and Stanley of Fort Worth, Texas, and Percy R. of Edmonton, Alberta; also two grandchildren, Jean Lois and Patricia Moore.

MAIDEN VOYAGE JUNE 17

LONDON.—The new 34,000-ton liner Maurentania will start her maiden voyage from Liverpool to New York next June 17, the Cunard-White Star line announced today. The ship will leave from New York on July 1 for Cherbourg and Southampton, and will subsequently follow a regular schedule between channel ports and New York.

Fabric Wools Been Found Stone Age Ruins

Describing the application of wool for clothing as one of the most ancient industries in the history of the world, Gordon Monkman, of G. Whitaker and Co. Ltd., President of the Canadian Allied Textile Trades Association said the industry goes back to where the misty curtain of time hides both the history of sheep and the history of mankind, and added that fabrics of wool have been found in ruins of villages inhabited in the stone age. He was chief speaker at the King Edward Hotel last night when the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers Association held their nineteenth annual dinner.

"It is a far cry from the days in the seventeen hundreds when sheep were first introduced into Canada. In 1705, when supplies of clothing were cut off from the Canadian settlers owing to a war between France and England, the clever and adaptable French Canadians made cloth from nettles and the inner bark of basswood trees. Then they were given permission to keep sheep, and with the wool from the sheep they spun yarns, wove cloths and made clothing.

"Coming across a census of Canada for 1881 I made note that in that year the carding and fulling mills had 91 employees with an annual pay roll of $123,886; the hosiery mills had 1,556 employees and a pay roll of $316,85; the carpet and rug industry had 15 employees with a pay roll of $2,998 and the glove and mitt mills had 532 employees and a pay roll of $103,962. At this time there was an industry making spinning wheels which employed 41 people.

"To-day your branch of the textile industry gives direct employment to some 32,000 people out of the 67,000 people directly employed in the Primary Textiles Industry. In my business, and in the business of the other members of the Canadian Allied Textiles Trades Association, we have to visit the numerous villages and towns in Canada in which textile mills are located. From my own observation, and from the observation of my friends, I can say that during the last few years, and at the present time, the textile industry has provided employment in Canada. If it had not been for the steadily increased employment year by year provided by the textile mills in some 160 municipalities numerous small Canadian villages and towns would have found the weight of relief more disastrous. The burdens for unemployment relief which the tax payers of Canada are carrying would have been very much heavier. Everybody who realizes the tremendous problems created for parents and homes through lack of opportunity for jobs must agree that from 1930 to 1937 the textile industry has performed a great service to our country.

Y's Men's Club Has Supper And Dance

The Y's Men's supper and dance at the Kawartha Club Thursday evening was a happy event, attended by about sixty-eight members and friends. Chrysanthemums in yellow and bronze shades decorated the banquet tables, and the genial chairman for the occasion was Mr. Jim Goldie, president of the Y's Men's Club.

An interesting part of the evening's program was the presentation of a pair of Kenwood blankets to five members of the club and their wives who have been married recently. The presentations were made by Mr. Bob Gamble to Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Krant, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Wallie Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wedlock, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith.

The prize for the birthday draw was won by Mrs. George Moore, and the lucky draw by Mrs. Jack Smith.

'38 Club Holds Its Initial Meeting

The '38 Club of the Y.W.C.A. held its first meeting Wednesday evening in the form of a "Get Acquainted Night." A variety of games was enjoyed, and a short business meeting in charge of Miss Helen Wootton followed.

The nominating committee, consisting of Miss Dorothy Rickard and Miss Peg Russell brought in its report. This committee was appointed the night of the opening banquet, which was held on November 7. The following officers were elected: Counsellor, Miss L. Brownscombe; president, Miss Mary Wallace; vice-president, Miss Helen Wootton; secretary, Miss Louise Jones; treasurer, Miss Margaret Johnston; membership convener, Miss Dorothy Rickard; program convener, Miss Peggy Russell, Miss Mabel Nixon, Miss Lottie Green, and Miss Bertha Inch; Menu committee, Miss May Wilson, Miss Grace Sargent, and Miss Leona McMillan; press convener, Miss Beryl Cheyne; pianist, Miss Mary Huston.

A pleasant social in charge of Miss Margaret Johnston and Miss May Wilson was then enjoyed. The next meeting of the '38 Club will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 30.

We Noticed

....That the furs in which the coats are selling are chiefly in variations of the brown and gray hues, such selections as skunk tipped variety or in the blue-fox shade, guanaco in both blue fox dye and its natural amber-and-white mixture, Australian opossum, sheared beaver being favorites.

◇ ◇ ◇

....Afternoon bags of antelope-finished suede which have their broad flat handles cut from the body of the bag itself to give a long slender silhouette, are on outstanding fashion and a smart one. Sometimes the straps are broader or start broader from the top of the bag, on the under side, as one sometimes sees evening gowns with shoulder pieces broader at back than front.

◇ ◇ ◇

....Autumn versions of the little angora evening sweaters which scored such a success last summer are tiny, fitted, velvet jacket-blouses. They reach just to the waist, are moulded to the figure by elastic quilting or shirring, and may be worn either as an evening jacket or as a cocktail blouse with a high cut evening skirt or slip skirt.

Insight Given Into Work Of Health Nurse

An insight into the public health nursing scheme, together with brief, enlightening remarks on mental hygiene, was given members of the Local Council of Women on Thursday afternoon by Miss Zeta Kearney, Public Health Nurse.

In an outline of her duties, Miss Kearney explained that the Public Health Nurse's chief function is that of health teaching. She imparts knowledge which promotes the art of healthful living, keeping people well and restoring the sick to a full measure of health. "The main object of health," she said, "is to prevent disease rather than cure it. The one is easy and cheap, while the other is difficult, expensive, and often impossible."

Miss Kearney urged that children be tested for tuberculosis when young, preferably before they enter school, and spoke of the splendid service which is being given by the Peterborough Health Association bi-monthly chest clinic.

"Peterborough has a Provincial Government Travelling Mental Health Clinic visit twice a month," Miss Kearney said. "This clinic has a staff composed of a psychiatrist, a psychologist, and a social worker. Anyone is free to attend the clinic if they are suffering from a nervous or mental disorder." That the study-group method of parent education is valuable, was also explained. From the parents' standpoint, study groups are practically assured of a large measure of success, since the average parent welcomes the opportunity for help in doing a most important job better. Parent study groups are comparatively new and undeveloped in Canada, although there are a great many in the United States.

Fine books on psychology for adults and teachers, helps in child training during infancy, the pre-school age, school age, and adolescence, which are available at the Public Library, were listed by Miss Kearney, and the names of such copies supplied to the council members.

The appreciation of the Council for the fine address given by the speaker was expressed by its president, Mrs. C. M. Scott.

During the business session of the meeting, which was held in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room, nomination papers were distributed, and are to be returned at the January meeting to the corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Wand. Mrs. K. Simpson and Mrs. B. F. McNeeley were appointed as a nominating committee to work with Mrs. Wand. It was urged by Mrs. Scott that a new president be elected for the coming year.

The agenda for the annual meeting of the Provincial Council which is being held Thursday and Friday of this week in Toronto, and the nomination of officers, which included the nomination again of Mrs. E. Wand as convener of citizenship, was read by the president.

A letter from the president of the International Council of Women on "Peace," and a message from the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League with regard to National Remembrance Day ceremonies was of interest to the members, and was read by Mrs. Scott.

The meeting was closed with the National Anthem.

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Alex Burgess Wins First At Lions' Club Contest

Young and old vied for honors Thursday night at a mammoth amateur show staged at the Collegiate auditorium by the Lions Club and more than 800 persons attended the entertainment. It was the second entertainment of this kind arranged and carried through by the club and was an outstanding success.

Alex Burgess, Hunter street east, in Highland costume won the grand prize of the evening with a perfectly executed sword dance in the adult class, his act being chosen by the three judges as the best effort on the entire program. Miss Frances Wells was awarded first prize after a piano solo, and Bob Partridge, who played the Rosary on an electric guitar took second. Third place honors went to the Rythm Boys, a trio of Boy Scouts, Don Corrin, Don Di Noble and Bernard Rose. Billy Guerin, a little man with a big voice, who sang in the Bing Crosby style, took fourth prize in the adult section.

Competition in the children's section was exceptionally keen but there was a preponderance of singing and tap dancing. Sylvia Duignan, a talented little lady in a dainty costume tap danced her way into first place, while Thelma Zavitz playing a piano solo took second. Kenneth Simmons and Shirley Garner, togged out in pretty Highland costumes performed like veterans in a smooth song and dance number that was appreciated and they placed third. Marion Downer, piano solo was fourth and Betty Hutton, another youngster who showed great promise and executed a waltz clog in a polished style was fifth. Albert Downer's step dancing which was a crowd pleaser, won him sixth prize. Honorable mention by the judges went to Pearl Johnson, a tiny tap dancer and Gloria Anthony, who sang and danced in a pleasing little act.

Otonabee Mountaineers

In the children's division one number showed originality but failed to gain a prize position. This was the Otonabee Mountaineers, a trio of small boys, Bob and Jack Hamlin, brothers, and their cousin, Bernard Hamlin. They had a trap drum arrangement, with bell, horn, improvised cymbals and many other attachments, mouth - organ and guitar.

Don Corrin and his two assistants in the adult division, who were announced as the Rythm Boys placed in win column. Corrin's trap drum outfit included a washboard, a bicycle bell, baby's rattle, tea kettle, pot lid, bazooka, scout whistle and kettle drum. Don DiNoble played the guitar and harmonica and Bernard Rose the harmonica. This trio have an invitation to appear on Ken Soble's program over C.F.R.B. in the near future and intend to accept. Rose is a member of All Saints Scout troop and both of the others belong to the Sacred Heart Boys Scouts.

East met west in a singing-yodelling number with guitar accompaniment when Bob Duncan of Vancouver and Douglas Woods of Amherst Nova Scotia, played and sang "Cowboy Jack" then yodelled and finished off the number with an imitation of the Hawaiian guitar. Both came to the city about a year ago and met later.

Band Gave Program

Before the amateur program started the Lions Club Boys Band of thirty pieces gave a half hour band concert that was a highlight of the evening's program, and reflects credit on the bandmaster, William Stewart.

Leonard Foster was master of ceremonies and did a splendid job while Jack Marshall besides being director of the show, played the accompaniments for several of the contestants.

While the judges were deciding the winners Jack Marshall introduced Morley Plunkett, former member of the "Dumbells" who sang a comic song which delighted the audience then led in community singing. While the audiences were singing Alexander's Ragtime Band, Plunkett spotted a little girl who seemed to be doing most of the singing herself, so he walked down off the stage and brought her to the microphone. The little singer was Lucille Doughty and is about eight years old. She was all smiles and sang the number alone getting more applause and doing a better job than some of the amateur who had competed a few minutes before. Her little act did not go unrewarded and with a coin tucked in her fist she walked gaily from the platform still all smiles.

Judging was done by Jack Smith, Miss Lily Bacon, A.T.C.M., and Dick Lush.

Morley Plunkett drew the door prize ticket from the large box and Harry Dorset, 495 King street, won the five dollars. The radio, valued at one hundred dollars on which tickets had been sold went to C. Hall, 301 Margaret Avenue.

Fred Cripps, president of the Lions Club thanked the audience for the support they gave the club in attending the entertainment and paid tribute to the fine work of Jack Marshall, who bore the brunt of the work attached to the staging of the show.

Others who competed in the contest but failed to place were: Beverly and Joan Reynolds, tap dance; Erven Parnell, tap dance; Peggy Brown, vocal; Betty Bestary and Kenneth Simmons, tap and sing; James Gross, vocal; Doreen Larry, song and dance; Marie and Catherine Kieran, Irish jig; Betty Clarke, song; Phyliss Liddell and Corine Buller, song and dance; Betty Brown, vocal; Lester Davis, violin solo; Lilian Harris, song and dance.

In the division for adults the unsuccessful amateurs were besides those already named: Roy Murphy, vocal; Mrs. Brooks, vocal; Bob Healey, vocal; Phyllis Starr, vocal; Orville Wainman, vocal; Dorothy Lee, vocal; Vivian Carter, vocal; Maurice Caccavella, song.

THE RIGHT HAT!

By ALICE ALDEN

The coiffure, like life, is replete with ups and down. It is all very exciting, this battle of the hair-do, but whether you wear your hair way, way up, or flowing in the direction of the shoulders, you must wear the right hat. Many of the bright lights of Hollywood are wearing both types of coiffures, but always topping their tresses with suitable and lovely hats. Shirley Ross is one lass who wears both styles to attractive advantage. She wears a black velvet hat with floating veil atop her flowing locks, at LEFT. Then, for romantic evenings, she has an upped coiffure for her black velvet dinner hat that is trimmed with black and white ostrich tips and tilted forward from the turned-up brim in the back.

Two Hundred Attend Community Bridge

Favored by the bright sunshine of Friday afternoon, and attended by over two hundred guests, the Community Bridge given by the Otonabee Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire was one of the most outstanding and successful events of the Autumn season.

Tea was served at the home of Mrs. A. E. Edmonds, Sherbrooke street, where guests were welcomed by the hostess, the regent, Mrs. F. L. Robinson and the past regent, Mrs. B. Jackson.

Mrs. J. D. Cameron and Mrs. K. S. Wightman presided at the attractive tea table which was covered with a cloth of Venetian cut-work, and adorned with gold and bronze Chrysanthemums in a silver basket, and lighted ivory tapers in silver holders. Mrs. W. Davern, Mrs. G. R. Coleman, Mrs. A. Dryland, Mrs. Borland, Mrs. Mowry and Mrs. A. Jack were tea assistants; Mrs. W. Burrell and Mrs. H. C. Sherwood were tea convenors, and guests were ushered to the tea room by Mrs. D. W. Clark and Mrs. B. W. Harvey.

Mrs. H. L. Beal sold tickets on a lace cloth, which was won by Mrs. Jack Marshall. Mrs. Davern and Mrs. Dryland were in charge of bridge arrangements, and the bridge prize was won by Mrs. Lewis. Mrs. Mitchell was treasurer for the event.

Staff Dance Pleasant Event

A pleasant event of this week was the dance held in the Elite Court by members of the Richard Hall Store staff and their friends on Wednesday evening.

About thirty-five couples attended, and prizes were awarded for the spot dance to Miss Marie Casey and Mr. Al. King; for the Birthday dance to Miss Ariel Wildman and Mr. Lloyd Wells; for the Balloon dance to Miss Betty Pogue and Mr. Wm. Aikens.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. H. James, Mr. and Mrs. Earl White, Mr. and Mrs. H. McGinnis; the Misses Ida Taylor, Gladys Gerrard, Amy Bull, Mary Vance, Marion Freeman, Betty Pogue, Audrey Keen, Margaret Thompson, Jean Rose, Phyllis Harris, Muriel Stenson, Helen Owens, Iram Roseborough.

Gladys Constable, Gwen Boorman, Ann Young, A. Garside, Marie Casey, Helen Latimer, Grace Cox, Gwen Parnell, Olive Crough, Ariel Wildman, Josephine Galvin, Edith Boddy, Helen Bedford, Evelyn Emery, V. Pritnell, Mildred Heard, Kay Tully, Mary Tinney.

District captain, Mrs. Whalon, thanks all the Guides for the splendid turnout at the Armistice parade. After the parade Second Company with Mrs. Whalon journeyed to Hastings where they are anxious to form Guides. The usual meeting was held with the prospective Guides of Hastings joining in the work. A company is expected to be formed very soon under the sponsorship of the C.W.L.

Third Company held a church parade last Sunday to St. George's church for a farewell service to the Rev. T. Gault, who has left for Campbellford. Salvation Army guards had a full attendance for their church parade at the Temple Sunday.

Brownies held a very enjoyable social evening at All Saints' parish hall on Thursday, Nov. 10. The Brownie doll was won by Mrs. Shadgett, Charlotte street, and the pillow slips by Mrs. Blackburn, 83 Hunter street. The Guiders met at the home of Mrs. Whalon, district captain, on Thursday evening, Nov. 17 to welcome Loretta Fitzgerald, the new Second Company Captain.

First Company will hold an enrollment ceremony on Monday. All Guide mothers are cordially invited to attend.

THE SCRIBE.

Alfreda Field To-day's Bride

In a charming ceremony which took place in St. George's Anglican Church this morning (Friday) at nine-thirty, Miss Alfreda May Field, daughter of Mr. W. R. Field and the late Mrs. Field, became the bride of Mr. Frederick Allen Lockhart, youngest son of Mrs. Elizabeth Lockhart and the late Mr. Lockhart. Rev. T. Gault officiated and wedding music was played by Mrs. Ray King.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pretty costume of Marino blue martinized velvet in daytime fashion, a tri-corne doll hat of matching velvet with shoulder-length veil, and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Miss Queenie Miller as bridesmaid was gowned in wine martinized velvet, its Peter Pan collar and deep cuffs fashioned of tiny rows of white lace. Her hat of matching velvet had a short veil, and she carried Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. Alfred Field, twin brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Thomas Miller and Mr. William Masters.

After a wedding dinner at the Grand Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart left for London, Ontario, the bride travelling in a frock of Marino blue sheer with lace collar and cuffs under a black fur coat, and wearing Marino blue accessories.

Wool evening dresses are gaining favor in Paris.

Debate Enjoyed By Marmora Y.P.A.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Nov. 8.—The regular meeting of St. Andrew's Young People's Union was held on Monday evening. Following prayer by Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth a short business session was presided over by the president, Winnifred Sabine.

Program committees were appointed for the next two meetings. Harry Haacke and Alexander Gawley take charge of the meeting on November 21 and Herbert Bonter and Edith Henry are in charge the following week.

A debate, "Resolved, that movies are of more recreational value than dancing," was taken by Harry Haacke and Edith Henry in the affirmative and Herbert Bonter and Mrs. Harry Haacke on the negative, the former winning by a small majority of votes.

Community singing led by Dorothy Henry, and group games brought the meeting to a close.

Secred Heart Bazaar.

The final supper in connection with the Sacred Heart Church bazaar attracted another large crowd to the Town Hall on Thursday evening. The dance which followed gave dancers of the round and square types much delight. Lenore Gordon of Peterborough received good applause for her tap dancing. The drawings also took place, resulting as follows: lounge chair, Bruce Simpson, Belleville; card table and chairs, Stan. Lowe, Marmora; tri-light floor lamp, Anthony Quinn, Tweed; newest candlewick spread, Mary Auger, Marmora; solid walnut end table, M. E. Hughes, Belleville; mystery prize, Frank Nihill, Marmora; box of candy, Billy Meehan, Marmora.

Does YOUR System Make Excess Acid?

Some people are what are known as acid-makers. They can't help it—and often they don't know it. The results of an excess of acid may seem just like ordinary stomach trouble — but they can't be put right by ordinary stomach remedies! Excess acid may be the reason why you wake up flat, sour, bleary-eyed, bilious — and the reason why fierce purgatives only leave you in the grip of a weakening habit and the same old symptoms.

But there's one thing that acid can't face. That's the neutralizing power of Vange Salts, the alkaline remedy with the natural mineral spa action. A teaspoonful in warm water surges through your system just like the medicinal spring water far away in England where Vange Salts come from. Excess acid is neutralized quickly, painlessly. Your blood is purified of poisons. Your sore stomach walls are soothed. And that mass of hard, poisonous waste matter lying in your intestines is softened gently, naturally, and passed out of your body. Then do you feel good! It's marvellous! But the most marvellous thing is that Vange Salts are only 60 cents a tin! At your druggist now—but if you're wise, on your bathroom shelf tonight! (Advt.)

Taking Jew Problem Up With Colonies

LONDON, Nov. 18—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today the matter of finding new homes for German Jewish refugees was being treated as one of urgency.

He said the problem had been taken up with governors of a number of British colonies, including the governor of Tanganyika, former German East Africa, now a British mandate.

He added he hoped to make a statement on the whole question early next week.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

WORTH REPETITION

NOTHING CONNECTED with bridge is more worthy of repetition than the basic idea that you should not "give up the ship" so long as it is not yet sunk. If your only possible chance to make your contract is to find a particular card right where you want it, play exactly as if you know the card is there.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

The bidding on this deal was 1-Spade by South, 2-Hearts by West, 2-Spades by South, 3-Diamonds by West, 3-Spades by South, 4-Diamonds by West, 4-Spades by South, 5-Diamonds by West and 5-Spades by South.

West cashed the heart K and continued with the suit, playing the Q. South ruffed this with the spade 2 and laid down the spade A. Declarer then put East in the lead with the spade K.

Instead of leading diamonds in response to his partner's bids of that suit, East decided to return a club. South, having lost two tricks and figuring from the lead that the K was held by West, went in with his ace and was set one trick.

In view of the fact that the club was led by East and realizing the contract was doomed in any event if West held the K, South should have ducked the lead.

Smith Township Man Aged 72 Is Found Guilty Of Attempting To Steal Cattle

(By a Staff Reporter.)

COBOURG, Nov. 18. — William J. Cruse, 72, for many years a prominent farmer of Hamilton Township, Northumberland County, but latterly of Smith Township, Peterborough County, where he has been living with a married daughter, was sentenced to five months in Ontario Reformatory at Guelph on conviction by Magistrate Campbell in the Police Court here on Thursday afternoon of having attempted to steal cattle from a farm in Hope Township in the early morning of November 10.

A life time of respectability and the reputation resting on it collapsed about the slim figure and greying hair of W. J. (Bill) Cruse, judge at one time or another in almost every horse show ring of Central Ontario, and also elsewhere, as Magistrate Campbell found him guilty of the offence as charged. The mingled emotions of regret and amazement expressed by His Worship, pervaded the crowded court room, including many of the members of the Counties Council, former neighbors, and other men of the United Counties to whom the accused had been well known as a farmer, and a buyer of cattle and horses.

Through A. R. Willmott, Cobourg, his counsel, Mr. Cruse did not elect for trial until after the Crown had completed its case. No defence was offered, and the elderly man said he wished to be tried summarily. He then pleaded not guilty.

"A Very Strange Case."

"This is a very strange case," Magistrate Campbell said as he reviewed the evidence. "In some respects it almost makes one feel as if something is wrong with the world. Here's a man who has lived in this county all his life, until he was more than seventy; reaches that age with a good character; and so far as I am concerned myself he has lived as a proper citizen."

Throughout his remarks there were intimations that Magistrate Campbell had known Mr. Cruse, possibly in professional relations, during years gone by.

"To have lived in that way until past seventy, and then to lose his wits so much as to become involved in an affair of this kind is almost unbelievable. I have no doubt it is all true. I think the Elliotts and the Edwards are telling exactly the truth and I feel sure Mr. Cruse has seriously fallen from grace. I can't do anything else but find this man guilty. This matter is before me, and I almost hate to be in the position of having to deal with it, to have to sentence this man, according to law. But it has got to be done. If I occupy this position honestly, and attend to it properly, then I have to do my duty."

Considered His Age.

The accused was then told to stand up, and in reply to the Magistrate's questions he said he had been married twice, four children in each family, and had been a widower about fourteen years. He described himself as a farmer and a horse and cattle buyer.

"I think you received a fair trial," Magistrate Campbell continued. "The evidence seems strongly against you; it has convinced me you are guilty. After all your years in this part of the country, seeming to have a pretty good name, it is an awful pity that from some rash motive or some need you would do a thing of this kind.

"The crime of stealing cattle seems to have become more general in the last three or four years, from what I have read. With good roads and trucks, they can run cattle to the early markets in the city much more quickly than years ago, and if it is not stopped it would become very unsafe for farmers to raise stock for the market. But this is not an exemplary sentence. If you were twenty or thirty years younger, I'd give you a good sentence to set an example for others. But I am taking account of our age, and the long time you have lived in this county, and I sentence you to five months' imprisonment at Guelph."

Attempt to Steal.

The Cruse farm was south of Bewdley and east of the Scriven Memorial on the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway. The thirty head of cattle which, it was charged, Cruse tried to steal, were in pasture on the farm of Mrs. Robert Campbell, Lot 3, Concession 7, Hope Township, on the road to Campbellcroft, south and west of Bewdley.

The property was leased by Frank Bray, who had only one cow in the pasture herd; William Horner owned sixteen of them, and William Gordon thirteen.

The story related in the evidence began with the night of November 9 when Mr. Cruse called at the home of Charles Elliott, a trucker, at Lang, in Otonabee Township. His mother said he was not at home, and Mr. Cruse spoke of wanting to have some cattle take nto Toronto. Later he telephoned from Peterborough about 10.30 p.m. or thereabouts, and asked Mr. Elliott if he could handle the job of trucking some cattle from a place near Bewdley. Mr. Elliott agreed, drove to Peterborough, and met Mr. Cruse in front of the public rest room on Charlotte Street. In the meantime Mr. Elliott had engaged Wallace Edwards and his brother to go along and help him with the cattle.

Turned Off the Lights.

Eventually Mr. Cruse and his party drove through Bewdley and out the Campbellcroft road. They turned in at a driveway that led through a woods to an open field, enclosed by a wire fence. The car stopped near a section of the fence, the top of which was loose from a post or two and could be rolled down. Mr. Cruse suggested that the truck could be backed up to the fence and the rear end lowered by digging away some of the earth behind each of the rear wheels, then the tail board could be lowered and the cattle loaded over the improvised approach. He said he had a shovel in a bush nearby, and went for it. He also suggested that the lights of the truck be switched off.

Finally, all the Cruse plans worked out, and the cattle round-up began about 2 a.m. on Thursday, November 10. But, they refused to step up into the truck, and the sloping tail board didn't attract them in the least. At 4 a.m. Charles Elliott announced that he was through with that job, and wanted to get back home. So they drove back to Bewdley where Wallace Edwards' brother had a car.

Leaving Bewdley, Cruse was with Elliott in the truck, and the Edwards brothers were in their car. Cruse wanted Elliott to drive him to Peterborough, but Mr. Elliott said he was turning east at Centreville, so Cruse came on to Peterborough in the Edwards car. Meanwhile, suspicion had been growing in the minds of the three young men. Cruse had given his name as John Smith, he was wearing goggles, and a dark coat and hat, and one of them thought John Smith resembled a man he recalled as Cruse.

Mr. Cruse talked about going back for the cattle on the following Sunday night, one of the young men said the deal seemed "fishy" to him. Mr. Cruse said it wouldn't have been fishy if they had got the cattle to Toronto. On the way into Peterborough Wallace Edwards suggested there should be some pay for the night's work even if the cattle were not loaded. He declined to let Cruse out at Charlotte and Park Streets, but drove on down town. Mr. Cruse asked him where he was going. Edwards said they were going to a service station. Instead he turned at Simcoe Street, and swung around to the Police Station, saying, "Here's where we get off." At that time he wanted some identification of this stranger, especially his name and address in writing and before a witness, after all circumstances from around midnight that beclouded the queer enterprise. From that precaution, Mr. Cruse was eventually placed under arrest by Provincial Constable Silvester on a charge of attempting to steal cattle.

And up to trial on Thursday afternoon, many a man down this way who had known "Bill" Cruse would not believe that he was in truoble. They said it must be someone else, reacting to the shock as Magistrate Campbell did.

Order From John Smith.

Provincial Constable Mennie said he brought Mr. Cruse to Cobourg late on Thursday the tenth, and had taken a voluntary statement that Mr. Cruse had received a telephone message from a man named John Smith of Balsover to "pick up a load of cattle to be sold on the Toronto market, and send him the money." The call had come to a service station, and had been relayed by some person there to Mr. Cruse.

Mennie said he found the goggles in Cruse's effects, and went with Wallace Edwards to the pasture on November 11 where he found in the bush the long-handled shovel that was produced in court.

Speaking in Cruse's behalf, Mr. Willmott said there was not a jot of evidence by the Crown that Cruse had no right to be at the pasture, and that it was not lawful for him to go there. He also argued that it was not against the laws of this country for a man to take an assumed name, except when registering at a hotel. There was nothing strange about the goggles, and it was not unreasonable that the truck's lights should be turned off on a bright night while the work of rounding up the cattle was going on. "The most that could be said against Mr. Cruse was that it was indiscreet to try to do business that way."

Long Way for Truck.

Magistrate Campbell in turn reviewed the evidence, Instead of getting a truck in Port Hope, Peterborough, or some other nearer place, Mr. Cruse had gone out of his way to Lang, north of Keene. And he went there after 11 o'clock at night, and Charles Elliott had to scour around the country for some assistants. He picked out a trucker with whom he had never done business before. The lights, and goggles, and the "finding" of the shovel—"when they are all put together—well, I wasn't born yesterday. They spell just one thing to me, and nothing else," Magistrate Campbell commented, and proceeded to pass sentence. No person left the court until the last word was spoken.

It was said the maximum sentence for attempted theft of cattle was fourteen years in prison.

25 Counties Benefit From Scholarship

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 18—(CP).—Income on a $100,000 bequest left by a man who never got beyond the third book in public school, $5,000 will be distributed this week among students in 25 counties of Ontario. Three secondary school graduates of this city, Robert Gunton and Edward Houghton of the Central Collegiate and Donald Cobban of Beck Collegiate will be given the awards for competition among secondary schools students of Middlesex.

The prizes are the Carter scholarships awarded to those pursuing higher education programs in university. Two hundred dollars is given to each county and the prizes are awarded by the Department of Education according to the terms of the will left by J. I. Carter, a native of Huron county.

Cattle Jump 25, Lambs Up, Hogs Unchanged

TORONTO, Nov. 18.—(CP).— A liberal run of cattle was cleaned up at prices generally 25 cents higher on Toronto livestock market this week, the Dominion Livestock Branch reported. Light calves were 25 to 50 cents higher with other calves steady. Hogs held at the low level of the previous week. Lambs were 25 to 35 cents higher and sheep steady to strong.

The cattle run included 1,200 from the west. Trade was active from the opening. Choice weighty steers sold at $6.25-$6.50 and one load brought $6.75. Plain steers ranged down to $5. Butcher steers and heifers were from $4 for common up to $5.75 for good, some reaching $6.25.

Butcher cows ranged from $2.75-$3.75 with a few at $4. Canners and cutters were mostly $2.25-$2.50 cwt. Good butcher bulls brought $4-$4.25 and bolognas $3.50-$3.75. Fed calves traded mostly from $6-$9 with a few choice up to $9.50.

Stockers moved readily at improved prices. Light stockers were $4-$5.25. Some weighty feeders and stocker calves went at $5.50-$6. Milkers and springers were unchanged at $40-$75 each according to quality.

600 For U.S.

Light veal calves were priced at $7-$10.50 cwt. with odd tops at $11. Heavy western calves made $5-$6 with grassers mostly $4.50.

Off-truck bacon hogs were $7.75-$7.85. Sows were sold at $5.50-$6 off trucks.

Good ewe and wether lambs delivered by rail made $8-$8.25 with a few at $8.50. Truck lambs were generally $7.75-$8. Bucks and heavies were at $1 cwt. discount. Culls ranged from $6-$6.50 cwt. Sheep brought $2-$4.50 cwt., according to quality.

Hundreds Say Syntona Medicine Has No Equal

New Scientific Medicine Is the Talk Of Every Section Where It is Being Introduced. Now Available At A Price All Can Afford.

The new Syntona medicine now being introduced here at Elliott's Drug Store has become a real sensation throughout this entire section. Scores who have taken this medicine freely admit that nothing like it has ever been seen here before and tell of amazing results in just a few days after starting with the treatment.

Compounded by a secret process from the pure juices of 12 of Nature's Finest Medicinal Plants, Syntona is taken before meals three times a day, mixes with the food in one's stomach, acting as a preventive of fermentation of foods, stops the cause of stomach gas, sour stomach, heartburn and stomach distress.

At the same time it contains valuable ingredients that act as diuretic to the kidneys laxative and tonic. It banishes acids and impurities from the system and ends aches and pains due to excess acid in the blood. Syntona is vastly different from ordinary preparations and contains no minerals, narcotics or harmful drugs. It is pleasant to take and results are quickly felt.

Syntona is now being introduced in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Ask about the Special Introductory Offer.

Churches Quit Using "Jehovah"

German Protestants Also Told To Shun Jew Prophets' Names

BERLIN, Nov. 19—(AP).—The name of Jehovah was ordered erased from the Protestant churches throughout Germany today by president Friedrich Werner of the supreme evangelical church council.

The order said the name of the God of Israel must be obliterated wherever it is displayed in Protestant churches. The names of Jewish prophets—all prophets of the Old Testament—also were ordered erased.

This action was regarded as a sequel to threats invarious parts of Saxony that Christian churches allowing these names to remain would be burned as were synagogues in the wave of anti-Jewish violence which swept Germany last week.

The newspaper Boersenzeitung said Nazi leaders, long before this outbreak and the subsequent $400,000,000 fine imposed on the Jewish community, had made ready to despoil Jews financially. It declared "the promptness with which the bill was presented shows the preparations had been made long in advance."

"All informed persons knew that financial action was bound to follow political action in the process of aryanization.

"Von Rath's murder only precipitated this intended course of action."

The outbreaks, in which synagogues were burned, Jewish-owned property destroyed and thousands of Jews arrested, followed close on the shooting of Ernst Von Rath, German embassy secretary in Paris, by a young Polish Jew, Herschel Grynszpan.

Shopping Not Taboo

"It is not the government's intention to segregate Jews in ghettos nor forbid them to shop in Aryan stores," said Boersenzeitung.

The newspaper suggested the question of what should become of Jews evicted from their homes should be solved by quartering them with their more wealthy coreligionists.

Addressing a Nazi business organization last night, Robert Ley, chief of the Nazi labor front, said "there must be no misplaced compassion for the Jews.

"By fattening on our population they have incurred a debt that never can be wiped out.

"For us it is question of to be or not to be. The Jewish problem must be solved radically and finally."

Forced to Give Up 90 p.c. Goods

Munich reports said several wealthy Jews of Nuremberg, home of the radically anti-Jewish Julius Streicher, had been taken into labor front headquarters there and forced to sign away 90 per cent of their homes, shops and other property to the labor front.

Newspapers were delving into history, attempting to find precedents for justifying the anti-semitic measures which have resulted in both the United States and Germany calling home their ambassadors for reports on the situation.

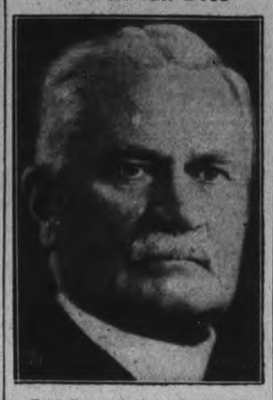
The German envoy to Washington, Hans Dieckhoff, was ordered yesterday to return to Berlin for a report on American reaction to the anti-Jewish campaign. This followed four days after President Roosevelt called home the United States ambassador, Hugh Wilson, for a report.

Last Minute News Flashes

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(CP Cable.)—After a month of losses, Aston Villa today turned in the English League First Division's highest score, toppling Chelsea 6-2 at Villa Park. Derby County blanked Bolton Wanderers 3-0, and Everton won over Manchester United by the same count.

LONDON, Ont.—Harold J. Moore, 37, of Windsor, was sentenced to 10 years in penitentiary to-day for his part in the Mount Brydges robbery on the Royal Bank. Moore asked for trial by Judge and jury at recent assizes but changed his mind and pleaded guilty.

Churchman Dies



Rev. Canon Sydney Gould, B.A., M.D., D.D., D.C.L., general secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada died recently at Toronto in his 70th year.

Youth Crushed Between Truck And Car

TORONTO, Nov. 19 (CP).—Robert Boreham, 19, suburban Birchcliff, was killed early today when the bicycle he was riding home from the Royal Winter Fair was trapped between a truck and an automobile. Thrown from his bicycle, the youth suffered a fractured skull.

Boreham, member of a Toronto militia regiment, was bicycling with another militiaman, who was uninjured. The two were said to have been hanging on the back of a truck and the accident occurred when the truck turned out to pass a parked car.

Toronto streets, made slippery by rain, accounted for six other traffic accidents last night which brought injuries to nine persons. Most seriously injured was Miss N. V. Rowan, 62, Toronto, who suffered a possible fractured skull when struck by an auto as she crossed the street.

Health Posters Are Of No Use

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 19 (C.P.).—Robert H. Roberts of the Provincial Normal School at Peterborough, Ont., levelled an attack upon health posters and slogans as failing to influence the behavior or add to the knowledge of students in an address here on Friday before the delegates to the Border Region Conference on the role of health and physical education in the schools.

"We are familiar with schools placarded with health posters seeking to make everyone from caretaker to superintendent 'health conscious.'" Mr. Roberts said: "If anyone should ask what this health consciousness implies, refuge would be taken in vague generalities. Perhaps it would be found that its philosophy was the product of a jitterbug mentality.

"Building health education about health rules is contrary to psychological principles. Health education by slogans does not influence the behavior, attitude or knowledge of our population.

"When educators allow an exaggerated sense of seriousness to replace a sense of humor, perspective and accurate scientific knowledge, they wander down strange by-paths, and none are stranger than those blind-alleys of health education paved with forms and standards.

"The teacher should make an individual study of each child at work and at play so he may give the child direction to build up an integrated personality, possessing an optimum of physical, mental, emotional, and social health in keeping with his own capabilities and limitations."

Blast Rocks Building

TORONTO, Nov. 19—(CP).—Hundreds of North Toronto residents were awakened early today by an explosion which wrecked the Shell Oil Co. service station at Lawrence Avenue and Avenue road. The force of the blast rocked nearby houses and the sound was heard within a radius of a mile and a half.

The station was closed when the boiler exploded at 4.45 a.m. and no one was hurt. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

Harder Work Less Pay For Czechs

Daily Pat On Back For Germany Part Of New Life

PRAGUE, Nov. 19 (AP).—Harder work for less money was seen today as one of the new rules of life in transformed Czechoslovakia.

Shorn of their former industries, the people seem to realize what is demanded of them if they are to retain even their reduced status.

Anticipating lower wages which would prevent them from spending freely, Prague residents are flocking to theatres and other amusements as though taking one grand last fling.

Confidence in Czechoslovak currency has returned, however, since the height of the September war scare when anyone with sterling or United States dollars could get his own price.

Bank deposits withdrawn then are coming back and there is money to borrow for those who want it.

But there is an atmosphere of uncertainty in the triple state (Slovakia, Bohemia and Ruthenia). Business cannot settle down in a solid way until after the new frontiers are definitely fixed and the country's economic possibilities are guaged.

Border Shuffle Goes On.

It was thought the border matter was definitely settled after the return of generous slices of Slovak and Ruthenian territory to Hungary, but Germany has since then requested more land. (The German Propaganda Ministry said last night the border was being revised quietly on a "tit-for-tat" basis.)

Premier Jan Syrovy in his parliamentary message said "negotitations with our neighbors are in nowise ended."

Some time will have to pass before an accurate picture of the country's foreign trade can be sketched. Special arrangements with Sudetenland, meanwhile, help make the picture different from what it will be when Czechoslovakia cuts completely free from its former German-speaking territory.

The Czechoslovaks know they will have to depend largely on Germany and cut down purchases from other countries.

It has become a fixed principle in official utterances on the subject to say the new state desires good relations with its neighbors, "especially Germany."

Work soon will start on the Hitler highway from Breslau to Vienna across Czechoslovakia. It concerns a canal linking the Oder River in Silesia with the Danube near Bratislava.

How much Czechoslovak employment will benefit from these projects is not yet determined. Unemployment is one of the country's greatest problems. Labor camps on the Nazi model and extensive roadbuilding schemes already are being planned by the government to relieve the situation.

Brockville Area Feels Earthquake

MORRISBURG, Ont., Nov. 18.—(CP).—Towns and villages in the Upper St. Lawrence Valley between Brockville and Cornwall were thrown into a brief panic to-day when a moderate earthquake shook the district. A deep, rumbling roar accompanied the tremor which lasted less than a minute. The quake was strong enough to shake buildings but there was no damage reported. It was felt at Brockville, Prescott, Cardinal, Iroquois, Winchester and Aultsville.

Shocks Last Night.

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., Nov. 18.—(AP).—A light earthquake was felt in Ogdensburg shortly before 5.30 o'clock last night, but police headquarters said that while hundreds of calls were received no damage was reported. Residents reported buildings shook and trembled during the tremors, which lasted about two seconds.

Family of Hunters

The Ayrhart family, Campbellford, got their full quota of deer after a week's hunting east of Millbridge. R. H. Cole and Thomas Sanders accompanied them on their hunting trip this year, and they returned with 4 bucks, 2 does and a fawn. G. W. Ayrhart, 74, killed two of the deer this trip. He has only missed two years hunting since he was sixteen. In the picture, from LEFT to RIGHT: Ernest Ayrhart, Thomas Saunders, Russell Ayrhart, Harry Ayrhart, G. W. Ayrhart, Russell Ayrhart and R. Bomber Crashes Into Bush Kills 4, Hurts 2

LAGRANGE, Ga., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Four United States army fliers were killed, two others injured severely and a seventh was missing today after a bombing plane cracked up in the woods northeast of this West Georgia city.

Word of the crash did not reach here until early today, although the plane fell about 10 p.m. last night.

The two injured were identified at the hospital here as Joe Nanartowich, in a critical condition, and John Madre. Names of the others were not available.

The plane crashed in a heavy rainstorm. Striking with terrific force, the ship mowed down trees for 150 yards from where it first hit.

A Negro heard the crash and saw the flames when the ship caught fire. He came to Lagrange for help, but it was several hours before rescuers could make their way to the scene because of the condition of the roads.

Borah Opposes Refugee Move

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—(AP).—Senator Borah (Rep.-Idaho) expressed the opinion to-day that any attempt to revise the United States immigration laws so as to take care of additional refugees from Germany would arouse "tremendous opposition" in Congress.

President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that he had no thought of liberalizing present quotas which restrict immigration from Germany and former Austria to 27,370 persons annually.

Some Jewish leaders, however, have suggested the possibility of admitting 80,000 or so refugees immediately by "mortgaging" the quotas for the next three years. Under this proposal, the three years' quotas would be admitted and the gates then closed until the end of the period.

Another Congressional comment came from Chairman Dies (Dem.-Texas) of the House Committee investigating unAmerican activities, who challenged the right of the President to extend the six-months' visitors permits under which from 12,000 to 15,000 refugees have been admitted.

Mr. Roosevelt disclosed yesterday that he had asked the Labor Department to grant six-months' extensions. He added that he would present this problem to Congress, and that if it did not act, the permits might be extended again. The law, he said, does not limit the number of extensions.

Major Foreign Papers Totalling 77 Seized In Berlin

Berlin, Nov. 19 (AP)

SEVENTY-SEVEN foreign newspapers were seized today and their sale forbidden. They included issues of leading Swiss, Danish, British, French, Belgian, Norwegian, Swedish, Rumanian, Yugoslav, Czechoslovak, Polish and Vatican City dailies. The reason apparently was that the papers contained descriptions of anti-Jewish outbursts in Germany.

Cash Register Dug Up From Wreck Of '89 Reveals $25 In Silver Coins

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 19 (CP)

A CASH REGISTER from the ancient vessel Quinte, burned and wrecked with the loss of four lives in 1889, has been found and $25 in silver coins salvaged, it was announced yesterday.

The 50-year-old register was discovered by Harvey Schryver and Norman Tinney while they dug near the wreckage of the old ship. A large roll of banknotes, brought to the surface, crumbled when explosed to air.

The silver coins were in half-dollars, quarters and 10-cent pieces, dated from 1850 to 1872. The Quinte burned to the water's edge when it caught fire on a crossing from Deseronto to Fredericksburg and some of the coins found were fused together by heat of the fire.

Captain Christie and Mate James Collier brought the blazing vessel close to shore, allowing most of the passengers to escape. The captain's mother and brother were among the victims.

Quebec Judges Stand By Lash Law "Only Thing Some Understand"

MONTREAL, Nov. 19—(CP).—Because the lash is a "strong deterrent" to crime, two prominent members of the Montreal bench were on record today as being in disagreement with upholders of a British government bill which would restrict the flogging penalty to serious offences committed within prison walls.

"I can readily understand that some people are of the opinion that it savors of brutality," said Chief Justice R. A. E. Greenshields of the Quebec superior court.

"I am not prepared to deny that such a charge is entirely without foundation, but it must not be forgotten that before the lash is inflicted a careful, competent medical examination is made of the victim to establish his physical condition will warrant the decision, that it is not endangering his life to apply the lash at that particular time."

Judge, E. T. Enright said he believed there was "no occasion to mitigate the law" for such offences which usually draw the lash penalty.

"Under the present law, the lash can only be applied in cases of theft with violence, assaults on women and children, narcotic drug offences and those of gross indecency. It is the only punishment that some offenders can understand," he said.

Rarely are more than 10 strokes ordered, while in England the total number never exceeds 40 less one, Chief Justice Greenshields pointed out.

New Trade Pact Aids Nepheline

By the new tariff agreement crude nepheline syenite is admitted to the United States free, and duty on the crushed poduct has been reduced the limit of 50 per cent, from 30 per cent ad valorem to 15 per cent on a maximum of 50,000 tons annually.

Peterborough county is directly interested in this clause of the agreement Canada has entered into with the United Staes. Canadian Nepheline Limited have been operating their quarry at the Blue Mountain east of Stony Lake since 1936. Last year their production was increased from 20 to 45 tons a day. A subsidiary, American Nepheline Corporation, was organized, erected a large crushing plant at Rochester, and this year began quarrying from the Blue Mountain for the United States market.

The capacity of this plant is 200 tons a day. Canadian production of syenite in 1937 was valued at $121,481, and is confined to Peterborough county.

Port Hope Lass Of 11 Wins District Speaking Contest

Brighton, Ont., Nov. 19.

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD Margaret Bennett of Port Hope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bennett, won the district public speaking contest here last night. In second place was Clare Mallory of Cobourg. Marian Rose of Hastings county was third and Ruth Moreland of Prince Edward county, fourth.

Margaret Bennett spoke on "Pick Your Pet Phobia" a humorous discussion of the peculiar fears which are possessed by some people, some of them real and some imagined.

Airliner Crash Stirs Mystery

REGINA, Nov. 19—(CP).—Officials of the Department of Transport to-day proved the Trans-Canada Airlines crash near Regina where two aviators died in the burning of a large air liner. Header by Squadron Leader Alan Ferrier, Ottawa, the board of inquiry hoped to unravel the mystery surrounding the plane's plunge to earth shortly after a takeoff early Friday.

Those who died in the crash of the $130,000 Lockhead 14 machine a mile or so west of Regina were Captain David D. Imrie, 28, and a first officer, John Herald, 29. Eyewitnesses said the fliers succeeded in lifting the plane only 50 feet off the ground before it dropped and burst into flames followed by a series of explosions.

In scanning the terrain late yesterday, officials noticed marks which indicated the twin-motored craft hit the ground once a half mile before it smashed up to spread wreckage over a stubble field. Inspector Robertson discovered the deep marks whic happeared to have been made by the two propellers for a distance of 100 feet.

The cuts, some six inches deep, were in two rows and it is believed every third one indicated one propeller revolution. In measuring the distance between the marks, officials might be able to decide the engine speed and form opinions regarding engine failure.

Aviation experts cannot explain how the machine, if the propellers struck before the crash, regained altitude to continue for half a mile. It was also a mystery as to why the plane was so low after the takeoff from Regina, because weather conditions were fairly good with a light west wind and light snow.

Loss Of Another Tory Seat Held Serious Blow To Chamberlain Policy

Press Sees Vote Sign Nation Is Bewildered And Lacking Strong Leadership, Think February Election Will Be Hushed

LONDON, Nov. 19 (CP Cable).—Press comment on Vernon Bartlett's victory in the Bridgwater by-election yesterday indicated for the most part the editors regarded it as a serious setback for Prime Minister Chamberlain on his foreign policy. Bartlett, newspaperman and radio commentator, won the traditionally Conservative seat by a majority of 2,332 votes over Patrick Heathcoat-Amory, Government candidate.

Commenting on the by-election, the News Chronicle (Liberal), said: "Vernon Bartlett's great victory at Bridgwater has lit a new light among us. Democrats everywhere will be warmed and heartened by it. Its significance is many-formed. His victory proves that the people of Britain, no matter what their occupations, are each and all at this critical moment interested in foreign affairs and foreign policy. It proves, in fact, that democracy, when proper instructed, works."

The Times (Independent) commented: "Bridgwater indeed offers only an accentuation of the chief features to be noted in preceding results at Walsall, Doncaster, Dartford and Oxford. Their features are virtual maintenance of the government vote in face of the heavy onslaught, and some—but hardly an unusual—increase in the Oppositon vote.

"Apart from that, the results exhibit not a little of the waywardness of by-election verdicts, and reveal no very marked trend."

No February Election?

The Manchester Guardian (Liberal) said that if the electors had felt thankful for "Mr. Chamberlain's methods of appeasement," Mr. Bartlett's uncompromising opinions would have injured him in the election.

"Bridgewater is, however, no isolated instance," it added.

"After Bridgewater we shall probably hear a great deal less of a February election, and his party managers will tell Mr. Chamberlain that he must have better goods to deliver before he appeals to the country."

"The salient fact of to-day," said the Yorkshire Post (Conservative), "is that Great Britain faces a highly dangerous situation. The safety of the realm, the defence of the Empire, and the maintenance of our most characteristic and most treasured liberties are at stake. Those liberties cannot be safe here when they are being openly csallenged verywhere in Europe.

"In the face of national dangers in the past this country has shown an impressive unity which has enabled it to come safely through them. There is no such unity to-day.

Fear Danger Not Realized.

"It is the gravest of our handicaps that we have not yet closed ranks and convinced the world outside that to these dangers we present a united and determined front. The lack of unity was produced largely by doubts whether there is in responsible political quarters full appreciation of the real gravity of the situation and of the dangers of liberty and peace.

"As to national defence there are doubts whether the Government really are fully and firmly determined to fit the nation to resist the challenge.

"The military separation geographically of France from Eastern Europe and from Russia is now seen to be part of a Nazi program of isolation of France, and the same desire to menace French security is the object of the dictators' policy in Spain.

"Recent by-elections have shown beyond doubt that the nation is divided and bewildered. Strong and resolute leadership is needed to give it confidence and greater strength and the will to face the future.

"For this reason we have urged the Government to take council with the national leaders outside their own ranks in order that there may be devised a foreign policy based not on mere aspiration but, instead, on realities capable of being grasped and responded to by the people of Britain."

Trade Freedom Seen As Step To World Peace

LONDON, Nov. 19 (C.P. Cable.)—Prominent figures in British business hail the Anglo-Americano trade agreement. Taken with the Canadian-United States accord, the freeing of trade was described as an important step toward world peace along economic lines.

Men who joined newspapers generally in welcoming the new agreements included Sir Patrick Hannon, president of the National Union of Manufacturers, and Peter Bennett, president of the Federation of British Industries.

Sir Patrick said the Anglo-American agreement was "the greatest contribution that has been made to permanent peace among nations on a basis of commercial relationships" since the Ottawa Economic Conference of 1932.

"The treaty has been carefully adjusted with due relationship to the interests of this country, Canada and the United States towards a more important understanding and the quality of interests in world markets than has been achieved up to the present time," he believed.

The publication, "The Economist," called the agreement a very substantial achievement and "a victory for sanity, for friendship, and for common sense," though adding it was possibly open to the question whether it went as far as it might have. Mr. Bennett welcomed two principles in the Anglo-United States pact. The first was the provision allowing modification or termination of the agreement if the pound sterling-United States dollar exchange fluctuated widely. The second provision permitted modification in respect of any particular product if some other country obtained major benefit from a particular concession with the result that serious injury was threatened to the interests of the importing country.

Too Early For Figures

Concerning details, Mr. Bennett said: "It is too soon to say to what extent industry stands to gain on balance."

Sir Patrick, a Conservative member of parliament, said that turning "to the commercial aspect of the treaty, let it be remembered that the schedules to the agreements only relate to articles and commodities which are in continuity of exchange between the two countries."

"There has been no modification of duties relating to articles which have not already been bought and sold on one side of the Atlantic or the other," he pointed out.

"It is true that the visible balance of trade against this country is something like four of five times to the advantage of the United States. But trade between this country and America must not be examined in its direct interchange of commodities between our two countries, but must have its relationship to the triangular or quadrilateral trade which obtains between Britain, the United States, the British Dominions and foreign countries.

"This country gets substantial concessions on £11,000,000 worth of exports to us as against concessions favorable to the United States of imports of £10,000,000 based on figures for 1936.

"No single industry of broad proportions is seriously affected by the concessions made to the United States toward this country in the interchange of trade."

Burns In His Cab

LAVALTRIE, Que., Nov. 19. —(CP-.—Trapped in the cab of his truck after it skidded into a ditch and caught fire less than a mile from here, Donat Bourassa, 28, of St. Titeville, Que., was burned to death last night.

Car Output Slumps

OTTAWA, Nov. 19—(CP).—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today Canada's October production of automobiles was 5,774 units, lowest output for any month of the year to date. It compares with 6,089 units in September and 8,103 in Ocober, 1937.

Farouk Sets Egypt Imitating World In Arming Orders 50,000 Army, And New Navy

CAIRO, Nov. 19. —(AP)— King Farouk, opening a new session of Egypt's parliament today, dedicated his nation to an extensive rearmament program as a sequel to the September European crisis. The 18-year-old king became a father Thursday.

The speech, read by the premier, declared the Egyptian Air force would be strengthened considerably, a naval fleet created and munitions and other factories established to make the country independent in producing war materials in time of emergency.

A new recruiting bill was disclosed which would require all Egyptians to serve three years in the nation's armed forces.

Egypt already had announced expenditure of $12,500,000 for national defence in the current year and hopes to attain a standing army of at least 50,000 men this year.

The council of defence recently announced plans to build 36 vessels as a fleet nucleus in the next two years, at a cost of approximately $17,500,000.

50 Turtles Go In Pot, Sacrifice To Gastronomy For Right Touch To Lord Mayor's Feast

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(CP).—It's no fun to be a turtle in November unless it's a turtle attached to a zoo. An unattached turtle usually gets eaten.

The banquet season which opens around the time of the lord mayor's show in early November decimates turtledom. Fifty big ones were sacrificed to gastronomy at the lord mayor's banquet.

Most of London's turtle soup raw material comes from the flooded, stone-floored rooms of Messrs. J. Lusty in Stephney. The firm sells some to two or three soup makers in London but keeps the rest to make its own soup.

What formula Lusty uses for soup only Lusty knows. It's been a secret for a century, ever since the firm started importing turtles from the West Indies.

Old William Lusty—he is 81 and employees call him "Mr. William"—says a turtle weighing between 120 and 150 pounds will make about 11 quarts of soup worth $75.

Banks, Industry, Commerce Leaders Across U.S. Uphold New Trade Pact

Cotton, Wool Men However See Textiles Hit And Objecting Republicans May Seek Law For Veto In Future Deals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP).—Conflicting viewpoints by business and political leaders expressed on the new trade agreements Canada and the United Kingdom made with the United States foreshadowed today a lively discussion in the new Congress.

The comments ranged from criticism to praise. Comment of Congress members, for the most part, followed party lines, Democrats praising the agreements and Republicans questioning their value to the United States.

Any discussion in the next Congress almost necessarily will be in the nature of an informal review, because the Reciprocal Trade Act gives the President and the Secretary of State authority to consummate agreements without Senate ratification.

Members of Congress dissatisfied with the results, however, may press for an amendment to the law so as to give the legislative branch a veto power over future agreements.

Some members of both political parties expressed the opinion in the last Congress that all the agreements should be subject to Senate ratification. Others have proposed that the effective date of trade agreements be held up pending their examination by Congress.

A group of leaders in banking, industry and commerce expressed general approval of the new agreements during a broadcast symposium last night. They included Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company; Winthrop Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National Bank; George Davis, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of General Motors Corporation.

On the other hand, Russel Fisher, president of the national association of cotton manufacturers, said the administration had "traded away employment in textiles."

The national association of wool manufacturers told its members in a statement that a "severe blow" had been delivered to the industry.

Arvid Frank, chairman of the trade agreements committee of the Automobile Manufacturers' Association, contended that every home in the United States would be benefited directly or indirectly.

Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, praised the trade agreements program but said it could not substantially relieve the problem of cotton surpluses.

Expressions from farm leaders were somewhat at variance. Edward O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, contended farmers would obtain distinct benefits. Louis Taber, master of the national grange, said he hoped the agreements would aid agriculture, but said the reciprocal tariff program had not done so in the past.

R. H. Cabell, president of Armour and Company, said that the trade agreement "in some particulars" should result in "benefits to the meat trade and to American livestock producers."

Boon In General.

In Washington Senator King (Dem.-Utah) saw the agreements as a "boon to trade in general," while Senator Frazier (Rep.-North Dakota) contended they would be of "no advantage to farmers."

Senator Borah (Rep.-Idaho) remarked that a cursory examination disclosed new benefits to American trade, and several supporters of President Roosevelt such as Senator Logan (Dem.-Kentucky) and Representative Mead (Dem.-New York) expressed enthusiastic approval.

The new agreement with Great Britain will affect the daily life of the average American in many ways, state department officials say.

Americans on farms and in cities will observe a direct effect on the prices of many of the articles they buy, or might want to buy, officials believe.

These officials are confident, too, that there will be important indirect effect in the form of increased employment in some industries and increased purchasing power on farms.

Better Fur, Horse Sales Seen To U.S.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19 (CP)—Sale of silver and black fox to United States buyers "undoubtedly will be stimulated" by reduction of United States' duty from the present 50 per cent to 37½ per cent as provided under the Canada-U.S. trade agreement, according to T. G. Maltby of Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company.

Maltby, whose company provides one of the leading sale depots in Eastern Canada, said today that more than 60 per cent of sales made through the company are to United States buyers. Lower duty, he said, would help stimulate all business of the company which he said sells $1,000,000 worth of furs annually.

Reduction on export of horses from Canada to the United States was "very pleasing" to officials of Stewart Brothers who depend on United States buyers for about 25

FOOD-HOARDERS LOSE

Food-Hoarders of Britain who stocked up with canned goods on credit during the European crisis are unable to return them to shopkeepers and some are giving the more perishable varieties to hospitals and charitable institutions.

Bear Visits Bonarlaw But Departs Too Fast For Hunters

(Examiner Correspondence.)

Bonarlaw, Nov. 19.

ON Wednesday afternoon a huge black bear was rambling around Bonarlaw until frightened by workers on the highway here and Canadian National sectionmen Isaac Brown and John Forsyth. Mr. Reinard Quackenbush and Thomas Caldwell seized their rifles but were just late enough to miss getting a shot at Mr. Bruin, although Mr. Caldwell followed the animal's tracks until darkness came on.

The bear travelled north and disappeared in the dense woods near the farm of Charles McInroy. It was stated by eye-witnesses that the bear was full grown and glossy black.

Predict Herriot Successor To Daladier

PARIS, Nov. 19 (AP)—Two rightist political parties today joined Socialists and Communists in calling for overthrow of Premier Daladier's government.

Francoie de la Rocqueaeus French social party which, as the Croix de Feu, led the riots against a previous Daladier cabinet in February, 1934, called the premier's program "dangerous and inopportune."

The French people's party, headed by Deputy Jacques Doriot, declared the new financial measures "threaten only the working man."

Candidates to succeed Daladier when parliament meets Dec. 6 already have been put forward in the chamber of deputies. The most favored appeared to be former Premier Edouard Herriot, now president of the chamber.

Communists called a huge mass meeting for tonight at the Paris sports palace to protest against the financial decrees. Hundreds of police were assigned to patrol the streets in the vicinity.

Fine Address Heard By Cottesloe W.M.S.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

COTTESLOE, Nov. 19.—The W.M.S. held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. L. Freeburn on Wednesday with a good attendance. Mrs. Forsyth had charge of the study book, parts being taken by Mesdames L. Freeburn, Harry Patterson, F. Toms, C. McMillan, E. McDonald, A. Webster and Miss Mae Webster.

Mrs. Stevens of Peterborough literature secretary for the Presbyterial gave a talk on the general work of the society stressing the fact of each member doing her part and speaking of the important work carried on by each society. Mrs. Freeburn served lunch. The next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. E. McDonald.

Newlyweds Honored.

A shower in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald McDonald, nee Mary Whitmore, was held in Warsaw Town Hall on Wednesday evening. Music for dancing was supplied by Leahy Brothers. The young couple were presented with many beautiful and useful gifts among which were two occasional chairs as gifts from Cottesloe and surrounding neighborhood. Lunch was served at midnight after which Mr. McDonald thanked their friends on behalf of his bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fry of Bowmanville accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Turk of Norwood and visited the former's uncle, Mr. Robert Somers on Thursday.

Fatally Injured

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 19—(CP)—Mike Fodey, 46, of Brockville, Ont., was injured fatally when an automobile collided with a parked truck on the Montreal-Toronto highway 22 miles east of here last night.

Henry Sauve of Lancaster, Ont., had parked his truck at the side of the road and had returned to Lancaster to arrange for repairs. Fodey was a passenger in a car driven west bound by William G. Roode of Brockville. The car sideswiped the truck and Fodey's chest was crushed. He died in hospital here shortly after being admitted. Roode escaped uninjured.

A "Twin" Family

GALT, Ont., Nov. 19 —(CP). — Twins run in the Kinzie family of Blair. Last night twin girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kinzie. Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kinzie had twins, a boy and a girl.

The fathers of the two sets of twins, Gordon and Ernest, also belong to twins. Gordon is a twin brother of Mrs. Norman Ruppell of Elmira and Ernest is a twin brother of Alfred Kinzie of Preston.

Then there are Isabel and Beth Kinzie, 21-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kinzie.

Accidental Death

ROUYN, Que., Nov. 19—(CP)—A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "purely accidental" early to-day at an inquest into an hotel fire here which took seven lives last Saturday and caused $300,000 damage when it spread to adjoining buildings, destroying almost an entire block in the downtown business section here.

Demand for American medical products is growing in Egypt.

Mexican Jumper Wins First Fair Victory

TORONTO, November 19—(CP)—Proud horses, from wiry French-Canadians to magnificent Percherons, parade under the critical eyes of judges for four hours to-day as the Royal Winter Fair entered its home stretch. The exposition, featuring the finest livestock and agriculture in Canada, ends Tuesday.

Five varieties of sheep are also to be judged in the livestock division and the horse shoe pitching championships begin to-night.

The Mexican team, one of six international arm yteams competing, took its first victory of the horse show, when Lieut. Ramira Pelafox rode Azteca to victory in the military jumping stake.

Major Eduardo Yanez of the Chilean team was up on both the second and third-place horses, Chilena and Toqui. Lieut. E. W. Berwick of the Canadian team placed fourth with Eureka.

Leading a parade of thoroughbred stallions about the show ring was Osiris 2nd, son of the 1923 Epsom Derby winner, Papyrus. Osiris, owned by R. S. McLaughlin, Oshawa turfman, was named grand and senior champion.

A Money Winning Son

The stallion heads the list of successful sires in Ontario racing for the past season. He is sire of Donosiris, Canadian-bred racer that won more money than any other home-foaled thoroughbred — four years and up—in 1938, and also sire of Mona Bell, Toronto racer that won more than $10,000 this season.

Poppin-By, entry of F. J. Davies, Milliken, Ont., was named reserve grand champion junior stallion.

The touch-and-out jumping stake became a duel between Eileen May, London, Ont., on Hickory Grove, and Mickey Walsh, riding Erin's Son, owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Kennedy, Dedham, Mass. The American entry took first prize after Hickory Grove failed at the first barrier of the jump-off.

University of Alberta won the grand champion steer award for the third successive year when Killearn Lord Rothes, a Shorthorn, took the title last night. The University also exhibited the reserve grand champion, Caerleon 17, a Hereford.

Raoul Reymond, Charlottetown, P.E.I., won the grand championship in the thoroughbred mare division with Fizz. The mare also took the senior title.

Lad Fractures Leg In Felling Tree

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Nov. 19. — Joseph Clement, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Clement of Otter Creek, sustained a badly fractured left leg when crushed by a tree which he was engaged in felling on his father's farm on Wednesday. Both bones were broken above the ankle. The youth had chopped down a small tree a few inches in diameter and in some manner the butt of the tree slipped off the stump pinning the lad underneath. He was released from his painful position by his father, who brought him to the office of a local physician, by whom the fracture was reduced.

Victoria Allowed To Make Grants

LINDSAY, Nov. 19. — Victoria County Council Friday sought legal opinion before paying the warden and chairman of county property the customary grants. The clerk said he had received a communication from two ratepayers threatening to sue the county if the grants are made. The county solicitors said that the corporation was within its rights in making the grants and council granted the warden $300 and the county property chairman $50.

Killed Coon Hunting

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 19—(CP)—Harvey Kilbourne, 32-year-old London district farmer, was killed when he fell from a tree while coon hunting near Thamesville last night.

Dr. M. F. McIlrath coroner of Kent county, who was called to the scene, said death resulted from concussion of the brain. The body bore no evidence of fractures or bruises.

Accompanied by two hunting companions, Kilbourne shot a treed coon shortly after dark in a woods near Thamesville. While climbing the tree to retrieve the animal he slipped, falling about 20 feet. He was a native of Toronto.

Red Supporters

MONTREAL, Nov. 19—(CP). — Seizure of documents said to disclose the names of members and supporters of the Communist Party in Montreal district was announced to-day by Provincial Police officers operating under Quebec's "padlock" law against Communism.

Also seized in a raid by seven officers on a house in suburban Rosemount was $671, said to be money raised in a campaign for subscriptions to the newspapers Clarion and Clarte. Sale of Clarte has been banned in Quebec Province.

STUDY IN ICE HOUSE

Five British scientists have returned home from Switzerland after working for five months in a laboratory cut in the solid ice of a glacier 11,000 feet up in the Jungfrau, the subject of their study being specimens taken from crevasse walls.

Co-pilot Killed

Peace And Unity C.I.O. Slogan

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19—(AP)—The new congress of industrial organizations, equipped with a constitution and set of policies, and led by the veteran labor champion John L. Lewis, moved into the main stream of labor history today committed to two objectives:

Organization of the unorganized workers of America on an industrial basis (one big union for one industry).

Peace and unity in the labor movement with recognition of the principle of industrial unionism.

On these terms the new C.I.O. left open the door to peace with the American Federation of Labor yesterday after closing its first constitutional convention in the city where the rival craft unionists began their organization 57 years ago.

C.I.O.'s report on the futile peace negotiations with A.F.L. in November and December 1937, blamed the A.F.L. executive council for the breakdown of the conferences. The A.F.L. convention report on the same subject blamed Lewis for the collapse of the negotiations.

The A.F.L. recommended that its executive council "carry on the battle and at the same time stand ready to respond to any genuine appeal for peace."

Job Offer Fails Sit-Down Strike

EDMONTON, Nov. 19.—(CP). — Single jobless of Edmonton, unsuccessful in their first attempt in the "sit-down" technique, will meet to-day to organize a "real campaign" for immediate emergency relief and later a work and wages scheme.

Nearly 100 unemployed who occupied the rotunda of the Corona hotel in downtown Edmonton for two hours yesterday walked out of the building and re-assembled on the market square.

"Now is the time for us to start something," said Jack Nicholson, one of the leaders, to the men in market square. "It would have been very easy for the government to have smashed us up in the hotel. We can develop better outside. We must begin a real campaign to get the help we deserve."

Adopting tactics used by Vancouver jobless last spring, the Edmonton unemployed had almost filled the hotel rotunda before clerks realized what was happening and they went out just as quietly after being offered jobs two hours later. The demonstrators remained orderly throughout their short "sitdown." The jobs, on farms, were not accepted.

CAMPBELLFORD

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Archer, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Linton to Toronto where they will visit the Royal Winter Fair.

R. Ferrin and C. Neal were visitors in Toronto on Friday.

3 Tots Escape Fire

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Nov. 19—(CP).—A passerby carried three young children from the burning home of their mother, Mrs. Evaline Cooper, near here early today. The house was destroyed.

The children, whose names were not immediately learned, were asleep on the second floor of the house. Benjamin Thrush, a passer-by, awakened Fred Bloomfield, an occupant of the house, and they carried the children out.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 19 (CP).—Operations on Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday we erdullest in weeks with trading virtually at a standstill. Wheat futures values held to a steady trend most of the day and closed ⅝ higher to unchanged, November 60⅝, December 59⅜ to ⅜, May 62⅜ to ½, and July 63⅛ to ¼cents.

Removal of duty on wheat entering the United Kingdom appeared to have been anticipated and was discounted.

Export business worked overnight was light, and other operations were routine and dull.

Biblical Thoughts For the Shut-Ins

By Rev. E. R. James
Toronto

THE CONVERSION OF THE PHILIPPIAN JAILER

Paul said: Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.—Acts 16:31.

The charter of our salvation. In every age it cost men much agony of thinking to accept the simple statement that "eJsus is Lord."

The greatest gift modern scholarship has given us is "the historic sense." The faculty of carrying ourselves back to past centuries and seeing more or less clearly the real meaning of historical events.

The speaker is Paul, a Jew born in Tarsus—"No mean City"—and also a Roman citizen by birth. He had been educated in the most famous school of theology, "sitting at the feet of Gamaliel." He is an intellectual giant. He is a Jew believing in the one living God. But lest men might think that because he had lived in a Gentile land he must have unconsciously absorbed gentile thought which would loosen his hold on his faith he reminds us that he is a Pharisee. It means that he has a deeper grip on the faith of his fathers. But that is not all. He emphasizes that he is "a Pharisee of the Pharisees," which means that he belongs to the strictest sect of men believing in the one living God—men who would gladly die terrible deaths rather than deny the faith of their fathers. Such is his spiritual background. He believes in the one living God and yet insists that men must believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

JESUS means Joshua, Saviour. "Thou shalt call His Name Jesus for He shall save His people."

CHRIST, the Messiah, the anointed of God, was peculiarly a Jewish word. Christ is the Greek translation of the word Messiah. It means one who is anointed by Jehovah with spiritual gifts to enable him to save his people. It is the fulfilling of the ancient prophecy: "The Spirit of the Lord shall rest upon Him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord." Isaiah 11:2. The Jews of that age looked for this Messiah, the Christ, the man anointed with intellectual and spiritual powers to deliver them from the bondage of Rome. Yet he was a man, a wonderful man. "His Name shall be called Wonderful."

THE LORD. About three hundred and fifty years before Christ the Jewish rabbis began to translate the Hebrew Scriptures into Greek for their people dispersed in gentile lands, who could not speak Hebrew. This translation was called the Septuagint, the Seventy. When they came to translate the sacred name of Jehovah into a foreign tongue they decided to use the Greek word for Lord. So when a Jew read his Scriptures and came to the Holy Name he pronounced the Greek word with deep awe and reverance. To St. Paul, before his conversion, the title "Lord" meant God, Jehovah. Here then is the marvellous fact that he, a Jew, a Pharisee of ...e Pharisees, trained in the strictest sect of his religion, gives the title of God to Jesus Christ, the Messiah, and says that men must believe in the Lord Jesus Christ in order to be saved. He is placing Jesus Christ on an equality with God. For a Jew this is a horrible, blasphemous position to take. Something extraordinary must have happened to him.

On his way to Damascus the Lord met him. The revelation that Jesus Christ is the Son of God came to him. "I am Jesus whom thou persecutest." Later he departs to the wilderness of Arabia with his books to spend three years rethinking his theology. He does not wish to begin his ministry on the ground of a vision. He must be intellectually and spiritually convinced that Jesus is indeed the LORD.

Faith means a moral and spiritual sensitiveness to God and to spiritual things. You are sensitive to pain, which is a sign of life. The loss of that sensitiveness is a sign of death. The Christian religion asks for personal devotion to a spiritual Person, Jesus Christ, the Son of God, "Who for us men and for our salvation came down from Heaven and was incarnate by the Holy Ghost of the Virgin Mary and was made man."

The Sacredness of the Home

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Nov. 20 is Exodus 20:14; Matthews 5; 27-30; Mark 10:2-16; Ephesians 5:22-23, the Golden Text being 1 Tim. 5:22, "Keep thyself pure.")

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

LAST WEEK we talked about the sacredness of human life and how we should learn to control our tempers so as not to injure others. Today we discuss our homes, and what we should do to make them happy.

First, how happy and thankful we would be if our fathers and mothers love and are true to each other. Nothing matters so much as that. Children learn, in homes where this is so, to be true and loyal to loved ones and to all whom they meet in life. Homes and the family are older than the church and Christianity. "Be it ever so humble," as the song says, "there is no place like home."

The lesson is based on the seventh commandment: "Thou shalt not commit adultery." That means that husband and wife shall be true to each other; that they shall keep their marriage vows and, giving up all others, think only of each other as "long as they both shall live."

The Golden Text is "Keep thyself pure," and that, too, means that husband and wife shall be true—not only outwardly, but inwardly—in their thoughts. When they are, the foundations for that happiest of all places, the home, are laid on the rock, as Jesus said in the parable about the man who built his house on the sand, and the one who built on a rock which the rains and floods could not tear down.

Children, too must "keep themselves pure," in word and thought. You would rather have friends who are clean physically, wouldn't you? But it is even better to have those who are not only clean and neat outwardly, but whose thoughts are clean. After being with some people you feel that your mind needs washing and airing. They have talked of low and mean things, and you feel soiled.

With others you are refreshed. You have talked about fine things, helpful things, thing that are worth while. Your mind and soul seem all clean and shining. Parents sometimes object to certain of their friends, and the young people cannot understand why. A good way to find out is to check up on the way you feel after being with such friends. Do you feel better after being with them? Or do you feel a certain shame when you think of what you talked about and what you did? That is the test. If you have the latter reaction, it is better to give up such associates, even though they may seem very fascinating to you.

At the end of today's lesson there is that lovely story about Jesus and the children. The Jewish mothers brought their little children to the Master that He might touch them. And the disciples tried to drive them away, but Jesus was "much displeased" with His followers, and said to them: "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of heaven." And He took them up in His arms and blessed them, and told His disciples that unless they could become like little children, innocent and trusting, they could not enter his kingdom.

Minister's Radio Keeps Trappers In Touch With Their Homes

NORTHWEST RIVER, LABRADOR, Nov., 19.-(CP)-Far removed from their families for the fall and early winter months, living for the most part alone in a log cabin from which they work their far flung trap lines, roving furriers of the Labrador now can keep in touch with home and loved ones through radio.

This boon which brings a blessing both to the trappers and their homefolk, has been made possible largely by the Rev. L. L. Burry, United Church missionary here, who sought some means of keeping in touch with his scattered congregation.

Some half-dozen tiny, handmade receiving sets were carried up the Grand River this Autumn as part of the equipment of a like number of trappers. These machines will be set up at strategic points along the river, where they will serve as relay stations for the wide-spread group of furriers.

The news and programs will go out into the ether from the parsonage at Northwest River. Mr. Burry, through the little transmitter of his amateur station, VOEB, will speak to them two nights each week to bring a message of cheer and a budget of home news.

Far up country, inside the mighty Grand Falls, where the trapper who goes farthest afield has his "path," the welcome sound of the minister's voice will reach. Three hundred miles of snow-covered wilderness will be reduced to the space of a second, and the man who sits beside his little radio will know that all is well out in the village. Tomorrow he will go over his trap-lines with a contented mind, though it may be months before he sees the folks again.

May Carry Radio In Kits.

And so it will be in the tilts dotted along the river bank closer to home yet all of a week's journey away. The men who have the radios will jot down the news and any special message and take it along with them as they continue next day the endless round of "going to their traps." Near the trap that marks the beginning of their neighbor's ground they will tie the wisp of paper to a tree.

Trappers of the Labrador wilds have an uncanny way of finding things, and it is in just that maner that news is passed from one to another, sometimes for hundreds of miles. Each trapper works alone throughout the winter hunt, but trapping lines connect and a man will never reach his last trap without going to the next man's first trap to see if there is any "mail."

The day may come when each trapper will include a portable radio in his kit as religiously as he does his sack of flour. Then the unique mail system of the hinterland will have outlived its usefulness. No longer is it depended upon as the sole means of getting home news up in the mountains.

A National Message

By the Late Rev. W. Pascoe Goard, LL.D., F.R.G.S., F.R.E.S.

Leaving the schools to the progressive work of the Romanist, Jewish influence turned its attention to the Universities, in which were trained preachers for the pulpit, teachers for the schools, and editors for the papers. By the introduction of the so-called German philosophy, which is but a hashed edition of the Talmudic philosophy, they succeeded in advancing that modern philosophy which challenged the verity of the Scriptures, the deity of Our Lord, and the doctrine of the Atonement; at the same time was attacked the great Reformation doctrine of justification by faith.

How well these have succeeded in their task, voices from a thousand pulpits give illustration from week to week. Those who should be the exponents of Christ and His living faith have fallen to the position of being exponents of Jewish anti-Christian propaganda.

What alien political creeds have done, and are doing, and what they have already accomplished among the masses, is manifest to all.

The combined effects of all these assaults upon the spiritual citadel of the Anglo-Saxon people is sufficiently serious for today, and it is infinitely more ominous for tomorrow.

How shall all this be off-set?

1. Patriotism and patriotic organizations help, but cannot accomplish the task.

2. Political activities and organizations are fighting a defensive battle, but are steadily losing in the fight.

3. There is still power — Divine power — in the Gospel of Our Lord Jesus Christ as applied to the individual, and as applied to the nation. We must teach that this nation was established as the Kingdom of God on earth; that to it was given the perfect law of the Divine Constitution; that in it is established for ever the Throne of Jehovah, Israel's God and King; that subordinate to the Jehovah Throne is established the House of David, guaranteed for ever by the oath and power of Jehovah; that again and again the Divine oath has guaranteed the perpetual continuance of Israel as a nation, which oath is inherited by the nation and company of nations in Britain; that although the nation has sinned unspeakably, and is sinning still, yet her national redemption was wrought out upon Calvary's Hill, as recorded in Isaiah, chapters 50 to 54, etc.; that by the Divine oath there shall presently come to this nation purification (Ezekiel 36), the return of the Divine law (Jeremiah 31), and the conscious reunion of the heart of the nation to God (Hebrews 8): that even now our God awaits the return of the nation as a nation to Himself and of each citizen as an individual. Then will the call go forth for the nation once again to return and cry, as its forefathers did, "Jehovah, He is the God, Jehovah, He is the God," incarnate in Jesus Christ, our Saviour and our King.

This rallying cry will bring our people back to truth and sanity and God, and nothing else will do so.

Missionaries Aid Chinese Farmers

A picture sermon illustrating certain phases of the life of the people of West China will be given in St. Andrew's Church on next Sunday night.

Rev. F. Dickinson, B.A. who spoke at the Peterborough Presbytery recently, has in addition to his evangelistic labors taken a deep interest in the agricultural needs of the poor peasant farmers of the Schewan province. He has recently been appointed Dean of Agriculture in the West China Union University which is at the present time crowded with students from all parts of that land.

Mr. Dickinson has used his camera to good effect and has shown the various ways in which the missionaries are helping the farmers.

This is a part of the new Life movement which has been inspired by Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek and his talented wife which incited the jealousy of the Japanese military leaders and led to the invasion of China by that highly mechanized army.

There is a marked contrast between the brutal assault of the Japanese forces and the constructive mission of good will which Canadian missionaries are bringing at present to China. It is the contrast between the pagan policy of exploitation and the Christian ministry of redemption.

Cathedral Musings

Sooner or later, he who would seek to realise the truth of the spiritual world must come to the realisation of the essential duality of the spirit of man. He must arrive at a point where he really knows that dwelling within him, infinitely near, yet altogether apart and separate from the self, is that infinite spirit, the child of God, which is the true Self. Most of us, knowing nothing of this true Self, the Son of God, seek for the Redeemer from without, not realising that within this temple of the body, the temple "not made with hands", dwells the Living God in all three aspects. For as the Master said, the Kingdom is not here nor there, it is within us. Nor does the average man realise that 'salvation' is the going from the outer courts of the temple to within the holy of holies beyond the veil, and that, in the last, the veil will be rent in twain and there will no longer be any division between the outer and inner, for all shall, once more, as in the beginning, be one. For even as in the Macrocosm when the end comes and all this universe dissipates, returning once more into the thought of God and He alone remains, so in the microcosm of man, in the end, will all return into the unity of the Absolute. All this was well known in the early days and the work necessary to this inner path of "becoming" was taught to those who were 'able to bear it', but with the rise of institutional religion, the greater part of this earlier mystical side of Christianity has been lost, so that all that survives is the simplified teachings of the outer circle, the 'milk for the babes' that Paul refers to. In the olden days there were three essential steps to take in approaching the altar fires, to "know", to "do", and to "become" For it was recognised that one must know in order to do the work of God, and that, as one did this work, so did one become. These three steps are really one step, for this becoming other than what one is, is the summum bonum of this life. But the world knows naught of these things, for not being able to assimilate the spiritual food for babes, how can it tolerate the strong meat of those who seek their lost heritage as Sons of God? Hence today we have faith without works, in direct opposition to the teachings of the Master, for while He recognised the fact that belief was a necessary preliminary, yet in no uncertain terms, He emphasised that what we did was of far greater importance than what we affirmed. For what we do, shows exactly what we are, which is what really counts. An evil tree cannot bring forth good fruit.

TO THE MODERNISTS

You friends of moderation who think a reformation and moral renovation would benefit our nation, who see the ruination, distrust and desolation; the awful degration of common conversation; the open violation of Sabbath ordination. Ye who with consternation behold this devastation and utter condemnation, why sanction duration or show disapprobation to its final consumation.

The Sacredness of the Home — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Exodus 20:14; Matthew 5:27-30; Mark 10:2-16; Ephesians 5:22-33.

Thinking to trap Jesus, the Pharisees ask him: "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife?"

Jesus reminds them that married folk are as one. "What God hath joined, let no man put asunder," he says.

Homes existed even before there were churches, and are necessary to social life and individual happiness.

Jesus loves children and tells his disciples they must be like them to win eternal life. (GOLDEN TEXT—1 Tim. 5:22)

The New Trade Pacts

The yardstick by which the new trade agreement between the United States and Canada and the reciprocal trade pact between the United Kingdom and the United States should be measured, the Examiner believes, is political rather than economic. In other words, the most valuable feature of these agreements is the fact that they demonstrate to the world that democratic countries can sit down together around a conference table and in a spirit of mutual trust and common purpose arrive at an understanding to slash trade barriers and thus make a valuable contribution to world peace.

Viewed from such an angle, the dollars-and-cents side of the pacts assumes a lesser importance. In triangular negotiations in which the welfare of the people of three countries has to be considered there must necessarily be some sacrifices. It was required of each of the three participting countries that concessions should be made and it is obvious that such concessions could not be granted without some interests somewhere being adversely affected. All that could be done was to consider the general effect and let the policy of the greatest good to the greatest number be the determining factor.

So far as Canada is concerned it is impossible to sit down at this stage and weigh accurately all the results of the two pacts. Admittedly we have shared in the sacrifices that were necessary to the completion of the agreement. We have tossed into the negotiations some of the benefits that came to us through the Empire trade agreements and the shaving off of some of the Imperial preferences we have been enjoying cannot be regarded as a minor concession. We have also opened the door to more American manufactured products and that necessarily means competiaion in the domestic market for some of our industries.

On the other hand a greater share of the American market has been made available to Canadian farm products and that should be a matter of tremendous importance to Canadian farmers and consequently to the whole country. The only fly in the ointment in that respect is that the United States market for agricultural products has never been a particularly stable market. As one prominent Canadian cattleman has put it, the American market is here today and gone tomorrow. However, the outlook for the farmers of this country as a result of the pacts is generally rosy.

It will probably prove to be the case that we will have to wait for some time before we will be able to get a definite line on the effect of the agreements. We can, in the meanwhile, greet their signing as an historic demonstration of amity between the English-speaking democracies.

They Did Well

Congratulations are in order to the members of Peterborough county's junior stock judging team upon their success in finishing third in the competion at the Royal Winter Fair. To make such a showing in the face of strong opposition from all over the province is an achievement that reflects credit upon the boys themselves and upon the instruction they have received.

Peterborough county made a grand slam in stock judging contests several years ago but it was not to be expected that a triumph like that could be repeated year after year. The competition is growing steadily stronger as junior farmers' work throughout the province expands, and to win premier honors will be an increasingly difficult task. Under the circumstances to finish in third place is a notable showing and the boys who comprised this year's Peterborough county team have earned plaudits.

It is a matter for satisfaction, the Examiner feels, that one of the two teams which scored higher marks than our own entry hailed from this district, the Durham team earning the distinction of being runners-up and upon that fine achievement we extend our felicitations to the members of the team.

Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will be particularly gratified that second and third prizes in this outstanding competition have gone to teams from Central Ontario because the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, among the first fairs to recognize the importance of junior farmers' work and the desirability of encouraging its expansion in every way possible, has the right to claim some credit for the showing that has been made. It is worthy of note that not only do Peterborough junior farmers play a prominent part in the Peterborough Exhibition but that the boys and girls from Durham county, including the members of the second-place stock judging team, have made their contribution to the success of the annual event here.

Forest Fire Hazard

More as a matter of information than in the hope that the warning will have much significance at this late hour, the Examiner points out that in the section of Ontario controlled by the Tweed office of the Forestry Department there have been nine forest fires so far this month and that eight of them are blamed on the carelessness of hunters and the ninth may have originated from the same cause.

The story carries its own moral, namely, that those who go into the woods on business or pleasure have a responsibility to discharge in protecting what remains of Ontario's forest wealth from the dire effects of careless smokers, or negligent campers and hunters. The smoker who carelessly tosses away a still burning match or a cigarette end that has not been extinguished, may start a forest fire that will devastate thousands of acres and cause immense property damage and possible loss of life. Similarly the folk who build big camp fires and go away and leave them still burning are a menace in the woods. It is surprising to find that some of the worst offenders in this respect are men who pride themselves on being trained woodsmen and would resent being described as "green horns" in the bush and yet who act like novices in this all-important matter of fire hazards.

It is not, of course, the hunters alone who have a duty to discharge in helping to protect the forests. Now that good highways have penetrated deep into wooded areas and motor travel into such sections, has increased enormously careless smokers in automobiles represent a fresh danger to Ontario's woodlands. A cigarette butt thrown out of a motor car into the bush alongside a northern road might easily start a widespread conflagration; as a matter of fact several bad fires in recent years owe their origin to just such an act of carelessness. There are times when wooded districts are dry as tinder and it is then that smokers, whether on foot or merely passing through in automobiles, should make sure that their matches are out and cigarettes extinguished before tossing them aside.

Every big forest fire, it should be remembered, had its start as a small one.

Endorsed Years Ago

In deciding to build a footbridge across the Quaker Oats dam next year the city council is merely keeping faith with the ratepayers who years ago authorized that work to be done and voted the money to pay for it.

That is a bit of local history that seems to be pretty well forgotten at the present time. It has slipped from the mind of most citizens that when the by-law was submitted to the ratepayers to authorize the issuing of debentures for the construction of the new Hunter Street bridge, the measure contained a clause providing for the borrowing of enough money to erect another bridge over the Otonabee at London Street. However, when the cost of the Hunter Street structure climbed far above the original estimates the smaller sum was swallowed up along with the bigger appropriation and the result was that the London Street bridge was never built.

It was not greatly missed until pedestrians were shut off from the use of the Quaker Oats dam during the current year.

We believe that in addition to being the final carrying out of an agreement between the city council and the ratepayers the construction of a footbridge over the London Street dam is justified as a public convenience. Large numbers of citizens daily found a crossing of the river at that point a time-saver and in addition to the folk who used the dam as a bridge every day there were large numbers who found it useful as a short route to Nicholls Oval. In spite of the large number of automobiles in commission there are still people who have to depend upon their legs as means of transportation and in their interest the building of a safe bridge at London Street is an undertaking the council has every reason to include in its program for 1939.

Licensing Bicycles

In these days when we are licensed to death by Federal, Provincial and Municipal governments the Examiner hesitates to suggest anything more in that direction. The situation is that we already pay so many licenses in this country that before long the privilege of breathing may be about the only thing left that has not been taken under governmental regimentation.

And yet the bicycle-stealing racket that has been going on in Peterborough for a number of months has become so serious from the viewpoint of loss to the unlucky owners of stolen wheels that it becomes necessary to suggest that for the purpose of aiding the police in checking and recovering purloined bicycles some system of licensing must be adopted. The charge for the licenses should be a purely nominal one, for the idea is not the raising of revenue but merely to afford some means of keeping track of stolen property. Similar licensing bylaws have been adopted in a number of Ontario municipalities and have been found to be of material assistance to the police in dealing with this problem which is by no means peculiar to Peterborough.

Large numbers of bicycles have been stolen here in recent months and recently a new variation in the racket developed when wrecked wheels from which parts had been taken were found in various parts of the city. In one case what was left of the stolen bicycle had been tossed into the river by the thieves.

Licensing in the opinion of police officers, would be of valuable assistance to the department in dealing with a situation that has caused heavy property loss to many owners of bicycles and has long been a headache to the police.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Hitler has been told that the German colonies will not be handed back. And that seems to be that.

We wonder how Herr Hitler feels now that it is beginning to look as if it is the Jews who will get the colonies.

They must be giving prizes in Germany these days for folk who can think up new ways of persecuting the Jews.

And now they tell us the beaver is lazy. Next thing we may hear is that it is not the game fish which swim upstream.

Nine-year-old German girl told reporters on arrival in Canada that Hitler was a very great man. We believe he has some such opinion himself.

It is said that Toscanini may become a citizen of the United States. We assume he does not intend to wait for the approval of Mussolini.

The Monday holiday movement is growing in strength but it is almost too logical to make it attractive to the politicians.

The fact that a Labor candidate increased his majority in Doncaster by nearly 4,000 will probably give the strategists of the British government something over which to ponder.

Many Finnish girls in Toronto are to compete in a beauty contest, and judging from the newspaper pictures of some of the entrants the contest should have an exciting finish.

Before we have caught up to the flood of Mexican bills in Ontario the Royal Winter Fair bobs up with the announcement that Jamaican one penny pieces are being passed for fifty-cent coins.

The many nations who because of Canada's favored nations agreement share in the benefit of the new trade pacts doubtless feel that the Christmas season has begun early this year.

The first crop prediction for 1939 has been made and it is bad news for the west. An entomological expert says the grasshopper crop next year will be the biggest in two decades.

Relief rolls throughout the Dominion are down 12.7 per cent. as compared with September a year ago. Unfortunately this reduction is spotty and some districts are not experiencing the benefit.

It is claimed that very few ministers are out of jobs. On the other hand, of course, it might be said that some of them have difficulty in discovering a living wage in the stipend they receive.

Lord Tweedsmuir says that he has written "far, far too many books." We have an idea that his host of admirers will take issue with him on that statement.

Now that a scientist has been given a medal for finding a means to control the pale western cutworm, all the rest of the insect pests in the country will probably turn pale.

Edward Johnson has been given a new contract for three more years as manager of the New York Metropolitan Opera Association. The Guelph boy is evidently as good a business man as he is a singer.

THE OLD HOUSE

Is that the door through which, all draped with fear,
They went—those three—full sixty years ago,
The parents and their sore-sick boy, to hear
What left his once rose-cheeks all faded so?

Out through that door they went—the day was June;
But they saw not the sun, nor heard the birds,
The very world for them was out of tune;
Dumbness fell on them at the doctor's words.

Now that kind man, sober with all his learning
The many, too, who wore that threshold down,
Have taken since the way of no returning,
For time and death respect not a king's crown—

But that old building which survives them all,
Is dumb when I those scenes would fain recall.

Looking for Hicks In the Big Town

(From the Ottawa Journal)

UP IN the Ontario North, where men are men and thar's gold in them thar hills, there is some inclination actively to resent what seems to be a popular impression that the mining towns of today are of the roaring, wide-open Klondyke type, lacking in the niceties of civilization — towns inhabited principally by hard-fisted miners who spend their days underground and their nights playing poker and fighting and drinking whiskey.

The Timmins Advance maintains the contrary with its accustomed vigor, points out that the Ontario mining towns of today really are quite respectable places. They have their schools and churches and newspapers, fine shops, the radio and the telephone, movie palaces, train service and broker's offices, municipal problems and big debts—and what more can any community ask?

But what annoys the Advance to the extent of a long editorial is the suggestion it finds in a Toronto paper that the people of the North really are uncouth and uncultured "hicks", and the unkindest cut is the fact that this Toronto paper supports its conclusions by an interview with a honeymooning couple from the North itself. The bride solemnly assured the reporter that Toronto men were handsome, that the busy city appalled an innocent visitor from a part where the revolving door was a major mystery. And the bridegroom, not to be outdone, said in his contribution that Toronto women were especially lovely—and how did the bride like that?—that Timmins was a hick town where the natives all would take to the bush if such a thing as an airplane were seen.

The Advance is quite sure the happy young couple were pulling the reporter's leg, and that the whole incident emphasizes its contention that Toronto is the real hick town. But we suspect at the bottom of its annoyance is the suggestion that Toronto has prettier girls, and better-dressed, than has Timmins. You can utter the most devastating criticism of a city's morals and architecture without causing much of a stir. The Advance would merely smile in a superior way if somebody declared the streets of Timmins were either mud-holes or dust-bins, that its people were crude and illiterate. But even to hint that the girls of a town are not the peers of their Parisian sisters for elegance, that they lack something of the charm of the finest cosmopolitan society, brings down upon the offender the violence of outraged civic pride.

We know how the Advance feels about this sort of thing: we should feel the same if somebody in Toronto expressed the opinion that there are prettier girls on Yonge street than in Ottawa.

To The Editor

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE AND THE BIBLE

Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Christian Science as explained by Mrs. Eddy is founded upon the Bible, the book which by the urge or command of God is given to the people that they may gleam the way of Eternal Life. Those who consider that they have the right to "criticise" and to amend the Bible, as modernists do, no longer claim that the Bible is more than they say it is and thus "criticism" has dealt with it as if it were only far from being the word of God and His revelation of Himself to mankind. The falling away in attendance at the "criticising" churches has shown a rapidly-increasing attendance at those churches still preserving their faith and at none more than the First Church of Christ Scientist. So soon as people realize that the abandonment of the Bible means the abandonment of the promise of Eternal Life they will realize how profitless it is to turn from God to man since the Bible is the only definite and written revelation of a personal God in touch with humanity.

If the Bible is open to doubt then the divine promise has no revealed source and no validity. To Christian Science more than to any existing evangelical interpretation of God's word is due the logical and scientific explanation of it and it may be freely prophesied that Christian Science as explained by Mrs. Eddy in her key to the Scriptures will very largely take the place of the present system of criticism upon which the modernist ministry is founding its teaching.

PEUTINAX.

A KIND TRIBUTE

(Cincinnati Enquirer)

WHEN KIPLING called Canada "Our Lady of the Snows," he roused in the dominion a storm of protest. They do not mind being called Canucks or Indians, though if anyone refers to them as Eskimos they are mad enough. But Kipling did them what they regard as an irreparable injury.

Our Lady of the Snows, indeed! Do we not in summer have weather much warmer and more agreeable than that of the British Isles? And they point to the grapes, apples and peaches of Ontario, to that finest of all melons growns on the American Continent, the Montreal melon.

Then, there are corn, wheat, oats, rye and tobacco. Look, they say, at our pastures. See our cattle. Is there any butter or cheese better than ours? All of which is true. Naturally the Canadian put a soft pedal on their winters. We do not blame them, for in January and February they often send us the overflow of their blizzards and icy blasts, so we know something about them.

On our side of the border we appreciate very well that Canada is a great agricultural country, for since our agricultural department has taken to plowing under and limiting our crops, we have been heavy importers of their foodstuffs. A land which truly might be called Our Lady of the Snows suggests seals, whale blubber and polar bears. Even poetic license should not have permitted Kipling to go as far as he did.

HE MUST HAVE LEFT

• Trying To Debunk the Beaver

SOMEONE is always ready to set himself up as a "de-bunker" even when it comes to the most cherished beliefs says the Brockville Recorder and Times.

From earliest times, Canadians have generally understood that the beaver was a model of industry, and they have thought so highly of him that they have made him one of the emblems of their country.

A troublesome naturalist belonging to the Sault Ste. Marie district now comes forward with a different version of the beaver's characteristics. He finds that, far from being the busy animal that he has been always pictured, he is really very lazy and, what is more, very stupid.

This gentleman declares that the beaver actually works for only two months during the year and spends the rest of it having a good time. He will go a quarter of a mile into the bush to fell a tree when others lie right beside the stream which he inhabits, and then he will drag them to water by a much longer route than necessary. Moreover, we are told that beavers don't even build their dams straight.

Notwithstanding all this, we remain of the opinion that the average beaver is not such a bad sort of a chap after all. He may be lazy, he may be stupid, but he is a master-engineer and a master-builder and his personal habits are worthy of all commendation.

If "Grey Owl" lived, the man from Sault Ste. Marie would not be able to say such harsh things about the beaver without remonstrance and protest, for "Grey Owl" knew the beaver from A to Z and appreciated him as many other experienced naturalists also appreciate him.

• Geese Are Lingering In North

GEESE HUNTERS returning from Moosonee reported weather so warm that the number of geese flying was limited says the Timmins Free Press. There were plenty of blue and snow geese but they were loafing and just floating around rather than getting about the business of migrating south. And hunters don't shoot at sitting, or rather floating targets.

These conditions were borne out in a report made by the Chief Migratory Bird Officer who made an inspection trip over that area this fall. He noted numerous shore birds, including plover, sandpipers, and Wilson's snipes in the region and these too were delaying their flights south while they investigated the marshy shores of the Bay.

The alarm so often expressed by Jack Miner and echoed by the Soo Star that something must be done about the promiscuous shooting in James Bay that threatened the extinction of wild geese has little basis in fact. The numbers of hunters who congregate at Moosonee are microscopic in comparison to the barrage that the geese must fly through farther south.

These fears seemed to be based on the assumption that the James Bay was a breeding ground for the geese whereas they breed and nest on Baffin and Southampton Islands, north of Hudson Bay.

This year, the absence of younger geese was noted by the Bird Officer and it was still a question of ornithological interest as to whether the younger birds were yet to come, had merely been beguiled into staying longer in the North by the warmer weather or the hatching season had been a failure.

Duck shooters too were waiting vainly in their hides for the flights to come through Southern Ontario this fall. The ducks were also sticking to the weather rather than to calendar dates. Local duck hunters also reported that flights were not very numerous.

• Neglected County Children

HOW MANY CHILDREN in the rural districts of Ontario are suffering from minor ailments that will eventually undermine their health asks the Sarnia Observer.

That question comes into prominence as the result of a report made by F. Broadwick, representative of the Dufferin County Educational Association to the Dufferin County Council in which he charged that the health of children in the rural districts is being neglected. Some welfare organizations at Orangeville had petitioned the council to appoint a nurse to visit all the schools in the county.

Mr. Broadwick pointed out that minor ailments are responsible, in many cases, for backwardness of pupils in school work. In the country districts, as well as in the cities, many parents cannot afford to give their children proper medical attention. The result is that many youngsters are condemned to the enervating processes that result from simple ailments. The trouble is started by bad housing and absence of the right kind of food at home. Colds are contracted in winter because of poor ventilation and lack of physical condition induced by eating the wrong kind of food. Then comes a train of physical maladjustments, diseased tonsils, teeth, adenoids, defective vision and other abnormalities that prevent the victims from getting along in their studies.

In the cities, a fairly effective system of inspection and care has been established, so that the majority of children who are victims of these defects, can obtain the necessary care. Apparently that is not the case in the majority of rural districts where the normal expectation is that the children are so healthy by reason of fresh air, sunshine and exercise, that they do not require artificial aid.

It is freely admitted that the winter climate imposes a severe strain on all children, when lack of sunshine and the natural decline in vitamin quality of milk, eggs and vegetables, renders it necessary to resort to the use of specific vitamin agencies, if health is to be guarded. It is said that the Indian Department of the federal government is providing cod liver oil for children of the reserves. That seems to be commendable policy.

It is likely that county councils in Ontario will not be neglected in this matter if it is established that there is urgent need for more adequate protection of juvenile health in the district schools. One deplorable circumstance associated with neglect of the minor maladies is that this is capable of imposing a handicap that never can be overcome in later life.

• What Will Jim Find Next ?

JIM AND HIS VIKINGS

THE WOLVES of Algoma have taken second place in the affections of James W. Curran of the Sault Ste. Marie Star since he has discovered evidences that there were Vikings in the area contiguous to the Soo in the eleventh century says the St. Thomas Times-Journal. It is an interesting discovery especially to one so historically-minded as Mr. Curran, who, now that the long winter nights have set in, with wolves howling at his door, will exclaim "Avaunt!" to the brutes. In that single word he will advise the savage beasts (now quite tame) that he now has better fish to fry, so to speak, and wishes not to be disturbed until the snows disappear, when the search will be continued for more Norse relics.

To such a pass has Mr. Curran's discoveries carried him that he was asked to address the members of the Empire Club in Toronto the other day to tell about them. A Globe and Mail writer was among those present and this is part of his comment:

"Mr. Curran's claims arouse the imagination. If there were Norsemen in the northern and western parts of Canada so long ago, what were they seeking? They sailed uncharted seas, to wander in an unknown land. Like Columbus, some hundred years later, they probably hadn't any idea where they were; but the brave spirit of such adventurers is what arouses admiration. Mr. Curran is satisfied with his research work, and will care little what more pretentious archaeologists and ethnologists say about it. That is the nature of a man interested in what he finds out for himself."

Mr. Curran's enthusiasm in his subject is what one appreciates and envies. But we must let him know that he is not the only Ontario man who has got "relic-conscious." It is years ago that ancient Indian mounds were discovered just west of St. Thomas, with a suitable number of bones. We are wondering now if these relics may not be those of the Vikings. Lake Erie is only a few miles distant from the mounds, and doubtless the Vikings sailed that unsalted sea in their wanderings, may-hap falling prey to the ferocious Indians that inhabited these parts in centuries past. Mr. Curran might do worse than come here and give us his exalted judgment on the findings of our local historians.

Now that the Soo revels in the possession of marvelous ship canals, great paper and steel manufacturing plants, wolves and Viking relics we are compelled to speculate on what next mine of publicity Editor Curran will unearth. There are no limits to his ingenuity. We watch and wait.

THE MAN OF FORTY.

(Christian Science Monitor)

MUSSOLINI'S WIFE is said to be almost violent in her hatred of war. Her sons have been militarized over her outraged protest; the youngest boy, 11, is drilling and looking forward to a career in the army. It is as a mother, rather than the wife of a war boss, that she protests. She is speaking the language of motherhood. The tragic futility of bringing sons into the world to be seized by somebody bent upon conquest and slaughter in coveted lands is almost too much for spirit, flesh and blood to bear. Women have never fought much in wars, but they know more about war than men do.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

AND NOW, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, to keep the commandments of the Lord, and his statutes, which I command thee this day for thy good?—Deut. x, 12, 13.

✧ ✧ ✧

Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and in truth: and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood, and in Egypt; and serve ye the Lord.

And if it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord....

And the people said unto Joshua, The Lord our God will we serve, and his voice will we obey.—Joshua xxiv, 14, 15, 24.

✧ ✧ ✧

If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies, fulfil ye my joy, that ye be like-minded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind.—Phil. ii, 1, 2.

DANCING FOR FUN.

(Vancouver Sun)

THE "good old Empire" may be slow, but she certainly gets there in the end.

This not-quite-original reflection is forced upon us by that favored dance-floor evolution of the minute known as the Lambeth Walk.

Undoubtedly the Lambeth Walk will be the piece-de-resistance of the local dance menu this winter. It is a good thing. From the days of the primitive Charleston, through the late unlamented Big Apple, right down to the present swing-and-jitter-bug mania, dancing has steadily progressed in the wrong direction, until it has become the virtual monopoly of youthful practitioners skilled in distorted posturing and frantic contortions.

But the Lambeth Walk—ah! the Lambeth Walk—grandpa and baby can do it as well as the 'teen-age acrobat; it is simple, it is funny, it is quite as uproariously senseless as any of the semi-insane posturings that ever came out of the United States.

ONION SYRUP

(Emporia, Kansas, Gazette)

IF YOU ARE anywhere around 40, the term "onion syrup" will mean something to you. When you were a child, your mother made it by pressing sugared sliced onions between two dinner plates, with a flatiron on them. You had to take it in a big tablespoon two or three times a day. It was for your cold and it certainly did the business. For thousands of years onion syrup has been a panacea for a bad cold. It is one of the universal folk medicines that have persisted into this day of science.

And now science has surrendered. The scientists say that onions contain some chemicals which relieve the irritation and in some way kill the bugs that cause bad colds.

Mother knew best! But who told mother—the witch doctors who advised Lilith and the gals who lured Adam after Eden?

Canadian Auto Industry Bright For '39

TORONTO, Nov. 19—(CP). — The Canadian motor car industry approached peak production for 1938 to-day with prospects that new models rolling off the assembly lines would boost this year's business to almost the same level as 1937 and go still farther in 1939.

As spokesman for the industry predicted an upswing in sales for 1939, basing their outlook on more favorable business conditions, production of new-model units neared capacity in Ford Motor Company of Canada and Chrysler Corporation plants at Windsor and General Motors of Canada at Oshawa.

The Ford plant, with a peak capacity of 100,000 units a year, prepared to better its 1938 production estimated at about 74,000 units.

"I think conditions are more favorable for the company than at this time last year," said Wallace R. Campbell, president of the Ford Company. The Windsor plant is producing the new medium-priced Mercury Eight, introduced by Fords a few weeks ago.

Chrysler production on 1936-37 models was 39,691 units compared with 36,349 for the 1937-38 models. Production on the 1938-39 models started in early October, a month earlier than usual, in line with the industry's effort to level employment over a longer period each year.

Sold Fast As Delivered

Motor executives reported prospects "much brighter" than a year ago. Dealers are selling cars as fast as they can get delivery, keeping retail outlets clear to provide space for December-January storing. Year-end production was curtailed last year due to lack of retailing storing space.

General Motors plants are operating on full production schedules for 1939 models. Discusing acceleration of activity in the industry, Harry J. Carmichael, vice-president and general manager, said his company looks forward to a good production year. The Regina plant started production Oct. 25 about two months earlier than last year.

Employment figures were reported as sharply higher. In the last six weeks General Motors recalled more than 5,000 employees to work at factories in Oshawa, Windsor, St. Catharines and Regina, bringing the total to the maximum of approximately 8,000.

Of Ford's 7,000 employees, 5,000 are in Windsor and those close to the industry in Windsor said motor companies were re-engaging old employees exclusively. Employment figures of Chryslers were not available.

Truck Passenger Killed In Jump

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Nov. 19 (CP) —Daniel Zeinick of Hamilton, passenger in a westbound transport of the Empire Products Co., Hamilton, was killed early today when the vehicle, driven by Walter Anderson, Hamilton, crashed into the rear of another truck, parked at the north side of King Street East, near Fulford Place, with the driver sleeping in the cab.

According to Anderson, in hospital with severe injuries, he told Zeinick to jump when he saw that a collision was inevitable. Zeinick attempted to do so and was caught between the two vehicles. Both trucks took fire and were extensively damaged. The stationary vehicle was owned by E. H. Blair of Belleville.

What Are Your Dreams Trying To Tell You?

Don't Ignore Dream Messages

Asleep—dreaming!

In her dream she's a little girl again, giving a tea party for her dolls while her mother sits and sews near by.

Strange to think that such a dream could be a warning. Yet a psychologist's guess would be that this dreamer's happiness is threatened by her subconscious longing to run away from grown-up responsibilities.

Most of our dreams, if we only understood them, are trying to tell us to face our problems, adjust our personalities to our surroundings before it is too late.

Haven't you dreamed that you were hurtling earthward at terrifying speed from the top of some high building? Or that wild animals chased you? Or that you struggled vainly to catch a train?

Our 32-page booklet explains the meanings of these and many other common dreams. Advice from a famous psychologist on how a knowledge of dream language will help you to build a happier, better-balanced life.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of THE MEANING OF DREAMS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, November 20.

Sunday's horoscope shows the advent of very sudden and surprising experiences, probably with changes, journeys or upheavals of a rather drastic or devastating nature. Their reorientation may be concerned with a sudden growth in ideas and ideals which may have decisive bearing on the future life and its destinies. There is a possibility that such visitation may react mainly on the intimate, romantic or emotional life.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sudden and drastic change which will have the effect of an entirely reoriented life. It may be that progress and growth are at the root of this about-face, but if it be enmity or jealousy instigating the departure, it may react in financial loss or general defeat.

A child born on this day may be talented, inventive, adventurous and audacious. Its love for the strang, the novel and the experimental may take it far in romantic experience or radical "foolhardiness."

For Monday, November 21.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a rather perplexing or complicated state of affairs, with a decided prospect of gain, advancement and prosperity. But these may be upset by an irregularity, an intrigue or a problem calling for acumen and discretion, especially where old matters or elderly persons are concerned.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a rather complicated year, in which there is excellent promise of growth, advancement, expanded interests, and growing fortunes. At the same time, there are hints of subtlety, intrigue, or curious angles to promising affairs. These also apply to the intimate affiliations, where friendship and deeper sentiments affect happiness and prosperity.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, versatile, ambitious, and shrewd, and should reach a place of influence and high station.

Cheaper Cigarettes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—(CP).—The frequent complaints of United States tourists in Canada to the high prices they had to pay for their customary brands of cigarettes has been partially met in the new Canada - United States trade agreement.

Under the present tariff the American visitor has to pay 40 cents for 20 American cigarettes in Canada. Under the agreement he will get them for 30 cents, still 10 cents a package higher than the Canadian products.

For Bad Winter Coughs, Mix This Remedy at Home

Quick Relief. Big Saving. So Easy. No Cooking.

This well known recipe is used by many thousands of housewives, because they have found that it gives them a much more dependable remedy for distressing winter coughs. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, well known for its effect on throat membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough remedy, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

ROMANCE INC.

BY OREN ARNOLD

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture. Bob Towne, football end and campus hero, and some of the other students, are arrested by the new sign in front of the Davis cottage announcing a "COUNSEL IN ROMANCE" Sara Sue explains her Cottage Plan to a group of students and finds them greatly interested. Bob Towne even asks HER for a date.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 4

"NOW IF things aren't already in a mess!" Sara Sue Davis told herself, severely.

The first group of collegians had come and gone, nearly 40 of them, and she had signed up 18 members in her Cottage Plan. Moreover, the very first one, Number 1 on her receipt book, was the president of the student body, the most popular man on the Rice campus, she had learned, Big Bob Towne, football's star end. With his enthusiasm for a precedent, she should prosper as hoped. But—

That very Number 1 customer had also proved to be problem Number 1. She, Sara Sue Davis, Inc., had advertised Counsel in Romance. Customer Number 1 had immediately paid up, then asked for counsel. His first request was to take Sara Sue herself to a downtown show.

"I cannot permit it, mother," Sara Sue stated vehemently over their supper sandwiches that evening. "I shall telephone him he can't come. I must not mix up in the campus social life, I must direct it instead! Don't you see?"

Mother Davis had not argued the point, nor indeed offered any comment at all. She was just being a tolerant foil for Sara Sue's argument with herself. A wise mother-in-law, who was really more than that now.

Nevertheless, as with most arguments, this one had two sides. Perhaps being seen with Bob Towne would add to her own popularity and prestige, the girl reasoned. After all, she had to be accepted by the students, had to be "in" with them, she realized, or she could never hope to hold their confidence nor their patronage.

She was kept busy from 6 p. m until almost 8 o'clock anyway, by other students who were coming in. It seemed as if her musical door chimes were constantly ringing. News of her venture had spread over the school—nowhere does news get around faster than on a college campus—and visitors were coming. Sara Sue signed up eight new members in those two hours, collecting in advance. Even the editor of The Thresher joined, and promptly arranged a Monday night party in her cottage for his staff, ordering refreshments and paying for them. Sara Sue was delighted. In the rush she forgot all about cancelling her date with Bob Towne, until the door rang at 8:05 and there he was!

"Oh!"

She looked up at him. He was a model of cleanliness. His face positively shone—from shaving as well as from his smile. His newest suit was immaculate. And he held flowers.

"I thought we might dance somewhere, for a little bit," he explained. "But I can't stay late. Football training. I must be in bed at 11 o'clock. Positively. Jimmy Britt? Oh, sure. Coach Britt. Well—"

"May I come in?"

"Oh surely, Mr. Towne! I am the awfullest thing! Come in. I didn't mean to—I was thoughtless!"

She had meant to explain why she couldn't go with him, but now he had her doubly at a disadvantage. First, he had made his date quickly, unexpectedly. Then she had been too busy (and too ensure of herself) to cancel it. Finally he had come so graciously, and caught her being impolite, and—

"I'm not dressed for a dance," she smiled, suddenly deciding, "but I can change in a moment."

"Please don't. It's all right. We'll go to a quiet, informal place. The Southerner Blue room is good. Or we can still go to the early movies if you prefer. I have three hours."

"All right. I really ought to stay and attend to business. Mother is out, and customers are coming. Look."

True enough, half a dozen more young men were crossing toward her cottage from the dormitory gate. Bob and she knew they were interested, as was all the student body that had arrived so far.

At this instant Bob caught a glimpse of Calculus Jones dusting in Sara Sue's dining room.

"You, Calculus!" he called.

"Yassuh, Mistuh Bob!" The colored man came grinning. "Lawdy, you sho do dress up, suh. You lookin' fo' Miss Peaches?"

Calculus ordinarily didn't commit such blunders, but he was unaware of Bob's newest move in society. Bob Towne and Peaches Pomeroy had been seen together constantly for two years now. Calculus' assumption was a natural one.

The darkey's perceptions were keen, however. He caught instantly the gleam in Bob's eyes. "Oh me, I done done somethin'!" he muttered, retreating. But Bob was in no mood for anger.

"Can you and Cleopatra hold down the cottage while I take Sara Sue to a dance, Calculus?"

The colored man's eyes widened. He hadn't thought of that, hadn't thought of possible romance between Sara Sue and Bob. But suddenly the idea struck him as some-promises were attended by broad grins and much enthusiasm. He would, indeed, take charge of the cottage until Miss Sara Sue returned. (Quite incidentally, he would see to it that everybody he contacted learned the latest campus news—that popular Bob Towne was now courting the new widow Davis. Of such was the essence of life, to Calculus Jones.)

Bob Towne had rented a car for the evening. He proved such a good driver and such a good companion that Sara Sue relaxed quite noticeably and enjoyed herself. She had been keyed up for three or four days anyway. And she had accepted no companionship of this sort for a long, long time. Suddenly she laughed.

"Joke?" Bob asked.

"No, I was just thinking—this is the first date I have had in five years!"

He knew her history now. Knew the tragedy that had touched her life four years ago.

"And you can laugh happily now. Fine!" He said it seriously, gently.

"I really am enjoying myself, Mr. Towne. I needed this."

He took her to the Southerner hotel for an hour. But the orchestra was overdoing the fad of being swing, and they went for a ride again, out toward Houston Heights. Autumn had begun to hint of its approach in south Texas and the air was invigorating. They drove out a country road. They talked and talked, and rode some more, fast but not too fast, and then a cow ambled from a brush patch and caught the front of Bob's rented car with her hip.

Nothing tragic happened, save to the cow.

She was injured, and had to be killed after Bob had reported to the farmhouse nearby. Then Bob wanted to go east when the right wheel headed west. Their disagreement required a tow car, and attendant delay.

The excitement broke down any reserve of strangeness between the boy and girl so that by midnight they were conversing more freely than ever, and she was calling him by his first name. And, in any event, Bob Towne was an easy man to get acquainted with.

At a quarter of one—almost two hours past Bob's bedtime—they arrived in a taxicab back at Sara Sue's cottage.

"Well!" She breathed. "It has been a whirlwind evening!"

"I'm sorry again. And thankful you weren't hurt."

"We were lucky. And since nobody was hurt, it was really a fine time. I enjoyed the dancing, and the ride. You're a lot of fun, Bob."

"Thanks, Sara Sue. And—"

"And what? Hadn't you better hurry to bed? The football coach will be put out."

Bob laughed at her. He was holding both her hands now, on her front entry porch. He looked down at her, smiling, drinking in her fresh young beauty.

"Nobody would ever know you were a widow," he whispered.

All at once he stopped and kissed her, full on the lips. Then ran to his taxicab and was whisked away.

She watched the taxi tail light turn into the gate toward the Rice dormitories, and stood there another full minute considering the strange emotions that had encompassed her.

When she finally went inside, she knew, for sure, that she really was a widow after all. Even a somewhat "mature" one.

Duck Hunters Are Having Good Year

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Nov. 19.—Duck hunters in this area report that the number of ducks shot along the shores of the Trent River has far exceeded the shoot of recent fall months due to a larger percentage of the birds having arrived here. Charles McCoy, local youth, brought down two pin tail ducks, rarely seen here but are more common farther north.

With the deer hunting season but three days off, a young Waterloo, Ontario man purchased a license here Thursday and proceeded north for the balance of the hunt.

The annual commencement exercises for Norwood high school will be held Friday evening, November 25, in the town hall at Norwood, S. S. Breckon, principal, stated definitely yesterday.

Goodnight Story

By MAX TRELL

You see, the lion that was facing Knarf and Hanid and the tin soldier in the middle of the jungle wasn't a real lion at all. He was a book-lion, for the two shadow-children and the tin soldier had crawled inside the Natural History book which they found on the bookshelf in the playroom.

Instead of springing on them as they feared, the lion stopped roaring and said in a gentle voice (well, as gentle a voice as a lion can have), "I'm not going to hurt you. I'm just going to tell you about myself. So you needn't be afraid of me. Just listen very carefully to all I'm going to say."

Here the tin soldier, who had been standing very near the lion with his trusty musket over his shoulder, said: "Better tell us first if you've had your dinner or not."

Has Had Dinner.

"Oh, yes! I've had a very big dinner. I just ate a buffalo. I won't be hungry for two or three days—I mean, not very hungry."

"I guess that's all right then. All right, tell us about yourself."

"You needn't be afraid of me."

"Well!" said the lion. "I'm just nine feet long—from the end of my nose to the tip of my tail."

"My goodness!" Hanid exclaimed. "I didn't think you were that long."

"Of course, standing on my four legs I'm not very tall at all—in fact, I'm just three and a half feet tall, which isn't much taller than most children are when they're pretty young. But, of course, I'm much stronger than dozens of children. Yes, I'm even much stronger than dozens of full-grown men."

He's Heavy Animal.

"How much do you weigh?" the tin soldier asked. "You don't look very fat."

"I'm not fat at all. But I weigh—let me see now—yes, I weigh nearly 400 pounds."

"Four hundred pounds!" the two shadow-children exclaimed in amazement.

"H'mm. I wouldn't care to have you sit in my lap," the tin soldier said.

"Now one of the most curious and striking things about my appearance," the lion went on, "is my—"

"Oh! I know what you're going to say," Knarf interrupted.

"Do you? What am I going to say? I'd like to hear it."

Knarf smiled. "You're going to say that the most curious and striking thing about your appearance is your mane."

"Good!" said the lion. "That's exactly what I was going to say!"

Tiny Bride 14, Would Shelve Hubby 63 After He Gets Jailed As Robber

Los Angeles, Nov. 19 (AP) FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD Velma Robinson Greene, three feet, 10 inches tall, was quoted today by a policewoman as saying she never wants to see her 63-year-old husband, Scott Greene, again.

Greene was jailed yesterday on suspicion of robbery and violation of the deadly weapons act, after officers asserted they found a blackjack in his car. The girl was taken to juvenile hall.

Policewoman Lucille Shelton said Velma told her:—

"I don't want to see him again. He promised to buy me an engagement ring when we got to California. He said all older men in California have young brides."

Detectives said they were convinced the couple's marriage in Wickliffe, Ky., Nov. 5, was legal. However, the policewoman said she had wired authorities at Talmadge, Ill., Velma's home, asking if they intended to institute annulment proceedings. She added that, if not, such action might be taken locally and the girl made a ward of the juvenile court.

Euler Sees Pact Booming Trade

KITCHENER, Ont., Nov. 19 (CP). —Hon. W. D. Euler, Canada's Minister of Trade and Commerce, said today he believes trade "in the broad sense" will receive considerable impetus as a result of the Anglo-American and Canadian-American trade treaties signed yesterday.

He said that while Canada had made concessions this country got in return concessions in the British market and a "tremendous advantage in the United States market in Canada's primary products of fish, milk and cream, potatoes, lumber and cattle."

Tariff cuts to be made as a result of the Canada-United States treaty "are so small that I contend they cannot hurt manufacturing here," Mr. Euler said, "although they are many and wide."

In regard to leather the federal minister said that while the tariff had been cut from 27½ to 22½ per cent, leather manufacturers, on the other hand, "are getting better concessions on cut leather and better concessions in the British market."

While tariff on boots and shoes would be cut five per cent, Mr. Euler pointed out the duty on kid leather used in manufacturing would be reduced from 27½ to 15 per cent.

Duty cut in the wood furniture of 1¼ per cent is "practically nothing," he said. (Tariff on furniture substantially of wood was cut from 33¾ to 32½ per cent while that on furniture other than wood was cut from 33¾ to 27½ per cent.)

He pointed out no change had been made in the tariff on heavy agricultural implements and said the five per cent reduction on rubber tires would not prove a hardship.

The two treaties would result in a greater exchange of products to the benefit of the three countries concerned, Mr. Euler said.

Children Are Found Sleeping On Floor Without a Mattress

ROSS McCOLL was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., under the Vagrancy section of the Criminal Code on Friday in city court and pleaded not guilty. He was remanded until next Thursday.

The charge read that McColl was able to work and refused to do so thus failing to support his family. According to Chief Newhall, McColl's three children were found to be sleeping on a bare floor with no mattress under them, and proceedings are being started this morning to have the children placed in the Children's Shelter. Mrs. McColl according to the statement of the accused is ill.

Prepared To Meet All Competition

BRANTFORD, Ont., Nov. 19.—(CP).—The Cockshutt Plough Company is prepared, "as always, to meet such additional competition as may be entailed," Col. Henry Cockshutt, chairman of the board of directors, said today in commenting upon tariff reductions on farm implements under the new Canada-United States trade treaty.

"We adhere to the principle of Canadian goods made by Canadian workmen for the Canadian people, a principle we have always maintained," he said.

Farewell Party Given Rector At Warkworth

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, Nov. 19.—A pleasant surprise awaited Rev. T and Mrs. Floyd and daughter Ruth on Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Mowat where they were dinner guests.

After dinner the members of St. John's Anglican church joined them there and bade a reluctant farewell to one of the most beloved ministers and his wife in the history of the church, who leaves shortly to take charge of St. George's church, Peterborough.

During his seven years they have won the love and respect of all the members who regret deeply his removal.

After a social evening of community singing, piano music and friendly visit the following address and presentation of a small sum of money was given with the best wishes of the entire congregation.

The address was as follows:

Dear Mr. Floyd:

We the members of St. John's church have gathered here this evening to express our appreciation of your untiring efforts to establish in our town a self supporting Anglican church. We sincerely hope that your Peterborough congregation shall give you better co-operation and that Mrs. Floyd and you may some time reach the goal for which you have worked. Please accept this small sum of money as a token of esteem and try to think kindly of St. John's congregation Warkworth.

Miss Ruth was also the recipent of a cedar chest of stationery.

The address was read by Miss Louise Brooks and presentation was made by Miss Blanche Baker. Although completely taken by surprise both Mr. and Mrs. Floyd thanked the congregation for their loyal support and remarked they did not like to leave us and their stay in Warkworth will always have pleasant memories.

Refreshments were served and the singing of Auld Lang Syne brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

Moscow's biggest food store has been modernized.

Preceptors Enjoy Fine Banquet

The annual Past Preceptors' night of Royal Black Preceptory No. 261 was held on Thursday evening in the Orange Hall, Brock street, and proved to be a very decided success.

Features of the evening were the visits to the Preceptory of Most. Wor. Sir Kt. Clarence E. Spooner, of Toronto, Grand Treasurer of British America, as well as the official visit of Rt. Wor. Sir Kt. John C. Magladry of Ottawa, grand master of the grand Black Chapter of Ontario East, and the conferring of the Red Cross degree on a class of candidates by a team of Past Preceptors of R.B.P. No. 261, with Most Wor. Kt. Robt. Ritchie in the Preceptor's chair.

The hall was crowded with members of the local Preceptory and visitors from Lindsay, Omemee, Janetville, Blackstock, Orono, Millbrook, Port Hope, Hastings, Norwood, Lakefield, and Kingston. After the degree meeting the brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet provided by a committee of ladies from the L.O.B.A., with Most Wor. Sir Kt. E. F. Reid as toastmaster.

After the toast to the King had been honored, the chairman extended a warm welcome to all present, and during the course of his remarks said, "No body of men anywhere in the world looks with more disgust on happenings of the last few days in Germany, where defenceless minorities were being subjected to cruelties unheard of, in the history of civilization, than do the members of the Orange and Black institutions. We Orangemen still believe in equal rights to all, and believe in the right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, with none daring to molest him or make afraid." A toast to the visitors was proposed by Wor. Sir Kt. J. A. Holden, and responded to by Wor. Sir Jas. Paul of Millbrook, who has been sixty-one years an Orangeman, Roland Darling of Lakefield, Sam Archer, Port Hope, Wm. Montgomery of Norwood, Percy Stinson of Millbrook and Herb Hooey of Blackstock.

The toast to the Grand Black Chapter of Ontario East was proposed by Wor. Sir Kt. Herbert Gardiner, and responded to by Rt. Wor. Sir Kt. J. A. Magladry, grand master, and Most Wor. Sir Kt. H. A. Graham of Kingston.

Music was provided by Messrs. Barrie, Lee and Black, and Scottish songs by Rt. Wor. Sir Kt. Percy Chase of Lindsay. Most Wor. Sir Kts. Walker and Spooner also addressed the gathering on internal affairs. The singing of the National Anthem concluded a pleasant and profitable evening.

Most Wives Try To Live Up to What Is Expected of Them by Their Husbands, So, Mr. Man, If Yours Does Not, Maybe You Could Get Results By Changing Your Own Tactics

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a man 51 years old and for many years I have been reading advice on how to keep a wife contented. It is one of the things that simply cannot be done. If you keep on making love to your wife, she no longer wants it. If she doubts your love, she will exert herself to retain it; but if she is sure of it she will do nothing to keep it alive. If you compliment your wife on her appearance or her cooking or her housekeeping, she will get slack; but if she is afraid of your criticism she will keep on her tiptoes to please you. If you keep yourself dressed up and spruce looking, she accuses you of being interested in other women; but if you don't keep yourself up it is because you no longer care for her opinion. If you try to make a pal of your wife, you get nothing but complaints about the neighbors or your family. She is not interested in anything that you care for and it is impossible to carry on an intelligent conversation with her. If you let her handle the money and pay the bills, she doesn't know how to spend it. She either buys too much or too little. If she knows how much you make, she always spends a little more. If you try to treat her decently, she takes advantage of you and looks on you with contempt. And if you hold her with a firm hand she considers you a brute.—E. E. S.

ANSWER:

If you have that sort of a wife, all I can suggest is that you put her in a museum of freaks, because she certainly isn't like any other human woman of whom I have ever heard.

Perhaps no woman is ever perfectly contented with her husband or her lot in life, but neither is any man contented with his wife or the station in life to which it has pleased God to call him, as the Prayer Book says. No matter how fortunate we are, we are all like the little princess in the fairy tale who found the crumpled roseleaf under her forty mattresses of ease. We all want a little more than we have, and we want that little more different in some way.

Possibly there are women—there must be if you have one—who are so contrariwise that they scorn their husbands' love and only value it when they see it slipping; who care nothing for their husbands' praise and on whom the hammer is more efficacious than the salve-spreader; but I can only say I have never met one.

And if you picked out one who is so dull and stupid that she cannot carry on an intelligent conversation, isn't that your fault? There are plenty of clever women to be had for the asking.

My observation has been that most wives try very hard to live up to what their husbands expect of them. So why don't you vary your tactics and instead of finding fault with your wife praise her a little and see if she won't mend her ways? Maybe she would be more contented, too. It is difficult for a woman to keep herself sold on her job if her boss is always finding fault with her.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR MISS DIX—In a few days I start to work on my first job. What amount of money out of my salary should I give my parents, with whom I live? They will not ask me for board, but I feel that I owe them something. I have a friend whose parents tell him that he owes them for the years they cared for him and who, therefore, take his whole week's wages from him. They only give him 50 cents for carfare and they insist on buying his clothes, about which he has no say-so. What should we young people give our parents when we are earning steady wages?—PUZZLED.

ANSWER:

That depends entirely upon circumstances. If the parents are poor, their children should give them just as much as they can spare out of their earnings. If the parents are well-to-do and do not need the money I do not think that they should charge the boy or girl who is just starting to work any board. Or, if they do, they should make the child understand that they are just saving it for him.

But in any event I do not think parents have a right to take a child's pay envelope from him and dole back a few cents to him. They should agree on a definite sum for the child to pay and let him have the satisfaction and the sense of independence it gives to handle his own money.

Nothing is more calculated to discourage a boy and girl than for their parents to deprive them of the fruits of their labor and make them feel that they are nothing but slaves who have to toil without reward. Of course, the parents justify themselves in grabbing the child's pay envelope by saying that they supported him during his infancy. That was merely their duty. They brought the child into the world without its consent and it was their duty to take care of it until it was able to fend for itself. Even animals recognize that moral obligation.

The parents also justify themselves by saying that they can spend money more wisely than the child can. But how is the child to learn to handle money if it is never permitted to touch what it makes? And certainly any boy or girl who has enough sense to hold down a paying job has at least the right to make his or her own mistakes.

My thought is that the duty of parents to children and children to parents is one that binds both; that, just as fathers and mothers should care for their children when they are babies, the children should care for the parents when they are old and helpless. If the fathers and mothers have been good and affectionate parents, it is very seldom that the children default on their obligation.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—What is a young couple to do when they are very much in love and the young man's financial standing is far below par and therefore they are unable to get married? Do you believe in secret marriages?—DOT.

ANSWER:

No, I don't. I think it is much better to be openly married and have your relationship publicly known, even if you cannot go to live together at the time. It gives you a better standing in your community than it does to have people guessing and gossiping about you, because secret marriages are never so secret that they don't start tongues wagging.

Of course, the sensible thing to do would be to wait until you are in a position to marry. If you haven't the courage to face a long engagement it is better to be honestly married than to have a secret corner affair. After all, you are both living now and you would eat no more married than single.

Ladies' Guild Holds Successful Bazaar

The Ladies' Guild members of St. George's church were the gracious hostesses at a successful bazaar in the Sunday school rooms on Friday afternoon and evening.

All kinds of vegetables, shining jars of canned fruits, jams, and pickles, as well as a variety of packaged goods were on sale at the "Country Store," the first booth to be visited as one stepped inside the door. Mrs. J. McWilliams and Mrs. J. Hopkins were the clerks in charge.

A display of home cooking products, temptingly arrayed, found ready sale, and were sold by Mrs. M. Warren and Mrs. E. Cook. Aprons, cushions, towels, and all manner of household accessories were sold at the fancy work booth by Mrs. P. Malsch and Mrs. H. Wood.

One of the feature booths of the bazaar was the novelty table, where many shopeprs were purchasing attractive gifts for Christmas packages. Mrs. T. Monk presided at this table.

A lucky "Bran Tub," where mysterious parcels were uncovered from layers of bran by amused customers, was a popular spot, and convened by Mrs. B. Moore. Clubs cards were under the direction of Mrs. R. King.

An inviting tearoom was arranged at the back of the bazaar quarters, and here, at tables brightened by streamers in Christmas colors, and lit with red or green tapers, scores of women enjoyed a chat over the tea cups when shopping was done. The tea tables were in charge of Mrs. C. Cole and Mrs. D. Edwards.

Visitors were welcomed by the president of the Ladies' Guild, Mrs. L. Warren, and among the guests were the new rector and his wife, Rev. T. H. and Mrs. Floyd.

MELBOURNE—(CP).— Australia's birthrate for the last year was the highest since 1931 and infant mortality lowest yet recorded.

Handicraft Work Is Feature Of Grenfell Tea

Mrs. W. R. Morris once again graciously opened her home on Weller street for the Tea and Sale of Labrador handicrafts in aid of the Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission, held on Friday afternoon. Mrs. F. M. Somerville, president, received with the hostess.

Miss Linden Hall was in charge of the Labrador handicraft table, where exquisite example of hand weaving were shown in the brilliant wool scarfs, and in the linen runners and breakfast sets. Socks and mitts, knitted in elaborate patterns and gay colors; hooked rugs in original patterns, ranging from living-room size to chair seats and tea pot stands; woven and hooked bags; pieces of ivory and wood expertly carved into door knockers, table rings, blind pulls, etc., including weather vanes of wood which represented sleighs and dog teams, parkas trimmed with seal fur, some of them elaborately embroidered, were outstanding in an outstanding collection of perfectly executed handicraft work.

Mrs. D. V. Canning and Mrs. Carver were in charge of the sale of Grenfell Christmas cards and calendars, and the home cooking table was under the direction of Mrs. D. B. Falkner and Mrs. B. D. Hall.

Tickets were sold by Mrs. F. C. Anderson for an unusually lovely hooked rug, on which three wild geese winging their way over the tops of pine trees against a blue sky were pictured as beautifully as any painting on canvass. The raffle was won by Miss Mina Edwards.

The second draw, which was also a rug, was won by Mrs. G. S. Cameron.

Miss Grace Reinhart, treasurer, was also in charge of the selling of tickets on a cake donated by Mrs. Morris and won by Miss Ann Heidman.

Peach chrysanthemums were used on the tea table, where tea was poured by Miss Nan Hall, Miss J. D. Collins and Mrs. G. M. Rogers were in charge of the Tea Room.

Branch Notes

ST. JOHN'S BRANCH

The meeting on Wednesday opened with hymns, prayers and psalm reading. The program was in charge of Fred Hooper's team, the main theme of the evening being "Music." Grace Marshal started the proceedings with an instructive and enjoyable address on the life of Beethoven. A contest taxed the musical memories by finding out how many songs could be named after hearing the tune. Victor Coleman rendered a delightful solo, "Scenes That Are Brightest" and "I'll Take You Home Kathleen." Another contest proved to be quite informative. The meaning of certain musical terms and names of this contest. The whole program was interesting and educational. Next week St. John's will be hosts to Port Hope. A mock trial is scheduled for the program.

DISTRICT COUNCIL.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough District Council was held in All Saints Parish Hall with nearly every branch in the district represented. The president Miss C. Long in the chair. All reports showed the district in a rather flourishing condition with a very substantial balance in the bank. The nominating committees report was received and the following officers were elected by acclamation and duly installed by the Rev. H. Johnston of Omemee.

Patron, the Bishop of Toronto; Hon. President, Rev. G. J. Bousfield, (St. Luke's); Past President, Mr. R. Krant; President, Miss C. Long, (St. Luke's); 1st Vice President, Mr. Ramsden, Campbellford; 2nd Vice President, Miss P. Earnshaw, Lakefield; Chaplain, Rev. H. A. Holden, Bethany; Secretary, Miss Eileen Gynane, St. John's; Treasurer, Mr. Ken Gibson, St. George's; Publicity Secretary, V. Sedgwick, St. Luke's. Miss Queenie Hope was elected corresponding member of the district to the Provincial Council.

ST. MARY'S BRANCH

The regular meeting of St. Mary's A.Y.P.A. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Shachan on Wednesday. The program was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Staples who conducted two educational contests. Miss Muriel Hannah gave an interesting biography of Lt. Col. J. A. McRae and recited "In Flanders' Fields". Miss Vera Shechan gave a recitation. A debate on which makes the best wife: A slovenly easy going woman or a neat business like woman. R. Sisson and W. G. Smith took the affirmative with Harold Page and J. Smith the negative. The judges gave each the same number of marks. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Strachan and Vera brought to a close a very pleasant evening.

ST. LUKE'S BRANCH

The regular meeting of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. was held on Thursday evening with a large attendance. After roll call Ralph Mason's group took charge and the evening was spent in games. Next Thursday evening the branch will hold a theatre party when those who direct and took part in the last play will be entertained: All members going on the party are asked to meet at the church at 8.30. The meeting on the 31st of the month will be in charge of Art Sayers. Our congratulations and best wishes to All Saints' A.Y.P.A. who on November 21 celebrate their 25th anniversary. As many members as possible would be welcome at All Saints' tea and program Monday evening. Let's help them make it a success.

On Sunday evening there will be a special Young People's Service in All Saints' Church in connection with this 25th anniversary when then Rev. Mr. Chisholm of Port Hope will be the special preacher. All members of St. Luke's who intend to go are asked to meet outside All Saints' Church at 6.50 p.m.

ST. GEORGE'S BRANCH.

On Thursday evening the weekly meeting was opened with a hymn, the president T. Alcock presiding. The remainder of the evening was in charge of Miss O. Cookman, convenor of the Worship Committee. The Scripture lesson was read by Clarence Porter.

Jack Adamson was in charge of a game called rugby. Captains of teams were Art Henwood and Art Busby. Questions from the Bible were asked and as each one answered correctly so the ball was moved up the line for a touchdown. Art Henwood's team won the game, the score being 6-0. The members then formed into groups. Each group had to take from the Bible a story and act it, pantomime fashion. The rest of the members had to guess what the act was.

300,000 Volunteers

GALT.—A report that President Lincoln had called for 300,000 volunteers in the United States Civil War was the news of the day on October 23, 1863. A copy of the Galt Reporter of that date discovered the other day said the President threatened to enforce conscription if any state failed to raise its quota of men.

Visit World Fair

Mrs. Roosevelt added she understood the British monarchs would pass one day at the New York World's Fair.

United States Farmer Paid $200 Not To Produce Crop Of Which There Is A Surplus

H. B. Cowan, Sr., returned home Thursday night from Cincinnati, O., where he was guest speaker at the annual meeting of the National Co-operative Milk Producers' Federation which was in session three days, attended by five hundred delegates from all sections of the United States.

One of the problem subjects discussed by the Federation, Mr. Cowan told the Examiner today, was the surplus of butter in the United States, a heavy accumulation that is depressing prices.

"They have gone a great deal farther than we have in trying to solve this problem. The United States government has purchased large quantities of butter which it has been distributing in the form of relief. In addition, they will shortly launch a three months' campaign in which the service of chain and other stores will be extensively utilized to increase the consumption of butter in view of the very favorable prices at which it can be purchased. The Government has arranged also to store large quantities of it."

What was considered an alarming increase in expenditure by the government in its effort to improve conditions throughout the United States was a live subject, not on the convention program, but discussed more or less openly. In his presidential address, N. P. Hull of Michigan said the people at one time were willing to undergo deprivation. if necessary, to help the national government through difficult times. Now, the attitude of the people, he said, is to try to get everything out of the government. In an effort to diminish unemployment the Washington government has voted enormous sums for many purposes such as the erection of houses, public buildings and works of various sorts. Mr. Hull related how a small city near where he lives had joined in the scramble to get government funds for such purposes. They even applied for money to erect a public hall which they did not need and which the citizens had twice voted down when only municipal expenditure was involved.

Given $200 A Year

A farmer from New York State was receiving $200 a year from the federal government not to produce a certain crop of which there was a surplus. He seemed glad to get the money, but doubtful about where such a policy was likely to lead. One point he and other farmers emphasized was that while farmers controlled the production of crops having a big surplus suc has cotton, wheat and corn, they diverted their land to the production of other crops, and thereby in turn helped to create a surplus of these latter crops."

Mr. Cowan in his address explained the purposes and plans of the Empire trade conference he attended last Spring in Sydney, Australia. The Dairymen's Price Reporter, official organ of the Dairymen's Co-operative Sales Association said Mr. Cowan's report was the most challenging discussion of the convention.

"In Australia," he said, "producers have complete control over interstate shipments of butter, thereby preventing gluts and low prices on local markets as well as over the export of any surplus. All factories must share in the loss involved in exporting the surplus. In this way burdensome surpluses are not allowed to accumulate, as the surplus is kept moving onto the markets of the world every month. In one year Australian producers obtained $30,000,000 more for their butter than they would have realized had they not had this power to regulate their own markets. . . Ontario has 336 creameries, but if they were as large as the creameries in Australia and New Zealand, where they are co-operatively owned, 50 would be sufficient to meet the needs of Ontario, and producers would have from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000 a year in costs of cream collection and manufacturing."

Mr. Cowan is addressing the George Street Men's Forum on Sunday afternoon.

Canadian Legion Notes

A chields amang ye takin' notes, and, faith, he'll print them.
—Burns.

The branch has just concluded one of the most successful Remembrance Day periods in the history of the organization in the city. A most colorful parade and service at the Memorial followed by a wonderful evening at the dinner in the Legion Hall attended by the largest number we have had for some years. To the manufacturers, merchants and general public of the city the Legion owes a deep debt of gratitude for their generous response to our appeal for funds to deal with those of our comrades who are not over burdened with this world's goods. Our thanks are also due to The Examiner, who, as always, gave us all the assistance possible.

We hope to be able to give the result of our efforts to the public at our monthly meeting on Monday next.

Will all members who had the dinner tickets for sale kindly give in the returns as soon as possible, on Monday night if in their power.

We are happy to be able to report that the Minstrel Troupe is fast rounding into shape with some very enthusiastic rehearsals and hope to appear before the public in the early New Year.

Some of the entries in the billiard league are rather remiss with their games and are holding the others up. So please come along and make sure of having a turkey or goose on the table at Christmas. The carpet ballers are doing fairly well and though not standing at the top of the table, neither are they at the bottom.

Checker Players Elect Officers

Peter McArthur was elected president of the Peterborough Checker Club at the reorganization in the Y.M.C.A.. John Buck is secretary and the councillors are H. M. Gliffin, Frank Greatrix, Vernon Russell.

Twenty-five men, young and old, attended the meeting, and at its conclusion several games were played. A boy of twelve years showed remarkable ability in games with Mr. Buck and Vernon Russell. It was decided that meeting nights are to be Tuesdays and Thursdays, and one night during each month will be devoted to the coaching of new members. One night a month is to be known as challenge night, each member challenging his nearest opponent for his rung on the ladder.

Everybody interested in checkers, including those who would like to learn the game, are invited to join the club, the sooner the better. Arrangements are being made for a return engagement with the Port Hope-Cobourg team.

Knox United Church Plans Anniversary

A distinguished clergyman will speak in Knox United Church on Sunday at the anniversary services. He is Rev. Dr. H. A. Kent, principal of Queen's University Theological College, Kingston, and he will speak at both morning and evening services.

Special music will be a feature at both services, and the voice of Mr. Harry McKercher, Toronto tenor, will be heard in two solos at each time of worship. The church choir will also sing two anthems at each service. In the morning they will sing "Lead Me, Lord," by Samuel Sebastian Wesley, and "Still, Still With Thee," in which Rev. Mr. Zufelt, pastor at Knox Church, will sing the solo part. In the evening the choir will sing "Gently Lord, O Gently Lead Us" and "I Sing the Cross."

GIRL SLIGHTLY INJURED

A young woman recived facial cuts from flying glass in an accident on the Warsaw Road this week, when a car driven by Gerard Delaney of Douro, was involved in a collision with a truck owned by Mr. Leahy. The young woman was in the car with Delaney and they were said to be returning from a dance in Peterborough.

TAKE LESSON FROM CLUBS

If the great powers of European countries where fear and hatred are being bred could take a lesson from the service clubs of this country, the world would be a better place in which to live, was the opinion offered by J. J. Duffus, M.P., when he congratulated the Peterborough Kiwanis club on its 17th anniversary Friday night.

WINS A SPECIAL PRIZE

Francis J. Crowley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crowley of Otonabee, a student at the Collegiate Institute, who was the youngest ploughman at the Peterborough County plowing match, has been presented with a special cash prize of $10 by R. J. Young. Francis displayed great skill at the match, as a young competing plowman.

COWS STILL OUT

Farmers' cattle are still out on pasture and are getting planty of green food, which this year was not burned by hot suns and dry winds. Until the cold spell of a few weeks ago, some farmers did not find it necessary to supplement the pasture with grain feeding. Weather conditions have saved the farmers considerable in feed costs.

AN OLD PICTURE

In the window of Brooks Grill is a picture of the deer hunters in the Ketchecum Hunt Club of 1903, and it is attracting much attention. Only two of the members are living today. The party included Bill Irwin, Harry Winch, Bob Gibbs, Bob Kingan, Alex Patterson, a Mr. Stuart and McAllister, R. M. Dennistoun and Theodore Simpson. Lou Brooks' father was also a member of the Club.

CROSSING ACCIDENT

A gasoline-powered railway jigger and a car owned by the Department of Highways were involved in an accident at the C.N.R. level crossing at Downer's Corners Friday. The jigger struck the rear fender of the car and was derailed but no person was injured, the two men on the jigger jumping to safety. The wig-wag signal at the crossing is reported to be insulated so that it does not work when a jigger crosses.

FOXES PLENTIFUL

Farmer in the Keene district report red foxes are numerous this autumn. One farmer said four of them had been seen romping near a herd of cows on his farm and Harry Reed of Keene while plowing a few days ago watched two young foxes walk along a freshly turned furrow to within 30 feet of where he was standing with the team hitched to the plow. Even when he tossed a stone at the pair they showed little fright.

WAS ROTARY SPEAKER

Cobourg Rotary Club's annual dinner at Roseneath, at which farmers and their wives from that part of Northumberland were guests, was attended by more than two hundred men and women Friday night. The Orange Hall was crowded, special entertainers were brought from Toronto, and the speaker for the occasion was H. B. Cowan, Sr. Roy Goring of Peterborough Rotary was one of the visitors. Mr. Cowan will address the George Street Forum Sunday.

62 Stars Appear At The Capitol

Coming to the Capitol Monday. For the first time in history, all Hollywood studios have pooled their stars and resources for the making of a picture, a two-reel short titled "The World is Ours" in the interests of the entire industry.

It was made with a cast selected from the various studios, and with a collaboration of writers, directors, producer, musical director and other technicians to illustrate the slogan campaign, "Motion Pictures Are of Motion Pictures' Greatest Year Your Best Entertainment."

Included in the production are shots of virtually every star in Hollywood as well as much of the fascinating and authentic background of picture making itself.

"The World is Ours" is being presented as a special added attraction with the feature picture "The Sisters" starring Bette Davis and Errol Flynn at the Capitol Theatre Monday until Wednesday.

200 Trees Planted On City's Streets

Planting of 200 trees by the city's Parks Department has been one of the recent details of the year's program completed with promise of future beauty to the city. They were mostly Norway maples and elms.

"This was nursery grown stock of No. 1 quality," Alderman Stocker informed the Examiner to-day. "The young trees are twelve feet high, grown by the Brookdale Nurseries of Bowmanville. Along Lansdowne Street from Lock Street to St. Peter's Cemetery we have planted 125 trees, and others are along the west side of the Exhibition Park from Lansdowne Street to the south side of the R. A. Morrow Trust Park."

Alderman Stocker said these trees have been carefully planted, staked and mulched for the winter. "All being well, we should have some very fine shade trees in the very near future, and by consistently planting several hundred every year we are going to maintain the beauty of shade trees which came down to us. Our ambition should be to make it even a better job than did the citizens who are gone.

Mission Circle Meets

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 19. — Members of St. Andrew's Young Ladies' Mission Circle held their weekly meeting at the home of Mrs. John Campbell. Miss Lillian Hay the president, presided during the program following the business portion of the meeting. An address on the value of prayer was presented in an interesting manner by Mrs. A. C. Connor. Also assisting with the program were Miss Hazel Atkinson, who gave a reading entitled "Success," and Mrs. John Storie, who led the group in prayer. The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. H. T. Scott. Refreshments were served at the close, with Mrs. H. T. Scott, Mrs. F. McCulloch, Mrs. Gummo, and Mrs. D. Rutherford assisting.

True Or False Contest Brings Forth Some Very Interesting Statements

Kiwanians celebrating the 17th anniversary of the presentation of their charter, were led by Carl Browne in a "true or false" contest, and learned a good many unusual facts, among them:

That Queen Elizabeth was the first Englishwoman to use a fork at table, and that she was denounced from the pulpit by an irate clergyman for instituting the custom on the grounds that the Deity had provided hands not forks for such a task.

That recording instruments gave London, England, notice of the San Francisco - earthquake long before news of it could be telegraphed.

That the yak comes from Tibet and not from Borneo.

That Leander swam the Hellespont, but not why.

That the Rock of Gibraltar towers 1,439 feet in height.

That Kilkenny cats are associated with fighting because of an old Irish rhyme.

That a slide rule is not used to measure weights.

That handshaking originated because our ancestors always carried weapons, and extended their right or fighting hand to show that it was empty.

That a man working twelve hours a day and taking Sundays off would require between sixty and seventy years to count up to a billion.

That King Alfred, not King Arthur, was reprimanded for letting the cakes burn. Kiwanian Charley Saunders came through with that one.

That a train whistle has a higher pitch when the engine is approaching a listener than when it is departing.

That flowers display bright colors not for men, but to attract insects.

That a stone measure is fourteen pounds.

That a filibuster is not a kind of nut. One member defined it as being any political speech.

That a sycophant is a flatterer.

That a yam is not an animal, but a sweet potato.

That the Chinese were using coal as a fuel when Marco Polo made his first trip there.

That every day of the week is a holy day somewhere in the world.

That a cul de sac is not another name for a blind pig.

That the mouth of the Mississippi River is higher than its source.

Kiwanis Club Observes 17th Birthday

Because women are the big spenders of this age, business is paying more and more attention to them and they are becoming increasingly important throughout this land, declared Miss Byrne Hope Sanders, editor of the magazine Chatelaine, speaking at the Empress Hotel last night. She was guest speaker at the Kiwanis club's celebration of the 17th anniversary of the presentation of their charter.

The main dining room was filled with Kiwanians, and their wives, their friends and distinguished guests. Acting chairman was Isaac P. McNabb of the Toronto club, president of the Peterborough club in 1927. Also representing the Toronto club were Harold Male, vice-president; B. G. Newton, immediate past president, and J. Smythe Carter, editor of the Kiwanis club's magazine; J. J. Duffus, M.P., and other former Kiwanians were also guests.

Opening a brilliant address by tearing all her notes into small fragments and scattering them about the head table, Miss Sanders explained that she had been scheduled to speak on "What I learned about women from them," but that since driving to Peterborough with Isaac McNabb she had learned that all her previous knowledge was elementary beside that of the experienced bachelor.

Men have always dwelt in awe of women, and been somewhat alarmed and worried about them, she said. She told of a recent play, "The Women," at which all women were portrayed at their very worst. "Men took their wives there and expected them to be annoyed at the presentation," she said. "They were puzzled and greatly alarmed too when they found the women chuckling away about the terrible things that were going on. It was as though their worst fears had been realized." What the men did not understand, she volunteered, was that every woman who attended the performance saw her neighbor, but not herself on the stage.

A true symbol of Canada's women would be a geranium growing from an old tomato tin in the window of a home, she declared. She told of her travel a score of times across this country and back, and lauded the spirit of the pioneer that still exists among Canada's women. She told of women in the west, living under almost intolerable conditions at times, yet still maintaining their dignity and their sense of beauty. She deplored the attitude of many who would sneer at such people as being "foreigners," said that Canadians must realize they are a cosmopolitan race, and that they have much to gain from the people of other lands. Many times the first words a man or woman says after receiving citizenship papers is, "Now they can't call me foreigner any longer," she said.

While women's clubs have not the same spirit of comradeship about them that is found in men's service clubs—she volunteered as a possible reason that "women aren't crazy enough"—they do an immense amount of good work, far more than is realized, she said. In Canada there are half a million women united in clubs of one kind and another, all raising money, for scholarships, relief of needy families, and other worth while causes, she said.

She denied that women have no place in business, that their only place is in the home. Two years ago the League of Nations made an investigation into the work done by women and discovered that out of every hundred female workers, chosen from among nurses, professional classes, charwomen, stenographers, and others, 63 were helping to support dependents, and an addition 22 were the sole support of dependents. Only 15 admitted spending their money on themselves and they included the girls who were paying board at home and probably assisting their families to some extent. "The unmarried daughter is the one who gives most to the support of her parents," she said. Sons get married, have families of their own to support, was her contention.

It has often been suggested, she said, that if all the women were taken out of business, Canada's unemployment problem would be solved. "But there are five times as many women employed in Canada as there are men on relief, so that wouldn't work out," she said.

Women in fiction are peculiar individuals in the light of her experience as an editor, she revealed. A plot that she reads a dozen times a day in manuscripts submitted by aspiring women novelists concerns the young bride who washes dishes after a career in which she has won the plaudits of large audiences for her singing or playing or dancing or something else. All at once she raises her hands from the dish water, decides she is not "expressing herself," (though what the expression means Miss Sanders said she had never learned), and she starts off for New York for a career and fame. But when she starts off down the street she meets a dear old lady who tells her that she has raised ten or twelve or fourteen children, and that that is the only happy life. "And she always turns back and goes to work at the dishes again," she said. Another theme is the "Cinderella story" in which a girl wants to go to a dance, has no dress, so steals or borrows one, goes to the dance, meets the son of her boss and they are married and live happily ever after. If the story ended with the girl spilling ketchup all over the dress and getting into trouble about it, no woman would like it, she maintained.

She thought the reason women's taste in literature runs to milk and honey romance is because they do not get out of the house often enough and that men do not give them enough romance.

In non-fiction articles women do not want to be informed, she said. "They want to be interested and to learn a little about a lot of things so that they can go to the bridge club and chat about the European situation and whether Mr. Chamberlain was right. The fact accounts for the popularity of digest magazines, she said.

Other speakers included the Toronto delegation and J. J. Duffus, M.P., all of whom congratulated the club members on the work they have done in Peterborough.

Guest artists were Miss Isobel Duthie and Adam Hawley, who sang solo numbers to the enthusiastic applause of the audience.

The Rambling REPORTERS

PIES PAY OFF MORTGAGES

"It is amazing to think of the number of church mortgages that have been paid off with lemon pies," was a statement that brought a burst of laughter from Kiwanians and their wives celebrating Charter Night at the Empress hotel. It was made by Miss Byrne Hope Sanders, editor of the magazine Chatelaine, guest speaker at the banquet. She was telling her audience of the many activities women engage in, and the varied ways in which they raise huge sums of money for one purpose or another.—P.

TWO WOMEN BATTLE

The female of the species is more deadly than the male, as the saying goes and this received some verification at a dance in a local hall this week. Two young women who were strangers to the community engaged in fistic combat in the middle of the dance floor. One spectator remarked they were throwing rights and lefts in a manner that would put Joe Louis to shame, and the blows were landing with telling effect. The battle finally reached the stage where each grabbed the other's hair and started pulling. By this time the respective boy friends had taken the girls by the waists and were successful in separating them. The cause of the war was not ascertained.—McG.

Nicholson Fails To Provide Bail

Pierce Nicholson, of this city, charged with a serious offence involving his own daughter was unable to provide satisfactory bail before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning.

He was further remanded until the 22nd of November so that he may in the meantime have a responsible and substantial bondsman provide bail. If this can be arranged he will be bailed for trial on the charge and if not, he will be committed for trial without bail.

Two local men found drunk on Charlotte street and placed under arrest by Constable Leo Murphy, pleaded guilty and were fined ten dollars and costs or a week in jail.

Milbrook Boy Finds North Chain Of Lakes

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Nov. 19. — An interesting letter from a Millbrook by, Henry Gray, now at Gold Pines, H.E.P.C. camp in Northern Ontario, has the following information:

"I must tell you about the trip up here by train, which outrivalled any former trip of mine for scenic beauty and grandeur. On both sides of the railroad from Port Arthur was one lake after another, making a perfect chain. I find that the whole north country is virtually the same.

"Hudson was the stopping place on the steel for us. The afternoon we arrived was too rough to venture to the camp by plane, so we stayed there over night and came on in the next morning. Gold Pines is a very small settlement, about half a dozen houses, and has its frontage on the Hudson River.

"The store and post office is a combination affair, and where we do most of our shopping as needed. We are the centre camp of three, and thus are about 25 miles up the line from this village.

"We sleep in tents, with upper and lower bunks, each tent holding eight men. I have some pictures I will show if I ever get out and home again. The 'eats' are very good—coarse, but plentiful and wholesome, and everything about the camp is kept on a strictly sanitary basis. The job itself should be through in time for us to enjoy Christmas dinner at home. The other line will probably be started in the spring, and will be built to Rat Rapids, a distance of one hundred and ten mils.

"The north is certainly opening up, and with its growth I cannot help but feel that there is more chance for prosperity in the future.

"So, if everything works out as I see it, I'll be home in time to wish my friends a Merry Christmas."

Girls' Training Class.

A teachers' training class for leaders of Girls' Clubs and their assistants was held in the Town Hall, Millbrook, on Thursday, Miss Greta Pollard of Bowmanville being the departmental secretary in charge. Cotton acecssories for the Club Girls' Bedroom was the subject on which instruction was given, this being the project for the coming year.

The proper combination of colors was taught, the lesson including how to make chair seats, bedspreads, curtains, waste paper baskets, and screens, all of cotton, and in varying designs. Mrs. W. H. Armstrong is the local leader for the girls' club, and one who is very popular and successful in this particular line of work.

Local sportsmen who have been away deer hunting in the northern part of the province were Dr. Ellis, Maurice Finn, and Johnston Rowland.

Mrs. W. C. Thorndyke and Mrs. W. H. Armstrong are in Toronto this week-end, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hill, and are attending the Royal Winter Fair while in the Queen City.

Reeve W. E. Ball of Millbrook, Reeve W. A. Wood, and Deputy-Reeve Garnet Shield of Cavan returned home on Thursday evening, after being absent all week at Cobourg attending the sessions of the Counties Council.

A special meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Saturday, November 26, at the home of Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, to consider a course on Buymanship which will be demonstrated by the local leader, Mrs. Armstrong.

NICK ORLANDO COPS MITT DECISION OVER FERGUSON, TORONTO

Larry Kiel Gains Semi-Final Over Norm Hill Of Locals In Exciting Boxing Program

Nick Orlando of the Riverview A.C. copped a decision over Auggie Ferguson of Toronto in the main bout of the local boxing card here last night. Nearly a thousand fans in the Brock St. arena saw the local lightweight outpoint his heavier rival all the way to earn the win handily but Nick couldn't kayo his tough opponent. Ferguson must have scaled 15 pounds more than Orlando.

It was a fine fistic card, topped off by an exciting wrestling match, and the big crowd stayed till the finish at midnight. One of the curtain-raisers, Bobby Quirt, failed to show up for his scrap with Buddy Redmond, and the card was delayed over half an hour in starting. And the Toronto contingent had a car breakdown in Oshawa but were only slightly detained.

The Riverview Club, under direction of Norm Bowler, put on the program, with Jack Smith and Bill Horrocks the judges. Jack Withers was timekeeper and Fred Scates the anncuncer. Referee for the boxing bouts was Art Hunter, while Charlie Kumpt of Toronto was third man in the ring for the wrestlers.

Kayo In Second

Louis Prete, 147, knocked out Maurice Corderre in the second round, these boys going in to replace the curtain-raisers. Both showed boxing ability as they sparred in the first round, but Prete proved a hard puncher and dropped his lighter opponent twice in the second, once for keeps with a right to the whiskers.

Pat Jordan, 147, and Bill Joiner, 145, staged a lively prelim with Joiner getting a doubtful decision. He had a chipped elbow and Jordan a wired jaw at the start. Pat lost the decision on low blows in the first part of the fight, being warned several times. He was the aggressor with a hard left to the body and the odd jab upstairs in every round and looked the better, as Joiner fought an extra cautious bout, looking too careful to take any chances against his opponent, who posed and rushed. There were cheers and boos as Joiner got the call. It was later announced that Jordan's jaw was broken.

Dutch McIlmoyle, going 165, had little trouble beating Frank Spencely, 163, tucking him away in the second round with a technical K.O. when the affair was stopped. Frank rushed hard in the first and made it a fight but lacked the ring experience of the other and was slowed up at the bell by a couple of whistling right and left uppercuts to the chops. In the second heat, Dutch tore in and pasted him with both hands to the head and Spencely was staggering and in trouble from the two-fisted barrage when the round was halted and McIlmoyle got the decision.

Close Fight

Larry Kiel of Toronto—replacing Buster Scott—got the nod on points over Norm Hill, local welter, in five rounds after a fine fight. The local pugilist edged him in the first half, being the aggressor and landing some nifties to the head—though his rival made him miss a lot, too. In the fourth, the Toronto boy showed a nice left hand to keep prodding Hill's nose (which was bleeding in the second) and box smartly. Norm was still aggressive but apparently lacked the condition to keep up his hot early pace and the other outslugged him in the final canto with Bill's face a gory mess. It was a tight tilt and could well have been called a draw but Kiel got the decision.

Nick Orlando had little trouble winning on points over Auggie Ferguson. Nick scaled 135 and the other was announced at 139, but it was a gross under-statement, and he looked at least 15 pounds more. Nick won every round with his aggressive attack and sizzling right chops to the head but he couldn't slow down his rugged rival, who shook off these punches and improved as he went along. Auggie was battling hard at the end though obviously outboxed all the way and there was never any question as to the winner. It was a smart exhibition by Orlando and a game showing by his strong opponent, who refused to back away from those hard right hand blows by the local lightweight.

The wrestling match went the full hour's limit to a draw, each grappler getting one fall. They staged a rousing wrestling match, in and out of the ring, punching, kicking and slamming each other hard on the mat. The referee tangled twice with Frenchy Labelle, 190, and once with Ren Gazelley, 185, and got the worst of it each time. The crowd became quite heated several times, particularly near the end when the matmen mixed it on the floor outside the roped-in enclosure, punching hard from the heels. Labelle took the first fall in 30 minutes after the other had apparently slammed him groggy, using some rough stuff on the rope to knock Ren off balance and pin him. Gazelley took the second fall in 17 minutes with a crotch hol dafter looking better all the way in a rough session. They were fighting hard and on even terms when the gong sounded at the finish.

Inside Sportin' Dope

BY A. WISE CRACKER

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, about all since my last is the windup football game of the season last Sat. which saw the P. C. I. lads trounce the Bowmanville Collegiate 17 points to 6 and lose the round to the boys from the Rubbertown owing to them getting caught on a off day the week before and getting themselves beat 24 to 5. Just how Bowmanville managed to run up such a score against them then was a mystery to the folkes what gathered at Exhibition Park last Sat. for the P. C. I. lads was certainly much the better team in that engagement and looked like they ought never been licked 19 points by Bowmanville anywhere.

They Put on a Show

However while the Collegiate failed to pull the round outa the fire the team and school put on a show what was about the best of the season. They opened with a parade that was a honey, they had a band a girl drum major that was the berries, cheer leaders songs, and what have you and it looked like every student at the big school was on hand to pep up the team in their fight to avert elimination.

Plenty Razzle-Dazzle.

And take it from me, neighbors, the team responded with a gallant effort in which they turned loose about everything in the way of hipper-dipper, razzle-dazzle football. They had more passes than Marks Bros used to hand out for peddling bills, and this bird Mister Nels. Foster pitched more than he done in some of the ball games this summer, short 1's, long 1's and medium length and if his pals coulda caught all the strikes he was throwing the P. C. I. team mighta bagged enough majors to cop the round. I play that was the best of the season started out with a three-lateral-pass extend far to the left and the ball finally got to Mister Foster near the south touch line. And he didn't do nothing but heave a forward all the way cross the field and fifteen or 20 yds. ahead of the line of scrimmage to Mister Scriver who made a Tris Speaker catch of the long loss and hot-footed it over the goal line. That was a picture play if they ever was 1.

Lindsay Looked Best

We was rather surprised to find Bowmanville succumbing Wed. to the Albert College crew of Belleville. Our own private opinion if forced to give the same is that the Lindsay gang looked about the best of the year's crop in this territory and they had the stuff to hold the Cossa championship in this these parts.

The N. H. L. race is beginning to gain a little momentum, Mac, but so far the only real surprise is the fact that Cecil Hart's Canadians haven't been able to dodge a loss in their 1st five games, not scoring a single point since the season opened. And that is something new for any aggregation skippered by the same Mister Hart who has always got more outa the flying Frenchmen than anybody else who ever handled them. With the reinforcements the Canadians got from their fellow townsmen the Maroons they looked sure fire contenders for a 1st division berth all the way but so far they aint moved a wheel.

The Early Cream

Rangers, Chicago, Boston and the Leaves look like the cream of the crop in the early going but they aint nobody going on the limb at this stage of the race.

Well, old timer, this is fight nite so why waste time.

Sportfully Yours
A. Wise Cracker.

A Peterborough Rugby Team Of a Half Century Ago

About the time the old Edison Company here was taken over by the C.G.E., the ABOVE picture was taken of a local rugby team, called the "Edisons." It was made up of students at the plant and some town's players. H. M. McIntosh of Woodstock owns the picture. He was a student engineer here then and writes the team played against Osgoode Hall of Toronto back around 1892. Mr. McIntosh later did construction work for the C.G.E. in Spain. Some of the club's backers were: A. L. Davis, James and George Graham, Jack Fitzgerald, Robert Ross. He refers also to J. J. Turner, Ray Best and George Hall. Some of the players shown ABOVE (all the names aren't available) are: H. M. McIntosh, Lew Knowles, W. Moore, R. Shaw, Harry Moore, Cap Collier, Ash Down, Bell, Lamb and T. H. Jones.

Red Dutton Has Become Author Of Note

By Alan Randal
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(CP). —Mervyn (Red) Dutton goes back over his 20 years in the National Hockey League, delves into sport history for hockey's origin and lists the game's cardinal points for player and spectator in "Hockey, the Fastest Game on Earth," his book which comes off the presses to-day.

Dutton, now managing New York Americans, dedicates it to "The memory of the late Eddie Gerard, whose friendship, encouragement and sound counsel are among my most treasured benefits from the game he loved."

Of the great Ottawa defenceman—later a successful N.H.L. manager—he says: "I can think of no greater tribute to his memory than to say he was a man under whom I would want to put my own son if he wanted to be a hockey player."

In a brief foreword, Frank Graham, sports columnist of The New York Sun ,tells of Mervyn the Red as a man, a player and a manager. He finds him "one of hockey's most articulate exponents—a thoughtful fellow, with a gift of expression."

Dutton, who during the Great War talked army medical men out of amputating his injured leg and then learned all over again the fundamentals of "the most soul-satisfying, blood-warming sport in existence," covers hockey from the ice-covered ponds of Canada's back concessions to the major league amphitheatres.

He goes extensively into the game's basic fundamental—skating ability. He discusses the finer points of stickhandling, passing and shooting, playing of positions, offence and defence, care and preparation of players, hockey psychology, how to watch the game, and picks as the game's greatest team the 1929-30 Boston Bruins.

Origin of Hockey.

Among various tales of hockey's origin, Dutton finds most credible, that which names W. F. Robertson, a former McGill University student, as having fathered the ice game after seeing field hockey in England about 1879. With R. F. Smith, a McGill student, he supervised the first hockey game at McGill in which about 30 men participated, using everything from lacrosse bats to crooked-handled walking sticks.

That, in Red's view, was the beginning of team play that reached its peak with the renowned Boston team which won the N.H.L. championship and the Stanley Cup. They lost only five times. They won 38 times and scored 179 goals to their opponent's 89.

He selects an all-star, all-time team, all-time only in the respect that he deals with players who have come and gone under the Big Top of the N.H.L. since he began to play. Dutton's team:—

Tiny Thompson, goal; Sprague Cleghorn, right defence; Eddie Gerard, left defence; Eddie Shore, No. 2 right defence; Herb Gardiner, No. 2 left defence; Bill Cook, right wing; Dick Irvin, centre; Aurel Joliat, left wing; Charlie Conacher, No. 2 right wing; Howie Morenz, No. 2 centre; Harvey Jackson, No. 2 left wing; Dit Clapper, No. 3 right wing; Frank Boucher, No. 3 centre; Paul Thompson, No. 3 left wing.

For the spectator, Dutton provides a simple explanation of the game's onside provisions and the forward pass. He points out the most flagrant fouls and then advises a high seat in the stands where the puck may best be watched.

Ab Box Heads Balmy Beach

TORONTO, Nov. 19. —(CP)— Ab Box, one of the greatest kicking and passing backs in Canadian football annals, was given free rein today to build Toronto's Balmy Beach team to the heights the Beaches had hoped to reach this year.

Resignation of Floyd Muirhead as president and his replacement by Box, who announced his retirement from the playing ranks, was made known last night by John DeGruchy, president of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

At the same time the entire club executive resigned, but it was indicated Box might see to it that several of the officers resumed their places. The main purpose in the wholesale withdrawal was understood to be a desire to let Box go ahead with a building campaign. Officers who stepped aside were Secretary Tommy Loudon, Manager Doug Stewart and Alex Ponton, Jack Burgess and Ford Hodgson, executive members.

But Ponton is expected to coach and Muirhead to sponsor the team again.

There was no secret about the club's disappointment at not reaching playoffs after raising high hopes before the season. With a flock of new players, accompanied by the ageing of several Sarnia veterans, the Beaches were expected to stop the Sarnia jinx finally.

The close of the schedule found Balmy Beach in third place behind Montreal and Sarnia, its campaign brightened only by a victory over Montreal in the final game.

A.A.U. Aim To Revamp Eastern Branch

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Nov. 19—(CP).—The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada in annual meeting here Friday appointed a committee to investigate possibility of reorganizing the Eastern Ontario branch or redistribution of its territory.

Prof. N. C. Hart of London, Ont., who sponsored the move, claimed the Eastern Ontario branch is not functioning. It is not represented at the meeting. Committee members are W. A. Fry of Dunnville; P. J. Mulqueen, Toronto; Dr. A. S. Lamb, Montreal, and A. S. Mitchell, Ottawa.

The meeting suspended Len Faubert, Ottawa district boxing manager, pending further investigation of charges he demanded money for a boxer appearing under his management on an amateur card.

Fred Apostoli Stops Corbett

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(AP).—Fred Apostoli holds today at least half of the world's "muddleweight," or 160-pound boxing championship, the reward of his eight-round knockout of Young Corbett 3rd, a fellow Californian, in Madison Square Garden.

Corbett, 32, and as weary as time, sank down on one knee and gave up at 2:01 of the eighth after Apostoli had knocked him down three times.

Though he lost the first three rounds to his left-handed opponent, Apostoli gave the impression from the start that he could win when he got ready. The amazement was that Corbett, who once lost the crown to Jimmy McLarnin of Vancouver, ever won a 10-round decision over Apostoli last February on the coast.

The situation now is that Apostoli holds the world's middleweight championship, providing you ask the New York state Athletic Commission. If you should ask the National Boxing Association, which controls the game in most of the rest of the United States, the champion is Solly Krieger of Brooklyn.

"I ought to bat out either of those mugs in a couple of rounds," said Solly, when asked his opinion.

First game commences at 2 p.m. sharp, Saturday.

Sydney Halter Is Elected Head Of A.A.U.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Nov. 19.—(CP).—Sydney Halter, 33-year-old Winnipeg barrister who led a fight to establish a basis upon which the Canadian bodies governing hockey and basketball might return to the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, will lead the union during the next two critical years.

Halter succeeds J. W. Hamilton of Regina whose presidential address opening the 51st annual meeting here warned the unions fate would be decided at this convention.

Hamilton referred to withdrawal of Canadian hockey, basketball and lacrosse associations from the union since 1926 and consequent depleted revenues. Observers believe a constitutional amendment put through this meeting by Halter will pave the way for reaffiliation of at least the hockey and basketball organizations.

By accepting Halter's amendment the union recognizes the amat ur definition of international bodies governing hockey, basketball and other sports if the organizations are recognized by the International Olympic committee.

Triumph for New President

The Halter amendment was a triumph for the new president who carried it before the 1937 annual meeting in Montreal without success.

Before the two-day meeting concluded last night delegates decided to meet next year in Hamilton, Ont., and agreed to extend to the British Empire Games federation an invitation to hold the 1942 Empire Games in Canada.

An internal report of the British Empire Games Association of Canada submitted by secretary M. M. (Obby) Robinson of Burlington, Ont., and read by Prof. N. C. Hart of London, Ont., showed a deficit in the $60,000 budget which financed a Canadian team to the games at Sydney, Australia, last winter. Hart estimated the deficit at $500.

Robinson reported the association had expected to receive a $10,000 federal gran and $1,000 from the British Columbia government but the Dominion had provided only $5,000 and nothing had been received from B. C.

The Canadian men's team to Sydney was the best all-round team ever sent overseas, Robinson reported but "the same cannot be said" for the Womens Amateur Athletic Union of Canada team. He blamed inexperience of the women and suggested continuation of the system of each governing body selecting its own team.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

ABOUT the only chance of Joe Daley, Wally Elmer, Howard Byron and such officers of Kingston Ponies returning to the diamond sport next year is in the Can.-Am. pro ball loop. And that chance is slim. Kingston Locos—if business warrants it—will import some good ballsters next spring and play in the C.O.B.L., provided this league functions. While we doubt if a Kingston team would be admitted to the pro setup, even if it applied. On account of Knotty Lee's circuit had a fine season in 1938, attendance jumping some 80,000 over the previous year. Finances are good, and plenty of applications from clubs have been received. Likely it will continue as an eight-team organization, and iKngston while interested has not yet applied for a berth. A shorter season, not over 20 weeks, will be sought by the Class "D" circuit, starting about May 19th. And sue us if we're wrong on this dope.

* * * * * * *

AT THE ANNUAL InterCounty Ball Loop meeting in Woodstock the other day, A. R. McFayden of Galt was named president. They agreed to do more work promoting minor ball. Some talk, too, of senior teams going in a Michigan-Ontario league. The Inter-County will propose to add a sentence to the O.B.A. constitution on umpires: "Neutral umpires cannot be residents of city, town or village represented by the contesting teams." What in the world does neutral mean but from a disinterested centre? It's like insisting that home umpires be from the home city in the playoffs. Tch, tch.

All In a Bloomin' Fog

AGENT showed us an English sports page the other day in which a terrific number of rugby scores were listed. We enjoyed most the account of a game in which Richmond beat Gloucester, 11-3. It started: "When Gloucester emerged from the fog which enshrouded the Richmond Athletic Ground they must have pinched themselves to see whether they were really awake. They had fought their way through that yellow murk to the Richmond 25 and stayed there most of the afternoon, yet by peering at the scoreboard they were able to confirm the peculiar fact that Richmond had won by a goal and two tries to a penalty goal." Sounds like skull-duggery in the haze! Further along is this: "So confusing was the fog that during the interval Richmond changed into white jerseys, though even then we could distinguish little more than ghostly flittings in the gloom." Now if there had been a good peasoup fog in Sarnia a week ago, our Orfuns might have won, eh?

* * * * * * *

WITH the Messrs. Muirhead, Stewart, Loudon and Ponton reported to have quit the executive of the Balmy Beach grid club, it would appear that all was not peaches and cream this season there. The strong Balmies were beaten once by Montreal and twice by Sarnia—and even their hint re Hi Living to the O.R.F.U. bore no fruit. So 'tis said that, after the final fray, considerable criticism bounced around the club rooms, and these prominent officials resigned. Muirhead is the club backer, and may still aid unofficially, while Alex Ponton has been the Beaches' coach for quite a few years. Reports have it that Abbie Box, who is giving up the game as a player, will be president of the Bam-Bam-Balmies next year. It'll all come out in the wash shortly—and can probably stand a bit of laundering!

After The Pall Was Over

AND WHEN the smoke of battle had lifted last p.m. at the Brock, it was found that Louis Prete had kayoed Maurice Corderre in the second heat, Bill Joiner had gained a decision over Pat Jordan, Dutch McIlmoyle had put Frank Spencely away in two via technical K.O., Larry Kiel of Toronto got the nod on points over Norm Hill, and Nick Orlando pounded out a decision over Auggie Ferguson of Toronto. Which takes care of the mitt numbers on the Riverview A.C. card. As to the rasslin' match, Frenchy Labelle and Ren Gazelley went to a draw in an hour's tumbling, each gaining a fall—and each gaining a decision over Referee Charlie Kumpf! Close to a thousand fans poured through the turnstile to view a good lively program, one which held the customers there till midnight.

* * * * * * *

FIRST FRAY was oke but there was a pull in the weights that meant a lot. Next one saw an over-cautious Joiner gain a doubtful nod from a posing Jordan, who was the aggressor throughout. Pat had a bad jaw before the fray and got it busted again from a light stab—and had to go to the hospital after. In the third, ring experience and some sharp hitting gave McIlmoyle an easy win over a game rugged Spencely, who lacks boxing ability—but we hear he is going to learn the game and challenge Dutch again. Kiel, who lost to Low here before, showed a lovely left hand in the last half of his bout to win over Hill, but it could easily have been a draw—as Norm carried the fight throughout and looked better the first half. He tired under stinging lefts, but will look good with more practice. And Orlando pasted Ferguson throughout to win easily but his rugged rival had too much weigh and no feeling! Shook off those deadly right chops and waded in for more. He's tougher than Mickey Rooney looks!

* * * * * * *

Matmen Show Razzle-Dazzle

YEAH, it was a lively program and the folks liked it. The rasslers dished up their orthodox mat razzle-dazzle with forward passes out of the ring, end runs, laterals and kicking. Put on quite a hot fist duel outside the ropes once and six ladieswould have fainted only they were too excited. Referee threw out more warnings than police before Hallowe'en, but the big bruisers just brushed him aside, sometimes with an elbow to the whiskers! Labelle won the first fall somehow or other after being softened up like a spring thaw, but right must prevail and Ren tacked him to the floor later. They were at it hammer and tongs and ready to rassle all night for their few greenbacks when the gong mercifully sounded!

ENTRY DATE for junior basketball teams of the Church League is next Tuesday. St. John's are in plus a list of players, while verbat entries include Murray St. and St. Paul's—but player lists and fee of $1.50 must be sent in, too. St. Andrew's and George St. have the material and may join up. Executive of Gord Clegg, Cameron Gorrie and Don Charlton are working hard to get things going and hope for about five squads in the circuit. After seven years of activity and with the entry fee lower now, they point out there is more playing time and interested clubs should get busy at once. St. Paul's, last year's intermediate "B" Ontario church champs, will again enter playdowns in intermediate "A". And St. John's, 1937 Church Loop juvenile winners here, will go into O.C.B.A. juvenile playdowns. Prospects look bright for a strong City Cage Loop wit hC.G.E. and St. Paul's back, others interested and a Quaker Oats entry possible—such stars as Joe Jakafby and Walt Ward working there.

Many A Man
Has escaped a nervous breakdown
It is now becoming generally known, by word of mouth from one person to another, that scores of nervous, worried business men attribute their escape from nervous collapse to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
Business cares and worries of recent years have made men old before their time. Almost daily you read of prominent men dropping out in the very prime of life.
Others have survived, because they learned in time of a way to restore nerve force to the body. As a result, weak, halting vital organs have again assumed their natural functions. Rest and sleep have become possible, and mind and body have been restored to normal. If you find yourself slipping ask your friends about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. In almost every family there is some one who has profited by use of this modern restorative.

OTTAWA AND TORONTO CLAIM THE ALL-STAR FOOTBALL TEAM

Two Big Interprovincial Clubs Place The 12 Players On All-Star Team Selections

By Sydney Gruson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, Nov. 19 (C.P.). — The Interprovincial Football Union all-stars will move into action here to-day before 20,000 fans who will see for themselves which is a mightier unit—the backfield of Toronto Argonauts or the line of Ottawa Rough Riders.

The comparison will be interesting for, with one exception in each case, 14 coaches and sports writers put the two together for the Canadian Press union all-star team. The balloting was so close for one outside position that the team has three instead of two ends.

Ottawa and Toronto dominated the lineup, Hamilton Tigers and Montreal Cubs both failing to place a man. Following is the team.

Flying wing—Ted Morris, Argos.
Half—Art West, Argos.
Half—Bob Isbister, Argos.
Half (secondary defence)—Murray Griffin, Ottawa.
Quarterback—Annis Stukus, Argos
Snap—Curly Moynahan, Ottawa.
Inside—Tiny Herman, Ottawa.
Inside—George Fraser, Ottawa.
Middle—Dave Sprague, Ottawa.
Middle—Bunny Wadsworth, Ottawa.
Outside—Wes. Cutler, Argos.
Outside—Bernie Thornton, Argos.
and Tony McCarthy, Ottawa (tie).

Fanning out from centre Moynahan like giant columns of concrete, the line has offensive and defensive strength. With such running and plunging backs as Griffin, Morris, and West, it would be used primarily for defence, at which it hardly could be surpassed.

Unanimous Vote.

The selectors were so sure about whom they wanted that they gave a unanimous vote for the giant Herman, the East's most accurate placement kicker, and Wadsworth, who drops back from the line when playing for Riders to smash at the opposition. Only the end position and one backfield spot, won by Isbister over Andy Tommy of Ottawa, gave voters any trouble.

Isbister and Morris have not enjoyed their greatest seasons, but there is little doubt that big Bob is the Union's outstanding punter or that Morris could not hold his own with any other flying wing at tackling or plunging. Tommy has been West's only serious rival as the big four's standing running back.

Griffin earned his place with brilliant work all season. He is the backbone of Ottawa's secondary defence and he handles a good share of the plunging and passing. For Stukus, oldest of three brothers on the Argo team, selection capped his best season.

The voting in detail:

Flying wing — Morris, Argos, 7; O'Neil, Ottawa, 3; Selkirk, Argos, 2; Storey, Argos, 1; Griffin, Ottawa, 1.

Halves (2)—West, Argos, 10; Isbister, Argos, 7; Tommy, Ottawa, 7; Macpherson, Argos, 2; A. Stukus, Argos, 1; Storey, Argos, 1; O'Neil, Ottawa, 1.

Half (secondary defence)—Griffin, Ottawa, 8; Isbister, Argos, 3; Mathieu, Cubs, 1; Storey, Argos, 1.

Quarterback—A. Stukus, Argos, 7; Burke, Ottawa, 4; B. Stukus, Argos, 1; Whitaker, Hamilton, 1; Griffin, Ottawa, 1.

Snap—Moynahan, Ottawa, 7; Hees, Argos, 4; Searight, Cubs, 2; Parsons, Cubs, 1.

Insides (2)—Herman, Ottawa, 14; Fraser, Ottawa, 5; Palmer, Argos, 4; Brown, Cubs, 3; Staughton, Argos, 2.

Middles (2)—Wadsworth, Ottawa, 14; Sprague, Ottawa, 9; Evans, Argos, 2; Burt, Argos, 1; Segatore, Cubs, 1; Zvonkin, Tigers, 1.

Outsides (2)—Cutler, Argos, 10; Thornton, Argos, and McCarthy, Ottawa, 6 each (tied); Perley, Ottawa, 4; McCauley, Ottawa, 1; Turnbull, Tigers, 1.

Goodyears Beat Sailors 7-1; Oshawa Wins 3-2

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—(CP). — The cauticus would say it was too early for amateur hockey predictions, but Toronto critics took a jaunt out on the limb to-day and named Toronto Goodyears as the team to beat for the Senior championship of the Ontario Hockey Association.

League champions last year, Goodyears acted like titlists last night—opening night for the six teams—and overwhelmed Port Colborne Sailors 7-1. The Tars bowed again to the team that beat them for the league title last spring.

Home teams in the other two openers made losing debuts. Oshawa G-Men took advantage of a late-game penalty to edge out a 3-2 win over Niagara Falls Brights in the Cataract city, while St. Catharines defeated Brantford by the same score after 10 minutes of overtime.

Before the Toronto game, which developed into a rough-and-tumble tilt, Alvin Schlegel of Preston, O. H. A. president, presented the John Ross Robertson challenge trophy, emblem of the Senior title, to Goodyears.

Bobby Laurent, youthful rearguard who tried out with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League this season, suffered a gash over the right eye that required four stitches. Forward Johnny Inglis needed two stitches over his right eye.

Scored Two Goals.

Inglis, former St. Michael's College left winger, displayed the most voltage in the Goodyear powerhouse. He scored two goals and assisted in another. Old Hawse Marsh, returning to Ontario hockey after a sojourn in the United States, also was scored on by Peanuts O'Flaherty, George Imlach, Jack Draper, Blondy Sutcliff and Bill Grant, former North Bay junior.

The Tar tally came in the closing seconds of the middle period with Rupsy Waldriff, a newcomer to Senior ranks, the marksman on Captain Vince Upper's pass. Upper, a veteran and a fighter, and Inglis, drew major penalties in the closing minutes of the game after a brief display of fisticuffs.

It was a gloomy return to Senior ranks for Niagara Falls after an absence of three years. Tied 2-2 in the last period, Falls lost the game when Covert scored with Swat Mason of the Falls serving a minor penalty.

Ty Tisdall and Chisholm were the other Oshawa scorers, with Chet Steele and Steak Morrison, a couple of veterans, gathering the homesters' goals.

St. Catharines battled 60 minutes with the Brants before Sam Phillips scored on a pass from Blondy Lister. Lister also counted a goal, and Pinder completed scoring for the Saints.

Brantford marksmen were Tut Torti, able rearguard, and Bob Krieger. The game was hard-fought with both teams "laying it on." At one time during the proceedings Referee Norm Lamport, Toronto, called both teams to centre ice for a peace parley and put a stop to rough play.

Desson of St. Catharines drew a major penalty for punching J. Webster, Brant forward, and G. Baumgart, Brant rearguard, was given a misconduct penalty.

(By SID FEDER)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP). — That Fred Apostoli really knows what to do with his fists....But all hands should stop acting silly and get together on that Apostoli-Solly Krieger fight so the middleweights can come out from behind the eight ball....And Young Corbett, whose 33-year-old legs "ain't what they used to be" should shuffle off to Fresno for a well-earnest rest.

Little Barney Ross and Tony Canzoneri got the biggest hands before the "title" fireworks....But the nicest gesture was turned in by Ceferino Garcia, who held the ropes for hammering Henry Armstrong to climb through when both were introduced....They tangle next week for the welterweight bauble. . . Col. Fulgencio Batista, the Cuban Mr. Big, took in the Jai-Alai at the Hip Thursday, the big fight last night and has seats to-day on the 50-yard line for the Columbia-Syracuse football game.

Johnny Vander Meer heads back to Cincinnati after next week-end to have his tonsils erased again.... The double no-hit kid has been making himself a neat piece of change selling cars in Paterson, N.J.....And when there's nothing doing in the salesroom, he rolls up his sleeves and goes to work fixing cars in the shop.

Prof. Billy McCarney writes from Germany that he has his Jersey heavy, Steve Dudas, training in a brewery for the Lazek fight...."You may think that makes me a dumb guy," say the Prof. "But I'm not so dumb. Steve doesn't go for the lager, and I do—and how."

Carpetball Notes

Owing to circumstances beyond our control some of the games are being twisted around. Any skips desiring to change dates as scheduled please get in touch with the opposing skips without delay.

No reports have been received from games played this week so far, and one cannot guess who will be on top next.

Also, no entries have been received for the President's Cup playoffs yet, although we are given to understand that St. George's are definitely in.

The fees are sure slowing up—only another three this week, making a total of 27 per cent. of the total. Why not make it 50 per cent. by the end of next week?

Badminton Club Starts Season

Knox Badminton Club was reorganized for the current season last night when a round-robin tournament was held. Following the service of light refreshments under the direction of Misses Gladys Gerard and Marion Freeman, an election of officers resulted in the following choices: President, Gladys Gerard; social committee chairman, Marian Freeman; games and tournament committee chairman, Ross Allen; finance and property committee chairman, Ormond Benson.

Playing facilities are excellent and prospects are bright for a successful season of friendly games and tournaments with some of the smaller clubs of the city and district. Any one wishing further information regarding the activities of the club are asked to get in touch with a

No Rubbing Nose Of Deer On Second Trip C.G.E. Hunter Finds On Trip To Harcourt

Percy Killingbeck, 405 Wolfe street, the hunter who went into the bush a couple of weeks ago and rubbed noses with a wild deer, returned to the hunt this week and now has a different story to tell. He didn't get close enough to one this time to even wave at it, let alone rub noses.

Adams Sands, Cecil Gertley and Harry Sickler were with him again on the hunt, near Harcourt in Haliburton county. They left last Saturday morning intending to stay for the week-end but were caught in a raging blizzard that held them prisoner for three days. The thermometer dropped to ten degrees below zero and they were unable to leave their hunting lodge during the storm. Two feet of snow fell and it took them hours to fight their way back from the bush when they broke camp on Thursday. The trip back, which usually takes about three hours, lasted from seven in the morning until three in the afternoon. The party had two cars and passengers pushed each of them up long snow-covered hills.

During the stay in the bush, after the storm had subsided, they saw a number of deer in the distance, but the snow was so deep their dogs were floundering, helpless, and they were forced to give up the hunt. So for a second time they returned home without a prize. So startled was Killingbeck on the first trip when he found himself looking into the eyes of a wild deer, that he and his companions all missed shooting it.

Y's Men To Stage Musical Revue

For the past week and each and every weekday from now on until the Y's Men's stage presentation moves into the Collegiate Auditorium for it's two day run beginning November 30th, some sixty handpicked and talented Peterborough performers will be rehearsing for the Y's Men's theatrical production "Front Page Frolics".

The committee in charge have spared no effort in order to bring the most outstanding talent available into the cast and the following are a few well known performers who will grace the stage of the auditorium,—Mrs. Dorothy Sager Goldie, Ivy James, Marjorie White, Mrs. Arthur Nelson, Isobel Duffus, Jean Nichols, George Coleman, George Nichols, Cliff Hall, Don Crawford, George Moore and Cliff Cruickshanks, and many other local favorites. Along with a singing and dancing chorus will delight you with their intricate dance routines and chorus ensembles.

The Y's Men are now selling tickets for this gala stage offering the proceeds from which shall be used in purchasing shoes for underprivileged children, a project which this Club has recently undertaken.

OBITUARY

JAMES ROBERT WHATMAN.

James Robert Whatman, Lot 8, Con. 10, North Monaghan township, died at Nicholls Hospital on Friday, in his 41st year. He had been ill for about two years.

A former employee of the Canada Packers, Ltd., for about fifteen years, he was forced to retire because of illness two years ago. He was a resident of Peterborough for thirty-five years, moving into North Monaghan township about two months ago.

Bor nin Cannington, Ontario, he was a son of the late John Whatman and Mary Ann Tuck. Surviving are his wife, formerly Elizabeth Mandam, and two sons, Frank and Ray, both at home, also two sisters, Mrs. David Ainsworth of Winnipeg and Mrs. Fred Hall of Peterborough, and two brothers, William and Roy Whatman of Peterborough.

The body is resting at the Nesbett Funeral Home until Monday afternoon when the funeral will proceed from there to the Free Methodist church, of which he was long a member, for services at 2 o'clock, Rev. W. Armstrong officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake cemetery.

PHOTOGRAPHS METERS

For several years now the Utilities Commission have been using a specially constructed camera to take pictures of the face of commercial meters, instead of relying on the operator copying the reading. This type of meter is turned back to zero once the reading is made, and the company has a permanent record if the customer disagrees with the amount he is billed for. House meters are different as they are not turned back after each reading.

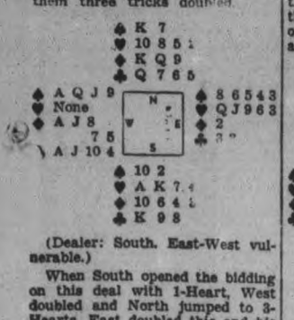
"The Authority on Authorities"

CONSIDER VULNERABILITY

WHAT IS RIGHT when the opponents are vulnerable and you are not may be utterly wrong if the condition is reversed. When the opponents are vulnerable, it will pay to double and defeat them a couple of tricks rather than strive for a game yourself, unless of course your side has a slam in the hand. But if you are vulnerable and they are not, getting a game for your side is more valuable then setting them three tricks doubled.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

When South opened the bidding on this deal with 1-Heart, West doubled and North jumped to 3-Hearts. East doubled this and his side defeated the declarer three tricks doubled.

West was not at all pleased with the result and told East in no uncertain terms what he thought about the double. He pointed out that East's correct move was to have bid 3-Spades, for the double indicated some length in that suit. East's argument was that with the strength shown by North's jump, he was afraid to put in the spade bid, as it might indicate to West that the hand contained some honor strength.

North's jump to 3-Hearts did not imply the strength that East credited him with but was made with the hope of keeping East out of the bidding. His bid prevented the opponents from making a vulnerable game.

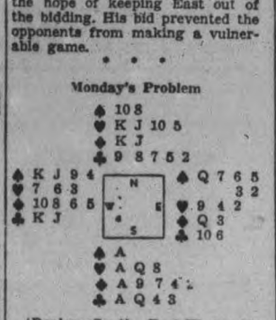
Monday's Problem



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

What is the correct defense by East against South's 3-No Trump contract after West leads the spade 4?

Daladier Tipped Against Dictatorship

PARIS, Nov. 19—(AP).—Former Premier Leon Blum, leader of the Socialist party, today warned Premier Daladier against attempting to set up a dictatorship in France.

Writing in the Socialist newspaper Le Populaire, Blum said he was alarmed at a project attributed to Daladier by deputies for ruling the nation without a chamber of deputies, for a time at least.

Calling the plan "equivalent to definite suppression of the parliamentary regime," Blum warned that "France is a democratic republic—nobody will dare touch it and nobody will touch it with impunity."

Seventeen persons arrested last night when police charged crowds demonstrating against the Daladier government's new decree laws designed to rebuild French economy, were released early today.

To consider the rising tide of public disapproval, the Premier called his cabinet to meet with President Albert Lebrun after first conferring with the 112 Radical-Socialist deputies who support him in the chamber.

Criticism already recorded by Socialists and Communists spread to the rightist press. Several newspapers declared the decrees were "super-taxation" which would smother the very industrial production the government wishes to increase.

ACTS FAST TO BRING RELIEF FROM COLDS

This Simple Way Eases Pain and Discomfort and Sore Throat Accompanying Colds with Amazing Speed

1. To ease pain and discomfort and reduce fever take 2 "Aspirin" Tablets — drink a glass of water. Repeat in 2 hours.

2. If throat is raw from cold, crush and dissolve 3 "Aspirin" Tablets in ½ glass of water . . . gargle.

Just Be Sure You Use "Aspirin"—Do it the Moment You Feel a Cold Coming on

Try it. Then—see your doctor. He probably will tell you to continue with "Aspirin" because it acts so fast to relieve discomforts of a cold. And to reduce fever.

This simple way, backed by scientific authority, has largely supplanted the use of strong medicines in easing cold symptoms. Perhaps the easiest, most effective way yet discovered.

Collegiate Notes

Fare-thee-well.

Alack and Alas! 'Tis indeed a sad tale that it is our sad duty to impart to you this half fortnight. For the old school is shrouded in gloom this week. The Galloping Ghosts of P.C.I. are no more. And yet it is with pride that we say it. For although the Bowmanville lads knocked the Garnet and Grey from the Lakeshore championship, our squad bowed out with all the fight and heart that little David had when he faced Goliath away back when. P.C.I. clearly outplayed Bowmanville last week and as you all know won 17-6. Now it doesn't take an Einstein to figure from this that the pride of P.C.I. lost their fifth straight group title down in the Rubbertown city the previous week. The tricky field and the worst exhibition the Garnet and Grey put on this year was the why and wherefore down there and as we have said that was what cost us our perennial championship.

However, we can't help saying that in our opinion the fast travelling Lindsay squad was on a par at least with the group finalists and had they got going a little earlier they would have met Albert College instead of Bowmanville right now. One thing that cannot be denied. That P.C.I. uncovered the best passer in a decade in elongated Nels Foster who can pitch with the best of them. Another thing, with a squad composed of about half yearlings the old alma mater didn't do badly at all at all. And Bill Harle who came here from Orillia, was a star all year. And Bobby Parnell and Rus Scriver and Ainslie, Rose, Diplock et al. They put up a great fight and most of them will be back next year to do or die once more for old P.C.I. Our hats are off to you!

The school and community is in for a sure fire treat on the night of November the twenty-fourth (a Thursday). The occasion will be a film taken by Mr. Hamilton Jones and entitled 'Canadian Rockies Holiday.' This film comes highly recommended and should draw a packed house. This prize winning film along with an extra added attraction, 'Columbia Icefields,' will be shown in the Auditorium at the small fee of two bits—the fourth part of a dollar. The time is eight o'clock.

School Spirit.

Right here and now we want to congratulate the students of P.C.V.S. for the splendid showing of school spirit they showed at last week's final rugby tussle. It was defintely something to write home about. We doubt very much if anywhere else in Canada is there ever a much bigger Collegiate show put on. There was everything a commentator could wish. The bugle band was out in force, complete with drum majoress Goldie Shaw. The student body was there en masse and everything was for once as it should be. That's the stuff—let's keep it up. As a result of the fine showing there was a dance Friday night open to the school as a whole and it is rumored that there was an orchestra.

School Song.

Here is the first and only reply to our plea for a new song. It is sung to the same tune as Georgia Tech, which goes—I'm a rambling wreck from Georgia Tech, etc. Here it is:

We're the Garnet and Grey and we're proud to say
That we're from P.C.I.
We're the Garnet and Grey and we'll win today
For we're out to do or die,
Like other teams before us
We'll fight on, you and I,
We're the Garnet and Grey and we're proud to say
That we're from P.C.I.

Personally we think it's not half bad. Let's hear your opinions. Luckily we know the tune and will supply it on demand. Anyhow it's worth a try.

Basketball

Now with our gridiron warriors having returned one's thoughts lightly turn to basketball which will get a big play during the ensuing months. Prospects look pretty fair both for the senior and junior boys but the senior girls right now are an unknown quantity. Their star of the last year or two, Mary McPherson, now at college, will be missed like all get out and several others of the '37 squad are gone. However there will be some juniors coming up and they may make quite a splash before the spring. The senior boys squad will have three of last year's string back: Ralph Johnston Harlow Cutting and Nels Foster along with Gillespie, Marshall, Ferguson and Craig of last year's junior squad and some new comers to pick their squad from.

It is rumored that big "Spud" Turner will be back before the season and there is a possibility of Les Ascott returning too. The juniors with Clarke, Taylor, Amys and some more back from last year and new stars coming up should do O.K. too. From all reports there should be good groupings for all three entries and Friday nights this snow-time should be pretty busy affairs.

Christmas Cards

The Students' Council picked two cards from the supply sent from the company and put them up for a vote from the student body. Both Christmas cards were fine but one was a little more expensive than the other. However only a few forms took the opportunity to vote and agreed on the 6-cent card. These will be sold at 35 cents a half dozen and you can get your name on them for an extra cost of twenty five cents—no matter how many cards you order.

Lit Meeting

Last week's opening Lit meeting, a definite success, was closely followed by No. 2 this Friday. Since No. 1 is already history we will elucidate on said No. 2 It was presented by Forms 5A, 4B and 3A at three-thirty on Friday afternoon.

Drama, Music, Camera

It was announced on Wednesday morning that the school will have a dramatic society this year under the direction of Mr. Hale. In the world of music Miss Weddell's glee club is apparently coming along alright. The first formers (or pardon us, form niners) practice on Mondays and the rest of the school after school on Thursday. There is no much transpiring as far as Camera Club is concerned. All being a deep silence but Ben Ackerman, the school's news reel camerman was seen taking the rugby game last week and any day now we should see the sad details all over again.

Hyar And Thar

Although the team's loss last week was a tough blow you must remember that it will help strengthen the group—to have someone else take honors...Don Rose broke his collarbone in last week's game and this column offers sympathy. It was the first serious injury of the year... We haven't seen a P.C.I. team fight so hard since last winter...When a battling Garnet and Grey squad was fighting off Niagara Falls to win the C.O.S.S.A. senior basketball title... There were plenty of P.C.I. grads at last week's tussle—Al and Grant Clark returned from Clarkson Tech in New York, Mary McPherson, "Pep" Martin and others...Was there ever a Bowmanville team without at least one McIlveen on it... Other scribes please note—FLASH—P.C.I.'s conquerors were themselves conquered by Albert College 10-1 Wednesday...And so it goes.—J.E.C.

Woman, Paramour Held In Murder

ROUYN, Que., November 19. —(CP).—A man and woman were held in jail here to-day, charged with the murder Oct. 31 of 45-year-old Joseph Miroslovic at nearby Arntfield.

The pair—Joseph Falardeau and Miroslovic's widow, known also as Mrs. Angeline Houle—were remanded until Saturday after arraignment yesterday before Judge P. A. Hudon. A coroner's jury Monday recommended they be held criminally responsible for the man's death.

Miroslovic, a bullet through his skull, was found on his bedroom floor by police called to investigate trouble "down alongside Annie's shack." Under the body was a gun and asleep on a bed in the room was Mrs. Miroslovic who said she had been "very drunk" a nd could not recall what had happened.

Falardeau, a friend of the Miroslovics, said the victim had chased him out of the house with a rifle about 11 o'clock when he found him talking to the woman. He said he had taken some beer to the Miroslovic home, where there had been "a lot of people," and that he went home to bed after being chased out.

Coroner Rioux ordered Falardeau and Mrs. Miroslovic held after they admitted intimacy.

Hit Furniture Men

STRATFORD, Ont., Nov. 19 (CP). —Stratford furniture manufacturers today said the effect of the reductions in duty on United States furniture to this country will make the competition a little more severe, although there may be some compensating factors.

In the case goods lines a net reduction of 4¼ per cent in the protection is seen but this may be offset to some extent by reduction of the duty on raw materials.

In the upholstered lines there is less apparent possibility of a reduction in the cost of materials imported.

Wait, Mother—Ask Your Doctor First

Never Give Your Children Unknown "Bargain" Remedies To Take—Unless You Ask Your Doctor. Unknowingly You May Be Risking Their Health —Just To Save A Few Pennies

A MOTHER may save a few pennies giving her children unknown, unproved preparations. But the life of a child is precious beyond pennies. So—Ask your doctor before you give any remedy you don't know all about.

When giving the common children's remedy, Milk of Magnesia, never ask for "Milk of Magnesia" alone—but always ask for "Phillips'."

Because for three generations Phillips' has been favored by many physicians as a standard, reliable and proved preparation — marvelously gentle for youngsters.

Many children like Phillips' in the newer form—tiny peppermint-flavored tablets that chew like candy. Each tablet contains the equivalent of one teaspoonful of the liquid Phillips', and a big box costs but 25¢ at your drug store.

A bottle of Phillips' liquid Milk of Magnesia costs but 25¢. So—it is a fact that anyone can afford the genuine. Careful mothers ask for it by its full name "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

Blood-Red Mars Starts Getting Chummy Draws Nearer Earth Daily

Philadelphia, Nov. 19 (AP)

DON'T BE ALARMED, but Mars is getting closer to the earth every day.

The blood-red planet that recently became the bugaboo of thousands when a broadcast dramatization of a fictitious invasion from Mars resulted in mass hys-000 milesf rom this globe. By next miles from this globe. By next July 27 it will be practically on us—only 36,000,000 miles away.

James Stokley, the Franklin Institute's chief astronomer, said today, however, there was small danger Mars' chumminess would produce any cataclysms.

Mar's proximity to the earth next summer will be the closest it will come for centuries, Stokley said. The planet's record for a down-to-earth movement was in 1924, when it came within 36,000,-000 miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Potts Guests of Honor At Marmora Presentation

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Nov. 19 — Tipperary Hotel, Crowe Lake, was the scene of a jolly gathering as many friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Potts who are shortly moving to Tweed assembled to honor this couple who during their long residency have shown themselves to be so public spirited.

W. J. Cottrell was asked to act as chairman for the initial hour of the evening's program. After the singing of the National Anthem, the chairman commented upon the presence of so representative a gathering and instanced the fact that the district was losing for the while two worthy citizens.

Bert Kouri and Eugene Reynolds gave some guitar and mouth-organ selections in the style that won them fame some months ago on Ken Soble's program. Reeve W. R. Linn then gave a short address. By special request Albert Bartlett sang "The Bowery."

Community singing was then followed by the presentation of a clock to Mr. Potts by members of Marmora Branch No. 237, Canadian Legion, President W. Bedore making the presentation and past president P. Gray reading the address. Comrade Potts made feeling reply.

Preceding the next presentation of an overnight bag by the ladies' auxiliary to Mrs. Potts Mrs. Percy Gray sang the appropriate vocal number, "Love Sends A Little Gift Of Roses."

The presentation of the auxiliary's gift was made by president, Mrs. T. Cousins, assisted by Mrs. W. Mumby past president.

Thomas R. Warren next gave a short address following which Mrs. H. R. Haacke and Mrs. I. Hart on behalf of the L.O.B.A. presented Mrs. Potts with a beautiful hand purse. Mrs. Potts, as in the case of the other presentation, made a gracious speech in acknowledgment. This was followed by W. J. Cottrell singing his own song, "The Eternal Pearl" with Mrs. T. Dickson accompanying on the piano. Then came the final presentation, that of a pen and pencil set, by L.O.L. 319 to Wor. Bro. T. Potts, the address being read by the chairman and the presentation being in the hands of Wor. Bro. Joseph Scott, W.M. of the Lodge. Bro. Potts again made fitting reply.

Other speakers were heard, voicing best wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Potts and after community singing, led by Tom Pritchard, the program was given over to dancing for which Bert Kouri and Eugene Reynolds furnished music. The ladies served a delicious lunch before the gathering dispersed.

Hitler Moustache Banned In Huron By County Council

HURON county council unanimously passed a resolution authorizing the courthouse officer, Sergeant - Major George James, to arrest anyone wearing a moustache resembling that of Chancellor Hitler.

But Sergeant - Major James said the councillors were "just kidding" him. A couple of weeks ago a newspaper quoted him as a violent opponent of "Hitler moustaches," he explained. The councillors read the story and decided to let him work out his personal hate.

But the resolution went through officially and there were hasty glances through the county building for Hitler moustaches. No arrests have been made.

Jews In Tanganyiha Idea, Angers Germany

BERLIN, Nov. 19—(CP-Havas)—The British government's announcement it was considering the possibility of settling Jews in the former German colony of Tanganyika provoked angry blasts in the Nazi press today.

"The idea of shifting the flux of Jewish emigrants into German colonies is a frivolous one and would be equivalent to a repetition of the British mistakes in Palestine," said the Lokalanzeiger.

The Berliner Tageblatt said "there is sufficient room for the Jews in the British Empire outside East Africa."

The Voelkischer Beobachter, Chancellor Hitler's paper, commented sarcastically on former prime minister Baldwin's famous statement that Britain's frontier now is on the Rhine. The newspaper said this frontier has returned to "its natural position, the Cliffs of Dover."

TRANSVAAL BUSH FIRES

So many widespread bush fires have been caused in the Kruger National Park in the Transvaal by the carelessness of tourists that the systematic burning of the veld every two years is to be undertaken by the South African authorities.

Refugee Problem May Stir Fight In U.S. Over Immigration Law

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—(AP)—A new, large-scale attempt by Jewish and other European minorities to find homes in the United States may lead to a resurvey of American immigration laws by the next congress.

Outbreaks of anti-semitism in Germany and elsewhere have caused many more thousands of central Europeans to seek admittance to the United States than is possible under existing laws.

Government officials said today they anticipated a bitter struggle between members of congress wishing to relax immigration barriers for those refugees and members desiring to retain or strengthen them.

President Roosevelt said this week he had given a great deal of thought to the German Jewish refugee problem, but said he had no thought of revising laws to take in additional numbers here.

Letting In 24,400 Annually

The United States is taking German Jews at the rate of about 24,000 a year, which officials estimated was more than all other countries combined are accepting.

There are 220,000 applications for German visas on file, but the country's annual immigration quota is only 27,370. Similarly, there are 69,000 Polish applications, against a quota of 6,524, and 11,000 Czechoslovakian applications, against a quota of 2,874.

New visa restrictions have been put in effect recently to meet the pressure of those clamoring for admission to the United States as a result of anti-Jewish outbreaks abroad.

Applicants now must show clearly they will not become a public charge on their arrival in America. Sponsors are asked to assume legal obligations for the help they promise.

Havelock M.O.H. Loses Out In Pay Appeal

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Nov. 19. — The application of Dr. Joseph Holdcroft of Havelock to His Honor Judge Smoke of the Peterborough County Court, for the determination of a fair and reasonable remuneration payable to him in the capacity of Medical Officer of Health of Havelock, was dismissed by the court, due to the fact that his application had not been received within the required time limit.

Dr. Holdcroft in his application to Judge Smoke, claimed that the Town Council paid no attention to his protest in the reduction of his former salary of $150 per annum to $100, and that in fact his services in that official capacity in Havelock this year, if paid for in the regular way would amount to over $700. The appeal was made under the provision of the Public Health Act, which permits the County Court to fix the salary wherever a dispute exists between the M.O.H. and municipality.

D. F. Miller, B.A., of Havelock, as village solicitor, represented the municipality, while W. J. Arthur Fair of Peterborough appeared for Dr. J. Holdcroft.

Percy Institute Seeks Members

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, Nov. 19. — The November meeting of the Percy Township Women's Institute, was held at the home of Mrs. Charlie Puffer on Wednesday afternoon. The president presided. The roll call was answered by a Peace thought.

The business included an appeal from the Red Cross for relief for fire sufferers., and it was decided to send $5 as a donation. The institute has also been asked to cater for the Masonic banquet. It was decided to do so, and a committee was appointed to look after the same.

There is a drive on to increase the Institute membership. Each member is asked to try and get one new member before the December meeting.

The members are planning a pot luck dinner at some future date at which Mrs. Lorne Evans will commence her new project.

Mrs. Joe Greenly, as the official delegate to the Belleville convention, gave a splendid report of the proceedings. The paper on "Home, the Anchor of Our National Life," given by Miss Blanche Baker, was much enjoyed.

A musical program of community singing, recitation, piano solo, and a spelling match was enjoyed by all after which lunch was served and a pleasant afternoon brought to a close.

16 Fined In Lindsay On Radio Charges

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Nov. 19.—Sidney A. Gall, of Toronto, came before Magistrate Gee in police court Friday morning charged with attempting to defraud the Canada Lime Company, Coboconk, by falsifying the books of the concern. The accused is an employe of the National Trust Company, and for some time past has been employed at the Canada Lime Company, in the interests of his firm. C. G. Frost, acting for the accused, pleaded not guilty and elected summary trial. County Crown Attorney Anderson requested a week's adjournment, which was granted, the accused being released on bail set at $2,000.

William Reed and Fred Pieper, of Bolton, appeared before the Magistrate, charged with breaking and entering a service station near Oakwood last week. A further remand of one week was granted on the request of the county crown attorney.

H. S. Williams and V. J. Brister, inspector for radio licenses, made a cleanup on local delinquents during the past few days with the result that sixteen radio owners this morning in police court paid fines of $3.00 and costs. A drive was started on car radios Friday.

A resolution was passed at the session of the Victoria county council Friday recommending the abolition of the fee system now in vogue for county constables, Crown Attorneys, clerks of the peace and sheriffs and that all law enforcement in the province, excluding the larger towns and cities be under the control and supervision of the Provincial Police Department. A copy of this resolution will be sent to the Attorney-General's Department.

Special Stamps

OTTAWA, Nov. 19—(CP).—Three commemorative postage stamps in connection with the visit to Canada next summer of King George and Queen Elizabeth will be issued, Hon. W. D. Euler, Acting Postmaster General, announced to-day. Date of the issue will be announced later, the Minister said.

Zelland Lays Nazi Atrocities At Hitler's Door

Torquay, England, Nov. 19 (AP)

THE Marquess of Zetland, Secretary of State for India, today laid Germany's anti-Jewish measures squarely at the door of Chancellor Hitler's government.

In an outspoken address, the minister became the first cabinet member directly to accuse the German government of responsibility for the anti-Jewish violence of the past week.

He said it had "rudely shaken" his hope that the four-power Munich agreement of Sept. 29 would open a new chapter in human history.

Minister's Pilot Chances Fade

MONTREAL, Nov. 19—(CP). — Chances had all but disappeared to-day for an added history-making feature to next year's precedent-breaking Royal tour—because one St. Lawrence river pilots license applies only to the Quebec-Montreal channel.

Hon. Bona Dussault, Minister of Agriculture in the Quebec government, is the pilot and those who like to speculate on such things had turned their attention lately to an interesting possibility.

Should Dussault pilot H.M.S. Repulse next May from Father Point to Quebec, they pointed out, it would mark a Crown Minister's first appearance in history at the helm of a ship carrying a British Sovereign.

But the Minister-pilot ended speculation yesterday. He had no authority to pilot ships below Quebec, he said, and even if the Repulse officers departed from Royal Navy custom and took aboard a pilot regulations would prevent him from being that pilot.

Their Majesties are scheduled to disembark May 15 from the Repulse at Quebec city and that should end the matter. But the speculators have not given up yet—not quite. They point now to the off-chance King George and Queen Elizabeth might be induced to travel from Quebec to Montreal in a Canadian Government vessel.

Movie Is Shown Of Campbellford Big Audiences

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 19—After showing to five packed houses the picture produced and directed by Dr. W. F. Carleton was officially accepted by Mayor F. F. Long last night. In an appropriate address which followed the showing of the picture in the Hollywood theatre for the last time the Mayor paid high tribute to the work of these men in creating a lasting record of "Our Home Town." Dr. Carleton and his technical adviser, Michael Carleton were grateful for the fine co-operative spirit exhibited by everyone during the production. A pictorial record of the town showing all the principal interests in the community. Nothing was overlooked, schools, churches, industries and business activities. Among the headlights of the program was the parade in which nearly one thousand people took part. Even a band under the capable direction of Walter Lowe blared forth with trumpets for the grinding cameras. It was like an Old Home Week with everyone joining in the fun. Most interesting was the filming of the Remembrance Day program and later of the Fire Department under Fire Chief Williams, fighting a blaze on Centre street. A barn was sacrificed in order to get a shot of the department in action and they nearly spoiled the scene by putting it out too quickly.

The picture will now be made available for showing by clubs and churches who may desire to raise money for charitable purposes. At the present time it is being stored in the town clerk's office. During the final afternoon performance prizes were awarded the girl having the best appearance on the screen. A. Rapport assisted Dr. Carleton in judging by the amount of applause given the winners. Two sisters were the first chosen, Marian Davies 5, and Frances Davies 7, were awarded first and second prizes and Beryl Spencer was third.

Russians Nip British Plane Dash

Engineer Is Jailed Trying To Get Wife From Country

MOSCOW, Nov. 21.— (AP).—A British engineer, who made an airplane flight into Soviet Russia to try to get his Russian born wife out of the country is under arrest.

The engineer, Bryan Grover, without entry visa for himself or exit visa for his wife, flew from Stockholm and landed Monday at Starziza, 100 miles short of Moscow. He was arrested there.

Grover has been trying for more than a year to get a permit for his wife to leave. Russian law does not recognize marriage to a foreigner as an acceptance reason for leaving the country.

The two were married while he worked in the Soviet oil industry several years ago. He went later to Iran (Persia) intending to return for his wife, but was unable to obtain a re-entry visa.

He hoped by the flight to attract attention of some high Soviet officials who would aid his cause.

Shotgun Wound Proves Fatal

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Nov. 21. —Thomas Cronkright, 24, died in hospital in Belleville late last night of wounds suffered when a shotgun or a rifle discharged accidentally in the bush north of Marmora.

Details of the accident were not learned immediately. Police said Cronkright was struck in the lower right leg by the contents of a gun held by a man named O'Brien, walking behind Cronkright.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon. Cronkright was brought to hospital in Belleville and died soon after admittance of loss of blood.

Archbishop O'Brien Protests Savagery

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 21—(CP). —Archbishop M. J. O'Brien of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Kingston and principal R. C. Wallace of Queen's University were principle speakers before a gathering of 1,200 persons here yesterday that protested treatment of Jews in Germany.

"We do most vehemently condemn this act of savagery as unwarranted persecution, which is repulsive to and outrages the feelings of the whole civilized world," Archbishop O'Brien declared.

Anti-Jewish wrath, he said, "has become so fiendish that it has not spared even innocent children who could not possibly be guilty of any crime. If every nation told Germany that the latter is alienating the respect, sympathy and goodwill of the entire world, Germany will bow to the inevitable and will realize that it cannot outrage the feelings of humanity nor flout the principles of justice and fair play which are the foundation of all law and order."

Dr. Wallace said that since the Munich agreement he had become disheartened by treatment of Jews in Germany. He believed it Canada's duty to see what could be done about admitting to the Dominion groups of Jewish refugees.

The Baby Sleeps

YONKERS, N.Y., Nov. 21 (AP)— A youth stole a car here without realizing that 18-months-old Marguerite Oliver, daughter of the owner, was dozing in the rear of the vehicle. In his flight the thief crashed into a truck, wrecking the car so badly he left it and fled on foot. When the worried parents arrived at the scene, a policeman led them silently to the smashed car. "Sh-h-h-," he warned. The baby was still asleep.

Elder Grabs Thief Leaving Church With Stolen Coat

Toronto, Nov. 21.

ARRESTED while the service was being conducted at St. John's Evangelical Church, Pape Avenue, Sunday night, James Urmson, 32, of Kingston, was charged by Detectives McKay and Martin with the theft of an overcoat and hat from a cloakroom.

Police said the accused man was on his way out of the church when he was intercepted by James McKane, a church elder, 10 Aldridge Avenue, who held him until the officers arrived.

Drew Charges Plaxton Misled King

OTTAWA, Nov. 21—(CP).—Hugh Plaxton, Liberal M.P. for Toronto-Trinity, was charged with misleading Prime Minister Mackenzie King by Lieut.-Col. George Drew, beginning his argument at the Bren Gun inquiry under Mr. Justice H. H. Davis today. Col. Drew also charged Defence Minister Mackenzie and his deputy, Major General L. R. La Fleche, with misleading the British war office.

Col. Drew's charges drew a protest from Mr. Plaxton who said he had had about as much slander as he could stand. He accused Col. Drew of attempting to hit newspaper headlines and destroy his character.

In his attack on Mr. Plaxton, Col. Drew referred to a letter written by Mr. Plaxton to the prime minister in the summer of 1936 stating a group of his friends were fully equipped to manufacture munitions. Col. Drew said the group was not then equipped. They were just negotiating for the purchase of an inoperative plant. Besides this misleading statement, Mr. Plaxton had neglected to say two of his brothers, Herbert and Gordon, were members of the group.

This letter, Col. Drew said was written prior to completion of the purchase of the Inglis plant by the group headed by Major James E. Hahn. This group, now incorporated as "John Inglish Co., Limited" holds a contract to make 7,000 Bren light machine guns for the defence department at cost plus 10 per cent. Col Drew's attack on this contract in an article in Maclean's magazine is the cause of the inquiry.

The 1936 Letter

Col. Drew said the war office was misled by Mr. Mackenzie in a letter, dated Oct. 20, 1936, which stated Major Hahn headed an important group and controlled plants suitable for the manufacture of munitions. This letter was written by General Lafleche to the Department of Externl Affairs for transmission to Canada House in London as an introduction to Major Hahn who wished to visit the War Office which was seen and not objected to by Mr. Mackenzie. The best that could be said of Mr. Mackenzie and General Lafleche, Col. Drew said, was "they were extremely careless, extremely negligent in their duties."

Hon. J. L. Ralston, chief commission counsel, will follow Col. Drew in the argument. Then Aime Geoffrion, for the Inglis Company, will speak, and then H. Fred Parkinson, for Plaxton and Company. A short reply will follow from Col. Drew and the argument will end with a short reply from commission counsel. The order was arranged by counsel themselves and each was tentatively allotted one day so that argument will end Thursday or Friday.

Orillia Baker Is Drugged And Robbed

ORILLIA, Ont., Nov. 21.—(CP).— Police to-day sought a man who drugged and robbed Mervin Swailes, 22-year-old bakery worker, during the week-end.

Swailes told police he was walking along a highway near here when he was picked up by a motorist. After he got into the automobile, Swailes said, the man "stopped and handed me a bottle with the order, 'take a drink or I'll shoot you.'"

The youth said the "next thing I knew I was lying on the roadside and my pockets were empty." He said he had been robbed of $4. Swailes managed to make his way to the home of his parents, several miles from Orillia.

Unhurt After 40 Hours Trapped Down Mine Father Of 11 To Tackle Job Again

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Nov. 21.— (AP). — Two dazed coal miners rested uninjured in a hospital today and told of surviving 40 hours' entombment at the bottom of a 50-foot shaft.

They were rescued yesterday after nearly two full days and nights of frantic digging after the shaft in which they were working collapsed Friday, dumping tons of dirt and heavy timbers.

William Bokuniewicz, 53, said it was his third rescue from a collapsed shaft and that he was going back to work.

"After all, I have a wife and 11 children, and must make my living some way," he said. "Mining is all I know. By this time most of the loose coal and earth will have settled and it shouldn't be as dangerous."

Bokuniewicz's helper, John Cominsky, 18, said he probably would return as soon as he leaves the hospital. He dozed off once, he related, and "dreamed I was in a coffin, and that made me afraid to go to sleep again."

Eastern Ontario Scouters Hold Conference

The Eastern Ontario Scouters' Conference was attended by a large number of Scout leaders from a wide area. The group includes: Front row (LEFT to RIGHT): District Commissioner John T. Hornsby and Assistant District Commissioner Ernest J. Wolfe, Peterborough; Assistant Dominion Commissioner J. Blow, Toronto; Assistant District Commissioner J. H. Rigg, Oshawa. R.B. Bennett Buys Home In England And Plans Speedy Return; May Not Sit In Ottawa House Again

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—(CP).— Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett has purchased a home in England and will not likely be seen in the Canadian House of Commons, it was learned to-day.

Mr. Bennett returned to Ottawa yesterday from a three-month trip to England.

As vigorous and spirited after his holiday as he has been in years, Mr. Bennett declined to comment on domestic Canadian issues of the moment. His home now, he said, was in England. "I have packed up, you might say," he added.

Canada's former Prime Minister, who has spent 18 years in the House of Commons since 1911, explained simply that he had bought a home in Surrey, about 20 miles south of London, and would proceed there as soon as he received word from the architects working on it.

Although he would not be directly quoted as to whether he would occupy his seat in the House of Commons in the forthcoming session, it was gathered that he would not be seen again there.

In England For Christmas

Mr. Bennett said he expected to visit Calgary, his constituency and former home, "shortly," but it was unlikely he would remain there for the Christmas holiday. By that time, he indicated, he might be back in England, to stay.

The 68-year-old former prime minister did not wish to pass an opinion on the trade agreements just completed between Canada and the United States and between the United Kingdom and the United States. He had not had an opportunity to read the agreements in detail, but it would not be easy to appraise agreements which were so extensive. Their value would be determined only by how they operated in the light of experience.

New York Deer Hunters Kill 21 Persons Wound 99 Others

Albany, N.Y., Nov. 21 (AP)

LAST SHOTS were fired at sundown yesterday as New York's hunting season came to a close in most sections, leaving in its wake 21 persons killed and 99 injured as a result of accidents. The hunting fatalities were six less than the number killed last year.

Hitler's Indian Atrocity Claims Denied

OTTAWA, Nov. 21 .— (CP).— Charges in Chancellor Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, that "real atrocities are taking place on Canadian Indian reservations were denied by Dr. H. W. McGill, director of the Canadian Government Indian Affairs Branch.

"The facts hardly support the charge," Dr. McGill said.

"Canadian Indians are not demoralized by liquor. The Indian Act forbids supplying Indians with liquor and it is very strictly enforced all over the Dominion.

"And Indians are not allowed to starve. The aged and infirm are always given relief. In fact, any Indian who cannot take care of himself is provided for."

Indians Indignant.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Nov. 21. — (CP) — "False and without the slightest foundation is the charge that Canada has, or is maltreating its Indian population," Major E. P. Randle, superintendent of the Six Nations and Mississaugas of the Credit Reservations, said at the Indian office here to-day. He was referring to comment in Chancellor Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Boebachter, that "If Canadians want to see real atrocities they need only go to the Indian reservations of their own country.

"There they will find what inhuman treatment really means," the paper said, "see how the old Indian population was destroyed by Starvation and liquor."

Indian residents of both reservations were indiginant at the implications of persecution and addiction to liquor contained in the charge.

"The people of the Six Nations and Mississaugas of the Credit Reservation are a self-respecting, self-supporting and self-governing people," Major Randle said. "They are largely engaged in mixed farming, and comparable with residents of any rural community in the Dominion. Where any need of assistance is shown, the elective councils in conjunction with the Department of Indian Affairs meet the needs of the situation by relief and provision of old age pensions."

Oriental Mata Hari "Peiping Lily" Nabbed In Chungking

Chungking, China, Nov. 21 (AP)

PEIPING LILY LEE, glamorous wartime party girl who is suspected of being an Oriental Mata Hari, is being detained by Chinese authorities today "for observation."

Peiping Lily once associated frequently with foreign office and military official of this provincial capital of China.

Chinese secret service agents arrested her and two men when they attempted to board a plane for Hong Kong Nov. 13. Chinese newspapers were forbidden to publish word of the incident.

In Peiping Lily's baggage were photographs of Chungking and Chengtu which officials said were of military significance.

Back Injuries Prove Fatal To Mrs. Murray

(Examiner Correspondence.)

DOWNEYVILLE, Nov. 21. — Seriously injured when a car left the road and rolled over in the ditch near Yonge street, North Toronto, a week ago, Mrs. Fergus Murray of Downeyville, died in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, Sunday afternoon. She had suffered a broken back and hip injuries and never fully regained consciousness.

Mrs. Murray had been en route to Toronto with her husband, children, her mother, Mrs. Michael Garvey and Mrs. Garvey's father, when a car crowded them off the shoulder of the road, and their vehicle turned turtle. Every one in the car was injured at the time, and Mrs. Garvey is still in the hospital.

British Guiana, Tanganyika, Kenya Colony For Jews, Chamberlain Hints; Decision Hits Germany Like Bombshell

Nazis See Plan Aimed To Prejudice Colonial Question

By Melvin Whiteleather
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain's disclosure that Tanganyika, Germany's former East African county, would be used for settling Jews fell like a bombshell here today.

The Nazi press for days has been warning that "Any such attempt would meet with the sharpest protest."

It came amid the first signs of abatement of Germany's 11-day anti-semitic drive which has deprived German Jews of virtually all freedom and reduced tens of thousands to destitution.

Many Germans interpret plans to settle German Jews in their former colonies as a move to prevent the return of such war-lost possessions to Germany.

One authoritative commentator declare the "the Tanganyika step is an obvious attempt to prejudice the colonial question."

Plan "An Affront."

Before Mr. Chamberlain's announcement, informed Nazi quarters had said they expected Chancellor Hitler to tell Oswald Pirow, defence minister of South Africa, that Germany would consider such a plan an "affront." Mr. Pirow is scheduled to see the Fuehrer Thursday at Berchtesgaden.

Joachim Von Ribbentrop, foreign minister, was understood already to have told the South Africans the same thing.

Jews who, for meritorious service to Germany during the Great War, had been permitted to wear their uniforms on solemn occasions, have lost this privilege. A decree dated Nov. 19 and signed by Hitler and Colonel-General Wilhelm Keitel, acting war minister, says:

"Jews who belonged to the old or new army, to the Austro-Hungarian defence force or Austrian federal army and who were accorded the right to wear uniform and herewith deprived of this right."

Italy Mediator?

ROME, Nov. 21 (C.P.-Havas). — Italy's hope of acting as mediator in the question of Germany's colonial demands was indicated in an article to-day in the Review Relazioni Interazionali

It recalled Premier Mussolini's declaration last year of Germany's right to have "its place in the African sun" and emphasized that this refers essentially to territories now administered by Great Britain, France, and Belgium.

"France is adopting in this matter a negative and unreal attitude, while Great Britain is dealing with the problem, showing that she desires to contribute to general peace," the Review said. It added France would be "compelled to make its attitude conform to that of England and a determined Germany."

"The true word of European justice can be spoken at the opportune time only by Italy," the article concluded.

Famed Diamond Cutter Sir Arthur Levy Dies

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(CP-Havas)— Sir Arthur Levy, who supervised the cutting and polishing of the famous "Stars of Africa" from the Cullinan diamond, died yesterday at the age of 83.

His death occurred just 30 years to the day after the finished stones were delivered to King Edward VII at Windsor Castle. During 1907 and 1908 Sir Arthur acted as adviser and expert in cutting the Cullinan. It was discovered at the Premier mine near Pretoria in 1905 and purchased by the Transvaal government for presentation to the King.

The original was cut into nine major stones, 96 small brilliants and a number of unpolished ends. The two largest stones were named "The Stars of Africa" at the King's request and placed in his sceptre and crown.

Last Minute News Flashes

CAMPBELLFORD. — Overheated pipes caused fire which completely destroyed the farm home of James Ingram, Codrington, early today. So fast did the flames sweep through the two-storey brick structure that the family, including six children ranging in age from six to 18 years barely escaped in their night attire. A bucket brigade was quickly formed but only a few articles of household furniture were saved.

PRAGUE. — Reports of loyalty demonstrations by youths and legislators in Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia), Czechoslovakia's eastermost province, were cited in Czech authorities today as evidence of strong resistance to further cession of territory to Hungary which would result in a common Polish-Hungarian frontier.

Special Serum Speeds By Plane, Car To Save Oshawa Girl

Oshawa, Ont., Nov. 21 (CP)

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD Lois Molly of nearby Harmony was doing "as well as can be expected" today after the first of several injections of a serum brought here from New York to treat her attack of spinal meningitis.

The special serum had to be sought at New York when the attack was diagnosed as of a virulent type and it was found the serum could not be obtained in Ontario. It was put aboard an airplane at New York and flown to Buffalo, where it was transferred to a Toronto-bound plane. Provincial police officers on motorcycles preceded a fast motor car that carried the serum the last 30 miles to Oshawa.

Plight Of Jews Protested Across Canada

TORONTO, Nov. 21 (C.P.). — Requests that the Dominion do her share to alleviate the plight of Jews in Germany were on their way to Ottawa to-day from many parts of Canada. There were many pleas that Canada open her doors to refugees.

In unison, with the might of mass behind them, thousands upon thousands of Canadians from Halifax to Vancouver gave unanimous endorsation yesterday to protests over Hitler's policies towards his Jewish subjects.

There were a few dissenting voices to the proposal Canada become a haven for the seekers after peace and quietness. At Toronto the Canadian Corps Association sent to Prime Minister King a note of its concern over "forced mass immigration." It was suggested Africa might be a more suitable place for settlers.

There was no dissent from the expressions of indignation, voiced formally by resolution, over conditions that have made the proposed migration from Germany an avenue of refuge for Jewish people there.

Ontario citizens at six widely-separated mass meetings heard speakers denounce the persecution. At Kingston, Niagara Falls, Kirkland Lake, Kitchener, London, and Toronto halls were packed to overflowing.

Even Homuth Objects.

At Kitchener, Karl Homuth, who was elected Consevative member of Parliament for Waterloo South last week, said it was not easy for him to attend a meeting of protest over conditions in the lands of his fathers. But, said Mr. Homuth, if Canadians did not let Germany know that those who value British freedom stand aghast, it would not be long until Nazi doctrines would spread.

At the same meeting, Rev. C. E. Silcox, secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, suggested that Nazi propagandists be deported and the funds available to them in Canada confiscated for the rehabilitation of Jewish refugees.

Prominent Ontario persons participating in the meetings included Archbishop M. J. O'Brien of Kingston, Principal Wallace of Queen's University, Sir William Mulock, former Chief Justice. In Quebec Chief Justice R. A. E. Greenshields presided at the Montreal protest meeting.

The Winnipeg meeting, under the auspices of the League of Nations Society, adopted a resolution calling on the Dominion Government to take such action as might be deemed appropriate to put an end to the tragedy in Germany. Here Rabbi Solomon Frank predicted the day would come when Germany would turn her back on present policies.

Opening of Canada's door to "an appreciable number of Jewish refugees from Germany" was asked in a resolution passed by a Vancouver meeting.

Lease Of Large Areas On Generous Terms Proposed

By J. F. Sanderson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(CP Cable.)— Large scale emigration of German Jews to three British colonies may result from surveys to be undertaken, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today.

In British Guiana a block of land 10,000 sqaure miles will be inspected for its possibilities, the Prime Minister disclose, while in Tanganyika and Kenya individual settlement schemes will be attempted.

British Guiana is in the north of South Africa. Tanganyika formerly was German East Africa. Kenya lies to the north of Tanganyika and south of Ethiopia.

Mr. Chamberlain said the government would invite volunteer refugee organizations to send their own representatives to British Guiana, which has an are of 89,480 square miles, to make surveys on the spot.

"Provided the results of these surveys are satisfactory, the government contemplate the lease of large areas of land on generous terms under conditions to be settled hereafter," he announced.

"It is not possible at this stage to give exact figures of the total area which could be made available, but it would certainly not be less than 10,000 square miles and possibly more."

Palestine Too Small

The prime minister said it was generally recognized that Palestine was a small country which could not provide a solution to the Jewish problem, although it had been contributing, since 40 per cent of Jewish immigrants to that country in the last 12 months came from Germany.

The governor of Tanganyika, Mr. Chamberlain added, had been asked to say whether land could be made available for leasing on generous terms "for the purpose of large-scale refugees provided they undertake full responsibility of preparing the land of settling refugees of suitable types as land is made available.

"The governor of Tanganika has replied expressing his readiness to cooperate in any schemes of settlement of refugees as far as existing obligations will premit.

"The governor has expressed the view that the only suitable areas for large-scale settlements are likely to be found in the southern highlands and in part of the western province."

Ignores German Press.

Mr. Chamberlain ignored German press agitation against the settlement of Jews in the former German East Africa. He said the Governor there would welcome a mission from refugee organizations for the purpose of inspecting areas which might be available for settlement. These he estimated at about 50,000 acres.

"In addition a scheme of small-scale settlements up to a total of 200 settlers is being considered," he said.

He added that replies from the Governors of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland Protectorate, British territories in Southeastern Africa, indicated that small-scale settlement of Jewish refugees might be possible there.

Of British Guiana Mr. Chamberlain said:

"In the interior of this colony there are extensive tracts of partly occupied land consisting mainly of forest and savannah. These areas include certain Indian reservations, but the Governor states that ample space is available to provide fully for all possible needs of the Indian tribes and still leave areas worthy of examination as to their suitability for future settlement.

"The agricultural development of these areas has hitherto been prevented by unfavorable conditions and lack of communication. It would therefore be essential that careful surveys by experts should be made before any definite scheme can be formulated and His Majesty's Government propose to invite voluntary organizations to send out their own representatives as early as possible

Friends Died In German Camps Says Doctor Fleeing Vienna To Begin Anew In New York

QUEBEC, November 21. — (C. P.).—Austrian refugees, Dr. Ernst Thorn, 37-year-old Vienna physician, and his pretty, young wife arrived here Sunday on their way to "New York—to make a new move."

The young general medical practitioner who said he had been born in Austria but had left last July "because it wasn't my country any more" said he hoped to start practice in the United States.

With his wife,, the stocky, bald-headed doctor who spoke with a strong German accent, had left Austria, he said, because of "conditions it is not possible to describe."

"You would have to be wonderful writers to give an account of what Austria is like now," he told reporters. "Our friends, they died in concentration camps."

Dr. Thorn, said his departure from Austria ment "nothing now. It's all over. I will never go back."

"We only left in July,' he said. "In the last days we hardly spoke outside of home. You thought twice about saying any thing even to your brothers. Over here you can't understand what it is not to be able to talk—you, here, can say anything," he added.

U.S. Emphasizing Air Force

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—United States government military experts said today the country's prospective armament program promises to upset the established relationship of air forces to the army and navy.

At present air forces are ranked officially as auxiliaries to both ground troops and the fleet's battleships and cruisers.

Officers and men of the army corps compose only about 21,000 of the army's aggregate of 177,000 for all units.

Quadrupling the corps, officially suggested Friday as a possibility by Louis Johnson assistant secretary of war, would call for an air force of upwards of 100,000.

Johnson, a key figure in the government's resurvey of defence needs, hinted that President Roosevelt might ask congress to authorize an army air force of 9,280 first line planes. By official estimates, these would require 95,000 or more pilots and mechanics.

Mr. Roosevelt indicated the purpose of multiplying United States forces when he announced last week that national defence has become a matter of security for the entire western hemisphere against threats of outside aggression.

From Representative Thomason (Dem.-Texas), senior member of the House of Representatives military committee, came an indication today that efforts may be made in Congress to augment other military branches, so that they would not be overshadowed. Thomason said he believed an immediate increase of 15,000 or 20,000 army enlisted men was a possibility, to be followed by successive annual additions.

Women's Press Club Offers Gold Medal

TORONTO, Nov. 21 (CP).—The members' memorial award of the Canadian Women's Press Club will be given next year for the best short fiction story by a woman resident of Canada, the club's national executive decided here Saturday.

The award, a gold medal and $25, will be given for material published within the 12 months ending March 15, 1939.

The executive appointed Winnifred M. Stokes of Niagara Falls, Ont., chairman of a committee to make a survey of the types of newspaper work being done by women in Canada. National President Rosa L. Shaw of Montreal, in response to an invitation from the Canadian section of the Empire Press Union, was named the club's representative on the committee preparing for the Imperial conference of the E.P.U., to be held in Canada 1940.

Col. Drew asked for production of the "whole Canada House file," a bundle of documents relating to the Bren gun contract obtained from the high commissioner's office in London.

No Serious Challenge

Col. Drew opened his argument by referring to the order-in-council setting up the commission and the public statement then made by Prime Minister Mackenzie King that the article in Maclean's magazine could not do otherwise than arouse suspicion.

"No attempt of any kind has been made to seriously disprove facts contained in that article," Col. Drew declared. "Even the Minister of National Defence (Ian Mackenzie) was unable to seriously challenge any facts in the article. He said the article contained no statements of facts but I submit it contained enough to prompt the government to set up this commission within a week after it was published.

"After eight weeks of evidence the article stands unchallenged—the suspicions referred to by the Prime Minister are in no way disproved but rather have been confirmed and I ask you, Mr. commissioner so to find."

Woman Sculptor Named To Academy

TORONTO, Nov. 21—(CP).—Four academicians—three from Toronto and one Montrealer—were elected Saturday by the Royal Canadian Academy of Art at its annual meeting. A woman sculptor, two painters and an architect received the honor. Sir Wyly Grier of Toronto was re-elected president of the Academy.

Election of Florence Wyle, 57-year-old Toronto Scultor, makes her academician status in the 57year the fourth woman to receive full history of the R.C.A. Twelve of her works are in the national gallery at Ottawa. She is a native of Trenton, Ill.

The others given academician award are Frank Carmichael, Toronto painter who was born at Orillia, Ont.; William Lyon Somerville, Toronto architect, and Alphonse Jongers, Montreal portrait painter. Somerville is a native of Hamilton, Ont.

Beer Parlors Are Bitterly Denounced

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 21. — Speaking before large congregations at both the morning and evening services, Rev. Dr. C. H. Schutt of Toronto was the guest speaker at the 40th anniversary services of the Baptist Church here. Rev. J. U. MacIntosh, the pastor, introduced the speaker, who is Superintendent for Home Missions for Ontario and Quebec.

In his address at the evening service the speaker delivered a scathing denunciation of the beer parlors, which he claimed would be closed "if people were imbued with a real Christian spirit."

Car Is Burned

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 21. — A musical recital, presented in St. John the Baptist Church, Lakefield, on Wednesday night last by Frederic G. Mann, L.Mus., organist and choirmaster of St. John's Church, Peterborough, assisted by three members of the St. John's boys' choir, brought great pleasure to the large number of music-lovers who were present.

A program of the high quality of Wednesday evening's recital is only too rare and lovers of classical music in the community were given a soul-satisfying performance, the numbers being presented through the medium of the pipe organ as well as vocally. Hubert Eisdell of the Lakefield Preparatory School, who was guest soloist, delighted his rich and expressive rendering of the number, "Comfort Ye, My People," from Handel's "Messiah."

Mr. Mann opened the program with A. Guilmant's "Grand Chorus in G," played on the organ—(a) Allegro moderato e maestoro, (b) Trio, (c) Fugato. His second selection was "The Evening Star" (Tannhauser) by Richard Wagner. The third number on the program was a vocal presentation by Masters E. Lee, L. Groombridge, and J. McMahon, of J. S. Bach's selection, "Come Let Us All This day." A second chorus, Jacob's arrangement of "Brother James' Air," followed, and a third selection, Bach's "My Heart Ever Faithful," by the three youthful choristers confirmed in the minds of the audience their impressions of the splendid ability and fine training of these three young vocalists.

Mr. Eisdell sang "Comfort Ye, My People from Handel's "Messiah."

Mr. Mann played Walford Davies' "Solemn Melody" and Bach's Chorale, "Wir Glauben All In Einem Gott, Vater," on the organ. Masters E. Lee and L. Groombridge sang a duet, Mendelssohn's "I Waited for the Lord," following which each of the three boy choristers sang a solo. Master McMahon sang Handel's "Come Unto Him" from the Messiah; Master E. Lee gave a delightful rendition of Mendelssohn's "Jerusalem," and Master L. Groombridge sang "What Though I Trace" (Solomon) by Handel.

The program concluded with "Evensong" (Martin, Easthope) and Caprice in B flat, by H. Botting, both played on the organ by Mr. Mann.

to conduct such surveys on the spot."

Mr. Chamberlain told the House the number of Jews admitted to Great Britain was limited by the capacity of the volunteer organizations dealing with them.

"His Majesty's Government hopes that other countries represented at the evian (refugee) conference will also endeavor to make what contribution they can to the urgent need of facilitating emigration from Germany and from countries of temporary refuge," the Prime Minister added.

"In conclusion I must emphasize that however great might be our desire and that of other countries to assist in dealing with this grave situation the possibilities of settlement are strictly limited."

Shies Off Criticism.

Replying to a question, Mr. Chamberlain said he could not speak for the Dominions on the matter of homes for refugees.

He carefully avoided any direct criticism of what he called "recent events" in Germany which had made the Jewish problem "urgent."

Members of the House, however, bombarded him with questions on Anglo-German relations. Answering one of these, the Prime Minister denied his Munich appeasement agreement with Chancellor Hitler was contingent on the slowing up of British rearmament. He also said no meeting of members of the British and German governments was contemplated in the near future.

Following Mr. Chamberlain's statement, Philip Noel Baker, Labor, asked whether the 10,000 square miles in British Guiana was the same area which the League of Nations considered for Assyrian settlement three years ago and condemned.

Mr. Chamberlain replied that "it includes that area but it includes other areas besides." He also indicated that Sir Samuel Hoare, the Home Secretary, later in the debate would disclose a plan for the early admission of German Jewish children into Britain.

Mr. Chamberlain referred to a small experimental private undertaking in Kenya by London Jewish organizations for training young Jews as farm workers. He said that young men who previously had received agricultural training in Jewish farm centres in Germany already had been selected for this enterprise.

"These men will be settled on farms purchased by Jewish organizations after a further period of training in the colony (Kenya), and if the scheme proves successful they will be joined by other members of their families," he said.

The Guiana Settlement

Almost the only cultivated areas of British Guiana are in very low but fertile coastlands that stretch inland 50 miles at the deepest. Behind is a forest region of which little is known except that it is rich in timber, medicinal herbs, cumbs, oils, balsams and flowers.

The climate is hot and moist in the inhabitated areas.

The population of Guiana's 89,480 square miles in 1937 was 332,896.

Of 158,526 acres under cultivation, 69,235 were in sugar cane, 51,041 in rice and others in coconut, coffee, rubber, cacao, limes and other citrus fruits.

There are huge deposits of bauxite—the ore of aluminum—and oil also is believed to exist. Mining is carried on for gold, diamonds, manganese and mica.

Logue—Collins

HASTINGS, Nov. 21.—A quiet but pretty weding was solemnized at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic church here this morning when Miss Lillian Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Collins, Hastings, became the bride of Mr. Homer Logue of Greenville, Pennsylvania. Miss Mary Collins, sister of the bride, and Mr. David B. Walsh were the attendants. Father P. Costello, pastor, performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride following ceremonies at the church. Mr. and Mrs. Logue departed on their honeymoon to the Southern States and on their return they will reside in Greenville, Pa.

Dolman—Lefebvre

The marriage took place quietly in St. George's Church at seven o'clock Friday evening, November 18, of Miss Alice Marie Lefebvre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lefebvre, 183 Bethune street, to Mr. Henry Thomas Dolman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dolman, 338 McGill street. Rev. T. S. Gault officiated, and wedding music was played by Mrs. R. King.

The bride was attractively gowned in a daytime frock of midnight blue velvet, blue velvet hat with shoulder-length veil, and a corsage of pink and white carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wood were the attendants, Mrs. Wood wearing a printed ensemble of navy, with matching hat, and corsage of carnations.

A wedding dinner was served at the home of the groom's parents, where the groom's mother received in a gown of navy blue. Mr. and Mrs. Dolman will live on Bethune street.

◇ ◇ ◇

Lytle—Godfry

YOUNG'S POINT, Nov. 21. — The marriage took place in St. Aidan's Church, Young's Point, on Wednesday, November 16, of Edna Katherine, daughter of Mrs. Lemuel Godfry and the late Lemuel Godfry, to Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Lytle of Hall's Bridge. Rev. E. C. Moore, rector of the parish, performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, John, the bride was becomingly gowned in wine crepe with black accessories, and wore a corsage of bronze 'mums.

Mrs. Nelson Godfry, in a gown of green crepe, with green accessories, was bridesmaid, and Nelson Godfry of Peterborough, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Mrs. Percy Stenner supplied the wedding music and during the signing of the register the hymn, "O Perfect Love," was sung by all present.

After the ceremony the wedding party adjourned to the parish hall, where the reception and wedding dinner was served to forty guests.

The bride's mother, dressed in a wine satin gown with black accessories, was assisted in receiving the guests by the groom's mother, dressed in navy blue, with black accessories.

The bride and groom will make their future home in Hall's Bridge.

In the evening a large number of friends of the young couple gathered in the parish hall and presented them with a miscellaneous shower of beautiful gifts and best wishes for their future. Rev. E. C. Moore presented the gifts on behalf of all present, and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Berry—Ward

MARMORA, Nov. 21.—A pretty Autumn wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, on Friday evening in the presence of a large gathering of friends when Lenora Alberta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Ward of that village was united in marriage to Ernest Albert Berry, B.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Berry of Belleville.

A popular leader in Girl Guide work for several years, the bride's former associates formed a guard of honor at the church portals. The following senior members of the local troop acted as usherettes, Mary Tulloch, Shirley Ormiston, Marybelle Rodgers and Doddie Cranston. The artistic church and home decorations were of pink and white chrysanthemums and potted flowers.

Mrs. R. H. Williams presided at the organ and the wedding music included Nuptial March, 'Waldheim,' Wedding Prelude, Bridal Song and Mendelssohn's Wedding March. A vocal duet, "I Love You Truly," was sung by Messrs. William Dermedy and Arthur Duncan at the conclusion of the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Robert Simpson, Brooklin, Ont.

The bride who was unattended was escorted by her father. She wore a charming frock of navy blue crepe with trimmings of white and matching accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses. Directly after the ceremony a reception and wedding dinner was held at the home of the bride's parents with a few close friends and relatives present.

The bride's mother wore a gown of navy blue crepe and was assisted by Mrs. Berry mother of the groom who also wore dark blue crepe. Miss Dorothy Eggleton and Mrs. William Bolte assisted with the serving.

Later the couple left for a short wedding trip to Eastern Ontario cities including Kingston, Brockville, Prescott and Ottawa. For travelling the bride selected a navy blue tweed coat and a platinum wolf collar and a Cartier model hat and accessories to match.

Upon their return they will take up residence in Marmora where Mr. Berry is a member of the teaching staff of the High School.

Burke—Young

MARMORA, Nov. 21. — A very pretty wedding took place in the Sacred Heart church, Marmora, at 7 p.m. on Saturday when Carma Irene, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Young of Marmora township became the bride of William Burke, son of Mrs. Margaret Burke, of Deloro. Rev. Father H. J. Farrell officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was daintily attired in white duchess satin and wore a tulle veil with matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and maidenhair fern.

Her bridesmaid, Joan O'Connor, was also prettily attired in pink corded silk and wore a blue shoulder veil with matching accessories. Her bouquet corresponded to the bride's.

The duties of best man were carried out by Breen O'Connor. Wedding music was played by the organist, Miss Rita Deacon. During the signing of the register Miss Genevieve Shannon beautifully rendered 'Sweet Jesus.'

Following the ceremony relatives and friends repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a buffet luncheon was served and the evening spent in songs and congratulatory speeches.

The happy young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. They will reside in

Art Exhibit Is Feature Of Club Tea

At a delightful and well attended tea held at the Business and Professional Women's Club on Saturday afternoon, guests were graciously received by the president, Miss Ann Jamieson, and the vice-president, Miss Birdie Dawson.

Senator Iva Campbell Fallis, Mrs. W. R. Morris, and Mrs. E. M. Leeson poured tea. Melba chrysanthemums in a low bowl of fluted crystal, and twin green tapers in crystal candelabra were effectively used on the lace-covered tea table. Assistant tea hostesses were Miss Norma Edwards, Miss Adeline Munro, Miss Helen Lytle, Miss Mary Easson, Miss Elizabeth Walker, Miss Margaret Rodney, Miss Leila Burgess, Miss J. Gillespie, Miss J. Saunders, Mrs. Rose Carney.

An interesting feature of the tea was an exhibit of paintings by Amy F. Matthews. Among the lovely collection, one painting of ancient willow trunks in rich browny purples with a suggestion of water beyond was particularly popular, and in the smaller sketches two painted in the grounds of St. John's church in delicate autumn colours were of especial interest. Many admired a large sketch of rock and water painted at Honey Harbor, but perhaps the greatest interest of all centred around "The Zinnias," a large still life of flowers with bright chintz curtains behind, which has been purchased by the club to raffle. The tickets on this attractive picture went rapidly, and were sold by Miss Margaret Eastwood.

Soft piano music was played by Miss Eleanor Stacey, and Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, accompanied by Miss Mabel Clarry, sang two charming numbers.

Miss Aleitha Davidson, general convener of the tea, was assisted by Miss V. Heyes; the program was arranged by Miss Trucie Pearson, and the tea table by Miss Margaret Eastwood. The crystal centrepiece was loaned by Miss Elsie Bennett; the floor lamp by McBride and Franks, and the drapes by the Robert Fair Company.

Mrs. J. M. Abbott Is Re-elected Institute Head

TORONTO, Nov. 21—Mrs. J. M. Abbott of Erin was re-elected for a third term as chairman of the Central Ontario Area Women's Institutes at the closing sessions of the thirty-seventh annual meeting here last week.

Other officers are: Mrs. F. N. Holliday, Brooklin, secretary; Mrs. Norman White, Myrtle Station, convener of education; Mrs. George Weller, Warsaw, health and child welfare; Miss Marjorie Frankish, Lakefield, home economics; Mrs. Garnet Shields, Ida P.O., agriculture and Canadian industries; Mrs. Clarence Hayes, Georgetown, legislation; Mrs. W. McClure, Brampton, historical research; Mrs. Thomas Frizzell, Bognor, peace education; Mrs. J. R. Cooper, Orono, community activities and relief; Mrs. Arthur Boyd, Newmarket, Canadianization; Mrs. Willis and Miss Fletcher, Mrs. T. J. McDowell, president of the Provincial Federation, was on the platform.

A handsome piece of silver was sent from the meeting to Miss Bess McDermand, who is retiring after four years as Superintendent of Ontario Institutes, to be married shortly. The gift—an eighteenth century George II hot-water jug, completing a set of silver—was inscribed "From the Toronto Central Area Convention," and went forward with the best wishes of the women to whom Miss McDermand had announced her resignation in an address on the previous day.

Announcement of Miss McDermand's resignation from the important post of Superintendent of Ontario Institutes, will find much interest in rural communities in which she has many friends and for which she has worked untiringly for years. So far there is no announcement of her successor—a government appointment.

Miss McDermand will marry Mr. Guy Skinner, a native of Perth, who is engaged in agricultural work in Connecticut. Miss McDermand is a native of Elgin county, and was born near Port Burwell. She is a graduate of Moulton College, Toronto, and of McDonald Institute, Guelph. For a short time after completing her course, she was connected with the institute's branch in Ontario, then went to Alberta, where she became assistant superintendent of the Women's Institutes of that province. Later she went to Columbia University, secured her M.A. degree and for a few years was connected with Cornell University as assistant State home demonstrations leader, which included supervision of the program for women and girls.

Fine Program Is Enjoyed at Mission Band Tea

The annual open meeting and afternoon tea of the Trinity Mission Band was held on Saturday afternoon in Reid Street hall, when tea was served in the primary room at the close of a happily-arranged program.

Mrs. M. MacMorran and Mrs. J. A. Bannister presided at the tea table, where yellow and blue streamers over the white damask cloth, a centrepiece of yellow chrysanthemums in a crystal vase, and turquoise blue tapers made an effective color scheme. The tea room was under the direction of the leaders of the Mission Band, Miss Helen Bannister and Mrs. H. T. Rehill, assisted by Mrs. W. Fanjoy and the senior girls of the Band.

Homemade candy in colorful and dainty cellophane bags was sold by Jeanette MacMorran, Lorene Bradley and Noreen Fitzgerald.

Miss Eleanor Gray was in the president's chair for the program, which consisted of recitations by Phyllis Gray, Georgina McMorran, Lorene Bradley and Noreen Fitzgerald; piano solos by Evelyne and Vivian Martin, Jeanette MacMorran and Douglas Dobson; a vocal duet Betty and Mabel Coombe and vocal solos by Dianne Ferguson, Dorothy Harrison and Arthur Dobson. Six Junior members, Anne and Bobby Nicholls, Gwenith and Trevor Mitchell, Sally Coombe and Bruce Dobson delighted the audience with a new version of "Jesus Loves Me." An exercise, "Ten Dimes Make a Dollar," which showed the variety and scope of missionary work, was given by ten members. The secretary, Phyllis Robinson, read an interesting report of the Mission Band's activities for the year.

Lakefield Girl Discusses Home Economics

At the thirty-seventh annual convention of the Central Ontario Area Women's Institutes, held Thursday and Friday in Toronto, the increase and importance of demonstrations towards the advancement of Home Economics was stressed by Miss Marjorie Frankish of Lakefield.

Cooking classes and visiting demonstrators at the monthly meetings have become more frequent within the past three years, Miss Frankish reported, and it was believed these were the best ways of furthering household economics. For raising the standards of living, one of the aims of the committee, pleasant family relations, were suggested through allotting each member certain home tasks and encouraging the children to entertain their friends at home.

Vice-chairman Mrs. R. S. Staples of Cavan presided, and similar talks were given on the advancement of home economics by Miss Olive Cruickshank, of MacDonald Hall, O.A.C., Guelph, and Dr. Jessie Brodie, who told of the courses at the University of Toronto.

Among the officers at the closing sessions on Friday are: Mrs. F. N. Holliday, Brooklin, secretary; Mrs. Norman White, Myrtle Station, convener of education; Mrs. George Weller, Warsaw, health and child welfare; Miss Marjorie Frankish, Lakefield, home economics; Mrs. Garnet Shields, Ida P.O., agriculture and Canadian industries.

Missing The Boat

The intimation that the province of Ontario does not propose to have an exhibit at the New York World's Fair will strike most folk as an indication that Queen's Park is suffering from lack of imagination and business foresight.

Here we are looking to the United States for practically all our tourist business and expecting to get the lion's share of what American visitors come to Canada, and yet when an opportunity for publicity comes along, such as is offered by this great exhibition at New York, we absolutely miss the boat.

It would almost be imagined that, as a matter of routine, a province that cashes in so handsomely on tourist business and has so much to offer the summer visitor, would see to it that an exhibition worthy of Canada's banner province would have a prominent place at the New York show, which will attract millions of visitors from all over the world.

We should show those visitors what advantages Ontario possesses as a summer vacationland, show them the wonderful system of lakes and rivers we have and the rapidly lengthening network of good highways over which they can ride to reach these scenic beauty spots. And we shouldn't stop at that. In a world show window, such as this great exhibition provides, we should display our advantages as a location for branch factories of American industries, advertise our cheap power, our publicly-owned Hydro system, our ample railway accommodation and the other facilities we have available for the American manufacturer who is seeking a location on this side of the border.

We notice where sections of Australia have decided that it would be good business for them to have an exhibit at the Pacific Coast Exhibition in California. Surely if it is worth while for Australia to send its products all the way across the Pacific to be shown in California we in Ontario are missing a golden opportunity when we decline to take advantage of a World Fair almost at our door.

Make It Light

Licensing tourist homes in Peterborough is only justified as a means of ensuring that these places are clean, well operated and have the necessary sanitary conveniences and we have no doubt that is the intention in the minds of the city council in deciding to license tourist places. Requiring them to have a license will make it obligatory for the department of health to see that they are inspected properly and that they come up to the standards required and, so far as that aspect of the thing goes, there will be little objection to the licensing plan.

There should, however, be no thought of making a municipal profit out of the licenses. The plan is not a revenue-producer and should not be regarded as such. Rather the cost of the license should be made as low as possible for this business of catering to tourists is by no means a gold mine, as many citizens who thought they might augment the family income in this way, have found out. At the best the tourist season is comparatively brief and more than one has discovered that while it is a simple matter to hang out a sign "Tourists accommodation," it is not nearly so easy to get the tourists.

Let the places be licensed, by all means, because it is important that those who wish to supply hospitality to our summer visitors should have the proper facilities but let the charge for the license be made a purely nominal one.

Let The Daylight In

Attorney-General Conant has announced that there will be an investigation into the charge made during a recent court trial by a convicted bank robber that he had paid a fairly large sum of money to a member of the provincial police for information that was given him.

We believe that Mr. Conant has taken the only logical course in setting on foot an inquiry into this matter and we say that, not because we believe there is any truth in the charge itself, but because we know that there is a certain strata of society always ready to believe the worst about a police officer and it is essential, therefore, that the story should be effectively exploded before harm is done by its circulation.

The provincial police in this province have had a consistently high record, not only for efficiency but for honesty and straightforwardness and the whole force could not be allowed to remain under the stigma of an accusation of this nature even if it were made by a self-confessed criminal.

The Attorney-General is right in promptly ordering the fullest inquiry and it is to be hoped that in order that the slightest suspicion of any covering up may be avoided that he will see to it that the investigation is a public one. Human nature being what it is, there are always those who will profess to think that a probe in camera is only ordered because there is a desire to prevent the truth leaking out.

Publicity in affairs of this kind is not exactly pleasant but it is preferable to let the daylight in than it is to allow enemies of law and order spread the story that a provincial constable could be bribed and the powers-to-be were willing to keep the facts in the case away from the public. The record of the provincial police department is free from scandal and the way to keep it in that condition is to hew to the line and let the chips fall where they may. We feel satisfied that an inquiry will show that there is no truth in the accusation, but if our confidence should prove to be misplaced we maintain that it is better, even in that case, that the facts should be brought out. Nothing is gained by a hush-hush attitude when charges concerning the probity of police officers are breezed about.

It Can't Go On

The deer hunting season is over and the general verdict seems to be that, outside of the mild weather which made the keeping of game a difficult matter, this has been one of the best years in modern times, particularly in our own district.

Deer have been plentiful in the northern part of Peterborough county and the result has been that the kill has been unusually large, so large, indeed, that there are some apprehensions as to future seasons. Hunting has become a much simpler operation by reason of the advent of motor cars and of good roads into the hunting districts. Whereas the hunters of a generation ago had to reach their camp by horse-drawn vehicles and thus the only hunting was carried on by parties which spent two weeks in the bush, today much of the shooting is being done by hunters who motor out for a day or two. That means there are more folk after deer than there were a decade or two back and it is a nice question of how long the supply will last in the face of this wholesale invasion of the close-at-hand hunting areas.

It will not be surprising if the government feels compelled in the not-distant future to reduce the deer season from two weeks to one and eventually perhaps to declare a closed season altogether every second year. In the interest of conservation some such restrictions will soon be necessary if the Ontario deer is not to become as completely extinct as the wild pigeon, once to be found by millions in this province and now merely a legend.

Certainly the reserves cannot be expected to stand up against such a wholesale drain as has taken place during the season just closed and the hunters have good sense enough to realize that restrictions are better than no hunting at all.

It will not be long before the choice will have to be made between limiting the hunting season or letting the slaughter go on until the graceful deer have disappeared almost completely from Ontario's hinterland.

A Sensible Policy

Ald. Walter Stocker's statement the other day that some 300 trees had been planted here this year was evidence of a policy upon which the parks committee and the city council generally is to be commended. Peterborough, of course, is singularly blessed with stately and beautiful trees, but time and weather take their toll, new areas of residential streets are opened up, and unless there is a consistent and persistent plan of tree-planting carried on from year to year, the time would eventually come when there would be unsightly gaps here and there along our streets.

Fortunately the civic government here has recognized the desirability of replenishing the supply and of caring for new districts and the general verdict will be that the money devoted to this work has been well and wisely spent. Especially is the council to be applauded for the foresight it has shown in planting shade-trees along newly-opened streets west of the Queen Mary School. The wisdom of doing this planting without waiting for the streets to be built upon is obvious. It means that when residences are eventually erected along these streets, the citizens living therein will have the benefit of these trees and we will be spared the condition that exists in outlying districts in Toronto where there are miles of new streets, lined with new homes and yet as bare as a desert so far as trees are concerned.

The parks committee has had a good year in this business of planting sound, healthy trees in sections where they were needed and it is to be hoped that when the appropriations are being drawn up early next year, a substantial vote for the continuance of this work will be included.

Can Still Be Saved

The stand taken by the Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce in support of a large-scale and up-to-date policy of reforestation should have general support and it will need it, if there is any hope of selling the proposition to the government.

For some reason or other possibly because it looked at one time as if Ontario had such vast reserves of timber wealth that there was not any great danger of ever exhausting the supply, our politicians—and this applies to all parties for all of them have been equally blind to the situation—have been singularly indifferent to this matter of replenishing our forest wealth. We have shut our eyes to what has been accomplished in other countries buy business-like reforestation policies, and we have drifted along, stripping our forests, and burning up vast areas by bush fires started through someone's carelessness and nothing that approached a real plan of reforestation has ever had the benefit of government backing.

It should be fairly obvious now that that kind of thing cannot go on for ever. Vast as the extent of Ontario's timber areas was, they are being wiped out. Within the memory of many of our citizens, the northern part of our own county was filled with lumber camps in the winter months and in the summer millions of logs came down the Otonabee to be cut into lumber at the mills at Lakefield, at Nassau, at Peterborough and further down the waterway. Hundreds of men found employment felling trees and afterwards guiding the passage of the logs down the rivers and lakes.

That has all passed. There are no more lumber camps nearby for the stands of timber have virtually vanished. Not a drive has come down the Otonabee for several years. There is little lumbering for the raw material has vanished and we have done nothing to replace it. Where the stands of pine once grew there is bush land, a rough reminder that if there had been any imagination in the lumbermen and in the policians of yesterday, a new crop of timber might be well on its way there.

We have lost a lot of valuable time but it is not too late. A comprehensive and well-planned reforestation policy can still do a lot to save the situation and provide Ontario with a continuous supply of forest wealth.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Doubtless the harassed deer in Ontario's hinterland are glad to know that the annual hunt is about over.

A story in the Toronto press says fuel dealers may face charges. It is usually the customers who do that.

Toronto paper returns to the question, "How far can taxation go?" We hope no taxing authority will choose to regard that as a challenge.

The King and Queen will spend a day at the New York World's Fair but they will not be able to see the Ontario exhibit there. There won't be one.

Premier King is said to favor the speedy conclusion of a seaway pact. Just how he is going to sell the idea to Mr. Hepburn is not immediately clear.

The manner in which Quebec is using its padlock law suggests that all the regimentation is not to be found in dictator countries.

Marshal Wu Pei-fu is to rule the conquered Chinese territories, which suggests the thought that the name Wu Pei-fu may be the Chinese for "yes-man."

Judging by the shutout McGill handed Western, the Montreal collegians must have used the padlock law on the boys from Western Ontario.

Alberta steer has won the championship at the Royal Winter Fair but at that it was nothing compared to the steer Premier Aberhart gave the electors of that province.

Nothing can be imported into Germany without a permit from the government. That is protection tighter than the most ardent Canadian high tariff man ever dreamed of we imagine.

Apparently there is nothing in the new trade agreements to make it easier for Canadian football teams to import expert forward passers from across the line.

ENVY

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Each time Wee Angus scrubs his teeth, it seems to start a spell of grief, and he speaks kind of gruff; no matter how he goes and scrubs, no matter how he toils and rubs, it's never half enough.

¶ Wee Angus says that he'll be glad, when he's no more a little lad, when all his teeth are bought; he says they'll all look shiny then, he's seen them in a lot of men, like Uncle Eben's got.

¶ And then when it comes times for bed, he'll simply shake them from his head, he knows just what to do; and when the next day comes to him, he'll only have to slip them in, and they will look like new.

¶ And there won't be no pains to take, and they won't hollow out and ache, there's be no dentist chair; when he gets false teeth in his head, why then he'll go right straight ahead, a glad and free affair.

¶ But Uncle Eben smiles quite sad, and wishes he might be a lad, and have his teeth once more; he gladly have his set again, and be like all the younger men, bite like he did before.

¶ Wee Angus wants to have false teeth, to bring an end to all his grief, escape all aching snares; but Uncle Eben says nay, nay, he'd like to have again today—the kind Wee Angus wears.

The Science of Good Forestry

(St. Catharines Standard)

THE RAINY RIVER district forest fire is said to have covered nearly 2,000,000 acres with an approximate loss in timber wealth of $50,000,000. Twenty persons lost their lives, 300 were made homeless and some 400 others had their years' of labor, their stock and their barns wiped out, even their seed for planting. It cost a huge sum to fight the fire, and ashes and ruins were the result over around 3,000 square miles of territory. The tourist value of green trees was extinguished.

It is little wonder that in a recent address John C. W. Irwin characterized the forestry service of this province a real farce. The Ontario policy all down the years has been one of denudation; there has not been the slightest approach to scientific forestry as it is known in Europe, and while conditions may not be the same as on that continent, the same principles should apply in Ontario toward conservation.

What is the science of good forestry. As Mr. Irwin said in his address, it includes not only the production of wood and its by-products, the preservation of attractive recreation areas and tourists' resorts, the protection of wild life and fish; but also consideration of the influence of forest growth on climate, water control and soil erosion. Forestry takes thought for the physical and economic condition of contiguous areas, and studies the market for forest products both present and future, local and general. In farming sections forestry aims to use tree production soil that is too poor for agriculture or on hillsides unsuitable for cultivation. It aims for value in crops of trees.

Only in the Temagami district is there any real restrictive effort to make the great white pine wealth there safe. Slash, that kindling for fires, is removed. The late P. J. Barnjum was one of the great apostles for conservation this country ever had and he did succeed while he lived in making many Canadians forest-conscious. We need the same effort today, and it is a wonder more on the subject is not heard from the North. Why invite huge losses from fire, why spend money to fight fires, why invite loss of life, homestead, chattels, where wise and liberal spending will prevent all? The whole treatment by the government is almost criminal in the light of what happened this year in the Rainy River district.

WARLIKE CLERGY.

(Letter in Montreal Star)

SIR,—Certain bishops and rectors of churches would do well to leave military matters to men like Winston Churchill and Duff Cooper, for the latter can at least preach militarism with some degree of consistency.

We look to Christian leaders for spiritual guidance towards the Kingdom of God which "is not of this world." "If my kingdom were of this world then would my servants fight" etc. These are the words of the Master, but we read items in your paper under such headings as these, "Rector advises military training"; "Disarmament perils stressed by Bishop." On one important occasion Christ told Peter "Put away thy sword," thus plainly indicating that armed force was not justified even in defense of the Son of God.

Are we to assume that Calvary was a "slamity? Since a Christian leader urges that the sword be kept ready for the defense of "noble forests and rich mines," because "countless eyes are on Canadian prairies."

"Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." So, if we are going to put our trust in guns and battleships and the like to defend us, we may as well tear down our churches, burn our New Testaments and let the Bishops and clergy join the army or go on relief.

No wonder the dictators are arming their people and preparing for war when our Christian leaders make such statements as are published in your paper.

PHOENIX.

THE ARMY'S DRINKS

(The Times of India)

SOMETHING like a revolution in the habits of the British soldier and sailor is clearly taking place. For some time past evidence has been accumulating of the increased appeal of temperance among "other ranks".

Not so long ago it was announced that all battleships in His Majesty's Navy were to be fitted with soda fountains, where able-bodied seamen could slake their thirst with sundaes and banana splits. These institutions are reported to be popular and well patronized, while the alternative attractions of "grog" are declining.

Now comes news that the modern British soldier, in India as elsewhere, is drinking less beer. Statistics go to show that he likes lemonade better, and is rapidly becoming an adherent of the "Drink More Milk" campaign. All of which may cause certain retired admirals and colonels to ejaculate, "Gad, sir!" in the approved Blimpish manner, and reiterate their belief that the country is going to the dogs.

Less peppery persons, faced with the query "Are the fighting forces what they were?" will not hesitate to reply emphatically in the affirmative.

WASH YOUR FACE

(New York World-Telegram)

SAID Magistrate Jeanette Brill when Mrs. Rita Sperling, 29, was arraigned before her recently, charged with trying to stab her husband, with threatening a neighbor with a knife and with killing the pet canary:

"The first thing you should do is to go home and wash your face. You have too much dye on your eyebrows. I believe that every woman should make herself look as pretty as she can, but judgment must be exercised in the use of cosmetics. When rouge, lipstick and eyeshade are used without skill they make a woman look cheap. They make her look like a painted cow. Case adjourned...."

• Wasted Career Of A Typhoid Carrier

PERHAPS the most fantastic thing about Typhoid Mary Mallon, who was buried in New York the other day, was her persistence in getting jobs as a cook says the Baltimore Sun. It does not appear that Typhoid Mary harbored a grudge against the human race or took a fiendish delight in spreading disease and terror in her wake. More probably she was one of the many people who "take no stock in doctors." Anyway, despite the great number of times that her menacing status was explained to her, Mary Mallon was always escaping the surveillance of the health authorities until, when a particularly conspicuous epidemic of typhoid broke out somewhere, she would be discovered practicing the culinary profession and sent to North Brother Island.

It is possible also that, like the rest of us, Typhoid Mary could not be reconciled to the idea that she was, in the kitchen at least, a scourge and a menace to human life. Such an idea would be a blow to the pride of any self-respecting person, and to a person who probably didn't believe in germs anyway the dictum of the medical profession—although reinforced by scientific evidence—must have been hard to accept.

Rather than accept it Mary Mallon followed the urge to go out and seek employment as a cook. She gave satisfaction until her employers either became ill or died, after which the attention of the dreaded bureaucrats would be again upon her. She is credited with fifty-four cases of typhoid and three deaths.

Perhaps if Mary Mallon had been approached in the right manner, her pride as a cook could have been directed into a legitimate pride as a typhoid carrier. After all, she was the first recognized carrier of the disease, and she provided the medical professional with a useful living model for the study of typhoid distribution and the means to check it. She might have become more co-operative if it had been made plain to her that she was no common carrier of typhoid, but a very distinguished one.

Unfortunately, nobody convinced Mary of any of these things, and she spent valuable time plotting to escape into the kitchen when she ought to have demanded a high place in the laboratory. So instead of paying $2 her to hear lectures on pathology by Mary Mallon, the public went into a panic upon hearing that Typhoid Mary was at large again. Perhaps vocational education could have changed all that, but it would have had to deal with a typhoid carrier of character and determination.

• Leadership Is Sorely Needed.

IN HIS LATEST BOOK, "News From England," Mr. Beverley Nichols, brilliant writer of the "younger generation" himself, severely takes to task the youth of Great Britain, which he finds lacking in discipline, morale, principle—becoming "soft." The contrast he draws between the plight of young people in his own country and the relatively much better condition of their contemporaries in despised Germany and Italy will arouse indignation. It is to be hoped it will arouse corrective action as well, says the Brantford Expositor.

Because, in the main, what the English writer says is true, and true not only of the young people among whom he daily moves, but also of a great many young people elsewhere in the Empire, including Canada.

The explanations are numerous, but they do not alter the fact. The war, the depression, the blunderings of capitalism, the unrest generated by radicalism—any or all of these may be the reasons. The vital point is, what do reasons matter now that the thing is tragically a fait accompli? What this country needs is not so much an academic explanation as to how its youth got into the present plight, but how to get youth out of the morass.

And that it is bogged in one is indisputable. There are young men right in Brantford now well over their majority, young men who should long since have set foot on the bottom rungs of the ladder of career, who have scarcely done a day's work in their lives let alone had a permanent job.

What price Canada's once-proud title as a "Land of Opportunity?" Opportunity for what? To starve on the dole? To loaf in pool parlors? To contrive delinquency on street corners?

These are bitter words; the tragedy is that young men are asking them; nay have been asking them for years past. And nobody has deigned to answer.

It is surely obvious that this neglect—because such it is—on the part of governments and citizens alike can lead only to disaster.

Nor will it suffice merely to complain. The question is what to do about it. Surely considering that here is no mere community problem but, in actuality, a national emergency, it is a function of Government.

The inquiry as to what steps Governments have taken to abate the evil by assisting youth reveals a surprising, indeed dangerous, lack of leadership where the people, young people above all, have a right to look for it.

It is said that emergencies tend to provide their own ultimate solutions, that leaders arise when the need for leadership is greatest. This being the case, may it be that the Moses who is to lead the youth of Canada out of the wilderness of unemployment and lost opportunity come forward and quickly.

• A Gold Substitute For Wheat.

THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT is doomed to a loss of forty million dollars on its guarantee of eighty cents a bushel for the Western wheat crop, according to reliable estimates says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, who is now in Eastern Canada, told a Toronto interviewer that low wheat prices are destined to continue. Wheat is currently selling at about 60 cents a bushel. The European demand is poor. Italy, Germany and other nations in that part of the world are extending their policies to make themselves self-supporting with regard to cereals. Their populations are compelled to get along with an inferior bread in order to avoid the import of Canadian wheat that is superior to all others for bread-making.

The money penalty that the Dominion government will be compelled to pay because of the wheat guarantee is going to contribute to heavier taxation. The railway deficit, the loss on the guaranteed wheat crop, the allotment for unemployment relief and the provision for increased armament are items in the national business program sufficient to give the taxpayer a nightmare, yet there is not much that can be done with regard to wheat, at least. If the government refused to guarantee a living figure for the wheat the Western agricultural industry would be compelled to fold up and the farmers would have to be supported by relief, so the wheat guarantee is simply a relief measure under another name.

It is painfully evident that too much of the world's surface is producing wheat and too many people find it necessary to seek a living from agriculture. Canada's most promising prospect in that regard is that our mineral-producing area is steadily extending. Gold enjoys an insatiable market and this country appears to possess the most prolific resources in that line. So, if it seem our fate to be worried over the future of the wheat industry in the West, it is also encouraging to look forward to the time when Canada will be supplying most of the world with coveted gold.

A MACKEREL MYSTERY.

(Kitchener Record)

FISHERMEN off the eastern coast of the United States report that mackerel there are behaving strangely. Under ordinary circumstances at this time of year, the mackerel head south to spend the winter. This year they appear reluctant to leave.

More than that they are dawdling close inshore, an unprecedented situation, according to the fishermen. In rare instances in other years when they have not headed south the mackerel have gone into the gulf stream, which is relatively warm, and stayed there during the cold months.

There is just one possible explanation. The fish are waiting for the red herring which have done such excellent service in the political campaign just closed across the line.

village with a population of 800. As is the case with all small places which have a main highway running through their main street, Wheatley experienced a depression. Until Jack Dean got to thinking about ways and means of getting folk to do their Saturday night shopping in the home town instead of driving over to the nearest city. Mr. Dean decided on entertainment as the magnet that would bring back and hold local farm business. He organized a series of Saturday night concerts by the village band, adding such trimmings as guest speakers and amateur contests. This past summer, Wheatley shopkeepers did such a roaring Saturday night trade that they're thinking of erecting a statue or something in honor of Mr. Dean.

THE POOR PEDESTRIAN.

(Municipal World)

ONE of the resolutions passed at the 1938 convention of the Ontario Municipal Association suggested that pedestrians walk on the left-hand side of the road facing on-coming cars, "the pedestrian coming to a halt on the outer edge of the road while a car is passing." On many of our main highways this would leave the poor pedestrian standing at the side of the road all day and all night.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

AND THERE appeared another wonder in heaven; and behold a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads. And his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth: and the dragon stood before the woman which was ready to be delivered, for to devour her child as soon as it was born. And she brought forth a man child, who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron: and her child was caught up unto God, and to his throne. And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feed her there a thousand two hundred and threescore days....And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him. And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night....And to the woman were given two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness, into her place, where she is nourished for a time, and times, and half a time, from the face of the serpent. And the serpent cast out of his mouth water as a flood after the woman, that he might cause her to be carried away of the flood. And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood which the dragon cast out of his mouth.—Rev. xii, 3-6, 9, 10, 14-16.

To The Editor

CHAIRS NEEDED

Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Would you kindly give me space in your popular paper to say a few words in behalf of the public rest room. The want of sufficient chairs is a source of great annoyance to the farmers' wives who after a tiresome round of shopping have to stand up instead of being able to sit down and rest. Thanking you in advance, I remain yours very sincerely,

NICE WORDING

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

WE THINK President Roosevelt displayed a master touch in wording his telegram of anniversary greetings to the head of the executive committee of the Soviet Union of Russia: "Upon this national anniversary please accept my felicitations and sincere good wishes for the well being of the people of your country." Mr. Roosevelt cut clear across forms of government to the first essential—the welfare of the individual. And not unlike the Hon. Dr. Manion's publicized slogan: "Human value first."

AND NONE TOO SOON.

(New York World-Telegram)

A NEW mathematical definition just reported to scientists meeting at Cambridge, Mass., is said to make it possible to predict what will happen in states of complete chaos and thus, for the first time, to bring utter confusion under man's control.

We don't understand it—but boy, oh boy, considering the state for which the world seems to be heading, we're certainly glad to know that definition is ready!

Scouts Leaders Meet In City For Conference

More than ninety leaders from all parts of near eastern Ontario attended the first Leaders' Conference to be held in this city on Friday and Saturday. Scouters were enthusiastic about the meeting, acclaimed it as one of the most successful to be held in a number of years.

After meetings that lasted from Friday evening until late Saturday afternoon, the conference ended with a banquet held at All Saints' Church. W. C. English, president of the local association was chairman. At the head table were F. C. Irwin, assistant provincial commissioner from Toronto; Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson, J. J. Duffus, M.P., Ald. R. S. Cotton, representing the city; H. L. Garner of the Peterborough Examiner; Jack Blow, assistant Dominion Commissioner from Hamilton; W. Pierson, district commissioner for Oshawa; Commissioner and Mrs. J. T. Hornsby, Mrs. Whalon, commissioner for girl guides.

Most boys of today think the world owes them everything and the scout movement is the only movement today that teaches a boy self reliance and the art of giving instead of taking, said Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson in a brief address. He extended a hearty welcome to the scouts on behalf of his church.

J.J. Duffus, M.P., welcomed the visitors to Peterborough. He endorsed Canon Paterson's remarks and told the leaders assembled that they must seize opportunity when they can, and must be prepared to build around that opportunity in order to succeed.

Welcomed To City

Ald. R. M. Cotton welcomed those present on behalf of the city for the Mayor. It was with pride that the city fathers witnessed the part that scouts and cubs along with girl guides took in civic celebrations such as Armistice Day, he said.

H. L. Garner of the Peterborough Examiner spoke of the seriousness of the task leaders have. "Those under your care are as plastic as putty," he said. "It is the way you mold their characters that will tell in their future careers. What you do, what you say, will all count toward what they will be. You cannot think too seriously of those under your care."

The main address of the evening was delivered by F. C. Irwin, assistant provincial commissioner from Toronto.

"When your troop goes on a hike you build a camp fire in the evening," he said. "You decide first where your fire will be, how much wood shall be brought, and how it shall be laid.

Building A Fire

"Every fellow brings wood and lays it on the fire under your direction, until the kindling and bigger stuff are all in their place; then the fire is lit, and flares up. If any of the scouts have brought rotten or damp wood, or brush the fire burns poorly—a brief flare-up or a tear-inducing smudge. If some of the fellows lie down on the job there isn't as big a fire as you wanted. But if each scout has done his part intelligently your fire gives light and heat, and inspiration. Troop spirit is like that.

"You want your fellows to stick; you want your turn over to be low; you want your ex-members to be proud to come back to the troop occasionally.

"Troop spirit, like electricity, is hard to define — but can be produced and it can be used. Or as a scout once said :"Troop spirit is the whole bunch being enthusiastic about the right things and really doing them.

"The kind of fuel to use is attendance, progress, team work, adventure, service. To gain good attendance—1, Well planned, interesting meeting will justify good attendance, but not assure it; 2, A scout who misses a meeting and doesn't have to is breaking the first, second, fifth and seventh scout laws; 3, Boys and parents must understand that the weekly appointment with the scouts is as binding as any school or social appointment; 4, Know before you go to your troop meeting who is absent and why.

Make it clear that just as a fellow cannot stay on a football team or track squad unless he turns out regularly to practice, so a scout couldn't expect to belong to a troop unless he could be reasonably sure of coming to every meeting.

Co-operation of Parents

A high standard of attendance, however, cannot be set up without the co-operation of the parents. A personal interview with the parents with some important facts about scouting will help.

There can be no troop spirit with prograss. Discourage vigorously over-rapid advancement but make sure that every scout keeps moving forward.

Team work is assured through the patrol system. Every scoutmaster should look to his patrol organization.

Service is the final justification of a troop's existence in its usefulness. The final and chief test of a scout is the doing of a good turn every day—build a wholesome troop spirit by having a useful mission in life.

At the conclusion of the talk Mr. Ottowell asked those present to show their appreciation of the banquet ot those who were responsible for its arrangements.: J. T. Hornsby, general chairman; Mr. Leyburn, billeting and registration; Mr. English, banquet and hall; Peter Dominic, scout craft exhibition; Rev. Canon Paterson for the use of the hall and Mr. Hodson and Skipper Groombridge for the music and songs.

New Ways to Tell Thrilling Fortunes

Every Domino Has Its Meaning

Clever Lucy! Always some exciting stunt for entertaining friends. This time she's reading the three dominoes which Bert turned up after she shuffled them.

"Dear me," Lucy begins, reading the five-blank and six-four. "I see your sweetheart, but sure as fate you're going to have a quarrel with her." Glancing at the four-three, she reassures him, "Don't worry. It will come out all right—a happy ending."

What do the other dominoes mean? The six-blank says "a scandal!" The one-one means "reunion."

Another exciting way to tell fortunes is to draw a circle with chalk on a table and learn the fate of fortune seekers by casting dice into the mystic circle.

Or as you sit in front of the fire some stormy night, throw salt into the flame and look for prophecies in the weird shapes that appear.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of FUN WITH FORTUNE-TELLING to Examiner Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

With The Boy Scouts

St. Andrew's troop is progressing with a steady stride.

Plans are being made for a parents' night about the second of December, and I would urge Dad and Mother to reserve that date for the occasion.

Donald McTavish and Breen Embry both passed their tests in scout laws and promise, while Ralph Green completed his tenderfoot tests in the uses of the scout stave.

The St. George's Mother's Auxiliary are holding a euchre party in the basement of the church tonight, at 8 p.m.; the proceeds to assist the Scout group activities.

The support of all scout and cub mothers and their friends would greatly help toward the success of this affair.

The North End troops is coming out in the news for a change for next Friday night the boys are holding a parents' night in the local association headquarters. Here, again, I will appeal to Dad and Mother of the 11th troop to reserve that night, that you may accompany your boy and see what scouting means to him. If you have made other arrangements, cancel them. I am sure that your friends will appreciate your interest in your boy and excuse you.

The scout leaders' conference is over, and I feel sure that it can be acclaimed a huge success.

Opening at 8 p.m. Friday with a welcome by Commissioner J. T. Hornsby, two subjects were then discussed: "How Sea Scouts Operate," by J. H. Rigg, A.D.C. Oshawa; and "How We Get Our Scout Hall," by H. Van Everdingen, S.M., Port Hope.

The evening closed with refreshments served by Mrs. Langhorne and her committee.

Saturday morning session opened at 9.15 with sing-song, then the following subjects were taken:

"Rover, Scout and Cub Uniforms," by E. Wolfe, A.D.C., Peterborough; "Program Building—Cubs," by G. Clegg, D.C.M., Peterborough; "Boats and Kayaks," J. H. Rigg, A.D.C., Oshawa; "Group Committees," G. Smith, S.M., Picton. Also a paper on "Novelty Night for Cubs," was read and Jack Blow, A.M. Comm., led in some scout games.

In the afternoon the assembly started with a sing-song, followed by the talks on "Rover Meetings and dens," J. H. Rigg, A.D.C., Oshawa: "Program Building—Scouts," J. Blow, Asst. Dom. Comm.; "The Group and the Church," Rev. W. D. Jennings, Port Hope.

Art games and dances were described by St. John's pack under Akela Frank Pammett.

A "Trip to Africa" was demonstrated by the Sacred Heart pack under Akela Pete Dominic.

The Question Box was opened and those matters discussed with Field Secretary Edgar Jones in charge. The afternoon activities were completed at 5.30 p.m. sharp, and session adjourned until 6.30 for banquet.

Scouters from out of town were registered from Port Hope, Madoc, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Cannington, Lindsay, Lakefield, Picton, Hamilton, Toronto, Cobourg and every group sent a good number and a total attendance of about 90 was marked.

Skipper Bert Cutmore took charge of the All Saints' rover crew on Wednesday to discuss subjects of activities for the coming winter.

R. S. White was appointed to the worthy position of Mrs. Hoover for the month of December. This is apparently a posh name for the swab who manipulates the dust pan and brush.

The scouter at All Saints was very disappointed in the turnout of boys on parade Armistice Day, especially after the way they came out in numbers to attend the banquet. So let us see what can be done in the future.

Last Friday about 75 per cent attendance was on hand, but owing to the scouters' conference they were dismissed after a brief inspection and instruction period.—The Skipper.

Two Killed As Trans-Canada Airliner Crashes

The first fatal airplane crash of Trans-Canada Airways, since its organization two years ago, killed Pilot David Imrie, of Winnipeg, and Co-Pilot Jack Herald, of Vancouver, when one of Trans-Canada Airways modern skyliners crashed in a heavy fog two miles west of Regina. The ill-fated plane, identical to the one pictured ABOVE, burst into flames immediately it hit the earth.

ROMANCE INC.

BY OREN ARNOLD

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture. Bob Towne, football end and campus hero, and some of the other students, are arrested by the new sign in front of the Davis cottage announcing a "COUNSEL IN ROMANCE". Sara Sue explains her Cottage Plan to a group of students and finds them greatly interested. Bob Towne even asks HER for a date. Against her better judgment, Sara Sue goes dancing with Senior Towne. She enjoys the evening, but as he leaves her he kisses her impetuously.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 5

SARA SUE had breakfast late next morning. Cleopatra brought iced cantaloupe and toast and coffee and marmalade into her bedroom, pampering her more than she had expected.

"Thanks, Cleo. It's sweet of you."

"Yassum, tain't no trouble a tall. You needs yo' rest."

But she was up and going at 9 o'clock, and at 10 she was downtown. She had to deposit some money—not a great deal, although it seemed so—and purchase a few things. She knew the Rice students would be busy with registration for classes until noon. After that, maybe a few more would come to confer about her Cottage Plan.

She missed a guess there, though.

The Rice students were coming to her place by 11 o'clock, and when she returned at noon a dozen or more were in her big living room waiting for her and playing her phonograph.

"I'm so sorry!" she apologized. "I didn't think anybody would come until after noon."

"You don't realize how well known you are, Mrs. Davis," a junior lad announced. "You've got something here."

"May freshmen join, too?" an obvious freshman asked.

"Surely," she smiled at him. "Especially freshmen. They are likely to be loneliest of all, at first. Were you interested?"

He definitely was. He was a cute kid. A slender fellow, surely not over 18, maybe 17.

He looked sheltered. His hands were pink. But his face was juvenile, too, and so it didn't matter; he just looked young. He said that his name was Worthington and that he did not like to be called Worthy. Which of course was a sad mistake, for everybody there instantly began calling him Worthy. Everyone that is except Sara Sue. Last name, please? Gurley.

Worthington Gurley, you see, is aristocratic. Worthy Gurley is—well, funny. The upperclassmen discovered that instantly. Sophomores made meat of it, as they do of all freshmen, and one fertile-brained soph was orating an extemporaneous limerick:

"There was a young man named Gurley,
Hatched from a shell so pearly,
Worthy was he,
As pink as could be—

He was hatched a great deal too early."

The upperclassmen all guffawed and applauded, but Sara Sue was careful to smile only at them.

"Come into my private office, Worthington, and we can talk there," she invited. "The poetry out here is terrible. And the manners worse."

Worthy Gurley signed up. Blessed with abundant money, this impressionable freshman paid $27, a full nine months in advance.

"Maybe you'd better be cautious," Sara Sue counseled him. "You might—well, you might bust out. Rice has very high scholastic standing, and—"

"'Oh, no, I was valedictorian at home."

"O. K. Fine!" She took his money and smiled at him.

That was the second time she had smiled directly at him. And when Sara Sue Davis smiled directly at anybody twice, she made an indelible impression. Mr. Worthington Gurley swallowed hard, blushed and departed.

When the crowd dispersed for lunch, one man remained at Sara Sue's door. She didn't quite catch his name when he mentioned it, but she didn't want to offend and so didn't ask it again. They sat on her sofa to talk. She didn't think he was a student. He was youngish, but not quite that young. Still, he might be a graduate student, working for his Ph. D.

"I just want to ask one little favor, please, Mrs. Davis," the gentleman said. He smiled nicely. Sara Sue liked him.

"Yes, surely."

"We, ah, Rice won a football championship last year. We may not repeat, but we want to do the best we can this fall. We want to maintain a fighting, efficient team. Don't we?"

"Yes. Yes, indeed!" Sara Sue was wondering about him now.

"Thanks. I knew you wold say that. I could tell by your manner. I knew your husband, too. Fine boy. He wouldn't have chosen anything but a fine girl. Well, many thanks again. I'll be going."

He arose, and started to leave. Sara Sue was sadly confused.

"But the favor, Mr. —— I'm sorry, I didn't quite understand your name when you came in."

"Britt. Coach Britt."

They looked at each other seriously for a long moment. Then both suddenly smiled.

"I understand. Bob told you about the accident last night?"

Coach Britt nodded.

"I can—control things, Coach. And I will."

"You don't know Bob Towne, I'm afraid. He moves fast. And gets what he goes after. He's in love with you. He's telling everybody. He's the kind to shout it from the housetops."

"There is still no cause for worry, Coach."

"You are a very attractive girl. And young."

"Thank you. But, I am not in love with Bob. And since you ask it, I shall certainly not go out with him again."

Coach Britt looked aghast.

"But I did not ask that! No! That would be worst of all, Mrs. Davis. If one of my lads is in love, or imagines he is, don't you see how a broken heart would upset him? He would be too upset to play football well!"

"Are you then — listen, Coach Britt. I'm making a business of my Counsel in Romance, remember. See my sign out there? The fee will be $3 a month, please! Even though it's somebody else's romance you are interested in!"

They laughed together at that. They talked a bit more, and Sara Sue promised, in all seriousness, to do what she could to keep Bob Towne's emotions on an even keel.

When the coach had gone, she grabbed a bite of lunch, thinking the while. Business, she realized, was stacking up on her; business details. But it certainly was interesting.

The callers she had after 1 o'clock almost overwhelmed her, even though a drizzle of rain had begun. Her afternoon seemed like one long happy house party, but her little desk was gathering a pile of bills and checks, too. All of the students had money on the opening week of school, and lest they go broke later, most of them paid not one, but several months in advance.

By 5 p. m., though, the rain seemed to take offense at the fact that people were ignoring it. Instead of just pouring and roaring, it began snorting and snatching.

"Winter comin' early," Calculus Jones ventured, from his kitchen corner where he watched his wife cook.

"Hush yo' mouf and go jog up Miss Sara Sue's furnace," Cleo ordered.

When the students all departed for their various dinners, Sara Sue had a half hour alone. It was time to think. She was delighted with the results of her planning. At the rate customers were signing, she would have her 100 before the week was over.

Bob Towne phoned at 6 o'clock, saying he would call for her promptly at 8. It took 15 minutes of her best conversation to tell him no.

At 7 p. m. the front door seemed to explode open, and a southwestered lad dripped in.

"Worthington!" Sara Sue was astonished. "You'll drown!"

He was far from drowning, though. He had a goal. His goal was to take Sara Sue to a dinner, a theatre, a movie, a night club, any or all four. He had his car. He pleaded. He looked like somebody's little brother. It was hard to tell him no; the process took half an hour.

Nobody else dared the rainstorm until 9:30, when an insistent honking brought Sara Sue to her front porch. A blue car stood at her curb, 30 feet away. The driver, a woman, honked again.

Sara Sue couldn't understand why the caller didn't come in. Still, hospitality is hospitality. There must be some good reason. She hastened to get her coat, throwing it carelessly over head and all because she expected to dart right into some friend's car and talk a moment. The motor was still purring.

But the driver did not open a door. Instead, she lowered a window and held the door closed. A stench of alcohol struck Sara Sue.

"Just wanted to warn you my darling, that you've bitten off more than you can chew!" the driver mouthed at her, contemptuously.

In a rush then the window closed and the car rolled away, leaving Sara Sue Davis, Ine., standing there appalled.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday November 22

ACCORDING to astrological as well as astronomical tenets, affairs are likely to be under a cloud, Physically as well as psychically on this day, owing to a partial eclipse of the sun. This forecasts rather difficult, adverse and doubtful conditions, with probably important reaction on the employment relations with superiors and those in authority. The mind may have rather arratic slants or radical ideas, which should be wisely managed if benefits are to ensue.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of rather important experiences, in which advantages must be wrested from obscure, chaotic and perplexing circumstances. This may be felt particularly in the occupation or profession, or in contacts with those in power and authority. These foggy or singular situations might be turned to excellent account, with beneficial change, if sagaciously and tactfully handled. Promotion and preferment are not improbable.

A child born on this day, although being versatile, energetic and ambitious, may have rather unusual or radical mental trends which may make its life adventurous and its fortunes fluctuating, unless it be directed into the proper groove of expression.

DOROTHY DIX

Marriage Is a Gamble, Especially If You Do Not Make a Complete Survey and Analysis of the Person You Are To Wed.

A YOUNG man wants to know how he can tell what sort of a wife a girl will make. Alas and alack, he can't. That is a problem that is beyond human wisdom to solve, as is abundantly proved by all the misfit marriages we see about us and by the fact that neither intelligence, nor age, nor experience seem to teach a man anything about selecting a wife.

Every day high-browed college professors marry little nitwits. Shrewd business executives are lured to the altar by gold-diggers young enough to be their granddaughters, and men's seventh wives are no more sure to be their hearts' desires than their first ones were. Apparently a man's getting the kind of a wife he wants is just as much a matter of pure luck as guessing how many beans there are in a jar, or what the weather is going to be six months hence. What adds to the complexity of the situation is that the girl, no more than the man, knows how she is going to react to matrimony and whether she will turn into a household angel, or one of the wives who are always running to Reno.

Of course, the prudent man tries to use his best judgment when he goes a-courting and to observe carefully such signs and portents that would give him an insight into the character and disposition, and be more or less of a prophecy of the future performances of the prospect under consideration. But, unfortunately, even these are no safe guide to his feet, for women are not always what they seem.

How is a man, for instance, to tell whether when he marries for beauty he is really getting it, and that his living picture will still be a parlor ornament fifteen years hence? How is he to know whether Arabella's peaches-and-cream complexion is a gift from God or something she bought at the corner drug store? How is he to know that she won't develop a feather-bed figure, or else go stringbean on him?

If a man can't tell how much of a good-looker a girl really is, how can he tell how much gray matter she possesses? How can he tell whether the bright look in a girl's face and the sparkle in her eyes indicates intelligence, or merely means that she is 18 and has the shine of youth upon her? How can he tell whether her laughter shows a sense of humor or is just the overflow of high animal spirits?

How can he tell whether the cute little baby-talk girl, who looks up so adoringly in his face and asks naive questions, is handing him out a line, or is really a moron? How can he know whether the feminine conversation that is fascinating before marriage can bore a man to tears after marriage?

How can he know that Mamie's little motherly, possessive way of fussing over him—her worrying over his getting his feet wet, her insisting on his eating roast beef and spinach instead of the sophisticated dishes he likes when they go to a restaurant, her telephoning to know if he got home safe when they have been out together—that seemed so sweet and womanly at the time, means that she will henpeck her husband so that he would not dare to call his soul his own?

How could he tell that Lucy's mother having spoiled her to death and indulged her every whim meant that Lucy would expect her husband to enslave himself to her; that the first time he expected her to act like a rational human being and pull her weight in the boat she would pack her clothes and go back to Mother?

How could he tell that Sally's devotion to her family that every one applauded so loudly didn't fit her to be a good wife, but the other way around. How could he know that her husband would always run a bad second to Mother and Father and the sisters and brothers, and that she would offer him up as a sacrifice on their altar without ever realizing she did it? How could he know that she would never be happy unless their house was filled with her people, and that she would keep him broke paying for Mother's operation and John's college education and Mary's pretty clothes?

How could he know that if he married Martha because she was such a good cook that she would stay domestic? How could he know that she wasn't so fed up on the kitchen she would go out of it when she married and never enter the door again?

He couldn't. No man can know what he is getting in the prize package he draws in the matrimonial lottery. He has to pay his money and take his chance.

Goodnight Story

By MAX TRELL

It isn't often that anyone can talk to a lion. But Knarf and Hanid, the shadow-children with the turned about names, and the Tin Soldier were luckier than most of us. They spoke to a lion. Do you know how they found him? By squeezing themselves inside the pages of the Natural History book which they found lying the other night on the table in the playroom.

In a minute they were in a thick jungle. And there was the lion,

"You mustn't be afraid of me."

standing there right in front of them. They felt frightened and wanted to run. But the lion said: "You mustn't be afraid of me; I won't eat you."

"Of course not. Tell me, what do you want to know about me?"

"Why—are we—supposed to ask you questions?" Knarf stammered.

"Certainly you are. And I'm supposed to answer them. Thats what all Natural History book animals do. Well, since you won't ask me any questions, Ill tell you a few things about myself without being asked. Do you see this big collar around my neck?"

Hanid Knows It

"That's your mane," Hanid answered promptly. She was quite a a smart little shadow-girl.

"Very good. That's exactly what it is."

"What have you got it for?" Knarf asked.

"Just to make me handsome. I'm very proud of my fine, thick mane. So are all other lions. Only the gentlemen lions have them, you understand. The lady lions—the lionesses—haven't got them at all."

"Why not?" Hanid wanted to know. "I thing it's a shame."

"Yes, it is a pity. But there's nothing they can do about it. Tigers haven't got manes either. I don't know of any of the other cats that have manes like us lions."

"Cats!" Knarf exclaimed in surprise. "Did you say you were cats?"

The lion nodded. "Were cats all right—big cats."

"Only cats don't roar. They meow," Hanid put in.

Great Deal Alike

"True enough. But still, we're a great deal alike. We both enjoy prowling around at night, and we both see very well in the dark. And," said the lion, trying his best to smile, "we both have whiskers. So you see, we're both pretty much alike."

The two shadows were silent for a moment or two. Then Knarf said: "There's one thing I'd like to know, Mr. Lion. People always call you the King of the Beasts. Are you really a king?"

The lion didn't answer right away. But finally he answered in a solemn voice: "No one is really king of the beasts. But if a king is proud and handsome and courageous—then perhaps I am a king."

And he wouldn't say another word.

IT'S FATAL FOR ANY JOB-HUNTER TO TAKE CHANCES OF OFFENDING WITH "B.O."

Carol B. Dearvang tells why she always recommends Lifebuoy for lasting freshness

"AS PERSONNEL COUNSELLOR, I KNOW PERSONAL NEATNESS COUNTS A GREAT DEAL IN JOB-HUNTING... IT IS FATAL FOR ANY JOB-HUNTER TO TAKE CHANCES WITH 'B.O.'..."

"I ALWAYS RECOMMEND LIFEBUOY FOR LASTING FRESHNESS. WE'VE FOUND NO ORDINARY SOAP STOPS 'B.O.' AS LIFEBUOY DOES...."

"PERSONALLY, NOTHING RELAXES ME AS MUCH AS A LIFEBUOY BATH... I LIKE LIFEBUOY'S CREAMY LATHER AND ITS FRESH, CLEAN SMELL"

Here's why no ordinary soap stops "B.O." as Lifebuoy does...

MILLIONS know that Lifebuoy is different. Its lather is rich, lively and abundant—makes you look and feel extra clean. And a daily Lifebuoy bath stops "B.O." as no ordinary soap does. For Lifebuoy contains an exclusive purifying ingredient not found in any other popular toilet soap! This ingredient makes it milder; grand for the complexion, too. Better put it on your shopping list — the whole family will like Lifebuoy!

R. Johnston Heads Hastings County Religious Education Council

BONARLAW, Nov. 19.— The annual convention of the Religious Education Council of Centre Hastings County was held at Springbrook United church on Wednesday, with a splendid attendance.

The afternoon session opened with Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne of Bonarlaw conducting the worship period and the address of welcome given by Rev. A. W. Harding, pastor of the Convention church.

President Irvine Bateman of Thomasburg, gave greetings to the delegates and executives and called for reports from the various county department superintendents. These were very interesting.

A round table conference led by Dr. C. A. Myers, provincial representative, proved to be most instructive.

A motion was brought forward to hald o county council in future at which all township department superintendents and executive officers would receive instruction and be especially invited and South Hastings would be asked to join also with Centre Hastings. The matter, however, was left in the hands of the executive for further consideration.

At the close of the afternoon session all delegates partook of a bountiful lunch in the Orange Hall provided by the Springbrook ladies.

The evening session commencing at 7.45 p.m. was opened by Rev. W. A. Hunter of Madoc who conducted the worship period.

The report of the secretary-treasurer was presented by J. F. Baker and showed 36 Sunday schools in the Association with a membership of over 2,400.

New Officers.

The following officers and department superintendents were elected and impressively installed by Rev. H. B. Herrington of Thomasburg:

President, Mr. W. J. Johnston; vice-presidents, Messrs. Freeman Howes, Percy Holland, Clayton Rutter and Carl Clancy. Secretary-treasurer, Irvine Bateman; asst. sec'y-treas., J. F. Baker.

Department Supts.

Children's Work—Mrs. John Wallace; girls' work, Mrs. H. L. Morrison; boys' work, Mr. Fred Elgie; young people's work, Mr. Don Williams; adult dept., Miss Ida McCaw; home dept., Mrs. W. G. Swayne; leadership training, Rev. W. R. Tristam; missionary, Miss Frances Keene; temperance, Mr. Ward Holland.

An invitation was received from Thomasburg church to held the next county convention there. The new president, Mr. W. J. Johnston, gratefully accepted the invitation.

A splendid address was delivered by Provincial Representative Dr. C. A. Myers on "The Teaching of Christ."

A pleasing duet was contributed by Mrs. Carman Sine and Rev. A. W. Harding.

Resolutions were adopted thanking the pastor and officers of the church, the ladies, the provincial representative, the retiring officers, etc.

An Agent Missing

QUEBEC, Nov. 21 — (CP) — Provincial Police announced last night they have been asked to join in a search for Maurice St. Pierre, Sherbrooke insurance agent, missing since October 1. The 26-year-old man was last seen at Sherbrooke, and three days later his automobile was found abandoned at Bowmanville, Ont.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c

WARSAW

Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Jackson entertained the Anglican Ladies' Guild at their bi-weekly euchre party which was well atended, on Tuesday evening. Mrs. David Rose won the ladies' prize and Theodore Douglas the men's. The next party will be at Mrs. Robert Tighe's.

The United Church W. M. S. ladies quilted two quilts on Wednesday afternoon in the basement.

The Bible study classes in the United Church S.S. Room might be better attended. On Wednesday evening Dr. Munro gave a very interesting lesson beginning the Life of St. Paul. Next Wednesday Rev. Mr. Walker will continue his lessons on the Old Testament. All are welcome. There is no fee. The three leaders, Mr. Walker, Mr. Wilkinson, and Dr. Munro.

Allan L. Payne brought down a deer with seven points on each horn.

Mrs. Thomas Cooper attended the W.I. convention in Toronto last week.

Mrs. George Weller left on Wednesday morning to attend the Women's Institute convention in Toronto.

Fred Payne from Windsor and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gunn, Toronto, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cooper.

George Weller and Allan Taylor returned from Parry Sound with wonderful reports of deer being plentiful.

Astronomer Doubts Life Left On Mars But Thinks Venus May Have Primitives

LIFE probably once flourished on Mars but is "almost impossible" now, according to Dr. Spencer Jones, astronomer royal.

He said in a speech here Venus was the only other planet at all likely to support life and even there it could only be a primitive form.

Speaking of Mars, the astronomer royal declared "life probably flourished there millions of years ago but has been dried up by the atmosphere and has probably by now become almost impossible."

Atmosphere on Jupiter — a rocky planet about 22,000 miles in diameter—was so dense the pressure was equal to about 1,000,000 tons per square inch.

"We can't conceive that life can exist on such a surface at such a pressure," he said.

No oxygen had been detected on Venus but there was an enormous quantity of carbon dioxide around it.

"Venus is a world," said Mr. Jones, "where life has probably not yet started or, if it has, exists only in very primitive form."

OBITUARY

JOSHUA H. PARCELS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Nov. 1—A citizen of this village for the past thirty-three years, Joshua H. Parcels, passed away in his 79th year, here at his home, Saturday afternoon. Funeral services will be on Tuesday afternoon, a private prayer service at the house at 2 p.m. and service at the United Church at 2.30 p.m., with interment at Maple Grove cemetery.

The late Mr. Parcels was born in Seymour township coming to Havelock in 1905. He has been retired from the C.P.R. employ for some years, and for the past several terms has held the position of truant officer for the local schools.

Surviving him besides his wife, formerly Emily Woodbeck of Methuen, are three daughters, Mrs. Lawrence Olhman, Chicago; Mrs. Arthur Graham, Galt, Mrs. George Mogg, Preston; and two sons, Edward, of Transcona, Man. and Joshua, Jr., Smith Falls. There are also one sister, Mrs. N. Hubble, Belmont, and two brothers, Charles and Jacob, both of Michigan.

CHRISTOPHER HENDERSON

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, Nov. 21.—The funeral took place on Sunday from his late residence of Christopher Henderson. Rev. W. A. Hunter of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church and Rev. I. E. Kennedy of Trinity United Church officiating.

The late Mr. Henderson had been for years a great sufferer and for the past eight months has been confined to his bed suffering recurring heart attacks. On Thursday evening last he was suddenly stricken by a severe attack and failed to rally. He was 74 years of age. Mr. Henderson was a life-long resident of this community. He was a staunch friend, a good neighbour and ever a generous helper to those in need of his assistance. He was a member of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church though not able to attend of late years.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Miss Annie Taylor and one brother, Mr. John Henderson, Sr., of Madoc, also one nephew, John Henderson, Jr.

Beautiful floral offerings testified to the esteem in which deceased was held and friends and neighbours attended in large numbers to show their sympathy and respect. The funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen in the community. Rev. W. A. Hunter preached from the thought "Here we have no continuing city." The master had no place to lay his head".

The ladies' quartette of Trinity United Church, Mrs. W. Hulin, Mrs. C. N. Whytock, Miss Bronson and Miss Salisbury sang "The Old Rugged Cross" with Mrs. L. Ashley as pianist and Rev. I. E. Kennedy read the Scriptures. Interment was made in Lakeview cemetery.

MRS. THOMAS ROBINS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, November 21. — The death occurred on Sunday morning, November 20, at the family residence, Alnwick township of Mrs. Thomas Robins, following a lengthy illness. Mrs. Robins is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. A. Pringle, Roseneath, Mrs. Oran Campbell, of Harwood, and Mrs. L. West of Grafton, and four sons, Clifford of Peterborough and William, Ora and Cecil of Roseneath. Surviving also are one sister, Mrs. Maud Carter of Cobourg, and four brothers, John, Cephas and Robert of Alnwick and Ephas of Haldimand.

MRS. FRANK MENZIES.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 21. — Prominent in the Rebekah Lodge and in church circles, Hattie Holmes, wife of Frank Menzies, died at her home here on Inkerman Street early on Saturday morning. Mrs. Menzies died after a prolonged illness, and her passing will be mourned by a host of friends as well as immediate members of her family of two daughters, Thelma and Audrey. Born in Campbellford 44 years ago she was widely known throughout the community. She was a member of St. John's United Church in which she took a keen and enthusiastic interest in all of its societies. Married nineteen years ago there are surviving besides her husband and daughters two brothers, Charles of Town and George Atwell at Bradley Bay.

The funeral service was held from the family residence to-day, with the Rev. Harold B. Neal officiating, and interment was made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Earl Craighead, Carl Johnston, Duncan Montgomery, Victor Hay, Charles Calver, and R. Jarvis.

JOHN McINTOSH.

The death of John McIntosh occurred suddenly at his home on the 12th Concession of Smith Township on Saturday morning, in his 76th year.

Born in Dummer Township of Scottish parents, he had resided in this district all his life. Until two months ago he had resided on a farm three miles north of Selwyn. He was a member of the Lakefield Presbyterian Church. Surviving is his wife, formerly Matilda Harris.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the late residence, with interment at Lakefield Cemetery.

ELIJAH WINDOVER.

Elijah Windover, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Harvey Township, passed to his long rest after a short illness on Saturday, November 12. Born in Napanee seventy-five years ago, later moving to Harvey Township with his parents, where he spent his youthful days. Forty-seven years ago, he married Florence Crapp, who still survives him. About thirty years age he moved to Gull Lake, where he was well known as proprietor of Glen Oaks Summer Resort.

A member of the Anglican Church and a Liberal in politics, he will be missed by all who knew him.

Left to mourn, besides his wife, are two sons, Jewell, Burleigh Falls, Neil, Hall's Bridge, and one daughter, Mrs. Melville Hall, Hall's Bridge.

The funeral was held at the family residence, Hall's Bridge, on Monday, November 14, at 2.30 p.m., Rev. Mr. Moore conducting the service.

Pall-bearers were: Charles Jones, John Gillespie, Murray Barr, Hall's Bridge, Jack Loucks, Peterborough, Tom Parker, Toronto, Harvey Windover, Rockcroft. Interment was made in Ray's Cemetery, Lakefield.

Roumania May Become Europe's Next Powder Keg

With the fate of Czechoslovakia now settled Roumania may become the next trouble centre in turbulent Europe. Besides having natural riches which are needed by Nazi Germany, little Roumania, as shown by this map, also has minority problems. Hungary desires the return of the great Transylvanian territory, and Bulgaria has covetous eyes on the return of her former Dobruja area, which is noted for its fine wheat.

Slacks In Court Given Sanctions

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21—(AP)—Fashion note for courtroom wear in the United States:

Slacks (or anything else, within reason, which milady desires) are permissable.

Such was the dictate today, not of Hollywood stylists, but of two superior court judges, Edward Bishop and Rey Schauer.

They handed down the decision on a write of Habeas Corpus in the case of Helen Hulick, teacher at a private kindergarten, who had on three occasions wore slacks into the courtroom of municipal Judge A. S. Guerin, thereby incurring his displeasure and a five-day jail sentence for contempt.

The jurists commented:

"The commitment appears to be based solely on the petitioner's failure to obey the order to change her attire....which, so far as the record before us discloses, did not in itself interfere with orderly courtroom procedure but involved merely a question of taste, a matter not within the court's control.

"A type of dress can hardly be classed as exhibitionism which may have tended to impede orderly procedure..."

The teacher appeared as a witness against two negroes accused of stealing her purse.

Sugar produced in The Netherlands Indies this year is estimated to weigh over 1,500,000 tons.

"A MILD SMOKE IS A NECESSITY WITH ME" says Louise King

Louise King, popular singing star, whose golden voice is enjoyed by radio listeners everywhere, is frank in her praise for Buckinghams. "When it comes to smoking, I have to be practical," says Miss King. "Mildness is a definite must with me, for I simply cannot afford to gamble with anything that would irritate my throat — hurt my voice. That's why I always smoke Buckinghams."

IF, like Louise King, you sang every night — if, just as frankly, your voice was your livelihood—you too would appreciate the real importance of a Throat Easy cigarette. Buckinghams, made from 62 varieties and classifications of selected, riper tobaccos are definitely easy on the throat. And when you smoke your first Buckingham you can actually taste the difference of leaf that has been picked for finer flavour—aged in wood and scientifically matured to guarantee true Throat Easy Smoking. Try Buckinghams and prove it for yourself.

WHAT IS Mildness IN A CIGARETTE?

Many smokers confuse taste with strength. Actually, taste depends on the ripeness of the tobacco — and a fully-ripened tobacco must be milder. Natural ripening removes harshness that causes irritation. That's why Buckinghams, blended from 62 varieties and classifications of riper tobaccos, taste so much better — are definitely milder.

Farmer Is Burned Out

LINDSAY.—Nine cows, 14 pigs, a large number of chickens, farm implements and a season's crop went up in flames when a large new barn on the farm of Melville White, six miles southwest of here, was razed Saturday. The fire spread so rapidly the stock could not be saved. The loss was estimated at $4,500.

Rotary Protest Edict Issued By Mussolini

A formal resolution of regret that the Italian government had issued a decree banning Rotary clubs from the country after December 31st was unanimously passed at the Monday luncheon of the local club today.

W. R. Morris, on introducing the resolution said, "Rotarians everywhere regret this order banning the clubs from Italy. I had occasion to meet several Italian Rotarians and was impressed with the high calibre of these men. They were making progress in promoting amity between nations, and evidently in dictator ruled nations this work is not encouraged."

Move Expected

Fred L. Roy seconded the motion and also voiced commendation of the Italians. He remarked that when talking with the president of the Rotary club at Nice, Italy, he learned that such a move was expected, and had been brewing for some time. Dictator governments are opposed to anything that does not put the nation first, he said.

After the members had endorsed the resolution which will be sent to International Rotary officials, Chairman Dutton said "This is merely a challenge to Rotarians to put more effort into the work of promoting world peace. We are disturbed by the edict of the Italian government but we must not be discouraged."

Congratulate Patterson

Congratulations were extended to Frank Patterson on the success of the Peterborough County Junior Farmer Judging teams at the Royal Winter Fair, and it was decided the Rotary club would entertain these young farmers.

Thomas J. Carley introduced the speaker of the day, D. G. H. Melton, of the Bonner-Worth Mill who spoke first on citizenship and then gave a few facts on the wool and knit goods section of the textile industry, and said in part.

In the woollen and knit goods section of the textile industry exclusive of the cottons, there are 318 factories with a plant and equipment valuation of $92,000,000 and over 30,000 workers who receive in direct wages $25,000,000 annually.

The industry is essentially Canadian with 85 per cent of its total investment being supplied by Canadian investors. Ninety-eight per cent of the goods must be sold within Canada because Canadian wage scales are higher than in other countries or because tariffs of other countries are against Canadian textiles. Thus the textile industry needs the Canadian market.

Profits Very Small

If the Government again lowers tariffs in the Canadian market, workers in other countries will get added production and Canadian workers less. Internally it is a highly competitive industry due to the number of factories in the group competing for the Canadian market. Resulting woollen and knit good profits have been very small over many years and prices to the public have been at a minimum. Externally under the present set up, its chief competitor is Great Britain. Canada's total imports from Great Britain in 1937 were $130,000,000 and the two largest divisions were woollen and knit goods including raw materials and iron ore including autos.

The industry bought from Australia direct over $2,000,000 worth of wool, which constitutes 24 per cent. of the total imports from that country and from New Zealand. These purchases by Canada from Empire countries were a substantial consideration in negotiating trade treaties with these countries from which the Canadian workers in other industries benefit.

Three Groups of Wages

Speaking on the comparison of wage rates, Mr. Melton read a report from the International Labor Office, Geneva, on the World Textile Industry, which says "When the wages paid in the different countries are measured on a common gold basis, the textile countries fall into three main groups: (a) a low wage group including China, Japan and India, (b) a medium wage group including Central and Western Europe and (c) a high wage group compcsed of the United States and Canada."

Great Britain was the highest in the medium wage group. In regard to a comparison between wages in the woollen industry in Great Britain and Canada, the Canadian tariff board has reported: "It has been established that hourly wages in Canada exceed those paid in corresponding occupations in the United Kingdom by 55 to 60 per cent in the woollen industry, 76 to 78 per cent in the worsted spinning industry and 65 to 75 per cent in the worsted weaving industry."

The average net profit to shareholders equity, over the last ten years aside from certain firms making specialties, has been 3.52 per cent. This margin of profit is too thin to absorb increased costs, due either to increased wages, or to decreased output following further tariff reductions.

Sid Black tendered the vote of thanks.

Takes Over Duties

Youth Is Guilty Of Robbery In Ashburnham

Kenneth Donaghue, 19, pleaded guilty, before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court today, to two charges of burglary in East City early Sunday morning and was remanded until Thursday for sentence.

The accused admitted breaking and entering the store of David Rice, 550 Armour Road and the house of John Wyllie, Jr. The store was entered by means of a cellar window and $10 was stolen while entrance to the Wyllie residence was obtained by breaking a kitchen window while the occupants of the house were asleep upstairs. The loot at the Wyllie place amounted to 70 cents.

"I was drunk at the time," Donaghue said, "I know it is no excuse."

Blames Drinking For Several Thefts

Giving as an explanation of his conduct in each case the fact that he was intoxicated at the time, George Kempt pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning to stealing a pair of ladies' shoes and a rubber from the Naborhood Shoe Store, a gallon can of motor oil from the Dominion store, George street, a can of Crisco from the A. and P. store and a box of Chipeo from E. F. Mason, the offences taking place on Saturday night.

"I was drunk, your worship," he said, in answer to each charge.

"I would like to have suspended sentence," he told the court, "and have you bar me from the beverage rooms."

The accused was remanded until Thursday for sentence.

John T. Hornsby Is Awarded Medal Of Merit

J. T. Hornsby, active officer of the scout movement in the Peterborough district, was honored on Saturday evening by the Canadian General Council of the Boys Scouts' association of Canada when he was presented with a scout medal of merit in recognition of his services. The presentation took place at a scouting conference held here.

Mr. Hornsby has been district commissioner for Peterborough for the past 10 years since he came to this city from Lindsay. He had been associated with scouting for a considerably longer period than the single decade. Under his guidance the Peterborough district has been enlarged from the limits of the city to include a district covering the counties of Victoria, Haliburton, Peterborough, the northern section of Northumberland, and the townships of Cavan, Cartwright and Manvers.

Read Letter from President.

Frank C. Irwin, assistant provincial commissioner of the Toronto headquarters staff made the presentation, reading a letter to Mr. Hornsby from Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., LL.D., president of the general council. "I should like to congratulate you upon having been awarded the medal of merit of the Boy Scout's association in recognition of your long and distinguished services to the movement," the letter read.

"Please accept my cordial thanks for your excellent work and my best wishes for your health, happiness and prosperity," Mr. Irwin pinned the medal on Mr. Hornsby's coat, acting for the chief scout of Canada, the Governor-General. Skippy Riggs of Oshawa, addressing the president, stated, "We older officers are fully aware of the time it takes to carry out the work of scouting and of the one who is left alone while such a duty is carried out. To Mrs. Hornsby we leaders present this bouquet of roses as a token of our appreciation and in recognition of the lonely nights spent while the commissioner was carrying out his duties." A lady cub mistress of the Oshawa contingent then presented a beautiful spray of roses to Mrs. Hornsby.

The medal of merit is awarded to those who have more than seven years of service and is given for meritorious acts not involving heroism or risk of life. An application for award of the medal to any scout must have the sanction of the Governor-General of Canada.

Seven Arrested In Police Raid

As the result of the arrest by Constable W. A. Clark of two men in a taxi cab, in possession of two quarts of beer, on Water street near Park Hill Road Sunday afternoon and a subsequent raid by Provincial Constable David Silvester, Provincial Traffic Officer Lloyd McClure and Constable Clark on the premises of Arthur King, Leahy's Lane, Douro township shortly afterward there was an array of liquor cases before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning. The raiding police found a quantity of liquor and five men and a woman on the premises.

This morning Arthur King pleaded guilty to keeping liquor for sale and was sentenced to two months' imprisonment in the county jail.

William Reynolds, the passenger in the taxi cab, when the arrest was made pleaded guilty to illegal possession and was fined $100 and $2.50 costs or three months in jail. He paid the fine.

William Miller, driver of the taxi faced the same charge and pleaded not guilty, asking for an adjournment. He was remanded until Thursday, bail being fixed at $200.

William Hopkinson, R.R. 2, Peterborough and Mrs. Isabella Reynolds pleaded guilty to illegal consumption of liquor in King's place and were fined $10 and costs each. Three others similarly charged pleaded not guilty and their cases were adjourned for a week. They were William Godfrey, S. Calladine, Jr., and Bert Lee.

Junior Institute Stages Dance

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 21.—The Junior Branch of the Women's Institute of Lakefield staged a successful dance in the Memorial Hall here on Friday evening, when a large crowd of young people spent a happy evening. Both square and round dancing were indulged in.

Refreshments were served in cafeteria style by members of the Senior Institute.

This is the second dance that the Institute girls have held this season and both have been most successful.

Personls.

Mrs. J. A. Porter and Miss Helen Porter of Lakefield, were in Canton on Friday evening, where a number of young people from Oak Lake Camp gathered to say farewell to Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Porter, who are leaving this month for Milton. The young people presented the couple with a picture.

Mr. Robert Spence of Lakefield, was in Canton on Friday evening, where he attended the send-off for Rev. and Mrs. Porter.

Miss Sheila Porter of Canton, is at present visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Porter, in the village.

SHOP IS ENTERED

Early this morning Hamilton's Beauty Shop on McDonnel street, near Reid street, was broken into and a quantity of cigarettes and chocolate bars stolen.

MINOR ACCIDENT.

Two cars collided at the intersection of Douro and Rogers streets Sunday afternoon but little damage resulted. One car was being driven east on Douro off Rogers by Miss Ethel Huffman, 526 Sherbrooke street, and the other was proceednig west on Douro, and owned by Alex Beggs, 237½ Princess street. Fenders were slightly damaged and the two came to an agreement, then reported to police.

THREE ALARMS IN 20 MINUTES.

Firemen had a busy half hour this morning when they dropped their toy-making tools in a hurry and rushed out to answer three alarms which rang within twenty minutes. First alarm was at 8.45 o'clock and sent one detachment hurrying to 529 Albert street to extinguish a chimney fire. At 9.06 another group fought through dense smoke from the furnace at the residence of Blake Stevenson, 5 Fleming Place, and finally cleared the house of smoke. At 9.07 a short circuit started the engine of a car on fire on Simcoe street. It was owned by Miss A. Curtis. Damage was not extensive.

FLAGS AT HALF-MAST.

Flags were flying at half-mast from government buildings in Peterborough today in respect for Kamal Ataturk, president of Turkey who died a few days ago. His funeral is today.

"SOUL AND BODY."

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon for First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday. The Golden Text was, "Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee" (Isaiah 26:8). Selections from the Bible included the following from Acts 17:24, 25: "God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands; Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things." Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook included the following: "Soul and Spirit being one, God and Soul are one, and this one never included in a limited mind or a limited body. Spirit is eternal, divine. Nothing but Spirit, Soul, can evolve Life, for Spirit is more than all else. Only by losing the false sense of Soul can we gain the eternal unfolding of Life as immortality brought to light."

Young Man Imbibes Too Freely, Starts On Tour Of Shop Window Lifting

This is a story in three parts with a tragic ending. The affair began in a local beverage room on Saturday night when a young man imbibed a little too freely, then started homeward.

As he passed the A. and P. Store on the east side of George street, he picked up a box of oxydol. Travelling north with the package under his arm he reached the Dominion store and promptly traded the oxydol for a two-gallon can of motor oil and a tin of crisco. As he breezed by Neil's store he lifted a rubber boot from the rack at the front. Life and Esquire nestling in a rack at Payne's Drug store was ignored as evidently the young man was intent on material gain and not entertainment as found in magazines. The next shoe store he reached yielded an ordinary rubber but the owner saw him lift the souvenir, and grabbed it from him when he had proceeded but a short distance. The storekeeper clipped him across the jaw with the rubber sending the shop lifter's spectacles flying but they didn't break and soon he was headed north again.

The clout on the jaw did not deter him because at the next shoe store he lifted a pair of women's stain pumps and at that point he must have decided that his load was complete, but it was awkward and the farther he walked the narrower the street seemed to become. At anyrate he was having difficulty staying on it. When the corner of Hunter and George streets was reached the inebriate leaned back against the wall, but his legs rebelled and he promptly slumped to a sitting position on a steel grate. At this point the can of crisco rolled away from him, but the man clambered after it on hands and knees, through the maze of shoppers' feet on the sidewalk. He had just regained his former comfortable position when Inspector Reid and Constable McGillen arrived. When the man arrived at the police station the officers accused him of stealing the shirt he was wearing and the close of the third act saw the happy shop lifter stowed away in the cells for the night.

29th Anniversary Is Observed At Church Of Sacred Heart

"The Ten Commandments are as modern as when God gave them to Moses on Mt. Sinai," declared Rev. S. Coffey of Bowmanville in his sermon at the Church of the Sacred Heart Sunday night concluding the day's celebration of its twenty-ninth anniversary. His statement was in answer to the criticism that sometimes is heard complaining that the church was old-fashioned and should be given a touch of modern streamlining.

"The Church stands firm by the laws of God. They will never be changed. Those laws saved souls in years gone by, and will continue to save souls down to the end of time."

Rev. Father Coffey spoke on the text: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His justice, and all these things will be added unto you." He referred to the effort that is being made by some rulers to-day to capture the minds of innocent children, to prevent them from knowing God, and to uproot all thoughts and loyalty to Him.

"These rulers would make themselves their people's gods, demanding for themselves the allegiance we pay to God, but they are forgetting man's fundamental need of spirituality. Rulers will never stamp out the value of the Church in the heart of mankind no matter what means they use."

Rev. Father Coffey emphasized the need of understanding the value of the Church, directing men into the paths of virtue, the home of Christ our King who said, "Come unto Me all ye who are heavily burdened and I will refresh you."

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Bishop O'Connor, who was assisted by Rev. Dean O'Sullivan and Rev. J. J. McCarthy.

Rev. T. H. Floyd Is Welcomed To St. George's

The first services of the new incumbent of St. George's Anglican church were held on Sunday, with a full congregation in attendance both morning and evening. At the conclusion of the evening service a social hour was held in the church basement to welcome to St. George's the new rector, Rev. T. H. Floyd, his wife and daughter.

Flowers were placed on the altar by Mrs. C. Cole and after the evening service they were presented to Mrs. Floyd.

Opening his first sermon, the new rector took as his text the 46th Psalm, "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in time of trouble."

"Before I begin my sermon I would like to say a few words," he said. "As your new rector I must say how pleased I am to be at St. George's. This is such a lovely little church, and I have heard numerous times that you are such energetic people. It is well known in the Peterborough deanery to be one of its most flourishing churches. I am indeed looking forward to worshipping with you for a long time.

"First I must make an apology for not being quite up to the mark today. The generosity of the people in Warkworth and Campbellford, with social functions, farewell dinners, etc. making many late nights this past two weeks, are responsible for my contracting such a terrible cold. However, I hope soon to feel quite myself again and hope to be fully settled in Peterborough and commence my duties as your rector."

Service Well Attended.

The evening service was very well attended. The men's club also attended in a body. The choir was out in full strength both morning and evening. The anthem at the evening service was "Send Out Thy Light". After the service a social hour was held in the basement to welcome the new incumbent, his wife and daughter.

Mr. A. G. Knott as rector's warden welcomed Mr. Lloyd and wished him every success as rector of St. George's. "I have been connected with this church for the past 12 years and have seen it go up and come down," he said. "It is at its peak now. You are starting your incumbency with everything in excellent shape, and I hope the congregation will support you and I know they will to keep our church this way. You will find the different organizations very willing to cooperate with you in every way. In closing sir, I welcome you very heartily to St. George's."

The people's warden, Mr. W. G. Ray, then called on Rev. Mr. Floyd to say a few words. "There is little for me to say. One thing is this, I really don't think you need a preacher here with Mr. Knott such a capable speaker". Mr. Floyd said he was very pleased to have such a friendly welcome, "You have made me feel very much at home today. I hope very soon to meet each one of you individually and if I should meet you on the street please speak to me as perhaps I may not just remember each one of you here tonight, so if you see me just speak and do not say, 'My he is stuck up'. This often causes misunderstanding and I would not want this.

"It will be a great pleasure, I can assure you to do my utmost to carry on the good work here, and with your support I know I will not fail. Both Mrs. Floyd and myself are looking forward to a very happy time with you all. I am the rector, Mrs. Floyd is the director, also we have our daughter and we all, I am sure, will be very happy in your midst."

Mr. Ray then called on Mrs. Floyd and daughter Ruth to stand so that everyone might see them and give them a welcome to St. George's church and hoped they would soon feel right at home with us all. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Guild of St. George's and the Ladies' Guild of St. Albans, Mrs. L. Warren and Mrs. J. Cooper, presidents.

Two Boys Plead Guilty To Theft

Two boys, Joseph Heffernan and Harry Jones, pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., today to breaking into the booth of Mrs. Catherine Brady, Douro street on Sunday, November 13 and stealing a quantity of tobacco, cigarettes and chocolate bars. John Harran, similarly charged, pleaded not guilty and evidence in his case had not been completed when court adjourned for luncheon.

John R. Corkery appeared in behalf of Heffernan and asked for suspended sentence for his client. He said that Heffernan had been a very unwilling participant in the affair and had stood across the street when the Brady premises were entered. Afterward when the stolen goods were divided his share of the loot consisted of one small package of cigarettes and he had thrown that away before he finished the cigarettes.

The trouble with suspended sentences, Magistrate Langley remarked, "is that this kind of thing is breaking out here again and must be stopped."

Heffernan and Jones were remanded until Thursday for sentence.

New Jersey Youths Find Zero Mark Cold At Coe Hill

(Examiner Correspondence.)

COE HILL, Nov. 21.—Three young men with chattering teeth and shivering bodies are getting thawed out over a hot fire at Coe Hill these days, still amazed at the weather they ran into on a trip last week from Wood Ridge, New Jersey, to this northern Hastings county village.

They travelled 550 miles and the further north they went the colder it became, until they arrived in Coe Hill in zero weather, and found the thermometer 55 degrees lower than when they had left their home.

It was 55 degrees above zero and a comfortable sunny day when the trio left their United States' home to drive to this village. Then it started to get cold and at Watertown, N.Y., they found their thermometer registering twenty degrees above the zero mark, so they put on heavy overcoats. They began to have qualms about the weather in Coe Hill about that time, and their worst fears were confirmed when they arrived, for the thermometer had just dropped to zero.

Hunter Stages Death Battle With Big Bear

Comes now with a postlude to the hunting season, Leo Feeley, 271 Romaine street, with a story of a hand to hand encounter with a bear in the country north of Apsley, and as it has been relayed to the Examiner by several of his friends down in the Raybestos factory it sounds like the season's epic.

After tramping through the bush for hours, not seeing even a rabbit, Leo sat down on a log to wait for the rest of his party. He was lighting his pipe when he heard a crackling of twigs behind him, and thought it was Joe Dunkerley, one of the companions he was expecting. Feeley casually turned his head, and there was a big black bear standing erect and coming fast toward him.

All In a Dither.

For a moment Leo was in a dither, but he jumped up, went into his shooting stance to steady himself, fired four shots, and as the story goes "he didn't scorch a hair of the black animal's fur." Now it's too late to try another shot; things are happening two fast, and the bear is too close. So, Leo does the only thing he can do. He grabed his rifle by the barrel, and swung the butt of it at the bear's head as it came within reach of him. As the Raybestos pals recount this episode of the battle, there followed nearlly twenty minutes, or it may only seemed like twenty minutes, of life and death struggling. And at the final gong the bear lay dead at the feet of Leo the lion hearted. But, that's not all; as anti-climax, nearly exhausted and all as he was Feeley looked around, perhaps wondering if any of his gang was in sight, and right close by was a buck that weighed 175 pounds. Leo is absolutely sure about the weight because the scales back in Peterboro showed it. Leo quickly picked up his rifle and brought down the deer with one shot, in contrast with the four he had blazed ot the bear.

Has the Evidence.

Mr. Feeley has the bear and buck hanging up at his home, if anyone doubts this story to the point of demanding evidence; but they will be there only another day or two for those who want to see them.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

William Emery, 28, living near Hastings, was charged in police court this morning with stealing nine hardwood trees in Asphodel township, the property of Timothy Coughlin. The crown was not yet ready to go ahead and the case was enlarged until next week.

Cobourg Rotary Holds Dinner At Roseneath

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, Nov. 21.—The annual town and county meeting of the Cobourg Rotary Club was held in the Orange Hall, Roseneath, on Friday night. The members of the Women's Auxiliary of St. James' Anglican Church, Roseneath, catered and provided a sumptuous banquet, to which one hundred and forty-five sat down. The color scheme of the decorations was purple and gold.

Following dinner Rotarian Bert Hanks led in community singing, with Mr. Morton of Cobourg at the piano.

The president, Rotarian H. O. Taylor, presided over an excellent program. In his opening remarks Mr. Taylor stressed the value of cooperation, as it brings peace and happiness to all, and, where all are well-known, friendship prevails," said the speaker. He also proposed the toast to the King.

Reeve J. Pace of Alnwick welcomed the guests, commented on the good work done by the organization, and wished the club success in all its efforts.

Empire Conference.

The guest speaker, H. B. Cowan, of Peterborough, was introduced by Rotarian Roy Goering of Peterborough.

Mr. Cowan was a delegate from the Chamber of Agriculture in Canada to the Empire Producers' Council held in Australia. Mr. Cowan spoke briefly on what has been accomplished by the Chamber of Agriculture. He spoke of the Farmers' Credit Act, as an important asset in stopping the shameless exploitation of farmers from coast to coast by private concerns.

Rev. Wm. Stocks, rector of St. James' Church, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

The guest entertainer for the evening was comedian Bert Harvey of Brougham, Ontario. Mr. Harvey was generous in his contributions, the majority of which were costume numbers.

Goldring's orchestra from Cobourg played at intervals throughout the program. Other numbers were: Tap dance, Blanche Staples of Cobourg; song, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," by Miss Gwendolyn Varcoe of Roseneath; cornet solo, Bert Cowan of Cobourg; humorous reading, "Love," by Clifford Earle of Cobourg; solo by Miss Margaret Atkinson of Roseneath; cornet solo, "Annie Laurie," played by Fred Hempstead of Cobourg; "The Highland Fling" was danced by little Miss Merla Braithwaite of Roseneath; violin solo by James McHenry of Roseneath; duet, "Giamina Mia," sung by Misses Margaret Atkinson and Gwendolyn Varcoe.

St. John's Club Marks Birthday

St. John's Young Men and Boys' Breakfast Club celebrated the eleventh anniversary of the organization at the church on Sunday morning, when a birthday breakfast was held, and many former members attended to bring the total number present to 80.

Walter Howell, president, extended a welcome to the old members and introduced the guest speaker, Rev. George S. Easton, pastor of Trinity United Church. Rev. Easton spoke on "Truth and Grace," and in the course of his remarks said: "The world needs men of thorough going sincerity and infinite goodness to carry on the work of Jesus Christ." R. N. Stuart, a charter member of the club, spoke briefly.

The club was formed in 1927 by the late Edgar Sorby, then superintendent of the Sunday School, and Bert Graham. Its purpose was to keep the young newly confirmed boys in touch with the church, and it has admirably served in this task. The birthday cake was decorated with eleven candles.

Truck Stolen Near Kingston In August Is Recovered In Bush At Young's Point

Stolen from the garage of H. Simpson at Cataraqui, near Kingston in August, a motor truck was found Saturday afternoon hidden in a bush near Young's Point.

William Collison, 309 Reid Street, made the discovery. He was hunting and came across the truck concealed in a thick woods. It had the appearance of having been abandoned and when Mr. Collison examined the machine he found the owner's license. Provincial Constable David Silvester was notified and Mr. Simpson was communicated with at Cataraqui. He came up on Sunday and obtain his truck which had suffered no damage. The thieves had painted over his name but otherwise the vehicle was unharmed.

It was found not far away from where a car stolen from J. K. Hughes last summer had been left by the famous Campbell gang and while there is no evidence on that point police are inclined to believe that the Cataraqui truck may have been in the hands of the Campbells for a while.

Seasoned Hunter Meets Bear And Two Cubs Drop His Rifle And Beats It To Camp

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 21.—For a seasoned hunter to have a bear and two cubs frighten him so badly he forgot to use his gun is the story brought back from St. Ola by a party of Campbellford hunters just returned from their yearly expedition into the deer country. According to a spokesman Warren Haggerty of Trenton who was with the party had constructed a wigwam of overturned stumps and logs and was waiting patiently inside with nothing but thoughts of venison on his mind. As his quarters became a trifle cramped he stepped outside and in doing so nearly walked into a bear and her two cubs who were giving the place the once over. Forgetting he had a gun, Haggerty went into action and, so the story goes, didn't stop until he reached the camp.

To Marshall West, another member of the party go the orchids or something, for the best long range shot of the season. According to two eye-witnesses he dropped a deer at 500 yards and this is considered by hunters to be "tops" in the realm of long distance marksmanship.

Hunting was a cinch this year in the mind of Harry Atkinson who it is thought established an all-time record by bringing down three deer in less than half an hour. Two of the animals were in fact brought down within a minute of each other as they came down a runway covered by Harry's gun. There were eleven in the party and they got their limit seeing as well countless partridge, rabbits and other small game to say nothing of beaver which are also plentiful north of St. Ola.

Forrest Dennis got his first good look at a beaver in its natural environment and this is rather unusual for the little animals usually make themselves scarce during the daytime. Other members of the group which was out for eleven days were A. E. Burgiss, Vince Farrell, P. J. Sarginson, B. M. Morton, Mac Atkinson and Archie Parker, all of Campbellford and John Burkett of St. Ola and Cliff Maybee of Belleville.

17,000 HOCKEY FANS SEE MAPLE LEAFS TIE THE BLACK HAWKS

Shore Leads Bruins In Lacing Wings While Leafs Tie Hawks, Drop 2-1 Battle With Amerks

By Jack Calder
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Eddie Shore is back on Boston Bruins' defence and from a steady, plugging club of huskies the Bears have become again a dynamic, feared force in the National Hockey League.

The grim Alberta grain farmer returned to the game last night after a holdout siege that began with the start of the season three weeks ago. For 56 minutes at Boston the Bruins battled Detroit Red Wings on even terms; then big Eddie whipped up a drive and the aroused Bruins rammed three goals past young Harvey Teno for a 4-1 victory.

Right now, with Shore apparently as good as ever, Boston looks to be the main obstacle in the way of New York Rangers' string of successes, which reached four last night when the unbeaten and untied Blueshirts whipped the winless Montreal Canadiens 2-1 at New York. Rangers and Bruins clash to-morrow night at Boston with a chance for first place at stake and the impact should be the loudest of the campaign thus far.

Rangers would grab an undisputed hold on first place by winning, while a victory for Bruins would give them a first-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks, who held the top by tying Toronto Maple Leafs 1-1 last night at Chicago. Leafs missed a chance to move into the lead by losing 2-1 to New York Americans on Saturday at Toronto and remained level with Rangers in second place, with Boston a point farther back.

Warm Third Session.

There wasn't a goal at Boston until the third period, when Charlie Conacher, the Wings' big bomber got his first of the year on a sizzling 15-foot shot. In five minutes Bruins tied the score through Cooney Weiland, after Shore had led wave upon wave against the Detroit goal.

With less than four minutes to play Eddie laid down a pass for Bobby Bauer and the youngster sank it to give Bruins a 2-1 lead. Bauer passed to Milt Schmidt for another goal, and 18 secnds later Porky Dumart, third member of their forward line, scored unassisted to cap a rally that belonged almost entirely to Shore and the sauerkraut line.

In their sixth straight loss, and with Rookie Claude Bourque in goal, Canadiens put up a game fight against Rangers. Lynn Patrick sent the Blueshirts ahead in the first period, but Louis Trudel tied the score on a relay from Bill Summerhill and George Mantha in the second. Four minutes before the close of that period, Phil Watson took a pass from Bryan Hextall and fired from close quarters past Bourque, who was called up only Friday night from the amateur ranks to replace Wilf Cude.

Canadiens Ready To Go.

Afterward Manager Cecil Hart expressed pleasure at the improvement in the Habitants' play and at Bourque's sparkling debut. He expects Canadiens to get started finally against Americans to-morrow at New York.

Manager Red Dutton added excitement to the thrilling encounter at Toronto by pulling Americans from the ice when the time clock went past the 20-minute mark and the timers' apparatus failed to sound the end of the second period. Referee Babe Dye wanted to stage a faceoff, but Mervyn the Red won the argument.

Leafs led from Nick Meta's first-period goal until Tommy Anders spanked the puck out of the air past Turk Broda in the third. In overtime Sweeney Schriner broke up the start of a Toronto play and dashed in for the winning goal.

The visit to Chicago was Toronto's first since the Stanley Cup series of last spring, won by Black Hawks. Leafs had to play under the fire of a constant tongue-lashing from the crowd that remembered the bitterness of the Cup series, but they came from behind to earn the draw. Johnny Gottselig scored in the first period and Gus Marker levelled the count for Toronto in the second.

Chicago's attendance of 17,000 was the biggest for the four games, which attracted approximately 55,500 customers and set a new record for a week-end's program this season.

MUSSING UP THE MAPLES

On Friday and Saturday a large number of lady bowlers were on hand for 5-pin bowling at Duffus' when 5 mixed leagues of trundlers from The Examiner, Outboard Marine, City Hall, Brinton Carpet Co., and A.Y.P.A., took part.

The first group of 6 teams from the Examiner on Friday saw Fred Scates rack up 802, the best individual total for the two evenings. Bob Baker hit 621, while good scores for ladies were chalked up by Mrs. Cowan 528 (201), Miss Scott 515, Miss Donoghue 510 (215) and Miss Dionne 408.

Four walloping scores for girls were knocked off in the Johnson Motors 10 team league, Miss G. Payne leading with 673 (248) (248), Miss M. Whaley 583, (250) Miss D. Moscrop 559 (231) and Miss B. Castle 537. W. Milliken topped the Outboardmen with 718, J. Boyle 657, O. Kenneally 663, A. R. McWilliams 637, Pete McArthur 631, L. Bearne 616, and N. Danano 611.

In the new City Hall league of six teams, the veteran Bill Meagher came out of retirement to flatten 671 pins, E. Humpage hit 623 and Ed Outram 615. Miss Long and Miss Thompson getting 506 and 438 each.

Miss E. Jones continued her great hitting streak in the Brinton league, this week her count was 702. Miss E. Brooks had 576 (227), M. McFarlane 533, E. Laws 513, Mrs. C. Farr 510, M. Hall 510, Mrs. M. Parks 508, L. Glaum, 502, B. Fitzgerald 495 (220), M. Ayotte 469 (256), J. Ball 468, D. Simmons 460 (236), C. Patterson 458, M. McFarlane 455, E. Hodson 452, Gord Caird was high for Brinton men with 724 (300), P. Murray 649, A. Bishop 632, W. Firth 626 and G. Dodson 621.

In the A.Y.P.A. roll Saturday evening W. Hepburn hit 654, L. Millard 619, Ken Gibson 612, Miss R. Reid 512, Miss E. Biddle 510, Miss C. Long 510, Miss M. Sisson 489, Miss Sims 452, Miss Hodgson 480, Miss V. Dorones 477, Miss A. Pruner 449, while good singles included Miss Sayers' 245, Miss Cookman's 207, Miss Krants' 204 and Miss Pilling's 200.

Everybody Is Happy Now

There's peace and harmony in Boston again. Eddie Shore, idol of the hockey-loving populace in Beantown, is back in the fold and fans can fill the arenas to see what most observers call "hockey's greatest player." Eddie held out for a salary above the league limit, but signed at the latter price after the longest holdout of his career. He missed the Bruins' first four games. Art Ross, LEFT, Boston boss, and his ace defenceman, are shown ABOVE.

FRED APOSTOLI

Kingston Club Gains Victory

Kingston Badminton Club took an 11-9 victory over the local Military Club in a friendly inter-club competition in the Armouries on Saturday. It was a return engagement from last season. The local racquet-wielders won out 4 to 1 in men's doubles and 3 to 2 in ladies' doubles, but fell down in the mixed doubles—Kingston taking an 8-2 decision there. Following the games, refreshments were served by the Military Club to the visiting and local players.

In mixed doubles, the Kingston team of Mitchell-Goodman defeated Miss F. Adams and R. Hewett, while the Butlin-Gagnon visitors took two straight over Mrs. M. Rishor and Russ Kitchen. Mrs. Clarke and her husband beat the local pair of Miss M. Donoghue and Dr. J. C. Green; and the Constantine-Main team of Kingston won over Mrs. J. Matthews and D. Black. Another guest pair, Miss Simmons and Mr. Jannett, was successful against Mrs. G. Putman and R. Bolton. Mrs. Harrison and Mr. Carruthers of the Limestone City defeated Mrs. W. Preston and A. Drynan. The Dawson-Brown team of Kingston was beaten by Mrs. C. Stuart and Gil Putnam, and the Pense-Slater pair of Kingston lost to Mrs. N. Rishor and W. Brown. Mrs. Skinner and Mr. MacLachlan of the visiting bunch won from Mrs. V. Selkirk and G. Tollington; and the Dawson-Main pair defeated Mrs. J. Sparrow and J. Sparrow. Mrs. J. C. Green teamed with G. Bailey, and Mrs. H. K. Clifton was drawn with R. S. Allin.

Ladies' Doubles.

In ladies' doubles, the Butlin-Mitchell team won from Miss F. Adams and Mrs. W. Preston, while the Clarke-Constantine pair defeated Mrs. N. Rishor and Mrs. Max Rishor. The next three local teams won, Mrs. G. Putnam and Mrs. J. Matthews from the Harrison-Dawson pair; Miss M. Donoghue and Mrs. C. Stuart over the Pense-Simmons combination, and Mrs. J. C. Green and Mrs. V. Selkirk from the Skinner-Simmons duo.

While Messrs Slater and MacLachlan of Kingston defeated the Sparrow-Black pair, it was the visitors' only win in men's doubles. Hewett and Brown won from Clarke and Gagnon, Bolton and Putnam beat Goodwin and MacLachlan; Tollington and Drynan were successful against Brown and Carruthers, and Kitchen and Green defeated the Jannet-Main duo.

Alfie Moore Off To Envious Start Of Greatest Season In Nets

TORONTO, Nov. 21. — (CP).— Year in and year out, slender Alfie Moore has turned in consistent and often-times brilliant performances. But this year looks like the best season ever for Moore, still young in heart and years although regarded as a veteran.

Alfie gained his greatest fame last spring when, after finishing out a season with the minor league Pittsburgh Horents, he substituted for the injured. Mike Karakas and sparked Chicago Black Hawks to a first-game triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs in the series for the Stanley Cup.

And it is just such exhibitions Alfie has been turning in this year with the first year Hershey Bears in the International-American League. The Bears, in first place in their section, have been beaten only once in six games.

Only once in those games has Alfie allowed a team to score more than one goal. The opposition only have been able to score eight goals against the Bears in those six games, the Bears have tallied 19.

Alfie's shutout came Saturday when the Bears whipped Pittsburgh 5-0, while Springfield was topping Cleveland 4-3. Last night Philadelphia Ramblers, also beaten only once in six games and topping their section, defeated New Haven Eagles 7-3; Providence Reds beat the Barons 3-1 and Syracuse Stars overwhelmed Springfield Indians 5-0.

Mickey Drouillard paced the Bears' attack with three goals while Doug Mackie and Sammy McManus got the others. In the other Saturday contest Tommy Filmore scored twice for Indians, while Bert Connolly and Hub Wilson each got one. Phil Hergesheimer, Patterson and Lorne Duguld had singles for the Barons.

Against Providence the only Baron goal was scored by Duguld while the Reds got counts from Jack Keating, Crossley Sherwood and Art Giroux. Norm Locking, Thompson, Pete Langelle, Jack Markle and Jack Fox scored the goals that gave Stars a shut-out over Springfield.

The Ramblers, highest scoring team in the circuit, didn't get their attack against the Eagles going until the second and third periods. After a scoreless first session, Ramblers clicked in the seond for gaols by Cliff Barton and one by Lloyd Roubell. In the third Philadelphia tallies went to Lude Wareing, Allen, Kilby McDougald and Steve Gustafson. The three New Haven scores came in the last period. Tony Hemmerling got one, Armand Mondou another and Don Wilson the third.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

JAVA JOE was swishing a slice of toast in a plate of gravy when we nailed him in a hash house Saturday — one of the better joints where it's two bits for a hot pork sandwich. Joe is still thinking football and mixing his vocabulary. Thinks we ducked him "on porpoise" after the Sarnians fairly slaughtered the Orfuns. "You exported the Sardines' disrespected loss here," grunts Joe, "but it was luck as forces confined to recount for the upset, and it was a kind of pony-wise pond-foolish aptitude on your part, anyway!" We gave him an argument, but Joe insists :"The Orfuls had a few good back-feelers and several good lie-men, but they had no business deleting the perannual champion Sardines. Bum Stirling and his co-eds couldn't have been in the punk of contrition that contrast.

* * * * * *

NOW THE ORFULS looked more like theirselves against the Bummy Beaches and the Montreal Nationalities, both good gird squadrons who were several tough-downs better. The Orfuls need rebilling and more reverse strength as Dan Crowe and Ford Lucks can't do four back-feelers' work all year; nor can girders like Henry, March, Irving, Deadly and such, bump it out with fresh exponents every contrast. It's unseasonable to expect it, like expecting the Jews to get a fair deal from Der Furore and his Nasty party! Why the Alleys in 1918 didn't masticate the Bosh and provide up their land when they had the chance is a misery to me!" And Joe was so mystified he forgot to tip the girl on the way out. We advised our critic that Orfuns next year would not be shy on reserves, and said we knew nothing of the nasty Nazi purge in Hitler-ridden Germany. We have enough trouble keeping track of sports.

The Old Sponge Gag

JOE HAS a roundabout way of getting at things but he generally rings one up on the cash register. Toting an ancient camera with its insides gone, and a 1937 press badge, he saw all the grid games here gratis this year. Reminds us of the guy in barrom days here who took a dark brown flask in and got it filled with giggle-soup. Then wanted it put on the cuff. The barkeep refused, sothe guy says: "Well, gimme back my empty bottle." The fluid was emptied and the bird went out in the back and busted his crock. A big sponge came to view and a glass of the best was squeezed out! It was told to us.

FRESH FROM their fine win of the 1938 O.S.A. intermediate "C" championship, the Keene sports are talking hockey now. There is considerable chatter in the village on overhauling the rink, fixing the roof and doing minor repairing inside. It may be made a community affair for this coming cold spell. And it is quite possible that Keene may enter a team in our Senior City Hockey League—yeah, the Blood and Thunder circuit. Some of the Keenesters did their ice chores with the Hiawatha gang in this loop last winter. For its size, Keene is certainly sports conscious. Not forgetting the gals' softball squad which yearly represents that centre here, either.

More Grunts an' Groans

THERE WILL BE a rasslin' show in the Brock St. Arena—we nearly said "aroma" after talking to Java!—this coming Friday eve at 8.30. Three bouts lined up like this: The Mask, 185-pound Winnipeg mystery man, vs. vs. Buck Moffatt of Mt. Denis; semi-final return match between Rene Labelle and Ren Gazelley, who met here last Friday at 190 pounds; and prelim between Tiger Jack Cox, 175 of Toronto, and Scotty McKenzie of Nova Scotia. Promoted by Charlie Kumpf of Toronto, under local direction. With so many matmen in action here again, the grunts and groans will sound like a National Dental Week!

PROVING they are still great money players, the Sarnia Imps took a 9-5 win from Nats in Montreal on Saturday and tote home a four-point lead for the return senior O.R.F.U. playoff in Sarnia next week-end. Nationals had a good edge on first downs, etc., with Mullins kicking five points in the first quarter—but after halftime, ye Imps got rolling to gain the nod. Stirling and Golab starred for the Oilers whilst Ferraro and Burns led the losers. With Hempey and Burton reported injured, the Montrealers' chances in the return fray aren't any too bright. Argos should take Ottawa, so the Eastern Canada final will in all probability be another Argo--Sarnia clash. Regardless of luck or upsets, the Orfuns feel kind of happy over being the lone grid team this year to have beaten the Imperials.

* * * * * *

Even Coaches Miss One

ERE THE START of the senior grid season, the 12 major football coaches in the east made their selections on final standings. In Senior O.R.F.U., they had the Imps ahead of the Nats, with Beaches in third and Orfuns trailing. The Big Four choices put Argos on top, then Ottawa, with Tigers next and Cubs in the cellar. Only in the Intercollegiate did the coaches look bad. They picked Toronto on top with Western next, Queen's in the third slot and McGill deep in the cellar. Yet McGill's won the title! And most of 'em picked Argos to win Eastern Canada honors. Canadian Press is picking all-star teams in the three major groups in the east, each coach and each sports writer in the town where a team is located having a vote. Bill Irwin and yours truly had an O.R.F.U. ballot.

LOT OF FOLKS asking what kind of a senior or intermediate puck team the Petes will have this winter. It's a hard one to answer as yet. The locals lost four or five of their best from last winter. They've brought in a couple of replacements and will have last year's intermediate "B" bunch and junior grads to choose from, too. While there are a few others who came here on their own hook or with the rugbyists—but you can't tell a thing about these players till they take to the ice. Many a puckist who blooms in the summer appears frostbitten when parked on the ice. Can't tell much for a few more weeks, and your guess is as good as our own. Personally, we'd guess that the 1939 Petes will be pretty nearly as strong as the '38 O.H.A. senior "B" semi-finalists. Our juniors this semester should be a bit better than those of last year, we think.

Maritime Title In Cape Breton

SYDNEY, N.S., Nov. 21.—(CP).—From a November vantage point, it looks very much as though the Nova Scotia senior hockey title will stay in Cape Breton another year and it will be a dogfight between the Cape Breton winners and the Saint John Beavers for the Maritime championship, left very much open when Moncton Maroons disbanded.

There are, of course, other leagues in operation in the Maritimes besides the Cape Breton loop and whatever one—if any—the Beavers pastime in. But none has tried quite so hard to revive the days of the Big Four when every second man one met on the steret in Halifax, Moncton, Charlottetown and Saint John was a hockey player with a not exactly culpable desire to view the Atlantic in winter.

The three teams in the Cape Breton league, Sydney, North Sydney and Glace Bay, last year's provincial champions, have a modest corner on all the available talent. For example, Sydney has Hal Ingram, George Appleby, both of last year's Moncton team, Tic Williams of Charlottetown, Bun McLenuahan of Fredericton, Jack Fritz from Ontario, and McEwan, last year with Falconbridge in Ontario's Nickel Belt League. Williams played in the Cape Breton League last year but not with Sydney.

Glace Bay has Kivisto and Linkletter from Ontario, Fulton Pound and Ray Staull from Charlottetown, Paddy Cormier and Art Lalton from Pictou County and others. Cormier is another holdover from last year.

North Sydney Monarchs weren't exactly caught napping either. For one thing—and it isn't likely to aid Glace Bay feelings any, they came up with Grant MacGillivray who turned in some sensational games for the champions in goal last winter. The Monarchs did well in other positions. The league is due to open Nov. 22.

Chief threat to the League's bid for another title is likely to be the Eastern League winners. Halifax Wolves, one of the teams in that circuit, h.ld Atlantic City Sea Gulls to a 3-1 victory after dropping the first game 6-1, in an exhibition series, first of the year for the Wolves. Then, too, the Nova Scotia League, which sent New Glasgow against Glace Bay in the provincial finals last year, may have something to say about the championship.

But it would take a lot to convince Cape Breton fans that one of their teams won't be the Maritime champion by April.

Lacrosse Wizard F. Cameron Dies

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 21 (C.P.). —Donald F. Cameron, 60, one of Canada's outstanding lacrosse players 35 years ago and a former member of Cornwall Town Council, died here on Saturday.

Cameron was one of the game's best defencemen and was playing in senior company before he was 20 years old. During his long career he was a member of Montreal Irish-Canadians, Toronto Tecumsehs, Oshawa and St. Catharines, Ont., clubs, and played one season with a Vancouver squad.

Engaged in the insurance business here, Cameron was a member of the Fire Brigade for a number of years, and was also on the Cornwall Athletic Commission Board. Surviving are his widow and three sisters, Mrs. Bert Jardine and Mrs Tavish McTavish of Cornwall, and Mrs. Robert Sleeman of Tenino, Wash.

Nazis Get Even

SALZBURG, Nov. 21—(AP)—Two former Austrian army officers were convicted of murder today on the allegation they were responsible for an order that no prisoners be taken in crushing the Nazi uprising of 1934. Colonel Johann Stochal, charged with giving the order, was sentenced to eight years at hard labor. Captain Josef Rosenkranz, charged with carrying out the order, was sentenced to six years.

Montreal's Maxie Berger Is Aiming For A Bout With Henry Armstrong

MAXIE BERGER
A Star Already in Fistiana and Still Rising

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—They—the boxing experts—say of Mexie Berger that he is the greatest fighting machine every produced in Canada. And they're not far wrong, because Montreal's scrappy Hebrew lightweight combines the boxing ability of Frankie Fleming and the fighting ability of Leo "Kid" Roy, two other Canadian boys who went far along the fistic trail. And Maxie is proving his claim to greatness with his two flailing fists.

Until the spring of 1935, when he turned professional, Maxie did his bit to keep the Bergers in victuals by working in a Montreal garment plant. Today he's well fixed financially—not bad for a 21-year-old youngster.

Berger's climb up the fistic ladder of fame has by no means been an easy one. He's met with both success and failure. True, he hasn't experienced many setbacks in his three-year career in the professional ring, but he has profitted by both.

No. 8 on N.B.A. List

Lightweight champion of Canada, Maxie Berger was recently ranked eighth among the welterweights of the world by the National Boxing Association, ruling body of fistiana on this continent. To back up his claim as a ruler in his weight class, Maxie has this enviable record to show: professional fights, 51; wins, 40; losses, 6; draws, 5; knockouts scored, 12; knocked out, 0. If this record in itself does not seem impressive just glance through the list of Maxie's victims. It includes such luminaries as Lew Massey, Midget Wolgast, Dave Castilloux, Frankie Wallace, Enrico Venturi, Lou Lombardi and Charlie Gomer.

Earliest records show that Maxie first entered the ring as a tough youngster of 10, as tough a lad as any of the famed "Dead End Kids," This was at the Neighborhood House, a local community centre.

Before he ever put on the gloves, however, he earned a neat reputation for himself as a street brawler par excellence, a necessity in a district where a kid had to use his dukes with some degree of efficiency to save himself from taking home a "shiner" ever so often.

Started Young

It is said of Maxie that he scored his first fistic victory as a toddler of three when he got the best of a set-to with a lad three years his senior. Since that day, 18 years ago, Mrs. Berger's little boy has always been able to get by with his fists.

It was when he joined the Young Men's Hebrew Association at the age of 13 that Berger really started his climb to fistic heights. He developed rapidly under the able "Y" coaching, and pretty soon was walking off with local, provincial and dominion honors.

Maxie's greatest disappointment was his defeat by Jack Palmer, European flyweight champion, in the British Empire Games finals at Wembley Stadium in August, 1934. On his return to Canada, however, he continued to score victory after victory as an amateur, and on May 15, 1935, took the jump into the monied ranks knocking out Roger Cantin in the first round in Montreal.

The lad then won eight more fights lost one and drew one in Montreal and Ottawa, and on June 8, 1936, he made his debut in New York knocking out Ray Haynes in three chukkers. Four more knockout victories in New York stamped him as a youngster going places. There followed a loss to Orville Drouillard here and a return to New York, where he scored a long list of triumphs.

Usually Evens the Count

Of the six defeats suffered by Berger, only Leonard Del Genio and Bill Beauhuld haven't been beaten by him in return bouts. Frankie Wallace, Dave Castilloux, Orville Drouillard and Tommy Rawson were the others to score over Berger, but he in turn, has beaten them all. His last defeat was in New York on Feb. 7 of this year when Billy Beauhuld scored an eight-round decision victory. Since then Maxie has won 10 and drawn one. His latest win was scored over Charlie Gomer in New York on Nov. 1.

It is significant that Maxie is now billed as a Bronx boy. When New York adopts a "foreigner" as one of her very own that party must have plenty on the ball—and that's just what Maxie has. Right now he's gunning for a fight with hammering Henry Armstrong for the world's title, and if ability and heart mean anything Montreal's—and Canada's—Maxie may yet wear the crown.

Noted Golfer Dies In Dave Spittal

TORONTO, Nov. 21 (C.P.).—David Spittal, 50, one of the finest tournament golfers that Canada has ever known, died suddenly on Sunday while visiting at the home of a fellow pro, Archie Crompton.

Spittal was seized with an attack. Coroner Dr. W. J. O'Hara pronounced death due to heart trouble.

Spittal was born at St. Andrew's, Scotland, the birthplace of golf. He came to Canada in 1913 and served as assistant pro to Percy Barrett at Lambton Golf Club. Subsequently he became pro at Scarboro' Golf Club, and in 1915 enlisted for overseas duty as an instructor in the artillery. In post-war years he went to Wichita, Kansas, to carry on his golfing duties. From here he found himself at Savannah, Georgia, and then Miami. Returning to Canada he took charge at Uplands, St. Andrew's and Royal York in the Toronto district until three years ago, when he was employed as professional at the Odlewyide Club at Sudbury.

The record book shows that Spittal was twice Ontario open champion, runner-up in the Canadian Pro Golfers' Association tournament and winner of the Quebec open.

Remember When—

New York Yankees, hot on the trail for an outfielder to replace Babe Ruth, pinched Joe DiMaggio from San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League four years ago today. "Der Mag," now one of the greatest baseball players in the game, cost the Yankees five players—three outright and two on option.

Sweden entertained 5,375 more foreign visitors this year than last.

STIRLING LEADS IMPERIALS TO VICTORY OVER THE NATIONALS

McGill Nip Western 9-0 For Title, Sarnia Downs Nats 9-5, Argos Lace Riders In 9-1 Tussle

By Sydney Gruson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

McGill Redmen tucked away their first football championship in 10 years today and left the eastern gridiron activity to the big guns of the Interprovincial and Ontario Union, who will decide the section's finalists after one more game each.

The Redmen, who lost only once all season, reached the heights Saturday as they licked University of Western Ontario 9-0 at Montreal. They will not go after the eastern championship and a crack at Winnipeg Blue Bombers for the national title.

Impressively, Sarnia Imperials downed Montreal National 9-5 in the opening game of the O.R.F.U. playoffs, also at Montreal, while Toronto Argonauts stirred a record crowd of 20,000 at Toronto to fever-pitch excitement as they overcame Ottawa Rough Rider power 9-1. Argos will carry their eight-point lead to Ottawa Saturday for the return game of the total-points series.

Argos, the national champions, and Imperials were so convincing in victory that most observers were ready to call them for the eastern final, probably in Toronto if they are the teams, Dec. 3. The national final tentatively is scheduled for December 10.

The McGill Triumph.

With Herb Westman showing from his first punt that he was in for a good day, McGill took to the air. They had Westman kicking on first down from the start and he brought them a single point in the first quarter and three in the second.

It was the same in the second half. Westman kicked five more singles, the Redmen's pass defence worked brilliantly and two fumbles in the third quarter cost Western their best chances. At the end McGill were in full command with Andy Anton, Ronnie Perowne and Howie Bartram ripping holes in the tiring Western line.

Most of the McGill stars finished their college careers in this game. It was a glorious finish for them.

Argos Break Riders.

Argos slowly broke the Riders' hearts with a brilliant display of swift end runs and daring ball handling, which paid off in the final quarter when Bill Stukus shot a touchdown pass into the end zone to Doug MacPherson and Annis Stukus kicked a field goal from placement.

Riders led 1-0 until the older Stukus booted the 25-yard field goal on the first series of plays in the fourth quarter. Tiny Herman's placement went wide for the single in the second quarter when Riders were pressing hard, at one time moving 49 yards to the Argo 39 on line smashes and a pass.

But every time Riders threatened like that in the first half, when their ground forces were at their peak, Argos stiffened at the proper moments. Finally their speed won out as the fast-tiring Riders conceded long gains to Bill Stukus, easily the outstanding man on the field, Art West, Red Storey and Bob Isbister.

The touchdown came after one 40 yard drive was stopped when Earl Selkirk booted wide on a field goal try. Eddie Rocano was short with a punt, young Stukus galloped 15 yards, then shot the pass to MacPherson. Bill converted.

Riders made 10 first downs and Argos none in the first half. But the champions were easily the better club afterwards. Rolling up 10 in the second half while Riders were held to three. The outstanding Riders were Andy Tommy, for his strong running, burly Murray Griffin and Dave Sprague.

The Imp Game

Nationals also held their wide edge for the frist half over Imperials, who can take their eighth successive O.R.F.U. championship by protecting the four-point lead in Sarnia next Saturday. Imperials, with Tony Golab playing a star role, got to work in the second half to wipe out the field goal and two singles kicked by Ray Mullins.

The Imperial offensive wa sat its best in the third quarter. Hugh (Bummer) Stirling raced 65 yards with the kickoff and that set the stage for a 35-yard gallop by Golab to the Nats' 18. Straight plunging carried it across with Jim Shanks scoring on a smash from the one-yard line.

Golab went for 40 yards soon afterwards, paving the way for the last score, a single. Aroused, Nationals smashed hard at the Imperial line in the closing minutes and once they carried the ball to Sarnia's 32. A long pass from there, that might have brought victory if successful, failed.

With Imperials halting powerful Johnny Ferraro, the National ground attack was carried mainly by Tommy Burns, who showed a return to the plunging form that made him a threat a few seasons back.

"Now Don't You Say Nothin'"

If you want to take an opponent out of the play and at the same time keep him quiet this might prove to be an effective method...providing no officials are looking. Wiscousin and U.C.L.A. were playing in Los Angeles when this bit of gagging took place. Woodrow Stroud, outside with the Californian team, clamps his hand firmly over the face of Vincent Gavre, Wisconsin quarter, as he attempts to get around to the play. Good clean football fun!

Barrie And Oshawa Play 3-All Draw

TORONTO, Nov. 21. — Barrie and Oshawa Juniors fought to a 3-all deadlock after ten minutes of overtime on Saturday at Victoria College campus. The game was to decide the winners of the Central Ontario junior title.

Oshawa remained in command for the first 55 minutes on Hennessey's three kicks to the deadline. At this stage a hard-fighting Northern team, sparked by effective plunging by Dionne, blocked a kick on the Lakeshore crew. Daniels, not discouraged by his first attempt at a placement striking the crossbar, grabbed a loose call on Oshawa's next plunge and made good his second attempt, to tie the score.

The first half of the game found the Barrie kids unable to untrack themselves in a position for a major score, but plunging by Reynolds and Saunders went for nought when they reached pay-dirt.

Dionne found himself in the second half, and slipped through for several long gains to place his team in a position to tie the score.

Neither team could do anything in the overtime play. The game to decide the winner will be played this week.

Umbrella Works

MONTREAL, Nov. 21 —(CP)— An umbrella is all that Mrs. Henri Bond needs to chase away thieves.

Wife of a Montreal detective-sergeant Mrs. Bond was walking near her home yesterday when a youth accosted her and demanded her purse. Instead Mrs. Bond, who said the bandit was carrying a toy gun, swung with the umbrella and broke the steel shaft over the youth's head. The hold-up man escaped.

Lady Driver Is In Spotlight Dufferin Track

TORONTO, Nov. 21.—You've got to hand it to the girls—they seem to be able to do anything, and do it well ,these days. Up at Little Saratoga Saturday, Miss June Dillman, driving Betty Boop in one of the feature events, made her male competitors look like novices as she brought her steed down in front in two of the three heats completed.

After finishing in seventh place in the keenly contested initial heat, Miss Dillman, the only feminine driver in the race, got Betty Boop in front of the pack as the field entered the back stretch in the second heat, and was never headed. In the third heat, Betty Boop rushed into an early lead and won handily under Miss Dillman's capable guidance.

Miss Dillman's performance highlighted the first program of races under the auspices of the Toronto Driving Club at Dufferin Park. Although sixteen heats were carded, only eleven were run off Saturday, with the remainer scheduled to be completed this afternoon. Only one heat of the opening race was completed, with R. K. Grattan winning handily in 2.11½.

W. Hillock's Lastic Grattan showed plenty of speed in winning the free-for-all pace in three straight heats. With the winner in the barn, the final heat was taken by Victor Lee, which finished second to Lastic Grattan in each of the three previous heats.

Peter Bidwell won two of the three heats and gained a second in the classified past. Troxie R. won the other event, and the final heat will be raced to-day.

English Rugby Attendance Up

HALIFAX, Nov. 21—(CP). — The 1938 season was one of the best English rugby has had in Nova Scotia for years. Attendances were up and interest was high throughout, particularly in the intercollegiate league won for the first time by St. Mary's.

Glace Bay's famous Caledonia team, perennial champions, retained their Nova Scotia title and the McCurdy Cup, emblematic of Maritime supremacy. Saint John Seniors took the New Brunswick championship but did not meet Caledonia.

The Halifax City League went to Halifax Wanderers with Dalhousie University in second place and Acadia third. St. Mary's edthroned St. Frances Xavier, last year's Maritime champions, in the Nova Scotia finals and Mount Allison defeated the Halifax college in the Maritime playoff.

Charge Disproved

Presenting Henry (Hi) Living, classy snapback with Sarnia Imperials, whose questioned eligibility caused such a stir in eastern football circles. In information presented to the O.R.F.U. executive, it was charged that Living had not resided in Canada continuously since Oct. 1, 1937, and thus was ineligible to play under C.R.U. rules. The charge was not refuted, but under the league regulations it came out that he was breaking no rules. An addition charge that Living was an American was disproved when evidence was brought forth to show that he was born in Hafford, Sask.

Inn A Washout Braddock To Fight Again

By Alan Randal
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—(CP).—It may never come to pass of course, but Jim Braddock is giving heavy consideration to a ring comeback and the reason behind it all is an empty 49th Street restaurant, hard by Madison Square Garden, where the sign "Inn Braddock's Corner," no longer flashes.

The idea that even such a broth of a boy as Jersey Jim, well up in his 30's should want more ring punishment is hard to figure at first. But the former heavyweight champion is getting back into shape with workouts at Stillman's gym and it adds up when you consider he took the chips he made with his fists and put them into his restaurant.

Benny Leonard, one-time king of the lightweights did that too, opening a gaudy spot on 72nd street. Tony Canzoneri, another ex-lightweight ruler, also fixed himself up with an eatery. They followed in Jack Dempsey's footsteps, where the former middleweight ruler, Mickey Walker, trod before them.

But, unlike Walker and Dempsey —and like Braddock—Canzoneri and Leonard today are no longer restaurateurs. It indicates the fight business brings in boodle, other business takes it out and if prize fighters kept their schnozzles in the beak-busting trade instead of the coffee-and-cake line, they be better off.

Other Examples

For another instance there is Hymie Caplan, who made sufficient money from his stable of fighters to open a bar and grill. He dropped $3,000 in the operation and says he won't try it again though he'd have done all right had his boxers not eaten him into bankruptcy. About nine years ago Hymie fancied the role of night club proprietor on 52nd St. That cost him $7,500.

As long ago as last September, when his smart spot was in shaky shape and some time before it closed, Braddock talked of a comeback. He said he'd like to fight Joe Louis again and would like to meet Max Schmeling en route to a bout with the champion. Already he has an offer of a $5,000 fight in Newark.

Minnesota, Oklahoma, Duke, Utah And Fast-Travelling Harvard Clean Up 5 Major Championships

By Bill Boni
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—(AP).—With five major championship issues settled and three others brought nearer to conclusion, the 1938 United States college football campaign today headed into its final week of general country-wide competition—a week which will find such Thanksgiving Day (Nov. 24) fixtures as Tennessee - Kentucky, Alabama - Vanderbilt and Pennsylvania-Cornell sharing the headlines with a Saturday card topped by the annual Army-Navy service duel and unscored-on Duke's battle with Pittsburgh.

Titles won and lost in Saturday's gridiron battles were:

Western Conference, by Minnesota with a rousing 21-0 triumph over Wisconsin that, coupled with Michigan's 18-0 rout of Ohio state, enabled the Golden Gophers to repeat their 1937 victory.

Big Six, by unbeaten-untied Oklahoma in its 10-0 defeat of Iowa State.

Big Three, by Harvard in its water-logged 7-0 conquest of Yale.

Southern Conference, by Duke in a 7-0 decision over rugged North Carolina State.

Rockey Mountain Big Seven, by unbeaten but twice-tied Utah in its 39-0 rough-riding over Wyoming.

Wisconsin Tumbles

Minnesota, ruining Wisconsin's hopes for its first Big Ten title since 1912 for the second time in 10 years, won all the way. With Larry Euhler, George Franck and Marty Christiansen attending to the scoring, Bernie Bierman's boys threw up such an effective defence the Badgers staged only one threatening march, to the six-yard line.

Meanwhile Michigan, completing its first season under Fritz Crisler with six victories, a one-point defeat by Minnesota and a tie, cleared the Gophers' way to exclusive occupancy of the conference throne, by defeating Ohio State.

Yale, which played 11 men without a substitution for almost three periods, finally was worn down by one brilliant 80-yard Harvard march; Duke, with Eric Tipton rushing for 33 yards and passing for the other 13 in its 46-yard touchdown drive, had to call out its line regulars to stop North Carolina State for a no gain twice, and Oklahoma, showing unexpected skill with a flanker pass, needed all of that skill to subdue an Iowa State team whose line played the vaunted Oklahoma forwards to a standstill.

Surviving in the all-winning class with Duke and Oklahoma were Notre Dame, Texas Christian, Georgetown and Texas Tech.

The Irish, in gaining their eighth straight victory over typically tough Northwestern by 9-7, uncovered a new backfield star in Willard Hofer, 22-year-old second-stringer who accounted for all nine-points with a 65-yard runback of an intercepted pass and a 30-yard field goal. Only Southern California, to be met Dec. 3 at Los Angeles, now stands between Elmer Layden's crew and its claim to the mythical United States championship.

Cheese Season Is Exended 3 Weeks

Peterborough cheese factories are extending their season far into November, almost three weeks later than last year, W. J. Moore, dairy instructor, commented to the Examiner today. Several of the factories have closed for the winter, and most of them will be through operating in another week.

"The quantity of cheese the factories have been turning out has stood up well," Mr. Moore said, "but the quality has been dropping below par, especially in flavor. We have been noticing a rancid and turnipy taste in some of the cheese, and I feel we would be better off without that kind of production. One of those cheese reaching the market now is likely to cost us three next year. However, the weather has been pretty favorable and the factories have been running along. You can't depend on the weather at this time of the year, and I think most people are content to close up now until Spring comes again."

OBITUARY

FREDERICK G. MAHOOD.

Frederick G. Mahood died at his residence at 136 London Street on Sunday evening after a short illness. He was 60 years of age.

Born in Smith Township, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mahood, and had lived in this district all his life. He came to Peterborough twenty years ago from Otonabee Township. He was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Robert and Earl Mahood of this city; and two daughters, Marion and Eileen Mahood, at home; also three brothers: Stanley and Ernest of Peterborough, and Harvey in the United States; and six sisters: Mrs. George Larkie and Mrs. Dave Jordan of Peterborough, Mrs. Norman Smart of Fort William, Mrs. Arthur Hunter of North Monaghan, Miss Rose Mahood of Toronto, and Mrs. O. Cragg of Lethbridge, Alta.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. CATHERINE McGLYNN

The death of Mrs. Catherine McGlynn, wife of John McGlynn, occurred at her residence at 201 Rutherford avenue on Sunday after a long illness. She was in her 80th year.

She had resided in Peterborough for the past 45 years, coming here from her birthplace at Middville, Ontario. She was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Surviving besides her husband are three sons, Roy and Percy of this city and William of Detroit.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning at 8.45 o'clock from the residence of her son, Percy McGlynn, 139 Stewart street, to St. Peter's Cathedral for Requiem Mass at 9 o'clock. Interment will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

THE QUALITY OF MERCY

Charged with creating a disturbance on Simcoe street, a young man pleaded not guilty this morning in police court and Magistrate Langley was about to register a conviction on the evidence of Constable McGillen when Chief Newhall asked for a suspended sentence in the case and offered no evidence in another charge of drunkenness. "He has just got a job and will lose it if he is not allowed to go," he told the court and the accused was given his liberty.

Because of the high cost of burials, Dublin, Ireland, may establish a municipal cemetery.

Charge Dismissed Against Dealer

"In view of the importance of this decision which affects the local by-law and possibly the provincial law may I ask your worship to state a case in order that it may be brought before a higher court," said City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, K.C., in police court this morning after Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., had given judgment, dismissing a charge against T. J. Cavanagh, George street, under the Transient Traders' bylaw.

The request will be granted by the court.

Cavanagh was charged under the local bylaw offering goods for sale, not having taken out a transient trader's license while his name was not on the current assessment roll.

Evidence in the case was heard some weeks ago and His Worship had reserved judgment until today.

In a lengthy finding Magistrate Langley pointed out that the Municipal Act gave municipalities authority to regulate two classes (1) transient raiders and (2) "other persons" who might offend against provisions of the transient traders' act. In the case of the local bylaw no provision had been made for a penalty for this second class. Mr. Cavanagh, he ruled, could not be regarded as a transient trader because for a number of years he had lived in Peterborough and carried on business here and because the evidence showed that he had entered into a three-year lease of the premises he was now occupying. Therefore he must come under the category "other persons" and as there was no penalty for this class in the local bylaw there could be no conviction.

W. J. Arthur Fair appeared in behalf of Cavanagh and the prosecution was in the hands of City Solicitor Huycke.

88.3 Percent. Taxes Have Been Paid

Payment of taxes at the city hall up to Saturday, November 19, amounted to $771,615, representing 88.3 per cent of the tax roll this year of $873,786.02.

For the same period last year the total payment was $785,151.67, or 87.68 per cent of the 1937 tax roll of $895,163.71.

At the end of October the total receipt of taxes, including arrears from other years, was $647,989.62 as compared with $670,425.49 for the first ten months of 1937. These sums do not include the third instalments due in the first week of November.

The difference of $22,435.87 is practically the difference in the tax rolls for the two years, the amount of the 1938 roll being $21,677.69.

The comparison indicates that current tax collections are virtually of about on par with last year's.

Captain Best Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, Nov. 21.—A pioneer in Y.M.C.A. work in Canada, Captain the Rev. Thomas Fredrick Best, died Sunday at his home, 169 Geoffrey street, following a prolonged illness. He was in his seventy-fifth year. He had the distinction of being the first Y.M.C.A. leader to carry on work with British troops in action. Following the close of the Great War, he was attached to the National Y.M.C.A. staff until 1923.

Captain Best was born near Berlin, Ont., moving to Hamilton in 1886. Appointed secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Brantford, he held the position for nine years. During the South Africa War, through permission given him by Lord Roberts, he carried on Y.M.C.A. work with the British troops.

Called to Hamilton after the South African War, he served in that city for nineteen years. During the first week of the outbreak of the Great War he enlisted form Y.M.C.A. service. Attached to the 19th Battalion, he served throughout the entire four years of the war. Returning to Canada after Armistice, Captain Best was attached to the National Y.M.C.A., with headquarters in Toronto. He retired from Y.M.C.A. work in 1923 and accepted a call to Whitby Baptist Church, ministering to the congregation until 1934.

Surviving are his wife, Belle Somerville Best; one son, William A. Best, Toronto, and one daughter, Mrs. Sydney Ward Phelps of Hartford, Conn.

Captain Best, who was an uncle of Ray P. Best of Peterborough and of Ernie M. Best, formerly of this city and now principal of the Y.M.C.A. College at Springfield was well known in Peterborough having visited here many times in the interest of Y.M.C.A. work. Rotarians will remember him as a speaker at several of their luncheons.

Co-operatives Are Outlined To U.F.O.

The success of co-operative enterprise among the coal miners and fishermen of Nova Scotia was discussed by Leonard Harman of Newmarket at the Peterborough U.F.O. meeting Friday night in Coldsprings school house. Progress of a similar movement in Indiana and Illinois was also outlined. The central bodies in each state carry on business with a large number of co-operative locals or groups, which in turn supply the members in each community.

Mr. Harman reported that study groups were being formed in many places in western Ontario, and stressed the need of co-operative education. Groups were formed of five members with a leader and secretary, and studied such subjects as, what do you wish to do about co-operative education in your community this winter; what do you wish to do about co-operative action. This plan was illustrated at the meeting followed by an hour of interesting discussion.

Mention was also made of the business year of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company of Toronto. The net profit was $46,000; total assets more than $850,000, with a dividend to shareholders and a patronage dividend to affiliated co-operatives. General improvement for year $71,811.33; total sales exceeded $10,000,000. Erle Tully was chairman, and those in charge of the meeting were W. W. Dawson, Alex Huston and Earl Petrie.

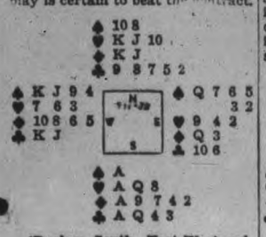
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

TIME TO DUCK

PLAYING THIRD HAND high is one of those old generality rules which help to guide relative beginners. But if you are opposed to a no trump game and your partner leads a suit in which you find more length than he, it will usually pay you to play low when you have no possible entry to your hand except a single high card in that suit. Sometimes the fourth-best lead will enable you to read the exact situation and see just how the low play is certain to beat the contract.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable)

South started the bidding on this deal with 1-Diamond, North responded with 1-Heart, South called 2-Clubs, North 3-Clubs and South 3-No Trump.

When West led the spade 4, the 8 was played from dummy, the Q by East and South won with the A. South ran four heart tricks and then lost a trick to the club K. West cashed his three high spades but was unable to set the contract.

If East had stopped to consider before playing his spade Q to the first trick, his side would have been able to cash five spades instead of three. West had a four card suit, which meant that South had only a singleton, certainly the A to account for the no trump bid. If that was the case, West held the K-J-9 and no card low enough to get East in. East's correct play was not to cover but to play the 6 or 7 to indicate to partner to continue the suit when next in the lead.

Potatoes Firm At $1.25 Bag; Butter Cheap

It seems they know about the Peterborough market away back at Coboconk, and according to Harold Doig the news has travelled north on the wings of the Examiner. He was telling a reporter Saturday about a two-day sales trip he made last week up to Huntsville and home the Dorset Road.

And quite casually he said, "When I was in Coboconk a woman said to me "are you still selling cabbages the way the Examiner reported?"

I said "how's that?", and the woman says "an armful for thirty cents".

I had almost forgotten about it, and then I remembered that two weeks ago I told you about the big cabbages we had in our market load, and I'd sell an armful for thirty cents, so I said to the Coboconk lady, "All right, let's see how many makes an armful for you". I certainly didn't think they'd hear about it that far from Peterborough.

Incidentally, Mr. Doig started out on that trip with it empty.

Saturday's market was largely of the standard November pattern of the last three or four weeks. The weather was uncomfortable for the producers, damp and chilly, but still far from cold.

Potatoes were firm again at $1.25 a bag. Green Mountains, Cobblers, Dooleys and so on. The price represented a definite advance from the dollar mark, and growers are expecting the next move before long to reach $1.25.

Apples, eggs and poultry were plentiful. Mrs. B. Issaac of Warkworth told the Examiner that all their McIntosh Reds have been sold, and she credited the local market with being the outlet for a big quantity of them. Northern Spies at $1.25 a hamper looked like good value on the Isaac counter, and with them were Artichokes at 10 cents a small basket and horseradish at 10 cents a bunch.

J. W. Peacock of Colborne quoted snows at $1.35 a hamper, Spies $1.50 for No, 1 grade and $1 for domestics; cranberry Pippins $1 a hamper, and McIntosh Reds 30 cents the six quart baskets. And just by way of diversion, for that is certainly what it was, a hatless blonde with curls, such curls they were that a hat would have been an offense to beauty of coiffure, and a "shiner" that took all, or at least a lot of the glow from the scenery.

However, to get on with the carrots and things, and quit wondering along the apple row how blonds come by "shiners", H. Strong of North Monaghan was showing the biggest parsnips seen this year, and he has some hundreds of bushels of them. They had all been washed and dolled up for market.

Norman Moncrief with a big load of apples quoted Baxters at $1 a bushel, McIntosh Reds, selects, 45 cents a peck; Snows 40 cents, Talmans 40 cents. Not a drop of cider was in sight.

Butter Still Cheap.

Butter continues to be the heartbreak of dairy farmers. You could buy all you wanted for 21 to 23 cents, and one citizen who keeps in touch with such markets suggested that if Canadians would all butter their bread on both sides for the next month or two they could cut a big hole in the millions of pounds of butter now in storage. And at 21 cents, he said, they could butter the crusts, and the layer cakes, and the apple pie and so on. Possibly that idea may reach the Hon. P. M. Dewan, Minister of Agriculture, who is probably wondering how the Ontario farmers can get higher prices for their butter. On the other hand, it is a federal and not a provincial problem.

The top price for eggs was 42 cents, and the range generally was within the ten cents spread from 30 to 40 cents. Chickens were fairly plentiful at 17 to 20 cents; ducks 18 cents, and the odd turkey around 25 cents and up.

Fresh pork was 14 and 16 cents, and lamb 15 and 20 cents. Honey was unchanged in price; parsnips 60 cents a bushel, beets and carrots 50 cents a bushel (Doig prices), cabbages six for 25 cents; Hubbard squash 20 cents for extra big ones. Fred McMahon's cauliflower were five cents up to fifteen, depending on size.

Young Pigs Cheaper.

Young Yorkshire pigs were down one dollar apiece. They were $6 a week ago, and Saturday they were $10 a pair, with a larger offering than usual.

More fresh fish than usual on the benches. Some of them were herring that looked like big shiners.

On motion, the following accounts were ordered paid, viz: Department of Health of Ontario, insulin to Douro patients, $3.98; Stanley Darling, premium on collector's bond, $15.00; P. G. Towns, balance of 1937 stamps and excise, $8.05; Bart Leahy, fence viewing, $1.50; Joe Coughlin, fence viewing, $1.50; W. Garvey, fence viewing, $1.50; F. Heffernan, fence viewing, $1.50; E. Moloney, valuing sheep, $1.50.

On motion by Bolton and Hayes, the Council adjourned to meet on December 15, at 10 a.m.

Deserts, Malnutrition Spreading, Gloomy African Survey Shows

By Guy Rhoades
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Nov. 21. — (CP) — A depressing picture of Africa with growing deserts and malnutrition due to soil deficiencies is drawn in Lord Hailey's African survey published after an exhaustive investigation of conditions in that continent south of the Sahara.

Lord Hailey undertook the survey after serving a term as Governor of the United Provinces of India in response to a suggestion of General Jan Smuts in the 1929 Rhodes memorial lectures at Oxford.

His report deals with areas in which white men have established themselves. Some critics objected its omission of reference to Liberia, only truly negro state on the continent, claiming inclusion of the republic in the survey would have enabled useful comparisons to be made in adaptability of white and black civilizations to African conditions.

The book suggests, among other things, establishment of a standing parliamentary committee which would investigate problems arising anywhere in the colonial empire.

Mostly a Poor Country.

Lord Hailey makes no rosy forecasts for Africa's future. He says:

"Africa may be rich in gold and diamonds and copper but on the whole it is a poor country. The low population density would seem to be connected in some measure with the existence of known deficiencies in the soil and with the prevalence of disease facilitated by the malnutrition associated with such deficiencies."

The survey indicates grounds for belief that Africa's natural resources are diminishing, not only because of man's wastefulness but from physical causes beyond man's control.

Dealing with a dropping water table, the book says: "Examples of rivers which flowed all the year round even 10 years ago and now consist of a chain of waterholes in dry weather and a muddy torrent in wet have been quoted from almost all African territories."

Such conditions as these the Union of South Africa government is seeking to remedy by irrigation, but Lord Hailey found that irrigation offered no solution in some instances. The process of progressive desiccation appears connected with geological rather than climatic phenomena, but it is being accelerated through deforestation.

Too Sparsely Wooded.

The survey says: "The proportion of Africa's land surface under forests is dangerously low, being less than one-third of the extent considered by experts to be ideal."

The relative poverty of the land restricts African trade. Ivory and slaves were the most renumerative items of trade in the old days. No metals head the list, the rest of which contains too limited a variety of goods to place the continent in a happy trading position.

Lord Hailey has little to say about German claims that she needs her former African colonies as sources of raw materials. He does say this, however: "In 1913 Germany derived 4.6 (per cent) of all her imports from the whole South African continent and 0.4 per cent from her African colonies. In 1936 she took 6.9 per cent of her imports from the whole continent and 0.5 per cent from her former colonies."

Gateman Cheats Death Of Heavier Toll, Drops Bars As He Dies

Detroit, Nov. 21 (CP)

WALTER WOOD, veteran railwayman, was hailed today as a hero. For four years he was gateman here on one of the busiest railway intersections in the world. On Friday apparently realizing death was overtaking him, he lowered the gates although no train was in sight. Motorists blasted their horns impatiently at the closed gates until investigating police found Wood who had died immediately after closing the gates to protect thousands who cross the tracks.

DR. CHASE'S

Anniversary Is Observed By Knox Church

Capacity attendance featured both services at Knox United Church on Sunday as the 28th anniversary was observed. It was on April 10, 1910, that His Honor J. M. Gibson, K.C., LL.D., Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, laid the corner-stone of the building at the northwest corner of Wolfe and Rubidge Streets. The church was completed the following autumn, and the parishioners who had worshipped for ten years in different locations throughout the city, gave thanks at an impressive inaugural service.

Rev. H. A. Kent, M.A., D.D., principal of Queen's Theological College, Kingston, was the guest preacher at both services, conducted by the pastor, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, B.A., B.D. Mr. Harry McKercher, tenor, of Toronto, was guest soloist.

Give Shelter To Lost.

Taking his text from the Old Testament and expressing it in modern terms, Dr. Kent said: "It is our task that behind us at some time during our lives, a lost sheep from the fold of Christ may find shelter."

"These words were written centuries ago, and often preachers are asked why they go back so far seeking good advice. It so happens that in the ancient world there were people who knew things better than we do, although they may not know so much. That is one reason why we study the classics, in the hope that we too may acquire the knack and knowledge of doing things as well as the ancients. The plain fact is that we must disabuse our minds of the idea that we are so superior to these men of old. We are not.

"The maniacs in control in Germany have decreed that such names as Jehovah must go, but in religion in spite of Dr. Goebells and his colleagues there are many sane people who will find inspiration from Jehovah and others. One wonders if the Almighty has a sense of humor, and no doubt He has, then He must find it amusing to watch the antics of some of His creatures."

For centuries, Dr. Kent said successive generations have said the world is going to the dogs. This has happened because it is not easy to distinguish the good from the bad. Through the centuries too, man has differed considerable on the opinion of what is the best and most admirable thing in a human being. The Bible, the Greeks and the Romans set forth different examples, and as the years roll by we too have been constantly changing our ideas on this point. Dr Kent went on to show by illustrations from life that we are strangely blind if we have not learned that the most desirable characteristic in anyone is self-sacrifice, and a desire to help the other fellow.

Windsors and Gloucesters Meet In Paris

Returning home from Kenya Colony the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester stopped off in Paris to pay a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. This meeting marked the first time that a feminine member of the British royalty has met the Duchess of Windsor since her marriage to the Duke, and gave rise to rumors as yet unconfirmed, that the Windsors will visit England in the near future

Looking Back On This Date

Sixty years ago today (Nov. 21, 1878) the United States paid to the British government for Canada the sum of $5,500,000 under the provisions of what is known as the Halifax award. This award was made by a commission appointed under the treaty of Washington of 1871 to decide the amount which the United States should pay as compensation for use of the Canadian fisheries. It was not until 1877 that the commission was named. Mr. E. H. Kellogg represented the United States; Sir A. T. Galt was named as the British commissioner (the first time a Canadian negotiated officially at Washington), and they two selected M. Delfosse, the then minister of Belgium at Washington as the third member. Many sittings were held at Halifax, much to the profit of lawyers and official reporters, while experts and ordinary fishermen were heard.

There is one thing about this award which piques my curiosity. Sir John Macdonald, who had been in office when the treaty was negotiated, had only just got back when in the fall of 1878 (October 21, to be exact) he wrote to Sir Edward Thornton, then the British minister at Washington, suggesting that instead of sending the money across to London and then back to Ottawa it should be sent direct from the American capital to the Canadian capital. Of course, all the red tape of diplomacy had to be untangled, but Sir John was quite exercised over the matter and had an order-in-council passed and a dispatch sent to the colonial office, pointing out that if the money were sent to London, Canada would lose a very considerable sum in exchange "which might as well be saved." Inasmuch as the transfer would in reality have been thatof a cheque and not specie, Sir John used common sense. It would be interesting to know if he had his way or whether that fisheries award money crossed the Atlantic twice. Perhaps the records of the finance departments at Ottawa would tell.

Pastor Glad Japs Attacked China, Saved Canada–Doubts U.S. Aid

SASKATOON, Nov. 21 —(CP)— Belief that China might easily be Canada's "first line of defence" against Japan, was expressed in an address here last night by the Rev. Robert Laird, treasurer of the United Church of Canada.

"If the Japanese had not gone into China, where would they have gone?" he asked. "They apparently had to go somewhere to relieve overcrowding of their population."

"There was nothing to prevent the Japanese coming to these Canadian prairies. They have the world's most efficient mechanized army."

"Who would help us defend ourselves in case the Japanese did attack Canada," the minister asked. He said the United States would not "because there is no American west coast defenses that I know of, which amount to anything."

15,000 Jews In Italy Lose Their Jobs In Past Four Days

Rome, Nov. 21 (AP)

FIFTEEN THOUSAND JEWS were said by usually reliable sources today to have been dropped from government and private jobs in the past four days.

The action was in compliance with the cabinet decree of Nov. 10 excluding Jews from government positions, restricting their businesses and professions and forbidding their marriage to Italian Aryans.

Twenty-five hundred of those dismissed were in Rome, it was stated. The same sources said Jews would be barred from participation in Italy's repatriation project under which more than 500,000 Italians living abroad are expected to be returned to the homeland.

Farm Battle Ends Up As Murder

Blow Kills Ontarioan, Hired Man Grabbed At Border

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 22.—(CP).—Dan Macdonald, 48, formerly of Bucklin, Kas., wanted for the murder here of 60-year-old Captain F. J. Cameron, was arrested last night at Fort Covington, N.Y., 15 miles east of Cornwall, according to word received here to-day.

Macdonald, object of an intensive police search after Cameron died in hospital here yesterday, was arrested by immigration authorities. He is being held at Fort Covington and will appear in court there today as he was said to have refused to waive extradition.

Police allege Macdonald, a handyman at the Cameron farm home on Cameron Island, in the St. Lawrence river, 12 miles east of here, had a dispute with his employer in his house yesterday and that the former Kansan picked up a heavy hickory stick and struck the captain over the head twice. The dispute was believed to be over tarring a rowboat.

Cameron collapsed and his assailant rushed to his room, packed two large suitcases and left the island in a rowboat. A 72-year-old sister of the injured man went to the mainland and called a doctor who ordered Cameron removed to hospital here where he died.

Provincial police immediately took charge of the case and patrolled the north shore of the river throughout the night. Authorities here said they believed Macdonald had rowed to another nearby island and was seeking refuge with some Indians whom he knew. A storm swept the lake throughout the night and police did not leave the shore.

The handyman came to Canada about a year ago from the American midwest and began working at the Cameron farm. He has relatives in the Cornwall district. Captain Cameron was single and lived with his sister and two brothers.

ATTEMPTING SHOPBREAKING?

TORONTO.—Andrew Lesperance and Joseph Leblanc today were arrested after police found them outside a cigar store, allegedly with burglar tools in their possession. They were charged with attempted shopbreaking and having burglar's tools.

Six Killed Hurled into an adjoining field, this bent and twisted motor bears evidence of the terrific impact with which a U.S. army bombing airplane plunged into a forest near LaGrange, Ga. Of eight aboard the airplane, seven were killed and one severely injured.

Farmers Steadily Slipping Behind Under Blow Of Low Prices U.F.O. Heads Claim In Dark Picture

TORONTO, Nov. 22—(CP).—The economic condition of the farmer in Canada, as a result of low prices for his products, "is progressively growing worse," W. G. Nicholson told the annual convention of the United Farmers of Ontario here today in his presidential address.

A resolution introduced at the recent convention in Saskatoon of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, favoring secession from the Dominion of the Western provinces "is a definite sign of widespread unrest," said Mr. Nicholson. National and economic policies "have drained an unfair share of the real wealth of the land into large industrial centres."

The president's remarks were echoed by Mrs. O. G. Anderson, president of the United Farm Women of Ontario, also in convention. She told the women's section she "sorrowfully has had to conclude that instead of farm homes being filled and overflowing with happiness and contentment, the reverse is the case in far too many instances."

Hardship Not All in West

From many parts of Ontario delegates gathered for the annual farm meeting. Throughout the four-day convention its theme will be to continue a campaign to spread co-operative ideas and practices throughout the rural communities of the province. Also slated for discussion is a manifesto on economic issues drawn up by the co-operative's directors.

"This situation is by no means confined to Western Canada," said Mr. Nicholson in discussing what he said was the plight of the farmer. "The farmers of the eastern provinces are victims of the same economic pressure but, by the nature of their diversified methods of farming, are able to absorb the shock

Fourth Balkan Ruler Yugoslav Regent Arrives In London

London, Nov. 22 (AP)

PRINCE PAUL, regent of Yugoslavia, arrived today in London, the fourth Balkan ruler to come in recent weeks for important discussions with British government leaders.

Informed observers saw in the visit another step in the efforts to strengthen relations between Great Britain and the Balkan states, which are threatened with German economic and political domination.

Although Yugoslav regent's visit was described officially as "purely private," informed persons attributed to it at least economic significance. He followed King Carol of Rumania, who made a state visit here last week, accompanied by Crown Prince Michael.

British Press Backs Chamberlain Unitedly In Refugee Move

LONDON, Nov. 22—(CP-Havas).—Newspapers of all shades of political opinion today welcomed the statement on Jewish refugees made by Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons yesterday. Conservative organs insisted that resettlement was a broad international task of which Great Britain could not bear the full burden. Opposition newspapers regretted only that the government had not made more sweeping plans.

"There is every indication," said the times (Independent), "that private American financial assistance towards any properly organized scheme of refugee settlement in the British Colonial Empire or elsewhere will be prompt and generous.

"American public opinion has been horrified by persecutions of racial and political minorities in Germany and fears their further extension. But it is to be hoped that the departures of the American ambassador from Berlin and the German ambassador from Washington will not involve indefinite suspension of discussions with the German government as to practical measures to be taken to facilitate the departure of minorities of whom the Reich government wish to be rid.

Right to Take Their Own

"An agreement with Berlin, enabling the refugees to take some of their capital with them, would greatly facilitate the work of all organizations and committees engaged in assisting emigration.

"Mr. Chamberlain's statement may disappoint some of those who have expected immediate adoption of a Grandiose scheme. In the circumstances the Prime Minister has done his best, on the shortest notice, to meet the emergency. But this does not imply that all hope of large-scale refugee settlement must be abandoned.

"On the contrary, the governors of Tanganyika and British Guiana have already reported that land suitable for such settlement exists in both countries. No single country, however, can be expected to solve the problem. The Prime Minister expressed the hope that other countries represented at the Evian meeting will make their contribution.

"Some of the Dominions governments may be able to provide more than temporary asylum to refugees. France has large colonial possessions and Madagascar may perhaps

Mormon Leader 82, Bad Risk At 18 Now In 'His Prime'

Salt Lake City, Nov. 22 (AP)

HEBER J. GRANT, venerable president of the Latter Day Saints Church who was considered a poor insurance risk at 18, observed today the 82nd anniversary of his birth with the conclusion that life begins not at 40 but 80.

The gray-bearded leader of the Mormons finds that "I can do more work now with greater ease than when I was 45."

Tall, thin and vigorous, the churchman will be feted tonight by members of his family. Tomorrow, leaders of city and state will honor him on the 20th anniversary of his apointment to the presidency of the church.

Lottery Charged

CALGARY, Nov. 22.—(CP).—Offices of the Alberta-Saskatchewan Railway Mutual Benefits Association were raided by police on warrants charging the association with conducting a lottery here late yesterday. Police said summonses will be issued for four men, operators of the association. It was reported the association distributed monthly to ticket holders between $10,000 and $12,000 in prizes and benefits in the form of payments for sickness.

Oak Tree Over One Hundred Years Old In Victoria Park Has To Be Cut Down

A PIONEER passed in Peterborough today when employees of the city parks committee cut down the huge oak that has stood in the southeast section of Victoria Park as long as the memory of the oldest living citizen goes back. It is estimated that the big tree started growing about the time that Adam Scott came up the Otonabee and landed in Spalding's Bay to seek a site for the little mill that was the beginning of Peterborough. It was there when Hon. Peter Robinson's immigrants arrived here in 1825 and probably had a good start before the first St. John's church was erected a short distance to the south. Generations of school children have played around it, generations of lovers have whispered soft nothing to each other beneath its spreading branches, generations of citizens have sat under it and listened to the music of Finch Miller's Fire Brigade Band and the band of the 57th Regiment under Rupert Gliddon and later bandmasters.

And now it is gone. Time, that conquers all, has taken its toll of the historic old tree. It had become so decayed that in the interest of safety it was considered advisable to remove it.

Hitler Welcomes French Envoy

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Nov. 22 (AP). — Chancellor Hitler said today Germany and France were "no longer divided by the serious border conflicts which burdened their past" as he received the credentials of France's new Ambassador, Robert Coulondre.

The envoy, formerly French Ambassador at Moscow, said the two countries often had met on the battlefield in the past but had learned to esteem each other and that their struggles had been futile.

The Fuehrer, in reply, expressed the conviction that Germany and France had every reason to esteem each other, to live on good neighborly terms, to complement each other in the economic and cultural domains and collaborate with each other in all sincerity.

Cabinet Debates Refugees With Thousands Of Applications Waiting

Canada Seen On Spot In Eyes Of World With Her Vast Open Spaces; Laws Now Let In Only Monied Farmers

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—Applications for permission to enter Canada now in the hands of the immigration branch total several thousands, officials disclosed today. The applications are from Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Belgium, Switzerland, France and Great Britain as well as large numbers from Germany.

Applicants from the nations other than Germany are mostly from persons originally in territories now under the Reich but now temporarily living in adjacent countries.

Most of the applications do not comply with Canadian immigration regulations which restrict immigration from Central Europe almost exclusively to farmers with sufficient capital to start farming and who can pass physical tests. Most of them are Jewish people who have fled from Germany.

Problem of whether Canada will open its doors somewhat to do its share in solving the refugee situation will probably be up for discussion at the Cabinet meeting today. With a substantial part of the Dominion's population already on relief through unemployment, the bringing in of any considerable numbers will have to be given very serious consideration.

It is felt here Canada is rather on the spot with the world looking on this Dominion as a country with large unoccupied areas, with plenty of room for refugees and the government appreciating there are not enough jobs for the people already here. Under the circumstances the Cabinet's decision will be awaited with keen interest.

Pan-American Stand?

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King is expected to make reference at the close of today's cabinet meeting to the attitude of Canada to the Pan-American union which opens its conference in Lima, Peru, on Dec. 8. The constitution of the union restricts membership to republics on the American continents.

Canada has never been formally invited to join the union and it would be necessary to change the constitution of the union before she could be admitted. However, it has been intimated frequently to the Canadian government that if it were prepared to accept such an invitation, the invitation would be forthcoming.

The position of Canada as part of the British Empire has been regarded in the past by Dominion governments as making it inadvisable to join the union.

Swallows a Nail

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 22.—(CP)—Gerald Hunt, nine, of Bloomfield, is in the Kingston General Hospital, where he is undergoing preparatory treatment for the removal of a small wire shingle nail, lodged at the base of the left lung.

The child swallowed the nail while he was playing around the house of his father, Alton Hunt. The nail went down the child's windpipe, which divides in two sections part way down the chest. The right division goes straight down the chest and the left division slopes across the chest. Usually, when an impediment is swallowed, it goes into the right division or the windpipe. In this case the nail went into the left division, rendering the removal more difficult.

Report Germany To Recall British Envoy

LONDON, Nov. 22—(AP).—Reports that Germany was considering calling her ambassador home for consultations on the deterioration of relations with Great Britain since the Nazi anti-Jewish drive were published here today.

The reports were unofficial and the German embassy spokesman would not discuss them.

Resentment was apparent among Nazis, however, against a motion in the House of Commons deploring treatment of "certain racial, religious and political minorities in Europe," and a proposal that Tanganyika, former German East Africa, be one refuge for German Jews.

The House of Commons unanimously adopted the motion last night. It suggested "an immediate concerted effort amongst the nations, including the United States, to secure a common policy," and was offered by Philip J. Noel Baker, Labor party member.

Labor members proposed a tax on German products, control of German assets in England and strong diplomatic action to demonstrate British disapproval of the Nazi anti-Jewish program.

Mr. Noel Baker told the House he had been informed 70 Jews were killed in a concentration camp and detailed other instances of mistreatment in Germany.

He advocated a three-point plan—1. A protest to Berlin by Britain, the United States and other governments; 2. Inform Germany there could be no cordial relations "while the martyrdom of Jews, Socialists, Protestants and Catholics goes on;" 3. "Consider if we should not take measures of active self-protection."

A 10,000 Area Plot

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House yesterday the government was prepared to lease for Jewish refugees at least 10,000 square miles in British Guiana on the northeast coast of South America, and as much land in British Anganyika, Northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland and Kenya Colony as economically and climatically suitable.

The Nazi anger was directed particularly at the inclusion of Tanganyika, which Germany lost in the Great War.

The Daily Herald (Labor), first published reports the German ambassador, Herbert Von Dirksen, might be recalled. Other papers subsequently carried similar reports.

The British ambassador to Berlin, Sir Nevile Henderson, now is in England. He came home for a minor operation and expects to remain until Christmas.

It was perhaps significant that Major General Karl Bodenschatz of the German air ministry did not meet British officials but flew back to Germany yesterday, although press reports said he had come to suggest a visit by air minister Goering to discuss economic and air force matters.

The cabinet meeting today was devoted to a review of the German situation, with attention to matters of defence and foreign policy which the prime minister will take up with the French government when he goes back to Paris tomorrow.

Toronto Welcomes Herbert Hoover

TORONTO, Nov. 22—(CP).—Herbert Hoover, former United States president, was given a civic reception on his arrival here today. Mayor Ralph C. Day and prominent citizens welcomed Mr. Hoover in the council chamber of City Hall.

In a brief speech, the former president said the people of the United States and the British Empire were drawn together "for peace" by unbreakable bonds.

He mentioned that the St. Lawrence deep waterway scheme was "close to my heart."

The former president's visit was primarily to address the annual banquet of the York Bible Class tonight, after seeing the Winter Fair this afternoon.

FOUR YEARS IN LABRADOR

PORT AUX BASQUES — Weary after four years in barren Labrador, travelling thousands of miles by dog team and boat teaching natives handicrafts, Kate M. Keedie of the Pas, Man, leaves tonight for her home on a six-months furlough.

Ill, Mariner 72 Lashes Self To Wheel Battles Gales 300 Miles Collapses, Hospital In Sight

By Ewart Young
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 22.—(CP).—Seriously ill and unable to swallow more than water, 72-year-old Ernest Doane lashed himself to the wheel of his sailing boat and brought himself 300 miles from the deserted coats of Northern Labrador to the Grenfell hospital at Cartwright.

The story of the fisherman's trip down the lonely coastline was revealed in a letter received here after he reached Cartwright. It told how Doane, stricken suddenly, started his long voyage late in October. But how long it took he did not know.

A sub-Arctic winter gale swept over him during his slow and painful journey. Growing weaker each day, he saw the gale snap his boom as the sail jibed in an unguarded moment. He started his engine but it stopped dead within a half hour, the firing pin broken.

Struggling desperately for life, he spliced the boom and brought the boat into a cove where a tall radio pole was visible on a hill. It was the next day before he could command sufficient strength to climb the hill—but the pole was part of an abandoned wireless station.

Doane broke his way into the station, clambering in through the window. Inside he found machine tools which enabled him to repair

Hobbling On Crutches Schuschnigg Said Breakdown Victim

London, Nov. 22 (CP-Havas)

A special correspondent of The Daily Herald (Labor) wrote today that the former Austrian chancellor, Kurt Von Schuschnigg, has suffered "an almost complete mental breakdown" and is so feeble that he must walk on crutches.

"Friends of Von Schuschnigg, the imprisoned Austrian chancellor," the article said, "are gravely anxious following The Daily Herald forecast that he is not to be tried but will shortly be released.

News received from well-informed quarters in Vienna suggests that his anticipated release and abandonment of his trial are not so much due to Premier Mussolini's reported intervention as to the fact that Von Schuschnigg is very ill."

Urge Roosevelt Ban Nazi Goods

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP). — President Roosevelt has asked today to impose an embargo against all German goods.

The embargo was demanded at a mass meeting in Madison Square Garden last night sponsored by American organizations actively opposed to the Nazi regime's policies concerning its minorities. Police estimated more than 20,000 attended.

Spectators leaped to their feet shouting when William Weinter, president of the Jewish People's committee, said: "Let us organize such an irresistible movement that its voice will span the ocean, give hope to the victims and bring fear to the persecutors."

Scores of persons in the audience forwarded to President Roosevelt individual copies of a general telegram praising the administration for calling home Ambassador Hugh Wilson and urging him to follow up that action by declaring a complete embargo.

Speakers included Dorothy Parker, author and screen writer; Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist, and H. V. Kaltenborn, radio commentator.

Lady Driver Misses Mountain Turn Scream Brings Help A Mile

Convicts' Home Brew Made Of Soap Kills 4 Of Them

Lansing, Kas., Nov. 22 (AP)

FOUR Kansas convicts were dead today, another was in a critical condition and at least 10 are in the state penitentiary hospital here after drinking what Warden Kirk Prather described as a "concoction made from a soap solution" within the prison walls.

Prison authorities indicated the concoction had been mixed by convicts as an intoxicant.

Pressing an investigation, Warden Prather said "from 150 to 184 convicts drank the solution."

County Coroner Ted Sexton also said the three whose bodies he examined died from drinking "some kind of a standard soap solution."

Last Minute News Flashes

LONDON, Ont.—(CP).—A posse of nearly 75 civilians and police surrounded a 20-acre bush four miles from Wardsville this afternoon in a hunt for two youths who made a daring escape after they had been arrested in a probe of a gasoline station robbery a few hours earlier.

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 22.—(CP).—A car crash and a woman's scream that carried a mile sent police to Mount Hamilton early to-day. They found that Mrs. Paula Sheppard, of Niagara Falls, Ont., had suffered only superficial injuries as her car crashed into a tree.

Constable Albert Chinnery, in the East Hamilton police cruiser, was sitting in his car at the delta, a mile below the scene of the accident, when he heard the crash and a woman's scream. He telephoned city police headquarters, reporting that he believed a car had gone over the mountain.

The police radio dispatched first the Mount Hamilton cruiser, and then an ambulance. The cruiser found Mrs. Sheppard at the scene of the wreck at Gage avenue and Concession street, more than 200 yards south of the mountain brow. Police said she had failed to negotiate a right angle turn at the suburban highway junction. Removed to the Hamilton General Hospital, Mrs. Sheppard was reported to have suffered only cuts to her head, leg and ankle.

Ernest G. Nicholls On Guard Of Honor At Coronation Of Late Queen Maud

NEWS of the death of Queen Maud of Norway recalls a most enjoyable and interesting experience to Ernest G. Nicholls, member of the Peterborough letter carriers' staff, who remembers that thirty-three years ago when King Haakon and Queen Maud were crowned in Norway, he was a member of the guard of Royal Marines which accompanied the late King George V, then the Prince of Wales, during the Royal visit to the ceremonies.

Mr. Nicholls who served through the last war as a member of the 2nd Battalion C.E.F., having enlisted with the 57th Regiment's first contingent in August, 1914 and who came home as regimental sergeant-major of the battalion was in the Marines, stationed to H.M.S. Talbot at the time of the Norwegian coronation. His ship was one of four that escorted the Prince of Wales to Norway and when a guard was chosen from among the Marines on the four cruisers, Mr. Nicholls had the good fortune to be selected for the landing party so that he had the opportunity of seeing the ceremonies and festivities at close range.

Ottawa Ties $100,000 Celery Crop

Farmers Wait Cash While Officials Argue Over Crates

BRADFORD, Ont., Nov. 22 (CP)—Eighty-thousand crates of celery valued at $100,000, owned by growers on the Holland marshes 40 miles north of Toronto, created a problem for Dominion government officials today.

The celery is stored in the terminal warehouse here and its disposition is said to depend upon official action. The crop is packed in crates smaller than federal regulations permit for shipping purposes.

Meanwhile, Reeve J. Jefferson of King township claimed that thousands of dollars' worth of celery is being left uncultivated in the marshes. But J. J. Snor, farmer in the Dutch settlement, said if any of the crop is being left on the marsh "it is because it is no good."

Snor said the celery crop was all harvested by the middle of October and though the tie-up at the terminal has affected some farmers financially "nevertheless, taking everything into consideration, the settlers are better off than this time last year."

Brothers Meet After 22 Years

TORONTO, Nov. 22—(CP).—Fred Walters, 76, and his brother Alfred, 78, saw each other today for the first time in 22 years as Fred arrived from Vancouver to pay Alfred a visit. The last time the two met was just before the battle of Vimy Ridge in 1916.

The Walters were sailors in the Royal Navy at the bombardment of Alexandria in 1882. There one of them received a brisk reprimand for swimming to his brother's ship in Ismailia harbor. Fred recalls seeing a sailor pick up a live shell before it could explode and toss it into a bucket of water. He says the tar got a Victoria Cross for his deed.

"Straight Central Road"—McQuesten

TORONTO, November 22—(CP)—Pressure on Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, to complete the route across Central Ontario from Sarnia to Ottawa was renewed to-day when a delegation of 100, including the mayor or reeve of every municipality along the road from Sarnia to Peterborough came to Queen's Park to urge a three-year plan for finishing the work.

Led by Angus Dickson, Liberal member of the Legislature for Perth, the delegation submitted a three-year plan for finishing 124 miles of the route which remain unpaved.

But the route they suggested was mapped to include so many towns that the minister emphasized that the "straightest route is the shortest distance between any two points." The minister indicated that the department would consider nothing more than a straight trunk road across Central Ontario following the present route of Number 7 Highway.

When the departmental engineers are planning their 1939 road building program, completion of this route will receive every consideration, Mr. McQuesten told the delegation.

American Trade With China Is Held Risky

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(AP).—If American trade with China follows the pattern traced in Manchoukuo, United States exporters may see their business with Chinese increase for a few years and then go into a tailspin.

Experts here suggested today the parallel is likely to occur, with material damage to the United States 1937 production as the largest seller in China and the largest buyer of Chinese goods. At stake is a total trade of about $153,000,000.

Experts based their belief on the fact that Japan's economy, strained by an unexpectedly long war, will not be able to provide China's needs for a time.

When Japan is back on her economic feet, however, the situation will be different. The belief is general that purchases from American and other foreign commercial houses will be made only in cases where Japanese firms are unable to fill the order.

State secretary Hull told Japan last month she had virtually squeezed American business out of Manchoukuo and he feared the same thing would happen in China.

In Boom Now

Although American trade with Manchoukuo was nearly four times as great in 1937 as in 1932 when Japan conquered the region, the increase again was a wartime development.

In 1932 the United States exported $4,328,000 worth of goods to Manchoukuo. Immediately after her occupation, Japan, needing supplies and hereself strained by the war, began large-scale importations into Manchoukuo. American exports to the conquered territory rose to $7,449,000 in 1933 and to $11,504,000 in 1934.

Then, with Japan recovering from the strain of the conflict, American exports declined to $7,461,000 in 1935 and to $6,880,000 in 1936.

Again Japan involved herself in war in China, and the exports from the United States soared to $13,907,000 in the first 11 months of 1937.

Before the Great War American trade with China was a small fraction of the Chinese total, but the war made the United States and Japan China's only possible source of industrial products.

Sheep, Swine Sale Features Fair

TORONTO, Nov. 22 (CP)—Stan Madrowski, Kitchener, combined with Frank Glanfield, Toronto, early today to win the "B" doubles of the Royal Winter Fair annual horse shoe pitching contests. Toronto entries finished second and third.

The winning pair had four wins and one loss for a total of 149 points. Six other Kitchener players were eliminated in preliminary rounds. They were Tom Delion, Jim Radke, Jim Livingston, Gord Kalbfleisch, Walter Novak and Auggy Killian.

The annual exhibition, largest in its 17 years' history, saw continuation of cattle and horse judging today as it neared the closing Wednesday. An auction sale of sheep and swine and a parade of prize-winning cattle are other livestock features.

Outstanding event on tonight's horse show card will be the competition by officers of six international military teams for the Military Challenge Trophy. The trophy will be presented to the winning team by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Ontario premier.

Attended by traditional pomp and ceremony, Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, and Lady Tweedsmuir, viewed the horse show last night. A guard of honor of the Royal Regiment of the Toronto Grenadiers was inspected in the show ring by Lord Tweedsmuir.

Later, Lord Tweedsmuir presented the governor-general's cup to Mrs. C. K. Morgan, London, Ont., whose horse, Rockaway, won the class for three-year-old hunters, bred and owned in Canada. J. E. Cottrelle's Toronto entry, Pucklad, was second. And Bill, shown by R. A. Fisher, London, third.

Major Edouardo Yanez piloted Toqui over a treacherous jumping course to win the international military handy-course event. Yanez won in a jumpoff with Lieut. S. Sanford, United States Army, who rode the veteran, Masquerader.

F. W. Gurney's Paris, Ont., entry took the ram championship in Shropshire sheep after winning several class awards with other entries. Noel Gibson, Mount Brydges, Ont., showed the champion ewe.

Noted Canadian Trio Honored

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 22 (CP)—Tribute to three distinguished Canadians—all natives of Middlesex county—was paid last night at a meeting of the London Historical Society in the century-old Middlesex county courthouse.

The men — Hon. Edward Blake and Sir George W. Ross, both former premiers of Ontario, and Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces during the Great War—were honored recently by the historic sites and monuments commission which erected tablets in the courthouse.

Arthur R. Ford of the London Free Press spoke of the life and career of Sir Edward Blake, "the most powerful intellectual force in Canadian political history." Colonel Walter James Brown, executive secretary of the University of Western Ontario, reviewed the life of Sir Arthur Currie and John M. Gunn, London barrister, spoke on Sir George W. Ross.

No Fog, Frost Or Ice In Regina Crash

REGINA, Nov. 22—(CP)—Officials of the Department of Transport to-day continued their probe of the plane crash near here early Friday when two Trans-Canada Airlines pilots were killed. The Board of Inquiry sat throughout Saturday and Sunday and will reconvene this morning.

Captain David Imrie, 28, and First Officer Jack Herald, 29, were the victims. They had just taken off from Regina airport when the big Lockheed 14 machine broke into flames and plunged to earth a mile or so west of here.

The Board of Inquiry, headed by Squadron Leader Ferrier of the Department of Transport, gave no information on the sessions which were held in camera. It was understood, however, that experts found that fog, frost or ice had not been the crash cause.

Cabin For Countess

WOLSLEY BAY, Ont., Nov. 22—(CP).—A seven-room log cabin is being built here for Countess A. Guillere de St. Gallien of Algiers, North Africa, who toured Canada last summer. The Countess, who has returned to her Algiers home, will summer here, it is learned. Wolsley Bay is on the French River, Lake Nipissing district.

Chinese 3 Miles From Canton

SHANGHAI, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Chinese reported today the vanguard of General Chiang Kai-Shek's south China army had advanced to within three miles of Canton, captured by the Japanese a month ago.

No details were given nor were the reports confirmed from other sources. The Chinese have stated frequently during the past week that their forces were making a successful counter-attack in South China, but the Japanese have insisted there was no fighting except by guerrilla bands.

The Chinese also reported successes in Central China where they said their armies had halted the Japanese drive on Changsha, Hunan province capital.

They said they had pushed the invaders back across the Sinkiang River, 40 miles north of Changsha, and that two Chinese columns were advancing toward Yochow, 40 miles farther to the north. Another Chinese column was reported within three miles of Puchi, railroad town halfway between Yochow and Hankow.

offer openings for large-scale settlement. But the best prospects for such settlement are in South America, and notably Brazil, where very large areas of good land, often almost uninhabited, still await colonization.

"The American Government have promised indefinite extension of 'visitor's visas' held by some 12,000 to 15,000 refugees from Germany and Austria. But this concession does not justify the expectation that they will make any increase in the quota of immigrants from Germany."

World Must Aid

The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) said that "while the shocked conscience of the world, to which President Roosevelt has given expression, demands that whatever is possible should be done without delay to relieve the plight of the unhappy fugitives from Nazi vengeance," it is clear that, without international consultation and co-operation, nothing can be done commensurate with the emergency.

"It is evident that the British Empire is ready and willing to do its part, and it rests with the other nations represented at the Evian Conference to make their contribution in kind."

The Daily Herald (Labor) said: "Mr. Chamberlain's judgment appears to be based on the fallacy that the emigrants are an economic liability. In undeveloped countries, or in countries where the population is due to fall, they are economic assets.

"But at any rate something is being done, and that is something to be thankful for. Now let the government do some more thinking, in co-operation with all nations ready to help."

The News Chronicle (Liberal) said: "Britain will not have fulfilled her duty in this matter if she merely declares that she is willing to take a small quota of refugees into her colonies. What is needed is a plan for emigration on a large scale, and that can only be satisfactorily arrived at if there is co-operation among the great democracies and effective leadership.

"The task of finding new homes for the refugees would obviously be greatly facilitated if the German government could be persuaded to allow the emigrants to take at least a portion of their possessions with them. We would urge the importance of speed where every aspect of this vast problem is concerned."

Ill, Mariner 72

the broken firing pin in his engine.

Engine Quits Again

Three days later, almost within sight of the hospital at Cartwright, Doane finally despaired of life. His engine had broken down again and he was too weak to hoist the sail.

He threw himself down on the deck in complete resignation. How long he was there he does not know, but he was aroused by the sound of a motorboat a mile to starboard. Somehow he got out a gun and fired a shot. The men in the other boat heard it.

Hospital authorities said the 72-year-old mariner, who has been close to death many times during his 40 years in Labrador, reached Cartwright "only in the nick of time." He had developed a duodenal ulcer.

It was late in October when Doane realized his illness was serious and that he should try to reach the Grenfell Hospital. Fishing schooners had long since gone south. The natives had moved into sheltered bays. There was no one to whom he could turn for aid. Doane does not know how long his journey took.

Water Keeps Him Alive

A cup of hot water every few hours, the only thing he could swallow, was his only sustenance. He made good headway for the first few miles, his canoe lashed to the deck and two sails hoisted. Crossing Canititok Bay, a stiff westerly wind sprang up and washed his canoe overboard. Doane struggled to keep his boat on her way, but finally he sought shelter.

The gale continued and Doane, full of pain, took refuge in his cabin. The next morning he started again, but crossing Stag Bay, fog came down and he was forced to anchor. Several times during the night he had to drag himself on deck and shift his anchor to suit the wind.

In the morning the hills around were snow-covered. When he tried to make Cape Harrison that day his boat pitched and tossed so much Doane lashed himself to the wheel. The sailor in him knew it was not fit weather to be out, but he knew he had to make hospital and make it swiftly.

Chunk Of Cement In Fur Cap Arouses Interest Of Citizen Who Calls Police

Discovery of a chunk of cement enclosed in a fur cap on the doorstep of a McDonnel street resident Monday evening just as a transient was being served with a lunch led to the arrest of the latter.

He had just called at the house and was waiting outside the front door for some food that was being prepared for him when the head of the house arrived home and as he was going in noticed the strange-looking furry object at the door. It looked like a suspicious weapon, one possibly used to break windows and effect entrance into houses and stores and the citizen decided the police should be notified.

The transient was arrested and held until this morning, but a check-up showed that the cement and its fur holders had likely been left at the door by children who had been seen playing with the things and no charge was preferred against the man. At that he succeeded in getting into the dock because he was brought up from downstairs with other prisoners into the police court this morning.

"We don't want you," said Chief Newhall when he saw the man in court, "get going." So the transient departed smilingly and the whole court smiled with him.

Lions Club Hears Prof. J. Strange

Four members of the Lions Club had their heads read on Monday night at the Kawartha Club when Professor J. Strange of Halifax, noted phrenologist and graphologist, addressed the club at their regular dinner meeting.

Professor Strange was introduced by Chairman Fred Cripps, and in an entertaining and highly educational talk explained the fundamentals of determining character and ability by the shape of the head. He told the Lions that many leading business men and factory executives who had charge of personnel were making use of this science to select the proper men for positions requiring special attributes in a man, or else to determine even if an applicant would be suitable for the type of work for which he was applying.

He said also that phrenology was valuable in determining what sort of vocational training a boy should take when he is starting an educational program to best suit him for a life work.

A draw was made among those present and four members, Ross Payne, Keith Braund, Herb. Jamieson, and Noel Rishor were selected for readings. The professor proceeded to tell the members the outstanding characteristics of the four. All were strangers to him, while they were well known to their colleagues, and to the amasement of all, the phrenologist described every one just right. The thanks of the club was expressed by Bert Cowan for the splendid address.

Restaurant Given Clean Health Bill

Dr. Murray Fraser, M.O.H., reported to-day that the Chinese restaurant, the proprietor of which was found recently to have tuberculosis, has now been given a clean bill of health.

The proprietor has been taken to a sanitarium for treatment, all of the waiters, kitchen help and cooks have been medically examined as contacts and have been pronounced free of the disease. The restaurant has been thoroughly disinfected and according to Dr. Fraser there is no danger to any of the patrons now.

Personality Is Ally To Success

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 22.—Personality is the potential ally of the successful youth according to Dr. Bert Howard, Principal of Albert College, Belleville, who addressed high school students here Monday morning. Speaking before the student body in the auditorium Dr. Howard told students that the employer looks first of all at the personality of the applicant. Ability comes second and training or experience is last. The youth who would reach the top must also have imagination he stated.

Youth Gets Bump In Trailer Cash

(Examiner Correspondence.)

COE HILL, Nov. 22.—While Wm. Crosly was proceeding up Main Street, Coe Hill, with Aylmer Gurrayote of Toronto, and Clifford Crosly (son of the driver, in the trailer attached to the car, the bolt connecting the two dropped out, throwing Gurrayote out, fortunately without injury.

Mr. Murray Belton and Mr. Harold Crosly spent Friday and Saturday in Belleville and Trenton.

Mr. Robert Parks is reported on the sick list this week.

Rev. A. C. McCalum spent Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ruckstholul.

Just a Little Trial Is Squaw's Plea So Jury Is Dropped

Hull, Que., Nov. 22 (CP)

MRS. MIKE BUCKSHOT, 40-year-old squaw of the Maniwaki Indian Reserve seventy miles north of here, pleaded not guilty in court here Monday to a charge of cutting Mrs. Marianne Noel Cesar with a jack-knife last Oct. 8, while under the influence of liquor.

"What kind of a trial do you want?" asked Judge Rolland Millar, "a trial before a judge or one before a jury of twelve men?"

"I want a little one," replied the woman.

"All right, I take that to mean a trial before a judge," remarked Judge Millar, and remanded accused to Nov. 30 for hearing.

Chance Of Two Jobs Man Is Told To Get Out Of City

PICKED UP early this morning on Aylmer street by Officer Archie Menzies, William Godson, 22, who said he had been living in Peterborough for some time, faced a charge of vagrancy before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court.

Godson's explanation was that he had the chance of two jobs in the north country cutting wood and that he had to catch a truck at 5 o'clock this morning. He had been on Aylmer street before that hour to meet a companion who was to have gone with him.

"A chance for two jobs," exclaimed Magistrate Gee in surprise. "You are pretty lucky."

It was explained that there had been a number of break-ins here recently and the police were naturally suspicious of strangers found wandering around the streets at an early hour.

"You tell a pretty good story," said Magistrate Gee in allowing Godson to go, and advising him to hurry up north and get one of the jobs as soon as possible.

"You will be picked up again if you are found around Peterborough tonight," he said.

Presbytery Plans Unique Meeting

The committee on evangelism and social service of the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church of Canada at its recent meeting made arrangements for its program at the coming presbytery to be held in the board room of George Street church on Tuesday next at 9.30 a.m.

This program will begin at 2.15 p.m. when the industrial relations section has arranged for an address on an important aspect of this question, it was decided to invite the ministers of the other churches in the city to come to this session.

The committee decided to bring the recent general councils findings on "Modern Gambling" and "The Movie Pictures" before the Presbytery.

The program will include a detailed study of a paper issued by tht Edmonton Presbytery on the Day of Evangelism, and to have three ten minute addresses on the subject. Rev. Harry Wilkinson will speak on "The Need for Evangelism," Rev. M. J. Robinson, B.A., on the content of the message, and Rev. A. McLaughlin, B.A., B.D., on methods of Evangelism. These three ministers came to the district last July, and their messages on this vital subject will be followed with deep interest.

better than their brothers in the West."

The Prairie farmer who receives an 80-cent-a-bushel fixed price for his wheat was not the only member of society receiving a bonus from the public treasury. "Other industries have been for years receiving bonuses, under other names, amounting to many times the amount of the wheat bonus," he added.

Something For the Farmer?

"If the industrialist is going to demand that his special privilege continue; if labor is to be granted minimum wages and maximum-hour weeks, then there is no legitimate argument for agriculture to be forced to struggle on without compensatory measures of some kind.

"Through organized marketing and purchasing, organized thought and action along other lines, the farmer can very materially improve his position and indeed help to eliminate this waste and inefficiency from which we are suffering. But in the meantime it is only fair he should have equality of opportunity as compared with other industries."

Mrs. Anderson told the farm women that for those who are not enjoying "happiness and contentment," the women's co-operative "must assume a responsibility and develop our opportunities as a farm group with a great work to do." The women must "raise our flag a little higher and wave it a little more emphatically," she said.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22 (C.P.). — Revived demand for Canadian wheat with export sales placed near 500,000 bushels, accounted for firm Winnipeg wheat futures. At the close values were ⅛ to ¼ cent higher, November 58¾ December 58, May 61⅛, July 61⅞.

Apart from opening flurries of export and seaboard buying operations were featureless.

Scattered Southern buying developed at the start due to higher Liverpool cables. But at best prices were only ¾ cent up.

We Noticed

...Some time ago we said something about hoop skirts coming in this fall. And not so very long ago we reported seeing lots of them in evening dress designs. Here, however, is an un-looked for development...full skirts are being corded to stand out hoop fashion for day time wear!

❖ ❖ ❖

...Hand painted details are luxury-motifs that are seen here quite frequently on full skirted dance gowns, as well as on late afternoon frocks.

❖ ❖ ❖

...At a tea we attended the other day, a very striking costume we noted was a black velvet coat with a stiffly flared skirt, its neck open to a deep vee, and its bell shaped sleeves edged with huge bands of silver fox. A black velvet toque with fox tassels was worn with it.

Walker—Mills

Cambridge Street United church, Lindsay, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Friday morning at eight o'clock, when Lois Emily, daughter of Mr. W. A. Mills and the late Mrs. Mills, Lindsay, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas Edwin Walker, Peterborough, son of Mr. John J. Walker and the late Mrs. Walker, Lindsay.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charmingly gowned in pink sheer with shirred jacket, and halo-shaped hat with shoulder-length veil. She carried pale pink and white carnations, and was unattended.

Ferns and chrysanthemums decked the church, and organ music was played during the ceremony by Mrs. Roy Penfound. A reception was held at Millgram Lodge, the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. H. Ingram. After a motor trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will live at 56 McDonnel street, Peterborough.

❖ ❖ ❖

Lightle—Beatty

At a quiet ceremony performed on Saturday afternoon in Garden Hill United church, Ruby Florence, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Beatty of Campbellcroft, became the bride of Bertram Allan, son of Mrs. Lightle and the late John Lightle of Bethel Grove.

The bride wore a lovely gown of turquoise blue with bolero of frogenard, and was attended by her sister, Miss Mita Beatty, wearing frogenard with matching accessories. Mr. Victor Lightle, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride and bridesmaid were gold lockets, and to the groomsman a silver cigarette case.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lightle left for a trip to the United States, the bride wearing for travelling a navy suit with matching accessories, and tweed topcoat. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Lightle will live on the groom's farm near Bethel Grove.

Choir Presents Musical Program

About sixty members and friends of the St. David's Society and the choir of St. George's Church met together in the Business and Professional Women's Club Rooms for a pleasantly planned evening of song and recreation on Monday.

A skillfully arranged and attractively presented program given by the choir members included: Chorus, "Homeland"; solo, "Anchored," by Mr. A. Siddall; chorus, "Barcarole"; solo, "Heavenly Love," Mrs. Ray; chorus, "Londonderry Air"; hymn, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," led by the choir; "Brahm's Lullaby," chorus; solo, Mr. Walter Farr; chorus, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes"; solo, "The Ash Grove," Mr. Cooper; chorus, "Evening and Morning."

Following the musical program games were enjoyed, and tea was served by Mrs. V. Mills, refreshment convenor, and her committee. The next meeting of the St. David's Society is to be held on December 5, when the draw for a quilt will be made.

Child Psychology Study Group Subject

With the president, Mrs. R. Parnell, presiding, a meeting of the home and School Council was held Monday evening in the Rose Room of the Y.W.C.A.

An introduction to "Live and Learn," a book on child psychology for parents written by the Professor of Education at Dalhousie University, B. A. Fletcher, M.A., B.Sc., was given by Mrs. W. R. Morris, who had met the author personally, and had heard him speak during a recent visit to Halifax.

Excerpts from the book were quoted by Mr. A. Mowat, who in a brief address stressed the importance of parents beecoming better acquainted with the different phases of a child's life.

An interesting, humorous, and descriptive story of her recent trip to England was given by Mrs. E. Wand. Mrs. W. R. Morris will conduct the next study group meeting, which is to be held November 30. Announcement was made of the play which members of the King Edward Home and School Association are giving on December 9, and that there would be no Council meeting in December.

Don't Let Constipation Drag On!

Do you often have days when you wake up tired—when you feel dull, sunk, "all bogged down"? It's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble!

If you eat what most people do—just bread, meat, potatoes—chances are that just this fact is responsible: you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines that helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, what you need is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains "bulk" plus Nature's intestinal tonic, vitamin B1.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and see if your old sparkle doesn't come back! Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

O.W.L.A. Plans Welcome To New President

An invitation has been extended to all the Liberal Women of Ontario to attend a "No Hostess" Tea and Musicale in the Alexandra Room, King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on Friday afternoon, November 25, to meet and welcome the new president of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association, Mrs. C. R. Widdifield of Stratford, who was formerly Marion Denne of Peterborough.

The guests will be met and introduced by the convener of the Social Committee of the O.W.L.A., Mrs. Frank Bradwin of Toronto. Those in the receiving line will be Mrs. Mitchell F. Hepburn, Mrs. Harry Nixon, Mrs. C. R. Widdified and the past presidents of the O.W.L.A., Mrs. W. F. Fox, Toronto, Mrs. F. S. Greenwood, St. Catharines, Miss Gertrude Rankin, Stratford, Mrs. Anna Hall of Brampton, Mrs. Thomas Findley and Mrs. A. H. Beaton of Toronto.

Presiding at the tea urns will be wives of the Cabinet Ministers, Mrs. Gordon Conant, Mrs. Peter Heenan, Mrs. L. J. Simpson, Mrs. N. O. Hipel, Mrs. Harold J. Kirby, Mrs. P. M. Dewan, Mrs. Eric Cross, Mrs. Wm. Houck, Mrs. St. Clair Gordon, Mrs. Paul Leduc, and Mrs. Colin Campbell, also Mrs. Harry Johnson, Mrs. A. C. Macnaughton and Mrs. John Lay of Barrie. Many out of town guests are expected.

BISHOP TO MARRY

PLYMOUTH, England—(CP). — Rt. Rev. F. Whitfield Daukes, 61, Bishop of Plymouth, has announced his engagement to Miss Lilian Charlton. Date and place of the wedding have not yet been fixed.

Fashions

With the new fuller skirts, Paris sponsors the costume slips in the new Fall colors or in black. You'll want to make yourself at least half dozen like this in street length... A few more in the formal length. It has slenderizing princess lines to give a smooth fit 'neath your frock. Shoulder straps or "built-up" shoulders, as seen in the small view are optional. Cut it out...Hey presto! It's finished! You've practically only one piece shaped gores to join. It's a grand idea for Christmas, too. Who wouldn't adore a stunning new crepe satin slip in the new darker shade amongst her Christmas gifts? Of course, it's lovely too in the pastel shades. A hand embroidered monogram will add a dainty French accent. It's easily accomplished, and nice "pickup" sewing.

Style No. 2041 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 2½ yards of 39-inch material with 3½ yards of lace edging for street length slip.

DOROTHY DIX

If Husbands or Wives Think the Other Has the Least Burden in Life, Let Them Change Duties For a While and They Will Get a True Perspective of Their Problems.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a boy of 4 and twin daughters 11 months old. I do all my cooking, washing and baby-tending. My husband has been in the way of criticizing me because my work was never done and I was always worn out. "I could take care of the children and do the housework and do everything you do without any trouble at all," he continually asserted. Finally I called his bluff and we arranged that on the following Sunday we would swap places. So Sunday morning I slept late and let him get breakfast and wrestle with the babies. I leisurely dressed and went to church and lingered afterward talking to friends. When I got home I smelled burning roast and heard the babies' wails and the howls of Sonny, who was being spanked for waking them. But I didn't go near the kitchen. I tiptoed out and took a ride in the automobile and didn't return until he had a chance to get his dinner ready. After dinner I announced I was going to visit a sick friend and off I went again, without a glance at the dishes piled in the sink. When I returned, late in the afternoon, I found everything cleaned up and the babies asleep, but a husband who looked like he was on the verge of nervous prostration. I told him how well he had managed, adding: "Of course, Sunday is a light day, no cleaning, washing or ironing to do, but this has worked out so well, how about doing it every other Sunday?" But that was too much for him. He threw up his hand, and said: "I don't know how you do it. You had better have a woman in at least one day a week to help you." And I don't think I will ever be told again what a poor manager I am.—MRS. P. S. S.

ANSWER:

The old saying that "one-half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives" is never truer than it is of husbands and wives. Nothing would do more to promote domestic harmony than for them to be able to change places every now and then and find out by actual experience the difficulties with which each has to contend.

For, without knowing it, husbands and wives are a little jealous of each other's prerogatives. Each thinks that the other got the best of the matrimonial bargain. Each considers that he or she is the family goat. Every wife has to listen to her husband tell how he wishes that he didn't have anything to do but to stay at home and do the housework and take things easy. And every wife at the end of her own fourteen-hour-a-day job, that has no Sundays or holidays in it, thinks marriage is pretty soft for a man who has only to work forty hours a week and has the remainder of the time in which to loaf.

The husband pictures the wife as idling around the house, reading the paper or listening to the radio, or gossiping with a neighbor, while the children act like perfect angels, and floors get automotically swept and beds made, and delicious meals appear magically on the table. The wife pictures the husband as spending his days as a sort of perpetual picnic at places where there is always something exciting happening; where people are coming and going and telling each other funny stories and taking each other out to lunch, and somehow getting paid for having a good time.

With these false ideas of each other's work in their minds, it is no wonder that husbands and wives have so little sympathy with each other. The man can't see why his wife is always complaining of being overworked and being too tired to doll herself up of an evening when she has nothing to do but take care of the children and do the housework. And the woman can't see why her husband, who has just been downtown all day, comes home nervous and cros, grouchy and so weary he refuses to step out with her to a night club.

But one day of doing his wife's work and wrestling with pots and pans, crying babies and fighting children would make any man look upon his wife as a marvel of efficiency and endurance. One day of being badgered by a cantankerous boss, dealing with cranky customers and wondering how a note in the bank is going to be met would make any woman understand why a husband's overtaxed nerves give way sometimes at home; why he wants to doze in peace behind his paper of an evening instead of carrying on a brilliant conversation.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR MISS DIX — I have been married ten years and I am the father of two children. We have a beautiful home that should be a happy one, except that my wife wants to have sole control of the children's religious training, where they shall go, what they shall eat, what they shall wear, and this makes a regular hell in our house. I'm a domestic man. I don't drink, use bad language or run around at night. I am crazy about my children and they are about me, but my wife won't let me have anything to do with their rearing. Everything I suggest is wrong. She never lets me take them out by myself and apparently thinks that all I am good for is to pay the bills. What can I do about it?—AN UNHAPPY FATHER.

ANSWER:

I don't know unless you have the backbone to stand up and fight her to a finish and assert your rights as a father. But taking cubs away from a tigress is no more difficult an undertaking than getting a possessive mother to relinquish a single particle of her monopoly of her child.

Your wife is determined to be all-in-all to her children and to exclude you as far as possible. She wants them to depend upon her for everything and in every way. She wants to be the sole authority in their lives. And she doesn't stop to consider how mean and cruel this is to you, nor how injurious it is to the children.

There are many women who intentionally, or otherwise, alienate their children from their fathers. They never let Father hold the baby. They never let Father take little Johnny for a walk by himself. They never let Father and the kids get acquainted. They always interfere with Father's suggestions. They teach the children to dislike Father by holding him over them as a menace. It is always "I'll tell your father on you if you do this or that." "I'll make your father whip you." And, on the contrary, they represent themselves as the only ones who care for the children's happiness and pleasure. "I'll get your father to give you so-and-so."

Women who let their mother-jealousy shut their children's father out of their lives do them the greatest possible wrong, for there comes a time in every youngster's life when he needs the strong and tender hand of a father to guide him, and if Mother has built an impassable barrier between the two, the child loses out. If God hadn't thought that children needed two parents, He wouldn't have given them both a mother and a father.

Bethany Ladies Hold Bazaar

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHANY, Nov. 22. — Balmy autumn weather contributed materially to the success of the annual bazaar of St. Paul's Anglican Church at Bethany, which was held on Saturday in the Town Hall. Visitors from all sections of the surrounding country and from points as far distant as Lindsay and Peterborough attended.

Long tables attractively displayed the wares of each department, and the piano on the stage was draped with a beautiful patchwork quilt, the gift of a former member. Green and red decorations made the hall a blaze of color, while the dining-room behind a lattice wall with two arched doorways presented a picture of plenty and beauty.

Mrs. Bruce Smith and Mrs. Shaw had charge of the candy booth which was operated by the Girls' Guild. Mrs. A. R. Holden was in charge of the fish pond. The farm table of donations was looked after by Mrs. William McCartney, assisted by Miss A. Sisson, while Mrs. Edna Armstrong and Mrs. E. Fallis sold surprise packages. Mrs. C. Porteous had charge of the knit goods booth, and the fancy work section was capably directed by Mrs. William Martin and Mrs. Jarvis.

Conveners of the tea room were Mrs. C. Reynolds, Mrs. H. Kennedy, Mrs. Earl Smith, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. R. W. Price, Mrs. Calvin Reynolds, assisted in pouring tea. Others who gave their assistance were Doreen and Jean Smith, Mrs. Davis, and Evelyn Stevenson. Misses Anna and Jean Stevenson helped in the kitchen. Tea making was in charge of Mrs. D. Cairns and Mrs. G. Fisher. Mrs. A. H. Monk, secretary of the W.A., and Miss Nesbitt, treasurer, sold tickets.

The bazaar hit a new high in proceeds and attendance, and at the close Rev. A. R. Holden extended the thanks of the women to all who attended and in other ways helped make the bazaar a success.

Norway's Queen Dead

Queen Maud of Norway, aunt of King George and last surviving child of King Edward VII, died recently in London following an abdominal operation. Sixty years ago the queen, who was 68 at the time of her death, was known as the tomboy of the British court and nicknamed "Harry" by her father the king.

The Queen Shops Early For Christmas Gifts

With busy weeks ahead, the Queen is particularly anxious to make an early start with her Christmas preparations.

She has already bought a large number of presents. She has chosen, among other things, crackers which may be used for the Christmas party that Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret are likely to give at Buckingham Palace for their friends.

The little Princesses will be delighted with a cracker centrepiece inspired by the Buckingham Palace sentries. It is a fort decked with flags and stuffed with toys, and held by Guards wearing their bearskins and mounted on white horses.

A Cracker Sale.

Snow white crackers weer among other Christmas ideas discovered by the Queen for her daughters at the cracker sale being held until Christmas by Mrs. Cecil Raphael at 47 Brock street, to help Queen Charlotte's Hospital.

Musical toys, jewellery and caps are contained in other crackers bought by the Queen for the Palace.

Royal Christmas shopping expeditions to the stores have already begun.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK

By MARY MOORE

Sunday.
Rolled Roast Shoulder of Veal
Pan Roasted Spanish Onions
Chopped Green Beans in Drawn Butter (see note).
Celery Hearts
Pineapple and Orange Fruit Cup
Oatmeal Cookies. Coffee.

Note.—Doubtless you work the little stunt when short on milk of using the water in which a vegetable is cooked to make the sauce for it. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour, stir together and pour over 1 cup from the liquor in which the green beans were cooked—no salt is needed as some was in the water when beans were cooked. This conserves on butter, too, for much more than 2 tablespoons is used when you try to coat the beans with it alone.

Monday.
Old-fashioned Individual Meat Pies (see note)
Baked Whole Sweet Potatoes
Chopped Buttered Spinach
Apple Tapioca Cream Coffee.

Note.—Cut the cold veal into inch cubes, thin the gravy from it, add about 1¼ cups sliced onions, and pour into individual casseroles or one large one, cover with tender chilled pastry and bake at 500 deg. Fahr., pricking top to let a little juice escape.

Tuesday.
Calves' or Baby Beef Liver
Fluffy Mashed Potatoes or Rice
Stewed Tomatoes
Stewed Combined Apricots and Prunes Cookies
Coffee.

Wednesday (Vegetarian).
Boiled Creamed Artichokes
Broccoli with Hollandaise (or Mock Hollandaise)
Ramekins of Tomatoes, with Crumbs and Onions (see note)
Baked Potatoes
Lemon Cake Pie Coffee.

Note.—Into 1 can of tomatoes stir fine rolled cracker crumbs, about 2 cups, and ¼ cup grated onion, 1 teaspoon salt. Bake in custard cups—when done they are solid enough to turn out in shapes—and make a very pretty color addition to a vegetable plate.

Thursday (Emrgency Dinner).
Creamed Hard-cooked Eggs with Curried Rice
Buttered Brussels Sprouts
Jiffy Pudding (Dumplings in Caramel Syrup) Coffee.

Friday.
Salmon Souffle with Tomato Sauce
Mashed Parsnips
Cabbage Shredded with Cream Sauce
Apple Betty Pudding Cream
Hot Tea.

Saturday.
Baked Beans with Bacon and Boston Brown Bread
Grapefruit and Pineapple Fruit Salad Cheese Wafers
Coffee.

Do You Know?

Soft, pliable cloths, washed at least once a week, should be used for dusting fine furniture? Wiping the furniture occasionally with a cloth wrung out of mild soap suds will also improve it.

❖ ❖ ❖

If the cracked part of your wringer roller is bound tightly with adhesive tape it will stop the crack from spreading, and will not come off?

❖ ❖ ❖

An excellent method of cleaning bristle brushes is to soak them in the following mixture for half an hour? One teaspoon ammonia to a quart warm water. Rinse in clear cold water and hang, head downwards, to dry.

❖ ❖ ❖

When brass or copper saucepans become badly tarnished they may be easily cleaned by applying a paste of one part flour, one part salt, three parts vinegar? If a higher polish is desired, a regular brass polish may be used, but the former paste is economical and effective.

Hastings C.W.L. Holds "At Home"

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Nov. 22.—A very successful "At Home" was held by the local branch of the Catholic Women's League, Friday night in Lynch's hall, when more than one hundred couples attended. Jack Grant and his Aces orchestra furnished the music for this annual event.

A lunch was served to the many guests about mid-night. The following patronesses were in charge of the affair: Mrs. D. H. Walsh, Mrs. Ben Gibson, Mrs. Thomas McMillan, Mrs. T. A. Coughlan, Mrs. (Dr.) J. V. Gallivan, Mrs. F. C. Carrol, Mrs. C. H. Wilkins, Mrs. T. A. Walsh.

The showing of "Lest We Forget," Actual motion pictures, photographed on the battle fields of France during the great war, was given in the community hall here Saturday afternoon before a small attendance. The pictures depicted many scenes of actual fighting woven in with a story of the war from beginning to end and showed the horrors rather than the glory of war.

Calling Women To Patriotism

BOSTON, Nov. 22 — (CP). — More than 1,000 delegates from American Legion auxiliaries in Massachusetts heard United States national defence program described as the "cheapest kind of peace insurance available."

Mrs. George F. Bamforth of Marryland, national vice-president, told the all-day conference that preparedness will cost money, "but America does not want to be caught in the position in which England and France found themselves when they met Germany and Italy in Munich." She said Great Britain and France were forced by unpreparedness to pay" the outrageous claims of Hitler."

"One of America's greatest needs today," the national vice-president declared, "is a revival of a grand old type of patriotism, a greater desire to appreciate our American institutions, ideals and a willingness to defend this nation."

She said that too often stress is laid on the privileges of American citizenship without regard to the obligations entailed by such "privileges."

SHILLING FOR WIFE

DORKING, England — (CP). — Charles Deeks, upholsterer, who died last May, left £1,106 ($5,253), one shilling (24 cents) going to his wife and the residue of the property between various hospitals.

Proper Care Prolongs Life of Furs

Keep your fine furs beautiful and help them to longer life and wearability by giving them proper care. As soon as even the smallest rip is discovered, have it repaired by a reliable furrier. Have furs cleaned and re-glazed periodically. And if they become wet, allow to dry in cool, airy room, never quickly near a heater. Avoid as much as possible excessive wear in one place, such as carrying a handbag under the arm. Unbutton the coat when you sit or before you reach high or bend low and don't sit on the coat any more than you must. Cold storage is safest for storing.

Hitler Has Started Something

There is one question to which we have never seen a direct answer given: Why does Hitler hate the Jews? The one man who could answer the question would be Hitler himself, but he has never revealed the motive which has touched him into unparalleled fury. He together with his colleagues has used all the derogatory terms at his command but he has not given plain and understandable reasons.

For that reason the field is left open to speculation and surmise. We have read that he found in his earlier days the Jews were controlling the finances and business and professional life of Germany, and as Hitler had decided he was going to control all such things himself he had to subdue the Jews. In order to thoroughly accomplish the purpose he found no middle course and therefore turned to the policy of positive subordination.

It is known that Hitler needed money. And still does. His policy has been to take all he could from the Jews. His latest move of a fine of $400,000,000 is a fair example of that. There is no precedent for it national or otherwise. He also is taking employment and business from the Jewish people, and that is a direct way of forcing them to the state where they can earn nothing. Following such a course to its logical conclusion means that within a relatively short time Hitler will have thousands of pauperized Jews on his hands. If and when that time comes he will have them living in ghettoes. (The word 'ghettoes' was first used to designate sections of Italian towns especially set apart for Jews.) But when these people are huddled together in some poor sections of German cities they will have no way of making a living. The Jew has somewhat of a genius for starting from nothing at all and taking care of himself, but there will be no such opportunity in Germany.

Then what? The speculative argument runs on that the Jews will, like other people become cold and hungry and in need of everything that human life seeks for its sustenance. Jewery the world over will be made aware of the dire condition of their associates in Germany and appeals will be made in other countries to aid the Jews in Germany. There will be response and money will come toward that counrty for the relief of the Jews. When it starts to arrive it will come into the hands of Nazi officals. To keep up an appearance of dealing fairly with subscribers to such funds a certain portion of the contributions will go to the Jews, but the major amount will move toward the treasury of the Nazi government. This reasoning shows Hitler as squeezing every last bit of wealth out of the Jews and then using them in their days of impoverishment as a means for causing world-wide money to move toward Germany for their relief and whatever portion of the money is actually spent would go into circulation right in Germany. The unspent portion would also remain there.

Admittedly such reasoning is speculative because it has nothing by way of authority to give it substance. But it is not impossible, and one might go as far as to state neither is it improbable.

* * *

But that is not the end of it. Hitler has today on his hands a struggle with Jews the world over, and Jews are pretty much in business for themselves. They are traders—buyers and sellers. The power they possess to say their buying shall be done here or there is tremendous, and today they are saying it shall not be done in Germany. They are not waiting for their respective governments to declare a boycott or break off relations with Germany. The Jewish people are attending to that themselves. Nor is this feeling the exclusive property of the Jewish folk. We heard the other day of a county medical association where the doctors when in session decided they would cease buying German merchandise. There was no speech-making or open denunciation; just the outcropping of a feeling that something desperately unfair was taking place which called for a practical way of voicing effective protest. When that feeling finds lodgment with Gentiles as well as with Jews and says in effect "We will not do any of our buying in Germany" then the battle is on and it is the battle which Germany or any other exporting nation has cause to fear. Germany may take a great deal from the Jews, but Jews and Gentiles the world over can take immeasurably more from Germany.

Something To Ponder

A gasoline-powered railway jigger was in collision with a Department of Highways car on No. 7 Highway near the easterly limits of the city. The jigger struck the rear fender of the auto and was itself derailed. The two men on the jigger jumped for safety and no particular damage was done. But that of course does not say that damage could not have resulted. It does not take a very great force to throw a car out of direction or if the car were to come upon the jigger on the crossing there might be serious enough results.

It is explained that the alarm system which operates the wig-wag system is so arranged that the signals do not operate when the jigger is on the tracks in the vicinity. It would call for a good deal of operation and bell-ringing because men work along the tracks in the vicinity of the crossing for considerable periods. We are informed that this arrangement about non-operation of the wig-wag in favor of the jigger is sanctioned by authorities.

All of which may be very good, but the blunt fact remains that a jigger and a car on the highway came into collision at a level crossing which was at the moment unprotected although provision is made and paid for to have it protected.

New Kind Of Picket Line

Probably there have been too many picket lines in the country at times for the good of the country, but there has been one operating at Nanaimo which is well worth considering.

We learn the picket line is made up of 12 Chinese and some white men because scrap metal has been brought there and is going to be loaded for shipment to Japan. When it gets to Japan the metal will be used for the making of war material for the further punishment and subduing of China.

Business men, labor men and church leaders in Nanaimo discussed the situation and they all seemed to be in agreement that the scrap metal should not be shipped and were ready enough to take responsibility for any movement which would stop shipment. The truck drivers who brought the stuff to the wharf were none too keen about their work. They were "not looking for trouble" according to their own statement and let it go at that.

The citizens of Nanaimo, B.C., are doing something for which they have no authority in a legal way. But they are also doing something which the nations of the world should have been doing a long time ago. The nations of the world are greedy for gain and they have well demonstrated that fact. As long as they got their share of business they did not care who got hurt.

The actual working out of this theory can be plainly seen today with United States as an example. United States has supplied about 53 per cent. of the aircraft which is used by Japan in conquering China. Japan, meantime has become strong in the East and is in a position to tell United States it can trade in China no more without special permission from Japan. Japan also feels strong enough and great enough to tell United States that the former basis of agreement and negotiation no longer exists.

So it all means just this — United States by taking on this war trade with Japan has raised Japan to such a position of strength in the East that she can openly defy the country which has been supplying Japan's war material. If ever the chickens came home to roost they did in that case.

That is why we are interested in this event at Nanaimo. It is a small affair, but the people there are bent on doing something which needs doing. They are doing something which the great powers and the League of Nations combined feared to do.

The High Hat Did It

Pictures were printed in Toronto papers showing Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Earl Rowe, and several other gentlemen pitching horse shoes at the opening of that event at the Royal Winter Fair. And they were all wearing dress clothes and plug hats, even to the conventioned white vest and white tie. Of trimmings they had missed none at all.

And of course those chaps would be the ones to whom the camera men would flock although they repeatedly get their pictures in print. But that is not quite fair to the ancient and honorable art of pitching horse shoes. People do not wear tile hats, nor do they don boiled shirts and tail coats and white vests when they get down to a spell of pitching horse shoes. It just can't be done that way and it will serve no good purpose to try and put some kudos—whatever that may mean—on the business of pitching horse shoes.

There are hundreds of hamlets and villages throughout the country where they have staked out a lot for pitching horse shoes, and that is where the game is at its best. Such is the birthplace of ringers and leaners. If it were not for graduates or exponents of these places going to Toronto's show there would be no pitching worth a hill of beans. The real pitcher wears old clothes because now and then he likes to rub his hands off on his trousers and again he likes to get down on one knee to examine the value of contending ringers or leaners. He can't be bothered with a boiled shirt cramping his action.

But when these "real thing" pitchers go to Toronto to demonstrate how horse shoes should be pitched the camera men of Toronto papers go popping over to catch a few high hatters who are horning in on the opening ceremonies. They do not look like horse shoe pitchers nor are they horse shoe pitchers but because they are dolled up for the evening they get the call. Toronto seems to be like that for some reason or other, easily captivated by the external emblems of masculine embellishment and inclined to sprout lesser appreciation for the more humble visitors who are the real exponents of the horse shoe pitching business. Tile hats, boiled shirts and such regalia have nothing in common with pitching horse shoes. Not for a moment.

We Have Not Solved It

Something which looked like a sit-down strike took place in the jail at Dundas the other evening. There were six transients who had been given a night's lodging, and when it came to getting on the road once more they decided they would stay for another night. And that of course was and is against the rules of the jail at Dundas.

So the six were brought before the magistrate at Hamilton and they were charged with vagrancy. That is a wide enough word to cover almost anything. It would be easy enough to prove the charge and the six transients would probably admit they were vagrants because they had no visible means of support. The charge was amended to include trespass as well, for they had actually been in the Dundas jail after they had been told to get out.

The men gave their names and ages, and the ages were: 19, 22, 21, 30, 27 and 25. We take it that age list might apply and include in a general way a good many of the men who are tramping about the country today—doing nothing at all except looking for a place to sleep at night and asking for something to eat during the day. At times they might also see if they could collect enough to buy a bottle of strong wine.

These men are passing through the stage where their power to work should be about its best; none of them is old. The combined labor power or producing power of all those who are tramping must be very considerable, but no one wants to make use of it. Therefore we are losing it because we do not know what to do about it. It is worse than lost because it is being dissipated and what effort they are making is being turned into a non-productive and futile channel.

We are probably slow at admitting that this problem has us stumped and that we do not know enough to deal with it. We talk rather boldly at times about our need of more population and more of everything, but we are not fond of admitting that we have not made headway in employing the people in our land now who are roaming about with not a thing to do and with no effective suggestion made as to what we best do about it. Those six men at Hamilton may get sent to jail for a while on the charge of trespass. When they come out they will be just where they were before. We lock them up for a while because we do not know what else to do.

PUZZLED

(By A. R. K.)

¶ The lessons that I learned at school, were placed on very simple rule, the teacher thought and planned; and all the sums I had to do, were based on simple things I knew, so I could understand.

¶ A farmer sold a load of hay, when what was done he got his pay he went to spend the same; there was a list of things he bought, what he had left was what we sought, and it was very plain.

¶ Twelve dollars seemed a lot to spend, of money that seemed like the end, the figures were not long; the teacher used to tell us then, to do our sums and then as men, we'd surely get along.

¶ I plead no lame or weak excuse, but things I learned are not much use, because the sums were small; I try in vain most every way, to fit them in with things today, and they won't work at all.

¶ I thought twelve dollars was a lot, in days when I was drilled and taught, and I could grasp that much; but when they talk in millions now, it makes me feel at once some how, that I will need a crutch.

¶ I often read of billions too, my brain cells turn to green and blue, my knowledge is too lean; while millions, billions and such sums, may suit the high financial ones—I don't know what they mean.

Facts About Our Canadian Rails

ONE of the difficulties facing railways on this continent is that a locomotive engineer, who may be paid close to $3.00 per hour, is in competition with a truck driver, who may earn 50 cents an hour, or a bus driver, who may earn about 75 cents an hour. Both bus drivers and truck drivers work longer hours for less money than do railway workers.

Railway workers' wages are difficult to determine exactly because the payment is mainly on a mileage basis and there may not be two trains covering the same mileage in the same time. There are even varying rates per mile.

Railway Facts believes, however, that it has learned the approximate wages paid for some passenger runs on Canadian railroads.

Perhaps the best known train in Canada is the 6½-hour train between Montreal and Toronto. The engineer receives an amount somewhere between 6.4 cents and 6.56 cents per mile. If it is 6.48 cents per mile, he would receive $22.03 for the 340 miles running time. There are, however, various little extras. Half an hour's preparatory time would bring him 65 cents; initial terminal mileage of about seven miles would bring him 45 cents; the arbitrary allowance of 20 miles for divisional points would bring him $1.30 and final terminal delay and inspection time is granted to an amount of $1.62. Thus the engineer making the complete run in 6½ hours would receive $26.05.

But there are three engineers among which this is split or about $8.70 each for about three hours' duty each.

BUILT TO CARRY GRAIN, BUT....

WHEN the National Transcontinental was completed, the freight rate on wheat from Fort William to Quebec was 20.7 cents per bushel. Later, at the instance of Western interests, the rate was reduced to 12 cents and, eventually, in 1927, to 11 cents per bushel.

The National Transcontinental has been, even at eleven cents, a complete failure as a grain-carrying road.

The largest shipment over the line was 4,000,000 bushels in 1928. The reason for this shipment was that there was shortage of storage space in the West and the Government elevator at Quebec stored the grain through the winter at no charge.

The water rate from the Head of the Lakes to Quebec fluctuates in accordance with the supply and demand for ships. The low point was 4.4 cents per bushel in 1936, and the rate this year has been fixed by the Grain Board at a maximum of seven cents per bushel. The high point, 11.64 cents per bushel, was in 1920.

HUNDRED MILLION TO WORKERS

EMPLOYEES of the Canadian National Railways in Canada in 1937 received $99,965,000 in salaries and wages. In the same year, Canadian Pacific Railway employees received $77,495,000 in wages and salaries. The Canadian National operated 23,707 miles of railway, compared with 17,223 miles on the Canadian Pacific.

THE WHEAT BONUS.

(Edmonton Journal)

THE DIFFICULTY of maintaining the minimum price has to be recognized. The Federal Government is in no position to go on providing $40,000,000 a year in doing so, and it is bound to give heed to the objections raised in the parts of the country where most of the voters live.

What is to be hoped for is that the world demand will improve to such an extent that the western growers will receive much more for their wheat through the ordinary channels of trade than they are now obtaining from the board. If, however, this does not happen, obviously it will be necessary to consider other methods than that now in effect of safeguarding their interests.

It is a serious mistake for them to assume that the policy adopted by the Government last summer will be a permanent one.

SPORT NOT SILLY.

(Ottawa Journal)

THE ANSWER is surely no, no a thousand times no. The pursuit of sport, virtually any sport, as either an active participant or an interested follower, is perhaps one of the healthiest signs of this country. As a builder of men, as an instructor in how to play the game of life, as a source of relaxation to tired nerves —in these and countless other ways sport plays a vital role.

Now if Hitler were keen on golf, if Mussolini could be tackled on a football field—if these international ogres and all the world's little ogres were to be more interested in sport and less interested in themselves, more interested in sport and less interested in their business revenues and their pet "isms"—.

Does this little piece seem to go too far? Then let us add the Pauline advice: "Be temperate in all things." Over-indulgence in sport, as with other excesses, will bring its own unpleasant reactions. "Neither abstinence nor excess ever renders man happy."

FIRST WOMAN CYCLIST

(Edinburgh Scotsman)

THE FIRST WOMAN to ride a bicycle—it was 91 years ago—has been discovered. She is Mary Marchbank, of Courthill, Dumfriesshire, who, in 1843, when only three, sat on the first bicycle ever built, and four years later rode the world's second bicycle.

It is known that the first bicycle was built about the year 1840 by Kirkpatrick MacMillan, of Courthill. This was the first machine accurately to be described as a bicycle, because it was the first to be propelled by actual pedalling with the feet off the ground.

"There is no doubt," says Mr. G. Herbert Stancers, secretary of the C.T.C., "that Mary Marchbank was the first of her sex ever to ride a bicycle, and as such should be remembered."

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics

BEST CHANCE IS CHEESE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—A Belleville board buyer has been quoted in the press as advising cheese factory patrons to close their factories owing to the large stocks of cheese held in Canada.

This advice would not appear well founded when we consider the relative market positions of cheese and butter, the latter being the chief outlet for the cheese producers' milk if the cheese factories are closed.

We have a butter surplus of 11,000,000 lbs. over a year ago. Dealers in general are afraid to invest in butter, so the buying is largely reduced to a hand-to-mouth business. The present price level is 21⅜c. and if more milk is diverted to butter this price will, in all probability, be reduced still further. Our butter does not enjoy a preferred place on the British market.

In the case of cheese, production for this season to date is approximately 10 per cent below a year ago. It is not known whether the stocks held in Canada are held on English account or not, but there is no doubt that a large percentage of them are for the English trade. The price of cheese today is around 11½c, which is relatively higher than that paid for butter. In addition to this, owing to the preferred place our cheese holds on the United Kingdom market, considerably greater quantities than we make at the present time could be absorbed by that market without materially affecting the price.

All things considered, the best advice a farmer can receive at the present time is to keep his cheese factory operating as long as weather conditions are such that it is practical for him to do so.

S. L. JOSS,
Secretary Ont. Cheese Producers.

BYLAW IS WRONG

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Your editorial about the bylaw re blowing railway whistles:

The bylaw was passed by the city council, approved by certain lawyers who did not stop to think the responsibility the city was adding. It stands to reason the motorists and public depended on the whistles, the engineers depended on them for traffic of all kinds. The bylaw takes away that protection and leaves the onus on the city. Is the city willing to take that responsibility of accidents caused by its passing?

The surface of this city is plastered with level crossings in every direction now without any protection. Shortly after the bylaw was passed I was struck by a locomotive at George and Romaine streets with four passengers; 3 injured seriously, sent to hospital. I had driven a car for 20 years and never had an accident and can honestly say only for that rotten bylaw it would never have happened.

Don't change the bylaw but scrap it and get some one who knows how to draw up a safe one if you have to send to Toront to get a lawyer who knows how. Seventy-five feet from a crossing, with a wind blowing and sight blocked by buildings! What chance has a motorist—Engineer is afraid to blow the whistle, no matter if it is to save a life for the sake of a fifty dollar fine.

Some people should be in Germany, where life is cheap. To some people life is cheap, unless, it strikes their own home, and if they do not drive a car, what do they know? A motorist who suddenly finds himself in front of a locomotive without warning. Dozens of people in this city had narrow escapes from trains. Why? Read the bylaw. It is to be regretted that the poor fellow was killed at the north end a couple of weeks ago. If a crossing whistle had been blown it might have averted that calamity.

The railroad has been relieved of a lot of responsibility since the bylaw was passed and the city took it on.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for the space allotted to this letter.

J. E. HAGGART.

THE NEW SCHOOL IN NO. 13

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—It seems a trifle strange that a four-room school, the Confederation School, could be erected and completed in Monaghan at a cost of $2400 while a two-room school in Smith cost $2100. But it is 11 years since the former was built and we have advanced since then. Has anything in this province advanced like the provincial debt and the provincial tax? Dr. MacDougal, assistant to the provincial inspector, told us at the school opening on the 7th inst. that the school was ours. It is ours to pay for. The debt is ours and the tax also is ours but the school is the property of the bond holders. The assistant in the course of his rambling remarks spoke of the large spacious building, claimed it would have a tendency to broaden the minds of the inmates. Is it really necessary for the ratepayers to construct extra space at a cost of some four or five thousand dollars extra expense just to broaden the minds of the pupils?

It does not broaden the minds of the taxpayers to face these facts. When a new school is built it must conform to the fantastic ideals of the Department, cost what it may. The part of the ratepayers is to pay. Those gentlemen with their fat salaries have no mercy on the taxpayer. They do not know there is a depression on. They have seen no adverse seasons, know nothing of the slackness that comes when hope is gone to beaten man.

A tremendous amount of money is spent on education. Are we getting an adequate return for it? Education should teach nations how to govern themselves, should teach individuals how to govern themselves and should have a refining effect upon society in general. In those countries where education is claimed to have reached such a high standard of proficiency we find poverty in the midst of plenty. We find unemployment increasing, crime increasing, drunkenness increasing, lawlessness and immorality increasing, debt and taxes increasing, and war continually threatening. If, however, education is not responsible for this decadent state of affairs it certainly does not seem to have prevented them.

JOHN SERVIUS.

• The War of the Ambassadors

THERE WAS THE BAD old type of war in which ambassadors were withdrawn and declarations of war issued before the troops went to work. There is the more recent variety, says the Kingston Whig-Standard, in which the troops go to work immediately and, so far as is known, the ambassadors are left to find their way home as best they can. And there now is the latest and surely the best kind of warfare that has ever been devised: the ambassadors are withdrawn but the troops do not go to work at all.

The United States and Germany have just joined battle in this new manner, and there is every hope of its being as useful a war as any in history. If a noble innovation in the art of warfare has been made, the credit goes to the United States. Canada's neighbor started it. Ambassador Hugh Wilson is already on the high seas on his way home from Berlin, Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador to the United States, was only recalled yesterday. Both ambassadors have been recalled, it was announced, in order that they may make personal reports on the state of affairs within the countries to which they are envoys. But everybody knows that they could report by coded cables and by special messengers wearing short black coats and striped trousers and carrying dispatch cases. There is little doubt about it that the real significance of the recalls is bloodless warfare.

There is, of course, the secondary significance that possibly neither Herr Hitler nor Mr. Roosevelt can believe their eyes when they read the decoded cables, the diplomatic dispatches and the news dispatches. They perhaps want to have personal talks so that they can compare impressions by ear with those they have been receiving by eye. In Mr. Roosevelt's case this does not seem to be a very serious reason since his caustic comments indicate that he has no doubt about the authenticity of the terrorism reports from Germany. In Herr Hitler's case, however, there is evidence to suggest that he really cannot believe what he is reading about the feeling against him in the United States.

It will be to the advantage of all mankind if Herr Dieckhoff can convince him that the feeling not only in the United States but everywhere outside Germany is a really serious matter. It might, for example, be in order to remind the Fuehrer of the Lusitania. If Hitler can be convinced, the war of the ambassadors will have served an excellent purpose.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

AND IT CAME TO PASS, that as he was come nigh unto Jericho, a certain blind man sat by the way side begging: and hearing the multitude pass by, he asked what it meant. And they told him, that Jesus of Nazareth passeth by. And he cried, saying, Jesus, thou son of David, have mercy on me. And they which went before rebuked him, that he should hold his peace; but he cried so much the more, Thou son of David, have mercy on me.

And Jesus stood, and commanded him to be brought unto him: and when he was come near, he asked him, saying, What wilt thou that I shall do unto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receive my sight.

And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee. And immediately he received his sight, and followed him, glorifying God: and all the people, when they saw it, gave praise unto God.—Luke xviii, 35-43.

Even Experts Can't Tell How Trade Pact Tips Scales Says Manion

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—(CP).—Not even the best tariff expert in Canada could definitely decide now whether the gains or losses tip the scale in the Canadian-American trade agreement, Conservative leader Manion said yesterday in his first comment on the agreement signed Thursday in Washington.

However, Dr. Manion, in a statement reviewing several factors in the treaty, asked whether in the pact Canada had not "given up the British substance for the American shadow.

His statement follows:

As the Canada - United States treaty just made public affects hundreds of items and, therefore, requires intensive study before a final judgment upon it is possible, I shall at this time offer only two or three observations upon its trade aspects, reserving a fuller consideration for discussion in the House of Commons.

I freely admit that the agreement gives favors to certain producers in Canada—as all agreements naturally must. At the same time, one cannot help but wonder as to its ultimate effect on Canada as a whole when one observes that already despatches emanating from the United States claim, for example, that the removal of the preference in the British market for Canadian wheat will give back to the United States not only a large market for American wheat but will bring about a rerouting of Canadian wheat through American ports instead of as at present, because of the preference, through Canadian ports. Only experience can tell the damage this change may do to Canada through its ports and through the displacement of Canadian wheat by American.

Cause For Wonder

The same enquiry comes to one's mind regarding the reduced preference on Canadian fruits in the British market and one wonders as to the harm that may be done to the Annapolis valley, the Niagara peninsula and the Okanagan valley through this change by the replacing of our products by American fruits. An answer to both of the above questions can be given only through study and experience.

Again, when one remembers the continuous uncertainty of the American market to Canada — and proven to us by painful experience—one cannot but ask himself how long after a change of government in the United States might Canada enjoy any favors given to us in this treaty.

For some reason, known only to themselves, the 140,000,000 American people have made it their custom practically never to buy from Canadians as much goods per annum as the 11,000,000 Canadians buy from them. In view of this, we may well ask ourselves if in this treaty we have not given up the British substance for the American shadow.

It is admitted that the removal of the three percent tax on American imports into Canada will remove at the same time many millions of revenue.

Are the lowering of protection to Canadian industry and the Canadian worker, and the further competition which is being brought about through the favored-nation clause, which grants to Japan for example, the same favors as are granted to our American neighbors —are these changes so far-reaching as to lessen seriously the protection in our Canadian plants and thereby curtail the work and wages of their employees?

However, the asking of these questions is quite sufficient to demonstrate that at this time, so close upon the publication of the agreement itself, one requires further study before being able fully to judge the merits and demerits of this very important change in our trade relations. Not even the best tariff expert in all Canada could definitely decide today whether the gains or the losses tip the scale.

Victoria Wardenship Fight Has 3 In Ring

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Nov. 22. — Although the municipal elections are six weeks off, three candidates for the Wardenship of Victoria County have already thrown their hats into the ring. The candidates for office are Deputy-Reeve John Baker of Lindsay, Reeve Joseph Guiry of Emily, and Reeve W. Short of Mariposa.

Blinded by the lights on a car driven by Arthur Cunningham of Ops, on the Lindsay-Fenelon Falls Highway on Saturday night, Fred Brandon of Fenelon Falls crashed into a number of cows owned by D. Sullivan, killing one and injuring another. The truck driven by Brandon was badly damaged.

A fire which might have assumed serious proportions broke out early on Monday morning in the boiler room of the Fee Motors plant on Kent Street. Burning shavings blown from an open furnace door caused the blaze. Great billows of smoke poured out of the building, and the firemen had a half-hour fight before the fire was subdued.

The wedding was solemnized on Friday last by Rev. J. J. Black of First United Church, of Lota Emily Mills, daughter of Mr. W. Mills of Lindsay, and Thomas E. Walker of Peterborough. The young couple will reside on McDonnel Street, Peterborough.

Gleam Of Sanity

LONDON, Nov. 22—(AP)—Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, today described the Anglo-American and Canadian-American trade treaties as "one gleam of sanity in a world which is rapidly qualifying for bedlam."

Mr. Stanley spoke to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

He characterized the treaty with the United States, signed at Washington Nov. 17, as an "economic bargain" and said if any political results occurred they were "no conscious objectives."

Goodnight Story

By MAX TRELL

Knarf and Hanid, the shadow-children with the turned-about names, were surprised the other night to hear voices coming from the top of the desk. Everyone in the house was fast asleep. It was long past 12 o'clock.

At first they heard a lot of voices. Then they heard one voice say: "I'll call the roll now. Answer present, please. Pen?"

"Present" answered a little voice.

"Pencil?"

"Present, teacher."

"Eraser?"

"I'm here," said a soft little voice.

Hanid and Knarf hurried over to the desk. Sure enough, all the things in the children's school-bags were holding a class of their own on the top of the desk. The teacher was grandmother's gold-rimmed spectacles.

Funny Class.

"My! What a funny class!" Hanid couldn't help exclaiming as she looked at all the school things arranged in rows in front of the spectacles. She saw Ink in its bottle, the Geography Book, the Spelling Book, the Arithmetic Book, and the Note Book. "Sh-h!" said the Note Book, which was lying right near them at the edge of the desk. "Keep very quiet. You can stay right here and watch. But don't make any noise."

Then the spectacles-teacher said: "We're all here to-day. Now we'll go on with our lessons. Pen, what did you learn in school this afternoon with the children?"

Pen stood up. "I learned how to write some new words this morning in the Note Book. I wrote cat and bat and door mat."

"Very good. And did you write them neatly?"

Something Terrible.

"Well—I wrote most of them neatly. Only just before I finished something terrible happened."

"My goodness!" the two shadow-children exclaimed in a whisper as they glanced at each other. "What could have happened?"

"Instead of sliding over the top of the paper," the Pen went on in a lower voice, "I tripped. Hop-hop-hop, I went. And the next minute there were three big blots."

They were holding a class.

"H'mm," said the teacher, looking angry. "Pens should never hop. You spoiled the whole writing lesson."

"It was my fault, teacher!" a voice called out suddenly. It was Ink. "It was my fault because I fell out of the Pen when it tripped. I should have held on."

"You're both at fault," said the teacher, looking angrier than ever. "I'm afraid I'll have to make you both stay in after school."

Just then they all heard a soft voice saying: "Don't punish them, please, Miss Spectacles. It's true they blotted the page of the Note Book. But I mended everything. I rubbed out every blot."

Then they all looked at the Note Book, and, sure enough, all the blots had been rubbed out. All the school things were so happy that they jumped for joy and shouted, "Hooray! Hooray for the Eraser!" For it was the Eraser which had just spoken. And the teacher said: "You can all have a recess."

Parish Defies Order And Keeps Priest

VULCAN, Mich., Nov. 22—(AP).—The deadline in the second admonition to Father Simon Borkowski to leave the picketed rectory of St. Barbara's Roman Catholic Church or face expulsion from the Salvatorian order passed last midnight with parishioners once again refusing to release their "prisoner."

The deadline passed without incident, a pickets' spokesman said.

Very Reverend Ralph Fontaine, provincial superior of the Salvatorian order at St. Nazianz, Wis., had issued the three-day ultimatum Thursday, ordering Father Borkowski to leave for duty at Jordan College, Menominee, Mich. It was the second recent admonition.

Parishioners wish Father Borkowski to continue at the church, which he helped build with his own hands. The 16th week of picketing began to-day.

Principles In Danger

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 22—(AP) Because they believe democratic principles are at stake, students at Canisius College have formed an anti-anti-jitterbug league. The "double anti" organization was formed to block the efforts of a recently formed anti-jitterbug club on the campus. "While we do not favor all forms of swing dancing, we feel that as Americans the jitterbugs have a right to dance whatever way they wish, league president Joseph Cutrona explained.

ROMANCE INC.

BY OREN ARNOLD

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

Read This First:

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture. Bob Towne, football end and campus hero, and some of the other students, are arrested by the new sign in front of the Davis cottage announcing a "COUNSEL IN ROMANCE". Sara Sue explains her Cottage Plan to a group of students and finds them greatly interested. Bob Towne even asks HER for a date. Against her better judgment, Sara Sue goes dancing with Senior Towne. She enjoys the evening, but as he leaves her he kisses her impetuously. When an insignificant-looking freshman, Worthington Gurley, enrolls in her club, Sara Sue is amused and interested. That evening a girl in a car stops in front of her house and insults the pretty widow.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 6

EAGLE-EYED Calculus Jones had seen the car of the queer visitor, of course, and he identified it instantly. He came from the warm kitchen, where Cleopatra was baking cookies, and opened the front door to re-admit Sara Sue, Calculus liked to double as butler when the mood hit him.

"That Miss Peaches Pomeroy's car, wasn't it, ma'am?" Calculus probed gently.

Sara Sue turned to him, eyes narrowing.

"Yes! Yes, Calculus I couldn't imagine! But—it must be. Is she kind of tall? Dark eyes? Lips a trifle pouty? Very—pretty?"

"Yes'm. That Miss Peaches. She's repo'ted like that."

"Uhm. Thanks, Calculus."

The colored man retired again to his kitchen nook, and Sara Sue went to her room. Indignation had flared heavily in her for a few seconds. Indignation and curiosity. Nobody had insulted Sara Sue Davis like that since—well, never, in her memory. Who in the world was it, and why? But Calculus had known.

The incident upset her momentarily, more than she realized. She knew she had done nothing to occasion such an attack, in so offensive a manner. But she had had inklings of Miss Pomeroy's character from here and there, even though this was her first meeting with the campus beauty. Come to think of it, she identified Peaches now by remembering her portrait in last year's Campanile, the Rice yearbook. Peaches had made the beauty pages.

Well, Geraldine Pomeroy wasn't the first shrew who had been beautiful; and a clear conscience is an excellent panacea. Sara Sue quite sensibly went to bed. She was tired. She expected to "think about things" for at least an hour. In five minutes she was breathing deeply and in five minutes more Cleopatra awakened her.

"Lawdy goddness, Miss Sue, ain't you got no duties, ma'am?" The fat Negress giggled. "Hit's goin' on 10 o'clock ma'am. Git up f'm there and eat you some breakfus."

Twelve hours around the clock! It was indeed shameless, Sara Sue admitted. But then—the rain had maintained constant lullaby. Indeed, it was still dashing against her windows, although the sky was lighter than it had been yesterday afternoon.

Only a few students called that day. Bob Towne telephoned, four times. Worthington Gurley telephoned, then send a telegram pleading for a date to take her to the first freshman dance. Most of the time, though, Sara Sue spent in making over an old dress, and in bossing Calculus at painting some yard chairs stored in her attic. "It won't rain forever, contrary to appearances," she had assured him.

Nevertheless, her assurances seemed invalid. Harris county, Texas, of which Houston is county seat, happens to have more range cattle in it than any other county in America, and the easterner's traditional misconception of the region is a high, arid, semi-desert, with many cactus plants, sand dunes and steer skulls bleaching in the Texas sunshine.

Actually Harris county is semi-tropical in verdure. The coastal plain there has the magnificent altitude of 50 feet, not 5,000. The football season sometimes is all drenched with rain. The grass and the vines and the shrubbery and the flowers all grow in such profusion as to make Houston one of the prettiest cities in the southwest, and the Spanish moss, moisture loving, drapes in great pennant-like festoons from the trees on the Rice Institute campus. Buffalo Bayou at Houston flows more water than many a more dignified "river" between Dallas and San Diego.

So, when the rain proved that it meant to keep on, nobody was surprised, and Houstonians soon resumed their normal routine. By the second day people were ignoring the storm, which kept on that day and the next, and the next.

Registration for Rice classes, however, occupied the students full time during this interim. There is always a wrangling and a conferring about study schedules and such during those few opening days. From 4 to 6 p. m. Coach Jimmy Britt kept his men in the great field house, giving them intense physical workouts and "skull practice" even though they could not practice on the gridiron; Rice field is so drained that it will dry in a few hours, he knew, and so he had no worry.

Quite a few callers came to Sara Sue's cottage during the rainy days, and quite a few took membership in her Cottage Plan, or club, or whatever. A definite name for the establishment seemed not to have materialized yet, but no matter. Sara Sue's personality, and her cherry home with its big fireplace, and her eternal supply of cookies and coffee and tea, and the novelty of her idea, brought the young collegians in. One long house party. Sara Sue enjoyed it most of all She liked to feel a part of Rice life. Especially did she enjoy the college talk.

"—the goofiest new professors, one in math with a mile-long degree and bow legs and—

"—Dr. Lovett's looking older, don't you think? And—

"—she said she wouldn't take the silly old biology even if she did need the credits, but Mr. McCann smiled—you know how sweet he is —and told her that—

"—but if Rice can win championships two years in a row it'll be the first time in conference history, which'll make—

"—the darlingest dress, my dear! A bluff-colored material cut kinda like a dirndl but with—

"—rain just ruins a wave, and the first dance Friday, and—

"For Rice's honor, Rice's glo-ree-e-e-e,
We will fight on,
We will be fight-ing
When this day is done
And when-the-dawn-comes-we-will-still
Be fighting on, Rice,
For the gray and blu-u-u-u-ue,
We'll all be loy-al,
To Rice be tru-u-u-u-u-u-ue!"

Sara Sue loved the college songs. She loved "For Rice's honor" especially. She learned to sing it with the rest of them. She learned the famous "Yea Rice" and the scrappy "Rooti-ti-toot" yells. She heard the impromptu music and cheering in her living room almost every hour. It was all so grand, she told herself. She played the piano for them often. Sometimes Calculus sang comic songs, danced Negro solo numbers. Even Cleopatra occasionally favored with a high soprano—its timbre unlike that of any other race in the world. Mother Davis hovered motherly in the background, herself happy at the gaiety. How marvelous is youth, she thought.

Classes began at Rice, despite the rain, and the fall semester was well along on its routine when Sara Sue took time out on her fourth evening to check her records, count her funds, and sort of recapitulate her business, mentally speaking. The process involved some work. The last students had departed at 10 p. m., and at 11 p. m. she discovered that she had sold exactly 99 memberships! That excited her a trifle.

Ninety- nine customers for her Cottage Plan. She had agreed to accept just 100, no more. It would be all she could handle. She remembered, vividly, Customer No. 1. A handsome senior, Bob Towne, who instantly thought he had fallen in love with her! She wondered, smiling, who Customer No. 100 would be.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, November 23.

Judging by the lunar aspects, this should be a day memorable for the decisive breaking away from old obstructions and long static conditions in order to make a definite advance upon solid achievement and enduring progress, with an assured stabilization of the fortunes. This advance should come through initiative, energy, determination and sound objectives, which may be solid enough to withstand certain undercurrents of deception or trickery. Writings, publicity and contracts are under favorable auspices.

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared to enjoy a year of great progress in the way of stabilizing their interests, whether investments, property, business or contracts, with promise of increased income and expansion of opportunity for security and gain. Writings, letters, advertising and publicity assist in this direction, but be alert to underhand and subtle machinations. Old as well as new matters should flourish.

A child born on this day may have very sound and practical ideas, as well as subtle creative energies and equipment, to place it in a position of security, advancement, and responsibility in life. Its mind should be alert, shrewd and crafty.

Ilsley Sees New U.S. Trade Treaty Canada's Longest Step Ahead

KENTVILLE, N.S., Nov. 21. — (CP)—Canada's new trade treaty with the United States, Revenue Minister Ilsley said Monday, will be "regarded as one of the longest steps forward ever taken by a Canadian government."

Addressing a meeting of his constituents in Digby-Annapolis-Kings County here, Mr. Ilsley said the treaty signed in Washington last week, would bring "new hope to many thousands of fishermen," save stockraisers money through reduction of Indian corn duties, help lumbering and aid dairymen through reduction of cream separator duties.

In the first explanation by a government minister of the agreement, Mr. Ilsley told his audience in this section of Nova Scotia's famed apple-growing Annapolis valley that reduction of the British preference on apples would not retard the valley's trade.

Instead, taken with other provisions of the agreement it "will prove to help rather than hurt."

When the United Kingdom and the United States started negotiations last year for a trade agreement, the minister recalled, it was a new and dramatic development in international trade.

"We decided that a policy of give and take was the only policy for Canada. We felt that we needed such a policy, as did the empire and, for that matter, the world. So we decided not to block but to help on the enlightened policy of the United States and Great Britain in so far as we could do so without sacrifice to our important interests."

The minister said it was predicted the agreement would do away with British preference, direct shipment provisions, routing of goods through Halifax and so forth. The preference, preserved. The port would not only retain shipping and handling business but would share in improvement in condition of primary produce resulting from the agreement.

Quints Proving Great Aid Child Welfare

OTTAWA, Nov. 22.—(CP).—The birth and the survival of the Dionne quintuplets has been a good influence in child welfare, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the quints' physician, told the annual dinner of the Canadian Association of Travel and Tourist Bureaux here last night.

Since their birth the mortality rate in premature children has dropped sharply, principally because physicians became convinced from the quints' record that quietness, heat and mother's milk is all they needed, Dr. Dafoe continued.

Honor guest with Conservative Leader Manion at the dinner, the doctor gave a resume of the children's lives, telling the tourist men they would be shown as usual next summer in the Dafoe nursery, but would be removed a greater distance from their admirers the following summer.

He told of why the quints had their tonsils and adenoids removed Nov. 9. To have postponed the operations would have endangered their lives. Emilie, one of the quints, was unconscious 48 hours during her serious illness last July, the doctor disclosed.

Dr. Manion said he knew Dr. Dafoe's successful efforts in keeping the children alive was "proof of a magnificent brain endowed with the highest common sense."

Million Daily On Debt

Better education of hotel-keepers toegther with more dust-proof roads would improve the tourist trade, the Conservative leader said. Close to $1,000,000 was being paid by Canada daily on debt charges he said and one way this could be worked off was by the tourist trade. Every dollar received in Canada from a tourist was a dollar Canada need not pay out in interest.

Le Dolan, director of the Canadian Travel Bureau, told the convention the visit of the King and Queen to Canada late next spring will provide the greatest tourist attraction in the Dominion's history.

He predicted that more people will come to Canada from the United States and other countries to see British royalty than have ever come to this country for any other purpose.

Transport Minister Howe urged tourists make use of trans-Canada airlines when visiting the Dominion. "This coming season we will have T.C.A. in full operation from Montreal to Vancouver and it should attract tourists because our airliners are equal in comfort and safety to any service in the United States," he said.

The convention continues today.

Raffle Tickets Nabbed

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 22—(CP).—Seizure of a quantity of raffle tickets based upon hockey and allegedly operated from Montreal, was reported today by Alex Roughead, inspector of the police morality squad, who said that an east end resident would be charged with possession.

Termed "Union Four-Way Action Hockey" and "Favorite Sportsmen's Hockey Score," the tickets alluded to prizes to be given for the correct scores in the National, International-American and Quebec senior leagues. The second-named offered a total of $4,000 while the other did not give the aggregate.

Nazis Laughing At Versailles Ban Boast Huge Navy, With 37 Subs

BERLIN, Nov. 22—(AP). — Germany, exactly 20 years since surrender of the German Great War fleet, to-day could laugh at naval restrictions imposed by the Treaty of Versailles.

It was Nov. 21, 1918—10 days after the Armistice—that the German fleet gave up and was interned under British guard at Scapa Flow between the Orkney Islands and the North Sea.

Seven months later the Versailles treaty-makers limited Germany to six 10,000-ton battleships, six light cruisers, 12 destroyers and 12 torpedoboats.

But a few days before that treaty could be signed German officers and men boarded the interned fleet and scuttled their vessels in the deep waters where they were held.

Especially the treaty ban on submarines to-day could cause Nazi Germany amusement, for there were at least 37 undersea craft in service and more under construction.

Germany began arming openly in 1935. That same year an Anglo-German naval treaty was signed pledging Germany to limit her naval strength to 35 per cent. of Great Britain's navy.

What Hitler Has

To-day Chancellor Hitler could parade nearly 150 war vessels. The present navy stacks up thus:

Submarines—68 in service or under construction.

Battleships—Two of 26,000 tons in service and two more of 35,000 tons being built, each to carry 15-inch guns.

Aircraft carriers—Two of 19,250 tons being constructed.

Heavy cruisers—Three of 10,000 tons with eight-inch guns.

Light cruisers—Two under construction and three more of 7,000 tons planned.

Destroyers—16 of 1,625 tons in service and 10 more slightly smaller projected.

Torpedo boats—18 of 600 tons being built.

Minelayers and sweepers—49 in service or being built.

In addition there are 13 motorboats equipped to carry torpedos and 11 others being constructed.

Vice-Admiral Guenther Guse, chief of German naval operations, has estimated that under the Anglo-German naval agreement Germany is entitled to a total battleship tonnage of 255,000 tons, approximately 87,000 tons of aircraft carriers, 300,000 tons of destroyers and cruisers and 33,700 tons of submarines.

Presentations Made To Rev. T. H. Floyd

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 22. — As a parting gesture to its organizer members of Christ Church A.Y.P.A. made a presentation to Rev. T. H. Floyd at a social gathering on Friday evening. Making the presentation on behalf of the Young People, President Earl Wood expressed regret at Mr. Floyd's removal, and wished "success and happiness in your new charge. We will miss you very much, but are consoled by the fact that you will still be a great help to the A.Y.P.A., as there is a splendid branch at St. George's Church in Peterborough."

Following this Mrs. Floyd was presented with four cut-glass plates by Hilton Beatty on behalf of the Sunday School. Miss Ethel Bedford presented her with a three-piece silver cream and sugar set as a gift from the Parish Guild. Both Mr. and Mrs. Floyd expressed their reluctance to leave the many loyal friends they had made in Campbellford.

Trying To Shut Door Of Moving Car Woman Is Pulled Out

Campbellford, Nov. 22.

MRS. HUGH GRATTON had a fortunate escape from serious injury on Saturday morning. She is alleged to have been walking along Highway No. 30, three miles south of town when she was offered a ride by a friend. On getting in the car she neglected to shut the door tightly and after the car had gained considerable speed she endeavored to close it but in doing so was pulled out by the force of the wind. Mrs. Gratton who was dragged along the highway for a considerable distance before the car could be brought to a stop sustained numerous cuts and bruises none of which was regarded serious.

Red Cross Plans Annual Campaign

The Peterborough Red Cross Campaign Committee held a special meeting on Monday afternoon to further plans for the forthcoming appeal which commences on Monday, November 28. Mrs. John Mills, chairman of the women workers, reports that there has been a fine response to the call for help this year. "We are greatly encouraged at the support we are receiving," states Mrs. Mills, "and while we are still somewhat short of our quota for workers I feel confident we shall have plenty by the time the drive opens." The city is to be thoroughly covered by the canvassers, and all the cards are being put in order by street numbers so no one will be missed.

D. A. Loomis, chairman of the men workers, reports that he will have fifteen men to canvass the business cards when the drive opens. Employees' lists will be circulated as in former years, so that all regularly employed persons may have the opportunity of giving something to the Red Cross no matter how small the amount may be.

Over 1,200 letters have been mailed to prospective givers over the signature of W. G. Morrow, honorary campaign chairman, and Mrs. R. H. Turner, the president. The letter urges the citizens of Peterborough to give liberally to the work of the Red Cross in order that the objective of $2,500 might be raised.

Campaign headquarters will be as formerly in the Toronto Savings and Loan Company.

Student Pastor Gives Fine Talk At Trent River United Church

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, Nov. 22.—The congregation at the Sunday afternoon service was addressed by Mr. Wilbur Howard, B.A., student of Immanuel church in theology, Toronto, representing the Ontario Religious Education Council of the boys' work board.

Taking as his topic "Seeking God," the speaker said the people have been drifting away from seeking God. Some think of the back to the land movement but it should be "back to God." Some think we can live without God; we need God today more than anything else. The worst sin God points out is hate. God works in a very mysterious way. Set your heart to seek the Lord and life will become more abundant.

Mr. Earl Pollock, superintendent of the White church Sunday School, led the congregation in responsive scripture reading.

The church board of management met Monday night for a business meeting and especially to deal with matters concerning repairing the church shed.

The Sunday School committee of management met Monday night to arrange for the annual Christmas entertainment.

Y.P.S. Names Officers

The Young People met Friday night at the church for re-organization which resulted as follows: Junior president, Peggy Longmuir; secretary, Thelma Lewis; senior honorary president, Rev. A. McLaughlin; president, Doris Scott; vice-president, Alice Hay; secretary, Rena Chaplin; pianist, Margaret Brown; press reporter, B. G. French; fellowship convenor, Florence Shearer; missionary, R. W. Umphrey; citizenship, Fleda Thompson; Christian culture, Mrs. H. Mann; recreation, Isabel Cook.

A new barn is being erected on the M. E. Knox farm, replacing the one which was destroyed by fire after being struck by lightning.

Mrs. Walter Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Sedgewick, Mrs. Thomas J. Brown, Mrs. Harry Mann and Mrs. Wesley Johnston returned early Monday morning from Toronto where they attended the Central Ontario Women's Institute convention.

Mrs. Charles Beattie, of Toronto, is a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Longmuir of West Seymour.

Mr. Thomas J. Brown attended the Royal Winter Fair Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Wood and Miss Irene attended the Royal Winter Fair.

Mr. Leslie McMillan, of Guelph O.A.C., was a weekend visitor with relatives.

Mrs. Frank Curtis has recovered from her recent illness and is able to be out again.

Mr. Thomas Lloyd has returned to Toronto after spending a week at "Isle of View."

Miss Helen Cameron of Westwood was a weekend visitor with her aunt, Miss E. Cameron.

Mrs. James Longmuir was a visitor to Toronto Saturday.

Miss Ferne Longmuir of Toronto spent the weekend at the parental home.

Mr. and Mrs. McFayden, formerly Edna Corner, of Toronto, were weekend visitors with the latter's sister, Mrs. R. W. Umphrey and Mr. Umphrey.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Lean and family were Sunday visitors with relatives at Baltimore.

Mr. Clayton Revoir has returned to Noranda, Quebec, after a few days at the parental home.

Mrs. Armour, Mr. and Mrs. McQuade, have taken up residence at the former's house, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. George Alley and family, who have moved to the Wannamaker cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carnrite are in Toronto where Mr. Carnrite has entered a hospital for medical treatment.

The cheese factory has ceased operations for the year.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM HENRY HUSK.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Nov. 22. — The death of William Henry Husk, which occurred on Thursday, in his sixty-eighth year, following an illness of some months' duration, reaching its culmination during the last three weeks of his life, removed a highly respected citizen of the Zion Line.

Mr. Husk, who was the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Husk, was born in Manvers Township, but for some years had resided on the Line west of Millbrook. He was a lifelong and faithful member of the Methodist and United Churches, and in fraternal circles was connected with the L.O.L. No. 40 for more than fifty years.

The immediate survivors are his widow, formerly Susannah Patton, one daughter Mrs. Merton Thexton of Zion, one brother Wesley of Peterborough, four sisters, Mrs. John Gillies and Miss Charlotte Patton of Fenelon Falls, Mrs. George Whyte of Bowmanville, and Mrs. Bruce Parker of Falls Line; also three grandchildren. Two sisters and one brother were previously deceased.

The funeral, which was very largely attended, took place on Sunday at 2 p.m., from his late residence, Zion Line, the Orange ritual being in charge of the brethren from Falls Line L.O.L. No. 40, and the church service conducted by Rev. A. L. Sisco, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, Millbrook.

Many beautiful floral tributes bore testimony to the esteem in which the late Mr. Husk was held. The pall-bearers were four nephews: Gordon Patton, Toronto, Stanley Watt of Plainville, Herbert Patton and William Parker of Millbrook, and two neighbors of long standing, Wesley Brown and Samuel Hamilton of Zion.

Interment was in the family burial plot, Zion Cemetery.

Among those from outside points who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smith, G. Patton, Mrs. W. J. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. George and Miss Daisy Reid, Mr. Lorne Whiteside of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. H. Frise, Jack Patton, Mrs. J. Gillies of Bowmanville, Mr. and Mrs. George Patton, Mrs. Wesley Husk of Peterborough, Miss Myrtle and Miss Alberta Brock of Peterborough.

5 New Members Join Marmora A.Y.P.A.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Nov. 22.—St. Paul's A.Y.P.A. held a well-attended meeting in the Parish Hall on Monday evening, James Burridge, president, being in the chair.

The meeting opened with prayer by Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell. Under general business, it was stated that the invitation from St. James' A.Y.P.A. to be guests with Christ church, Campbellford A.Y.P.A. at a social evening on Monday, November 28, had been accepted. Another invitation to visit Christ church, Belleville, two evenings later, had to be gratefully declined.

Five new members were then initiated by Rural Dean Caldwell following which he gave a short talk on the ideals of the A.Y.P.A. A girl's name contest was then held with prizes going to Josephine Mumby, and W. J. Cottrell, who tied with Robert Gray and got the decision on a draw of tickets.

A geography game proved amusing. Dancing ensued until the gathering broke up.

Mrs. L. McCarey of Madoc is taking Miss P. Robinson's room at the Public School during the latter's enforced absence owing to the death of her father in Ottawa.

A dance was held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiley.

OMEMEE

Mrs. T. Osborne and Mrs. H. Hazelwood of Hastings, who were called home on account of the serious illness of their father, have been able to return to their homes again.

The many friends of Mr. A. S. Williamson, Sr., will be pleased to know that he is able to be about again.

Lupescu Stays At Same Paris Hotel As Carol Visits President

(Copyright, by the Havas News Agency.)

PARIS, Nov. 22 — (CP-Havas)—King Carol of Rumania, on a trip designed to obtain Anglo-French support for his country against increasing economic pressure by Germany, yesterday was guest of President Lebrun at a formal luncheon at the Elysee Palace.

The Rumanian sovereign and Crown Prince Michael, who arrived here after visiting London and Brussels, were cheered by Sunday crowds as they proceeded from the Hotel Meurice to the Elysee, where they were received with military honors.

(The Associated Press said Carol's friend, Mme. Magda Lupescu, was staying at the hotel Meurice, having arrived here four days ago. Private sources confirmed she was keeping closely to her suite at the hotel.)

Government heads and military figures were present at the luncheon. Guests included Premier Daladier, Foreign Minister Bonnet and Finance Minister Reynaud.

The possibility was seen in diplomatic circles here that a fairly solid front, composed of Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey and Bulgaria might be able to prevent German economic penetration becoming any more than that.

Wants No Ties

Under King Carol's direction, Rumania has expressed its determination to remain independent in face of pressure from various sources. The aim of his trip to London and Paris was understood to be to obtain the necessary backing to maintain this independence.

Pressure on Rumania in recent weeks has come from Poland, Italy, and Germany. First came the visit of Polish Foreign Minister Beck to Rumania, in an attempt to persuade King Carol that a common Polish-Hungarian frontier should be created by dismemberment of the Carpathian Ukraine. This was understood to have failed.

Italian diplomacy is reported to have exerted pressure on the Bucharest government to the same end but without any greater success.

Then economic pressure was brought to bear, this time by Germany, which desires the products of Rumanian wheat fields and oil wells.

Observers here held that German-Rumanian economic relations will be determined by the willingness of Britain and France to supply outlets for Rumanian products. Meanwhile, a French economic mission is in Bucharest.

Eight local Hydro employees attended the Quarter Century Club banquet in Toronto on Friday, when G. A. Ironside, Booth Street, was presented with the gold service button. Others from this district who attended were L. Richardson, Edward Hoye, Hilton Beatty, Russell Long, George Couch, Harry Bleecher, Harry Tinney.

Mrs. William Nelson, Sebastopol Street, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jack Free and Mr. Free at Smith's Falls.

Mrs. C. B. Williams is spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Mildred Cook and Miss Eva Mosley of Toronto were guests of Richard Cook, Sr., during the weekend.

Newlyweds Are Lost In Bush For Whole Night

NORTH BAY, Ont., Nov. 22 (CP)—Shots fired by two Indian hunters were responsible for Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McNaughton spending a night in the bush after a hunting trip north of nearby Meadowside, McNaughton said today.

The couple went into the bush accompanied by Murray Glover and Tommy Evans, both of North Bay, and separated soon after. They arranged to use two gun shots for a signal if either group became lost.

"We heard two shots in the woods ahead of us as we headed northward," said McNaughton who enjoyed a rest here last night after spending Sunday night and most of Monday in the bush. "I fired my shells in a return signal and when we came across foot marks, we followed them about 20 miles, thinking it was our companions and that they were lost.

"At about 11.30 at night we came to a dam on what we learned later was Smokey Creek. I smashed my gun breaking up part of the dam and we set fire to it with my lighter. We were able to keep ourselves warm during the night and in the morning we started back."

On the way out Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton met two Indians who said they had fired shots while hunting in that region the previous day. The newlywed couple said they were certain these were the shots that led to their rather uncomfortable experience.

McNaughton said a torn ligament in his right leg made progress through the bush slow but they had retraced their steps almost 15 miles when Constable N. C. N. Smaill located them as they wandered along the North Shore of Cockburn Lake.

"We were hungry and tired," said McNaughton, "but we could hear the train whistles and knew which way to head."

CROSBY NOT A SKATER

The Crew of Croup Worries the Mother

When the child wakes up in the night with a croupy cough, spasmodic croup, it strikes terror to the mother's heart.

The child can scarcely speak, can hardly breathe, and seems to be choking.

There is no time for delay; apply hot poultices to the throat and upper part of the chest, and give Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. We know of nothing better to give prompt relief. It is absolutely safe, does not contain any habit forming drugs, and will help to soothe the infected membranes, stop the irritation and subdue the inflammation.

Ken Kingston Is Elected Head Of Association

Ken Kingston was named president of the Men's Association of St. Andrew's church last night when the annual meeting was held and work of the past year reviewed. The reports indicated one of the most successful terms in the history of the organization. Other officers elected were, Don Crawford, vice-president; Ross Thompson, secretary; Roy Lewis, treasurer, and an executive committee composed of R. M. Hardy, Dave Brown, G. H. Roper and Jack Richardson, the retiring president.

Rev. Brain Speaks

Rev. R. T. F. Brain of St. John's church was speaker. His subject, "Forces of Change in Our Western Civilization." Changes, he said, may be too violent for forms of life to survive. Our civilization today has the inevitable slum, the factory, the grand hotel, the sky scraper. The machinery may get out of control, especially if it lacks a soul. It may threaten to absorb the whole of life, and swallow up the individual. There are two tendencies which we may adopt to correct this danger.

The reactionaries say let us go back to the land and live a simple life, but this is clearly impossible for the majority of us, the revolutionaries, accept change, but their ideas are often wild, and impracticable. The creative power in our world is essentially a spiritual one, but alas we have lost faith in our ideal. We need a common faith, a revival of belief in the ideals of our western civilization.

Four Main Forces

There are four main peoples or forces in the world. The Christian forces are weakened by the divisions of Christendom and the fatal tendency to be content with individual opinions rather than convictions.

The humanitarian tends to replace religion, and finds its springs in human power alone without god.

The scientific trend is seen in the technical side of our industrial system. We must look upon science, however, as a valuable aid to the comfort of our lives.

The democratic element in our civilization is inherited originally from the ideals of ancient Greece and Rome, the Renaissance in Europe, the Reformation of the 16th century and the French revolution. There is only one institution which combines the best elements in all of these principles, it is the church of Jesus Christ and men should rally to it, and make it an increasing power in the world.

James Wharry presented the slate of officers for 1939 on behalf of the nominating committee. Rev. E. W. Young thanked the retiring president and treasurer, Jack Richardson and Hugh Waddell for their splendid services.

The new president spoke of the plans for the new year and said that they intended to organize a meeting early in January for all the men's clubs in the city in a central place, and to bring a special speaker from Toronto for that occasion.

Supper was served by the C.G.I.T. with Misses Eleanor Stacey and I. Waddell in charge. Jack Richardson, retiring president, occupied the chair, and during the evening community singing was enjoyed with R. B. Harle at the piano and James Johnston leading. A quartet of men from the association composed of W. A. Richardson, Jim Wharry, Paige Rowell and Don Loucks, sang a number which was thoroughly enjoyed and James Johnston added one of his specialties, a humorous song.

Youth Of Today Not Care-Free Rotarians Told

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 22.— Cooperate with the individual working neither for nor against him is the advice given by Rev. Bert Howard, D.D., principal of Albert College, Belleville. Speaking before Rotarians here on Monday Dr. Howard discussed what he termed "The Tragedy and Difficulty of Being Young." The speaker corrected what he called the erroneous impression that most adults had regarding that "care free time of youth beginning at the age of five or six." They are not that care free bunch at all. At school, children are hardly classified as care free, nor when they leave for home with books under their arms and an assignment of homework to do they can hardly be classified as being free from responsibility. "Youth does not no where to turn" on one hand they are told to leave school at the age of 15 or 16, and get a job, whic his impossible with so many already out of work.

"It is the period between childhood and the adult which is the most interesting and most difficult . . . that period when the pleasures of childhood must be discarded for the responsibility of maturity. It is this class in which most of our Senior High School students are found and it is they who need to be understood and guided sympathetically. During this special period are problems intensified by their emotional set up. When the youth reaches the period when he feels this new power it is then that the frustrated father declares 'It is beyond me' and the mothers probably throws up her hands in despair. They are still half child and half man or woman," said Dr. Howard.

Two Kinds of Discipline.

Of discipline the speaker alluded to two kinds. The first was governed by an outward force and the second by an inward force, which can be more aptly explained as an outward and inward inflicted discipline. The problem is that they do not know they must discipline themselves. It is for this reason that the boy or girl loses his life when the authority of the parent or teacher has been relaxed.

Before offering a number of suggestions for this youth problem he said there was a christian and scientific explanation for this thing called discipline. Discipline is itself merely an attempt to develop personality on the basis of the following assumptions. First—We must remember that the individual is all important and that we are bringing it to bear for that reason and not because we ourselves have been outraged. Second—God is the value making principal of the universe. Third—That God and man can work together. We apparently don't believe this when it comes to the matter of reformatories and get an ex-army officer to head the institution— a man who believes that human beings are nothing but steel cogs in a mechanical word. Fourth —The individual and society can be re-constructed. Do we believe this? Rotarians believe that both individuals and society can be reconstructed so let us begin this work of reconstruction immediately.

In closing the speaker claimed that in order to discipline anyone you must first have their respect. "Do not let us be afraid of deserved condemnation or be afraid to say thank you. I admit that I am wrong sometimes and very often apologize to students. You do not need to loose face. It is more important to save your personality. Dr. E. A. Stuart moved a vote of thanks to the speaker. Messers E. H. Greig and C. S. Haig were guests at today's meeting.

Plans Completed For New Theatre

Contractors who have seen the plans of the new George Street theatre on the premises of the Royal say that it is going to be attractive and commodious, with all the new finishing touches such as air conditioning and so on. The old building that went into vacancy before the sound films reached the exchanges is to have a new front, new roof, is to be thoroughly reconditioned inside and out. There will be a gallery and main floor, lavatories, fountain, the latest ideas in seats and other customer comforts.

Tenders have been submitted to the architect by local contractors, and it is understood that contracts are going to be let in the near future.

Supply Of Bulbs Are To Be Had

The Peterborough Horticultural Society has a surplus of daffodil and tulip bulbs which any persons interested in these flowers may buy at cost from the secretary, W. C. Wilks, Chamberlain Street. The daffodils include such named varieties as Glory of Lassenheim, a bi-color of white and yellow trumpet, Sir Watkin, a sulphur yellow tinged with orange, and Lady Moore. The society purchased these bulbs for the purpose of encouraging its members to grow them for a spring window show, and also to promote interest in tulips and daffodils. Those that have been held over are all of top size. Mr. Wilks' telephone number is 2215J.

Child Molested On The Street By Strange Man

Police have so far been unable to pick up the trail of the unknown man who on Monday evening shortly after 7 o'clock chased and molested a ten-year-old girl, near the corner of Lock and Lansdowne Street.

The victim of this alarming attack was Dawn, daughter of R. H. Childerhose, 136 Lansdowne. She, with two other young girls, Delores Bannon, Maud Street, and Donna Morrow, 128 Lansdowne Street, was playing at Lock and Lansdowne Streets when the man approached them. His manner frightened the girls and they started to run away. The stranger pursued the Childerhose girl, caught her up in his arms and started to disarrange her clothing when the youngster screamed loudly and her assailant released her and started to walk away.

Dawn ran to her home and told her parents what had happened, and when Mr. Childerhose went out of the house to investigate his daughter identified a man who was passing as the stranger who had attacked her. When Mr. Childerhose accosted the man he denied all knowledge of the affair and gave his name and address to the girl's father who did not attempt to hold the stranger but notified the police. The man is described as having been 45 years of age, wearing glasses, while short rubber boots and a check cap were prominent items in his wearing apparel.

Hunters Shoot 325-Pound Bear

A black bear weighing 325 pounds, the largest brought into the city for several years was shot by Paul Loescher with the T. Lake Hunt Club last week. The party hunted near Whitestone, 38 miles west of Burke's Falls and the six men brought home four deer and the bear.

The bear will be on display for the next two or three days in the window of Edwards Meat Market on George Street. It was hit twice, the first time between the eyes with a .35 Remington bullet and the second time in the fore quarters. The hunt club consists of Bill Kay, S. D. Haskill, Hubert Legros, F. J. Green, J. Milburn and P. Loescher.

DEREMO HOUSE FOR RENT.

An echo of John Deremo's recent controversy with county authorities appears in the classified advertisements of the Examiner offering for rent, at only three dollars a month, his residence in Douro, where he and his wife lived until certain events took place that caused him to vacate it. The house is partly furnished. Replies from interested persons are directed to Mr. Deremo through the general delivery at the post office.

Restaurants And Hotels Being Dodged By Many Summer Travellers In Ontario

Two hot dogs at the corner refreshment stand, then amble back to the car, lock the doors, curl up some way or other in a position of more or less discomfort, yawn a few times, and so to sleep.

Believe it or not, that has been the bedtime approach of many a traveller who put up at the Exhibition Park during the long season since last May, two of the most recent having checked in one night last week. Probably the hot-dog detail was necessarily omitted, but at the height of the season, they say it is surprising the number of men on the road who whittle down expense accounts by dodging restaurants and hotels.

Doubtless they wouldn't rate high in any hotel register, because a well established business wouldn't expect its sales representatives to drop down the scale of journeying to a condition just one jump ahead of the thumbers. But, many of them have described themselves as travellers, possibly connoting only the fact that they were on the move. But they had cars and a surprising economy, although it omits such ordinary refinements as the morning shave and bath. On the other hand it affords a maximum of fresh air.

Record Number Taking Course

The course in psychology that is being conducted by Professor Dhami of the University of Toronto at the Collegiate Institute under the sponsorship of the Workers' Educational Association has surpassed all previous interest and attendance records. More than sixty members registered for this series of lectures, held every Monday night, with the result that the room assigned to the W.E.A. at the Collegiate is crowded to the extent that additional chairs have to be brought in, and most of the regulars arrive at 7.30 p.m. to make sure of seats, although they have to wait until nearly 8.15 o'clock when Dr. Dhami reaches the city from Toronto.

The subject discussed last night was environment and heredity with explanation of the Mendelian theory and other kindred topics. Nearly half the membership are women, some of them coming with their husbands.

Driver Is Charged After Car Ditched

Arrested after his car had shot off Highway 28 into the ditch four miles south of Peterborough at 11 o'clock Monday night Leonard Morton of Pontypool was arraigned before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning on charges of drunken and reckless driving and was remanded until Friday morning without plea or election.

Bail was fixed at $500 and Magistrate Gee advised the accused to get in touch with his father, a farmer in the Pontypool area. "He will hear about it anyway," said the Magistrate, "so you might as well have him notified."

Hastings County Couple Mark Diamond Wedding Anniversary

MADOC, Nov. 22.—(Special).—Telegrams of felicitation from His Majesty King George VI and Premier Mackenzie King were received Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Hark Rollins, pioneers of Madoc township who celebrated their diamond jubilee. The celebration took place at their home in Cooper village, eleven miles north-west of Madoc and relatives attended from all sections of both Hastings and Peterborough counties.

The happy couple still enjoying good health were married in the Presbyterian manse in Madoc village in 1878 by the Rev. Dr. Wishart and moved to their present home in Cooper in 1903. Mrs. Rollins was 86 on the 10th of last month and her husband will be 84 next January 1st.

Grandchildren Christened.

A highlight of the celebration was the christening of three great grandchildren at the homestead during the day with the old couple watching with interest the age old ceremony.

Relatives, friends and neighbors numbering more than a hundred attended the 60th wedding anniversary, to extend congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Rollins who have endeared themselves to the entire community by their fine qualities.

Five sons and one daughter were born of the marriage and all attended the celebration. John of Plainfield, Bill of Cooper, Fred of Queensboro, Hanley of Cooper and Hark, Jr., now living with his parents on the homestead. The daughter is Mrs. J. N. Lucas of Hastings. Seventeen grand children and six great grandchildren comprise the succeeding generations.

Son of Pioneer Settlers

Mrs. Rollins' maiden name was Sarah Evans and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Evans of England. Mr. Rollins is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Rollins, early settlers of Huntingdon township.

During their lifetime together, both have taken a keen and active part in church affairs, and are members of Cooper United church. Mr. Rollins is a member of Cooper L.O.L. No: 253 and a Past County Master.

Bruce Rollins of 246 McDonnel street, Peterborough is a grandson.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

By an Examiner Reporter.

GARAGE ENTERED.

The garage of H. Mowry at 145 Rubidge Street was broken into on Sunday night, but the thieves got nothing for their pains. The garage has been entered several times recently.

JUVENILE COURT.

Peterborough had two Magistrates this morning. While Magistrate Gee of Lindsay was presiding at Police Court, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., held Juvenile Court in the Council Chamber when a case of bicycle stealing was heard.

AGAIN REMANDED.

Pierce Nicholson, charged with a serious offence, was again remanded this morning when he appeared before Magistrate Gee. The case will be disposed of by Magistrate Langley on Thursday morning.

106 DOGS KILLED

Clarence Blodgett, dog catcher for the city, reported to-day that during the summer and up to this week, 106 stray dogs and almost twice as many stray and sometimes diseased cats have been destroyed in the lethal chamber. The method is said to be most humane and death is instantaneous.

A TRAFFIC CLASH.

As David Rogers, 302 Hunter Street, was driving west along Charlotte Street early on Monday evening he swung around a parked furniture truck and collided with another car driven by A. B. Rhodes, 568 Charlotte Street, which was making a left turn. The impact damaged the Rogers' car considerably, but no one was injured in the crash. Officers W. A. Clark and Leo Murphy investigated the accident.

A FALSE ALARM.

Officers Archie Menzies and Percy Sexsmith spent considerable time on Monday evening investigating a report that a seven-year-old Benson Street girl had failed to return to her home from school, only to discover after a long search, and spurred on by the report of an attack on another little girl in another part of the city last evening, that the girl was safe at the home of an aunt where she had gone instead of returning to her home.

WILL APPEAR HERE.

The Students' Council of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School is sponsoring the appearance in the Collegiate Auditorium on Thursday evening, Nov. 24 of Hamilton Jones, who was awarded the Amateur Cinema League award for his pictures of Canada's National Parks in the Rocky Mountains. Mr. Jones will show a revised and enlarged edition of this film in Peterborough. The Columbia icefield is the largest expanse of glacial ice in America, and this is seen on the highway leading from Jasper. Some of these ice masses are 11,000 feet above sea level.

POLL TAX WARNING.

Letters issued through the tax collector's office to persons owing poll tax brought satisfactory results, but A .S. Couper remarked to the Examiner to-day that some men who are liable for this tax have so far ignored the warning. If necessary collection will have to be made through the police court, a step Mr. Couper is reluctant to take. He wishes to remind those who are in arrears to see him about it, and especially to make payment as soon as possible.

26 Turkeys, 9 Geese Stolen By Foxes From Asphodel Man

(Examiner Correspondence.)

Hastings, Nov. 22.

FARMERS in this district report that foxes are more plentiful this year and are believed responsible for the killing of fowl in large numbers. James Crowley, Asphodel, said they had killed twenty-six young turkeys and nine geese on his farm this fall. Instances of chickens being carried off by foxes have been reported in the district north and northwest of this village.

Woman Is Fined $100 And Costs On Liquor Count

"I am not accepting your story," Magistrate E. A. Gee told Mrs. Mary Hayton in police court this morning in registering a conviction against her of having liquor in a place other than her dwelling on October 9.

Mrs. Hayton was fined $100 and $5 costs, with the alternative three months in jail. The fine was paid.

Constable W. A. Clark, the first witness called by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., told of watching Mrs. Hayton's place on the night of October 9 and of seeing her drive her car from in front of the house to her garage at the side. He swore that he saw a man put three boxes or packages in the back of the car and then get in with Mrs. Hayton and the latter drove off. The officer said he followed Mrs. Hayton's car to East City and pulled up along side of it at Rogers and Hunter street. He found three cases of beer in the automobile when he searched it.

Denied Charge

In her defence Mrs. Hayton said that on Saturday night she had bought four cartons of beer at the brewers' warehouse on an order from T. A. Mullin of Norwood and that she had intended to deliver the beer to Mullin on Monday, October 10. Meanwhile she said, she had left the cartons of beer in her car and on the Sunday night she had left the house to drive to a drug store. The car was not working smoothly and she had driven over to East City to warm up the engine. As to what had happened in her garage before she left she swore that Harry Carter had put some oil in the car. She had been surprised to find there were only three cartons in the car instead of four.

Called in reply Constable Clark said no oil had been put into Mrs. Hayton's automobile while he was watching it but that three packages had been put into the back part of the machine.

In his judgment Magistrate Gee said that the whole point of the case was whether or not it was a bona fide transaction. "I was not born yesterday," he said as he intimated that he did not choose to accept the accused's explanation.

Crown Attorney McElderry asked for an order from the court confiscating the beer in the case.

Mullins Can Apply

W. J. Arthur Fair who appeared for Mrs. Hayton protested that the beer could not be confiscated because it was the property of T. A. Mullin of Norwood.

"Mr. Mullin can apply for it if he wants to," said the Crown Attorney and it was left at that.

A charge against Harry Carter of keeping liquor for sale, also dating from October 9 was finally disposed of when the Crown offered no evidence and the case was dismissed by Magistrate Gee.

Board Of Health Reviews Gordon Bylaw

Revision of the so-called eating house bylaw, which applies to hot-dog stands and all manner of luncheries up to the best of the restaurants was scrutinized from the viewpoints of sanitation by the Board of Health Monday afternoon, and will probably be ready for the council at its December meeting. Alderman Stocker presided with Aldermen Dutton and McCannan, Mayor Hamilton and Dr. Fraser present, spending several hours in threshing over every section of the bylaw.

Their enquiry dipped even into the percentage of chlorine in water used for sterilizing and washing dishes. The approach of the Board was essentially in a desire to safeguard public health in the keeping of food for sale, its serving and so on to the health of the persons engaged in handling it. Certificates of health are to be issued by Dr. Fraser who will also examine all applicants, and it was suggested that restaurant proprietors should assume the cost of the examination of their employees. If x-rays are to be taken for T.B. tests, that inspection will have to be done by some other physicians.

A clause to prevent Sunday sales of food in quantities at refreshment booths was regarded as being beyond the purview of the Board of Health, but they recommended to the legal committee that the section could be simplified by definitely restricting sales of that kind, and thereby avoiding interference with the ordinary every day rights of grocery stores that may have refreshment counters. It was also thought that the twelve seat requirement for an eating house might be lessened without reducing the scope of the bylaw.

DINNER MUSIC.

Employees at the Westclox have been dining this week to the sweet accompaniment of piano music. Mose Yokom, well known orchestra leader and musician has been engaged to play the piano, during the mid-day lunch period. The employees enjoy a little community singing and dance, and are unanimous in their expressions of approval for the arrangement.

JOHNNY GOTTSELIG, CHICAGO, LEADS N.H.L. WITH SEVEN POINTS

Cowley, Blinco Are Close With Six Each

MONTREAL, Nov. 22 (CP). — Johnny Gottselig, veteran wingman for the champion Chicago Black Hawks, leads the parade of the National Hockey League point-getters in the first official scoring statistics issued by the league Monday night.

In six games the rangy winger has collected five goals and two assists for the total of seven points and a one-point lead in the league race. He's been playing clean hockey, too, and has yet to spend any time in the penalty box.

Boston's Bill Cowley and Russ Blinco, formerly of Maroons and now a Black Hawk, were right behind the leader with six points each. Both have been making the plays for their teammates, and Cowley's total is composed of a goal and five assists, while Blinco has six assists, largest number of any player.

Ebbie Goodfellow of Detroit is Gottselig's closest rival in goals, with four, his point total of four putting him in a tie with ten other sharpshooters. Ahead of the group in points are Toe Blake of Canadiens, Harvey Jackson of Toronto, Cully Dahlstrom of Black Hawks, and Modere Bruneteau of Detroit.

Toronto's Red Horner and Reg Hamilton are fighting it out with Bill Mackenzie of Chicago for the "bad-man" position, each with fourteen minutes in the cooler so far. Earl Seibert of Chicago trails with thirteen minutes enforced resting time.

Charlie Conacher of Detroit is credited with two goals. Official records are not available for checking, but unofficial summaries of games give him only a goal.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

IF WE WANTED to get out the crying towels, thoughts of the disintegration of our O.H.A. senior "B" semi-finalist squad of last winter would be the right tap for the tear faucets. We won't view with alarm, but might review the cracking-up of this puck crew. Team last year which rubbed out Trenton Fliers to go into semi-finals consisted of Ray Harding in goal, with Doug Brennan, Barney Barnes, Stew Williamson and Archie Weir on defence. Forwards were Bill Calladine, Ned Vitarelli, Al Gratton, Bun Kingdon, Eddie Starr and Shrimp McDougall. Of this bunch, only Harding, Weir, Kingdon, Starr and McDougall are left. Williamson is in Lindsay, Barnes returned to the prairies, Brennan quit the team, Calladine and Vitarelli went to Baltimore, and Gratton is moving soon to Toronto. Even Coach Pick Hines has left.

* * * * * * *

SCORING RECORD for the 1937-38 schedule showed Calladine atop with 21 points, while Barnes had 16, Vitarelli 15 and Starr 12. McDougall got eight and so did Kingdon, while Brennan, Gratton and Williamson had three apiece. So our three top scorers of last cold spell have departed. We have one front line, a single defenceman and the goalie left to build around this season. Sounds gloomy, eh? However, several of the intermediate Bees of last year were just as good as some of the senior Petes, and they are all available. Gees like Ellis, Gardner, Burton, Coughlin, Creighton, Crowe, Clarke, etc. With a couple of promising junior grads. And several newcomers. Honey Tompkins is staying, and should make a berth with the locals.

* * * * * * *

Just Give 'em Time

STRICTLY AS A GUESS, we'd say the Petes ought to ice a team just about as strong as last season. Maybe a bit stronger, or maybe a trifle weaker. Can't be sure til Ithey get working out on the frozen water. They've lost some darn' good puckists, but they can fill the gaps with some pretty good talent, too. No word on a grouping till next week—the O.H.A. holds its big session this Saturday—but it's quite likely that a similar setup to last year will be in effect. Probably the Petes, Belleville, Trenton Fliers and a Kingston team. If fans here see as many fine games in the 1938-39 season as they did a year ago, they certainly can't kick.

* * * * * * *

MINOR HOCKEY PLAYERS in Peterborough will get plenty of chance to play the "fastest game" again. Besides the school, church and southend loops for kids, there may be entry in the Ontario Juvenile Hockey Assoc. And a junior "C" club in the O.H.A., probably grouped with Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg. Incidentally, what about Lindsay's status? And Bowmanville has no home ice, so would have to play its home tilts with our Monarchs here. And then, of course, the Colts in O.H.A. junior "B" ranks. With no grouping lined up as yet, but that'll be settled in a week or so, also. We haven't seen Coach Bill Jackson of the Colts since the grid season ended—he called the play-by-play via loudspeaker at Orfuns' home scraps—so can't offer much info for the moment on our junior puck prospects.

* * * * * * *

Ere They Met Stratford

IN A RECENT ISSUE of the Buffalo Times appears a story of their East High School which just finished its third undefeated and unscored upon grid season. Playing fullback on this team is 18-year-old Frank Heller, who scales 205 and stands five feet, 10 inches. He has just signed a ball contract with the Boston Bees. Local fans may recall Heller here with the Buffalo Fro-Joys on Sept. 10th. when the Petes and their semi-pro rivals battled to a 9-all draw in 12 innings. Heller was on first but relieved Joe Holtz in the sixth stanza and held the bashing locals hitless the rest of the route. Whitehill, McNally and Kitchen saw slab service for the Murphyites that afternoon in Riverside Park.

THAT SENIOR O.R.F.U. playoff joust in Montreal on Saturday must have been a hard-hitting affair. Not much love lost between the Sarnia Imps and the burly Nats—especially after the Sarnia protest over Burns slugging Butler several weeks ago. The Imperials threatened to get Burns this game but Tommy just laughed and played harder than usual—ripping the rival line to ribbons in the last half with fine plunging. Ferraro took a beating and Stirling carried off a few souvenirs. A few fights and a lot of injuries, Hempey going to the hospital with concussion after taking a foot on the noggin. He is retiring from the game this year and will act on the Nats' executive—ala Abbie Box of Beaches—next semester. Prexy Porter of the Montrealers treated his gang to a big turkey spread aboard a scow after the tilt. It looks like the Imps should win the return tilt, too, but they will have to keep their hands up going through the line!

* * * * * * *

Spooks Still At It

LIKELY a lot of football fans from here will motor to Cobourg on Saturday to see Fred Dufton's Galloping Ghosts and Sarnia Wanderers tangle in a sudden-death game for the O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" championship. Some ducats are on sale here by Lou Brooks, H. A. Cranfield and Walter Jackson, being good for admission and a chance on lucky draw prizes of $10 and $5. The speedy Spirits, which haunt the Lakeshore district and wraith their way through all opposition, won 1937 Ontario "B" honors and feel they can do a ditto now in the "A" classification. In fact, the Ghosts gave our Orfuns a hard pre-season scrap. Riding high on Meikle's hefty hoofing, the Cobourg gridders play fine football and we hope they knock off the tough Wanderers this week-end.

MAT FANS are assured of lots of furious fun and gasp-jerking action here Friday in the gloaming when the hectic rasslers return to the Brock St. bump emporium. Charlie Kumpf of Toronto has rematched Rene Labelle and Ren Gazelley, 190-pound mayhem artists who dished up a rousing draw in their last local appearance. They'll go on in the semi-final after one Tiger Jack Cox of Toronto, 175, tackles Scotty McKenzie of Amherst, N.S., in the prelim. Main eeeeevent is betwixt a gee known as The Mask, 185 pounds of mystery from Winnipeg—he hides his mug behind a hunk of cloth—and Buck Moffatt of Mt. Denis. This affair is two out of three falls with an hour time limit. Semi-final is two in three with 45 minutes the limit. And the prelim is a one-fall affair or 30 minutes of moderated murder on the mat. If ya like the grunt-and-groan gentry and their antics, don't pass the card up.

Marmoran Bags Buck Weighing 278 Pounds

MARMORA, Nov. 22. — With the hunting season now over and hunters being asked to give an account of their prowess, it is learned that most parties got their count or came close to it.

"Who of Marmora's nimrods got the largest deer?" is a question that may be asked. As James Gordenier brought his large buck home and found it to weigh 278 pounds, he thinks he can claim that honor.

Others in his party who got a deer were his brother Charles, Paddy O'Brien and a resident of Owen Sound, Herbert Van Stone, who has been holidaying in the district. William Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reynolds, also got a thrill as he bagged one weighing 261 pounds.

Carroll Direct, San Ton Win Dufferin Heats

TORONTO, Nov. 22. — San Ton and Carroll Direct provided the harness racing features at Dufferin Park on Monday as the Toronto Driving Club completed the unfinished races from Saturday's inaugural offering.

After finishing second to R. K. Grattan in the only heat of the first race finished on Saturday, and then suffering the same fate in the opening heat on Monday, San Ton came back with a vengeance to take the final pair of heats in good fashion. On each occasion he shaded the favored R. K. Grattan.

Carroll Direct was overlooked by the betting gentry for the final heat of the unfinished third race, but the Carroll-owned horse stepped the mile in 2.12¼—fastest of the current season—to win in decisive fashion.

Miss June Dillman, who made her male competitors sit up and take notice by winning two of the heats raced on Saturday in the fourth race, had to take a back seat yesterday. The best she could do was pilot Betty Boop home in sixth place after leading most of the way. Lee Henley, a dark one, upset all calculations in this race with a sterling finish.

R. K. Grattan, a 2-to-5 favorite, started yesterday's racing the way he left off on Saturday—and breezed to a three-length victory in the second heat of the first race. A 3-to-10 choice for the third heat, R. K. Grattan, however, couldn't make the grade. San Ton took the lead going into the first turn and beat off all challenges. San Ton was an even-money choice and R. K. Grattan a 2-to-3 shot for the concluding heat, but the former took the lead early and was never headed, the Grattan horse finishing a distanced second.

Wednesday's card of harness races at Dufferin Park, under the auspices of the Toronto Driving Club, brings out many horses making their first start of the current season at the West-end oval. Among the starters will be the Western Canada horses from Moose Jaw, Sask., and a Michigan horse that once ate his hay and oats in the stable of Edson Ford, son of the autmobile magnate. The drivers' contest tightened up over the week-end, and Chapman and Hillock are right on the heels of Harry Fields. Fields' great pacer, Sir Esme, will be seen in action again as soon as the track freezes up when Sandy Signal and Simcoe Harvester will try to turn the table on this top-notch pacer from the Dr. Meldrum Stable, Norwich, Ont. Ten per cent. of the purse is now being paid to the driver who can pilot his horse home in three straight heats. The slow division on Wednesday will be raced in two divisions, with $50 added to the purse. The entries:

First division—Jimmie Grattan, Ann Scott, Bingen Worthy, Alex Volo, Miss Peter Grattan, Le Axe, Gus Weil, Willis Direct, Bertha Lee, Rose Axworthy, Ray Evans, Roscoe Earl, Guy Evans.

Second division — Janie Canuck, Peter Range, Jr., His Excellency, Iola Scott, Goldie H. Grattan, Duncan McKillop, Searchlight Grattan, Maybee, Kay Harvester, Todd Grattan.

Hunter Gets Ducked And Also Bags Duck

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Nov. 22.—Andy McKee, Hastings' duck hunter, got ducked when he discharged a shotgun broadside from his canoe. He also got a duck from the same shot. It happened this way. McKee was paddling the canoe about two miles west of here Saturday when a lone duck zoomed by. He picked up the gun and pulled the trigger before he realized that he was not sitting properly in the canoe to allow for recoil from the gun.

The canoe turned over and in went the hunter, in heavy hip rubber boots, several sweaters and a windbreaker, still clutching the gun. Luckily, however, Paul Barry, another Hastings' duck hunter, who had been near the opposite shore, came to the rescue and towed McKee to shore while clinging to the overturned canoe. Had Barry not been near when the incident occurred, it might have proven more serious under the circumstances.

Plays Halfback

After playing middle wing in the line for Sarnia Imperials for the past 10 years, Cliff (Fat) Parsons, ABOVE, has been converted into a halfback for what is left of the 1938 rugby season. The position will be no new one to Fatso, who used to be a great plunging half in his Windsor school days, before joining the Imps.

Johnny Inglis Leading O.H.A. Both In Goals And Penalties

TORONTO, Nov. 22 —(CP)— A rookie to "big-time" amateur hockey, Johnny Inglis of Toronto Goodyears is leading the Ontario Hockey Association senor circuit, not only in scoring, but in penitence on the sidelines, according to statistics released today. Each team in the six-club league has played one game.

Inglis, graduate from St. Michael's College Majors of the Junior O.H.A., counted two goals and two assists in the leagu opener here Friday against Port Colborne, when the league champions trimmed the Ports 7-1. The four points gave him a one-point margain over teammates Bill Grant and Peanuts O'Flaherty, who each counted a goal and two assists, to tie for second position.

Of nine minutes in the penalty box for the scoring leader, five represented a major penalty following a display of fisticuffs with Captain Vince Upper, veteran Port Star. Upper's major penalty for the fight gave him the doubtful honor of placing high among the penalty leaders.

In Third Place.

Tied for third slot in the scoring race are Teddy Lister of St. Catharines Indian Chiefs and Eddie King of Goodyears, each with two points. All the scoring leaders are forwards.

With Goodyears on an exhibition tour of several United States cities and not scheduled to play another league game for a week, players of other clubs will be out to fatten scoring averages and take over the leading positions.

Niagara Falls Brights and Ports meet tonight at Port Colborne, both eager to break into the win column. The other winless team, Brantford, travel to Oshawa to meet the strong G-Men. With tonight's games, all teams with the exception of St. Catharines, will have opened their home season. The Saints' home, a new $85,000 arena, is expected to be ready within another month.

Billy Holmes, former professional player and coach of Port Colborne, expects to take his place on the Sailor rearguard before many more days. He says it takes him "a little longer to get into condition than the rest of the youngsters."

YOUNG CORBETT 3RD

EDDIE THOMPSON EDGES OUT FORD LOUCKS ON ALL-STAR TEAM

Six Nats' Aces Picked On All Stars; Imps Provide 2, Beaches 4; Orfuns Overlooked By Experts

By Sydney Gruson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, Nov. 22—(CP).—The drab, black uniform of Montreal Nationals, a new force on the eastern football scene this season, provided the main color on the Ontario Rugby Football Union's all-star team which came down today with no fewer than six members from Hoddy Foster's club.

Only two places were allotted Sarnia Imperials, for seven years the Union champions. Balmy Beach stars won the other four positions, the 14 sports writers and coaches who selected the team for The Canadian Press overlooking Peterborough Orfuns entirely.

The Union's two outstanding players, Sarnia's Hugh (Bummer) Stirling and Montreal's Johnny Ferraro drew a unanimous vote to provide the backfield with unlimited power.

Following is the Team:

Flying wing—Ernie Hempey, Nationals.
Half—Johnny Ferraro, Nationals.
Half—Eddie Thompson, Beaches.
Half (secondary defence)—Hugh Stirling, Sarnia.
Quarterback—Ab Box, Beaches.
Snap—Dave Ryan, Nationals.
Inside—Alex Fleming, Nationals.
Inside—Bob Reid, Beaches.
Middle—Mike Clawson, Sarnia.
Middle—Tommy Burns, Nationals.
Outside—Eddie Burton, Nationals.
Outside—Syd Reynolds, Beaches.

Nats Beaten Once Only

Built around stars who failed with Monreal Indians in the interprovincial union, Nats clicked immediately under Foster's leadership and they were beaten once during the regular schedule. Their offensive leader has been the giant Ferraro, enjoying his best season since he left Cornell to coach and play for Hamilton Tigers in 1932.

With Stirling, a 220-pound back who can do everything well, Ferraro supplies the all-star team with more ground power than any other union in the east could hope for in two players. The pre-season death of Ormond Beach left Stirling to do the bulk of Sarnia's work and, almost single-handed, he has put them within one game of the eastern final.

Two other backfield jobs were won easily. Six selectors favored the veteran Hempey, a mainstay on secondary defence for Nationals, at flying wing and eight chose Box, who has announced his retirement as a player, to call signals. There was no questioning these choices, Ed Barnabe of Nats being closest to Box with five votes.

Thompson Edges Loucks Out.

Thompson rounds out a division boasting power on the ground, from Stirling and Ferraro; superlative kicking, from Stirling and Box, and three great forward passers in Stirling, Ferraro and Box. Thompson, who edged out Ford Loucks of Peterborough, is the speedster of the quintet and is a fairly sure catch at safety.

It was in providing a front wall for these stars that the selectors found trouble. Everyone who had a half-decent season drew at least one call and Nationals, rightly enough, got four of the line jobs. The portly Ryan was an all-eastern last season with Indians and he has not slipped. He beat out Henry (Hi) Living of Sarnia, five votes to four.

Strong, seasoned performers were the final choices for middle and inside. Reid and Fleming, Clawson and Burns all are powerful defensively and Burns has shown a return to the plunging that gained him his reputation a few season back. Clawson, the Kansas heavyweight, won eight votes and the others got six apiece.

At the ends the voters placed youth and speed with experience and age. Burton, a newcomer to senior ranks, is the fastest man in the union and the little he lacks in downfield tackling ability is made up by selection of the veteran Reynolds, who has been ranked one of the east's outstanding tacklers for nearly a decade.

Ten For Reynolds

Reynolds caught the eye of 10 selectors and Burton of eight. Besides this pair only Ike Norris of Sarnia and Len Hutton of Nationals were given more than a single vote for the position.

Advent of Nationals, with their new faces, accounted mainly for only four of last season's team being selected again. Box, Stirling, Clawson and Reynolds are the holdovers, such stars as Balmy's Jack Taylor and Herb Moores and Sarnia's Fat Parsons being left well behind in this year's voting.

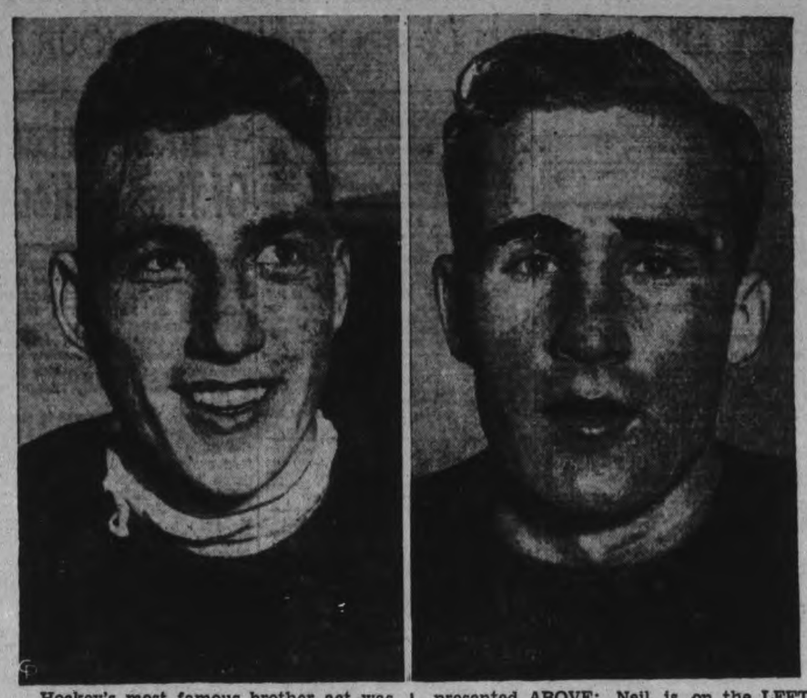
Once It Was the Cooks—Now It's the Colvilles



Hockey's most famous brother act was that of the Cook boys Bill and Bun, right and left wingers respectively with New York Rangers' all-time highest scoring line, centred by Frank Boucher. The Cooks have passed out of the N.H.L. picture, but now Manager Lester Patrick has two sets of brothers on the squad, his own sons, Lyn and Muzz, and the Colvilles, Mac and Neil, presented ABOVE; Neil is on the LEFT. With Alex. Shibicky they make up an all-prairie line, the latter being a Winnipeg product and the Colvilles from Edmonton, where they first sprang into prominence with Edmonton Athletic Club four years ago. After training in the intricate Patrick schooling system they moved up to the Rangers.

Bets Are Placed On Armstrong

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(CP)—The fight faithful, having suffered considerably in recent days with such doings as Tony Galento's sorrowful "comeback" and last week's "middleweight title" affair between Fred Apostoli and Young Corbett, girded today for the serious business of Henry Armstrong's welterweight title defence against Ceferino Garcia.

The dusky double champion—welterweight and lightweight—put his 415-pound title on the block against the Filipino in Madison Square Garden Friday night in a 15-round bout that was supposde to come off three weeks ago.

At that time Henry hurt himself in his final workout but the boys who make fight odds disregarded his damaged back muscles and reports that his lips haven't mended since he fought Lou Ambers and gained the lightweight crown last August. They bravely installed Armstrong as 5 to 8 favorite.

These same boys figure the only way that Garcia, Bolo punch and everything else considered, can win, is by a knockout and offer 2½ to 1 that such a thing doesn't happen.

SPORT SPICE

(By SID FEDER)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (A.P.).—If Mr. Diogenes wil stop in at Florida University with his lamp, he'll find that honest man he was looking for....The lad is Ed (Fats) Waszek, a freshman lineman from Chicago.. ..Like others on the Frosh Varsity, Fats was getting room and board assistance for playing football.... But he decided—without criticism from the coaches—that he just didn't have it....So he voluntarily went to coach Josh Cody and said he was giving up the scholarship held because he couldn't give enough in return....Needless to say, Josh is still speechless ... And brave Fats is trying to keep on in college without help.

Alice Marble, the tennis honey, making her singing debut here on December 1....Wonder what ever happened to a fighter tagged Perfecto Lopez, who once held Hammerin' Hennery Armstrong to four draws back in the early '30s....The Eastern Bowl sponsors have given up on Texas Christian for the December 10 football game....Oklahoma, Texas Tech., Mississippi, Baylor, Duke and Clemson are still in the running....Willanova and Carnegie Tech. lead the Eastern contenders.

Keep a kid tagged Tommy Maines in mind on next year's Syracuse outfit....He's a freshman halfback from the Pennsylvania coal region ....That's a neat slogan the Oklahoma line has when they tangle with famous passing teams.... "They can't pass sittin' down," the Oklahoma boys tell each other—and then proceed to rush in and sit 'em.

Hempey Victim Of Concussion

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—(CP)—Ernie Hempey, captain of Montreal Nationals of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, suffered a severe concussion in Saturday's 9-5 loss to Sarnia Imperials an x-ray examination disclosed yesterday.

At first believed suffering from a fractured skull, Hempey will be confined to hospital for the remainder of the week and will miss the game this Saturday at Sarnia that will decide the O.R.F.U. title.

Ringer Throwers Ready For Finals

TORONTO, Nov. 22—What should prove to be the hardest-fought championship in years, is on the books for the last day of the Dominion horseshoe-pitching tournament at the Royal Winter Fair Wednesday night, when thirty-seven contestants form all parts of the Dominion will battle it out for the championship singles and the right to the Diamond Caulk Trophy.

Some of the greatest exponents of the sport will be seen in action, including "Lefty" Ferris of Toronto, the present champ, who, incidentally, is the only southpaw in the game. Fred Harburn of Cromarty, the champion of 1936, and George Craggs, the title-holder in 1934, who is expected to make a real comeback this year. Also Isaac Smoke, the Indian player from Ohsweken, and Dean McLaughlin of Oshawa, who has annexed the title twice, together with A. E. Adams of Saskatoon, will be hard to topple. Another personality who will be seen in action is Will Woods, the 67-year-old veteran from the Runnymede Club.

The team of Frank Blandfield, Toronto, and Stan Madrowski, Kitchener, emerged as Class "B" doubles champions early this (Tuesday) morning from a field of 68 entries. The results:

1, F. Blandfield, Toronto, and S. Madrowski, Kitchener; 2, A. Gibbs, Toronto, and R. Burrell, Toronto; 3, A. Ebbs, Toronto, and J. F. Liston, Toronto; 4, J. Harrison, Toronto, and A. Budd, Toronto; 5, J. Hercon, Toronto, and C. Redwood, Toronto; 6, G. Arrowsmith, Toronto, and R. Jones, Fenelon Falls.

Riverdales won the Class "A" competition by defeating Avions in the final by a margin of 66 points.

A. E. Adams of Saskatoon was presented with a pair of nickel-plated pitching shoes by Ted Steadman, president of the T. and D. Association, for the competitor coming from the longest distance.

Pro Football Backers Get Rich Again

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP). — Among those who will join in the spirit of Thanksgiving in the United States this week are the owners of the 10 clubs in the National Professional Football League. They are a singularly well-fed set of gentlemen, with a business flourishing beyond their wildest dreams of a few years ago.

Already this season they have enticed 1,016,255 cash customers to their games, and there still are seven league contests to be played, not counting the big play-off between the eastern and western divisions of the league. Last year's total attendance was slightly more than 1,000,000. That was a record. The money game is booming everywhere. At least five clubs already have set new individual crowd marks. They are Detroit, Green Bay, Cleveland, Washington and Philadelphia. On one day this fall 129,000 persons paid their way into the professional citadels.

Popular In Detroit.

Detroit, which had 43,000 spectators at one game with Green Bay, has doubled last year's home attendance. New York Giants and Washington Redskins played before 37,500 fans, the greatest crowd ever to witness a sports event in Washington. A throng of 22,000 attended a game in Green Bay, which has a population of only about 37,000.

The men who band-rolled the professional sport through the lean years are getting it back fast.

The professionals still are pretty secretive about the salaries they pay, except in such a case as where Pittsburgh signed Whizzer White for $15,000 for the season. That was good publicity. The minimum wage, on the word of one owner, is about $125 per game for a reserve guard. The average for linemen is at least twice that, he estimated, and the galloping backs average close to $5,000 a season.

About A Game Called Golf

Culled from "The Sandblasters", a magazine issued by the Royal Bank, is a rather good golf story. It needs no blush and here it is:

Golf is a form of work made expensive enough for a man to enjoy it. It combines physical and mental exertion. You have to dress for it in a $200,000 club house.

Golf is the simplest looking game to master when you take it up, and the toughest after you have been at it ten, twenty or thirty years.

A golf course has eighteen holes, seventeen of which are unnecessary and put in to make the game harder. A "hole" is a tin cup in the centre of a "green". A "green" is a small parcel of grass costing about 65 cents a blade and usually located between a brook and a couple of apple trees, or a hidden sandpile.

The idea is to get the golf ball from a given point into each of the eighteen cups in the fewest strokes and the greatest number of words. The ball must not be thrown pushed or carried. It must be propelled by about $200 worth of curious looking implements, especially designed to provoke the owner.

Each implement has a specific purpose and ultimately some golfers get to know what the purpose is; they are the exceptions.

Golf is a game where the ball usually lies poorly and the player lies well.

After each hole has been completed the golfer counts his strokes. Then he subtracts six and says, "Made that in five. That's one above par. Shall we play for 50 cents on the next hole, too, Ed?"

After the eighteenth hole the golfer adds up his score and stops when he has reached eighty-seven. He then visits the nineteenth hole with six or eight other liars, knocks over a few Scotches, replays every shot and calls it the end of a perfect day.

BORN

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Searles, 208 Westcott street, announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Dorothy Grace, to Kenneth Galt Miller, 334 Rubidge street, son of the late Mrs. Florence Miller. The marriage will take place quietly in December.

Mr. and Mrs. Percival Green of Trenton, Ontario, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Lottie M., to Herbert W. Brooks of this city. Wedding to take place on November 30 at Lancaster, Ontario. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the Reverend F. J. Vowles, uncle of the bride-to-be.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bell of Lakehurst wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Thelma Lenore, to George Alexander, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nimmons of Peterborough. Marriage to take place middle of December.

DIED

HOEY, James. — In Peterborough, Tuesday morning November 21, after a short illness, James Hoey, a resident of Peterborough for the past number of years. Funeral from Duffus Funeral Parlors on Wednesday morning at 8.45 a.m. to St. Peter's Cathedral for Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. Interment in St. Peter's Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHNSON.—In memory of a dear and loving wife and mother, Mrs. Owen Johnson, who passed away two years ago to-day, November 22, 1936.

Two years have passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay.
But the love for her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
—Sadly missed by Family.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mrs. Elijah Windover and family wish to extend their sincere thanks to their many friends and relatives; the attending doctor and nurse, for their kindness and sympathy shown during their recent sad bereavement.

The family of the late C. E. Sturgeon wishes to thank the following for kindness shown during their recent bereavement: Switchgear Dept. of C.G.E. for wreath; Clock Assembly Dept. of Westclox; Winding Dept. of Brinton Carpet; Guelph Carpet Co., Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. Sid Barrack, and the boys at Sid's booth; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bruce, Toronto; Rev. G. S. Gault; friends and neighbors and attending doctor.

The family of the late Mrs. Johanna Murphy wish to thank the attending doctor, clergy of St. Peter's Cathedral, friends and neighbors and all those who loaned cars during their recent and sad bereavement.

Warkworth Ladies Take Charge Of Thank-offering Service

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, Nov. 22.—The annual thank-offering service of the W.M.S. of St. Paul's United church was held in the church Sunday night. The guest speaker was Mrs. H. B. Neal, Campbellford. She took as her subject the Master's great message taken from Mathew 28:11, Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel.

Mrs. J. R. R. Cooper was in charge of the service. Mrs. Bradburn read the Bible lesson, Mrs. John Dick offerd prayer. The ladies' choir rendered an anthem, "Send Out the Light"; Miss Maude Cooper sang, "Plains Of Peace" and Mrs. W. G. McLaren sang "O Breath Of God Breathe On Me." The offering Amounted to forty dollars.

Following the service Mrs. Neal and the members of the W.M.S. were entertained at the home of Mrs. R. Buchanan. After a social hour a vote of thanks, on motion of Mrs. G. B. Bowen and Mrs. E. Edgar was tendered Mrs. Neal.

A large attendance of members welcomed the Rev. T. Gault at his first service in St. John's Anglican church on Sunday afternoon. After the service the members met the minister and discussed a few church affairs. It was decided at present to hold the service at 2 p.m. until further notice.

New books at the library: Green Gates, P. C. Sheriff; The Further Shore, Maureen Herley; The Chance of a Lifetime, Livingston Hill; Magic, L. M. BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

TRUSTFUL ADVERSARIES

BIDDING THE OPPONENTS' suit, after your side has found a fit in some other suit, usually proclaims possession of the ace or a void. Few good players will then lead that suit, fearing that the declarer can surely take the first trick in it. As a consequence, psychic bidders get rare results by taking advantage of trustful adversaries.

	♠ 5 2 ♥ K J 10 9 7 6 ♦ A Q ♣ Q J 5
♠ 8 7 ♥ 8 5 ♦ 8 6 2 ♣ A 7 6 4 3 2	N W E S	♠ A K J 9 6 4 3 ♥ 4 2 ♦ None ♣ K 10 9 8
	♠ Q 10 ♥ A Q 3 ♦ K J 10 9 7 5 4 3 ♣ None

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable)

The bidding on this deal began with North calling 1-Heart, which East overcalled with 1-Spade. South injected a bid of 3-Diamonds and West passed. North's next bid was four diamonds, over which East went to 4-Spades.

South at this point realized that the combined holdings of himself and his partner should produce a slam, provided the opponents could be induced to make some other lead than a spade. With this in mind, instead of calling 5-Diamonds, he bid 5-Spades. North went to 6-Diamonds and South, figuring he would be set at six with spades led, gambled on 7-Diamonds, which would incur a set of two instead of the one at the six bid.

West now believed South's spade bid and led the club A, figuring that was the setting trick, but he sadly watched South trump and realized he had been fooled by South, who ran thirteen tricks.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ A J 4 ♥ K Q 6 ♦ K 9 5 2 ♣ Q 6 2
♠ 9 6 ♥ J 10 8 5 ♦ Q 10 8 3 ♣ 8 5 3	N W E S	♠ 10 8 7 5 2 ♥ 7 4 3 ♦ 7 ♣ J 10 9 4
	♠ K Q 3 ♥ A 9 2 ♦ A J 6 4 ♣ A K 7

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable)

How should North play to make his contract of 6-No Trump after the lead of the club J?

Champion Cowboy

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22—(AP)—Burel Mulkey, 33, of Salmon City, Idaho, was crowned 1938 world cowboy champion at a rodeo held in connection with the Great Western Live Stock Show here yesterday. He barely nosed out Everett Bowman, Hillside, Ariz., 1937 titleholder, in this the closing rodeo of the season.

93 And Out For 100

MARKHAM, Ont., Nov. 22—(CP)—James Ley celebrated his 93rd birthday at his home here on Sunday and says he is going to live to be 100 "or die in the attempt." Mr Ley built a reputation for producing hand-made ploughs and still spends much of his time at his forge, erected in a garage behind his home.
